COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

Legislative Journal.

Session 1955. 141st of the General Assembly.

Vol. 34. HARRISBURG, PA., TUESDAY JANUARY 4, 1955. No. 1.

JAN 23 1957

SENATE

TUESDAY, JANUARY 4, 1955, 12:00 o'clock M.

This being the day and hour fixed by the Constitution for the meeting of the General Assembly, the Members of the Senate, together with the Senators-elect chosen at the last general election held on November 2, 1954, assembled in the Senate Chamber.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Lloyd H. Wood) called the Senate to order at twelve o'clock M.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. ROBERT H. STEPHENS, D. D., Pastor of the Market Square Presbyterian Church, Harrisburg, offered the following prayer:

Let us pray.

Almighty God, Creator and Ruler of all mankind, by whose righteous will all things were created and by whose power alone the works of our hands endure, we acknowledge Thee to be the Lord and bring to Thee the tribute of our praise.

Thou hast gathered us into a great Commonwealth and multiplied the blessings of Thy Providence upon us. Thou hast given us the heritage of the Godly, and made us for brotherhood and freedom. We thank Thee for such a heritage and pray that Thou wilt deepen the roots of our life in everlasting righteousness and breathe the spirit of honor and justice in all our doings.

Look with Thy favor, we beseech Thee, upon this Senate newly assembled. Grant to these Thy servants vision equal to their hard tasks, and dedication equal to their public trust. Make them just in the exercise of power and generous in the protection of weakness. Deliver them from baseness of heart and vindictiveness of spirit. Keep them from greed and self-seeking, and strengthen them against all the temptations that come with public office. Help them to labor as in Thy sight, and to do their task as those who at last must answer to Thee.

Bless Thy servant, the Governor. Give a double portion of Thy spirit to the Governor-elect, and to those he has associated with himself in the public administration. Bless his lovely family, O Lord, and bless all the families of the Commonwealth. Beyond all our political differences, remind us that we are all members of Thy family, Heavenly Father. So help us to get along together in brotherhood and good-will for the welfare of all, in the name and in the spirit of the Master of Men, even Jesus Christ, our Lord. Amen.

PRESENTATION OF ELECTION RETURNS

The PRESIDENT. The Chair recognizes the Sergeant-at-Arms of the Senate.

The SERGEANT-AT-ARMS. Mr. President, I have the honor to present the Honorable Gene D. Smith, Secretary of the Commonwealth.

Mr. SMITH. Mr. President, I have the honor to lay before this honorable body the official returns of the November 2, 1954 general election of the Governor of the Commonwealth, the Lieutenant-Governor, Secretary of Internal Affairs and certain Members of the Senate.

The PRESIDENT. Thank you, Mr. Secretary.

ELECTION RETURNS FOR GOVERNOR, LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR AND SECRETARY OF INTERNAL AFFAIRS LAID ON THE TABLE.

The PRESIDENT. The returns of election for Governor, Lieutenant-Governor and Secretary of Internal Affairs of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania are laid on the table.

The PRESIDENT. Forty-nine Senators having answered to their names, a quorum is present.

The next order of business before the Senate is the election of the President pro tempore.

ELECTION OF PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE

Mr. CHAPMAN. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, since all the Members of this body are well aware of the need of a qualified person, a man who is experienced, tried and true, one who is able and capable, one reliable and dependable, a diplomatic organizer, one who is always available for those who come to Harrisburg for advice and counsel, not only in the past but the future, one whose advice is always politically sound and good, who has the confidence and good will of every Senator, that man is the one I am about to nominate.

Mr. President, it is privilege and an honor to nominate the Honorable M. Harvey Taylor as President pro tempore of the Senate of Pennsylvania.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I second the nomination of the Honorable M. Harvey Taylor for President pro tempore of the Senate of Pennsylvania.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, I have had this pleasant duty several times before. The man whom I am about to nominate is a man of outstanding ability; a man who has devoted practically his entire adult life in the legislative halls at Harrisburg; a man conscious of his duties to his fellow Members of the Senate and to all the citizens of the Commonwealth.

Mr. President, it is my extreme pleasure to now place in nomination for the office of President pro tempore the Honorable John H. Dent of Westmoreland County.

Mr. RUTH. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, I deem it a great privilege to second the nomination of a Member of our body who I know, through years of experience with him, is fully qualified to conduct and fill any office that this Senate or this Commonwealth might wish to confer upon him.

I therefore, second the nomination of the Honorable John H. Dent for the office of President pro tempore of the Senate of Pennsylvania.

The PRESIDENT. Are there any further nominations?

NOMINATIONS CLOSED

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I move that the nominations for the office of President pro tempore of the Senate be closed.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The PRESIDENT. On the election of the President pro tempore, the Chief Clerk will call the roll, and the clerks of the Senate will act as tellers. The candidates are the Honorable M. Harvey Taylor of Dauphin County, and the Honorable John H. Dent of Westmoreland County.

The roll was called and resulted as follows:

FOR MR. TAYLOR—26

Berger,	Harney,	Pechan,	Wade,
Blass,	Kessler,	Peelor,	Wagner,
Chapman,	Kopriver, Jr.,	Propert,	Watkins,
Dent,	Madigan,	Scott,	Watson,
Diehm,	Mahany,	Stevenson,	Whalley,
Flack,	Mallery,	Van Sant,	Wolfe,
Fleming,	McPherson, Jr.

FOR MR. DENT—23

Bane,	Haluska,	McMenamin,	Silvert,
Barr,	Hays,	Miller,	Stiefel,
Camiel,	Holland,	Mullin,	Taylor,
Derk,	Lane,	Ruth,	Weiner,
DiSilvestro,	McCreesh,	Schmidt,	Yosko,
Donolow,	McGinnis,	Seyler,

The PRESIDENT. M. Harvey Taylor, having received twenty-six votes, and John H. Dent having received twenty-three votes, the Chair declares M. Harvey Taylor duly elected President pro tempore of the Senate of Pennsylvania.

COMMITTEE APPOINTED TO ESCORT PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE-ELECT TO THE ROSTRUM

Th PRESIDENT. The Chair takes pleasure in naming as the committee to escort the President pro tempore-elect to the rostrum, the gentleman from Warren, Mr. Chapman; the gentleman from Blair, Mr. Mallery; and the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Dent.

ADMINISTRATION OF OATH TO PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE-ELECT

The PRESIDENT. The oath of office will be administered to the President pro tempore-elect by the Honorable Homer L. Kreider, Judge of the Court of Common Pleas of Dauphin County, subsequent to which the new President pro tempore will, I hope, make a few remarks.

REMARKS BY THE PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE

Mr. TAYLOR. Mr. President, I am not going to attempt to make any speech. I hope it was noticed on the other side that I voted for a Democrat. Maybe some day he will join our side.

Mr. President, I do appreciate this honor and I thank you. It means a lot when you get up around Hi Andrews' age and old Taylor's age. It means a lot to be complimented by people with whom you have been associated for so many years.

Mr. President, I will promise you this. I will try to do this job with fidelity, as I have just sworn. Thank you.

ANNOUNCEMENT OF MAJORITY AND MINORITY FLOOR LEADERS AND WHIPS

The PRESIDENT. The Chair has been advised by the Majority Caucus that the Floor Leader chosen by the Majority is the gentleman from Crawford, Mr. Mahany. The Whip chosen by the Majority is the gentleman from Armstrong, Mr. Pechan.

The Chair has also been advised by the Minority Caucus that it has chosen as Minority Floor Leader, the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Dent. The Whip chosen by the Minority is the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Ruth.

ELECTION OF SECRETARY OF THE SENATE

The PRESIDENT. The next order of business before the Senate is the election of the Secretary of the Senate.

Mr. WAGNER. Mr. President, in 1945 I had what I consider the great privilege of placing in nomination the name of the man who was elected Secretary of this Senate. Four times since then, I found it to be my pleasant privilege to do it again and again and again.

Today, more than ever, I am happy to nominate for re-election as Secretary of the Senate a former distinguished Member of this Senate, an eminent citizen of Schuylkill County and a very capable Senate official, the Honorable G. Harold Watkins.

Mr. SCOTT. Mr. President, it gives me a great deal of pleasure to second the nomination of the Honorable G. Harold Watkins for the office of Secretary of the Senate.

Mr. MILLER. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, it is my pleasure at this time to nominate a young and aggressive man, who I know would do a fine job as Secretary of the Senate; a man who, I am sure, is no stranger to this body since he previously served four years as a Member of the Senate.

It is my pleasure at this time to nominate the Honorable Samuel G. Neff, from Beaver County, for the office of Secretary of the Senate.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, it is my pleasure to second the nomination of the Honorable Samuel G. Neff for the office of Secretary of the Senate.

The PRESIDENT. Are there any further nominations?

NOMINATIONS CLOSED

Mr. SCOTT. Mr. President, I move that the nominations for the office of Secretary of the Senate be closed.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The PRESIDENT. On the election of the Secretary of the Senate, the Chief Clerk will call the roll, and the Clerks of the Senate will act as tellers. The candidates are the Honorable G. Harold Watkins and the Honorable Samuel G. Neff.

The roll was called and resulted as follows:

FOR MR. WATKINS—26

Berger,	Kessler,	Peelor,	Wade,
Blass,	Kopriver, Jr.	Propert,	Wagner,
Chapman,	Madigan,	Scott,	Watkins,
Diehm,	Mahany,	Stevenson,	Watson,
Flack,	Mallery,	Taylor,	Whalley,
Fleming,	McPherson, Jr.,	Van Sant,	Wolfe,
Harney,	Pechan,

FOR MR. NEFF—23

Bane,	Donolow,	McGinnis,	Seyler,
Barr,	Haluska,	McMenamin,	Silvert,
Camiel,	Hays,	Miller,	Stiefel,
Dent,	Holland,	Mullin,	Weiner,
Derk,	Lane,	Ruth,	Yosko,
DiSilvestro,	McCreesh,	Schmidt,

The PRESIDENT. G. Harold Watkins having received twenty-six votes, and Samuel G. Neff having received twenty-three votes, the Chair declares G. Harold Watkins duly elected Secretary of the Senate.

ELECTION OF CHIEF CLERK OF THE SENATE

The PRESIDENT. The next order of business before the Senate is the election of the Chief Clerk of the Senate.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, two years ago, it was my pleasure to nominate a former Senator from my district to serve as Chief Clerk of the Senate. He was elected and served the last Session very well. He has filled the office of Chief Clerk very capably. His fame grew quite far and wide, and I noticed on a morning television show that one of the principal characters in that show is named "J. Fred."

Mr. President, I am now going to nominate my good, old friend and former Senator from the Mercer-Crawford County District, the Honorable J. Fred Thomas, as Chief Clerk of the Senate.

Mr. BLASS. Mr. President, I consider it, indeed, a great privilege to second the nomination of my former distinguished colleague in the Senate, the Honorable J. Fred Thomas, for the office of Chief Clerk of the Senate.

Mr. RUTH. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, I deem it a pleasure to place in nomination for the office of Chief Clerk of the Senate the name of a man who has served ten years in the House of Representatives and who is a very successful businessman back home, the Honorable J. Hiram Swope, of Berks County.

Mr. BANE. Mr. President. it is with pleasure that I second the nomination of J. Hiram Swope for the office of Chief Clerk of the Senate.

The PRESIDENT. Are there any further nominations?

NOMINATIONS CLOSED

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I move that the nominations for Chief Clerk of the Senate be closed.

Mr. BLASS. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The PRESIDENT. On the election of the Chief Clerk of the Senate, the Clerk will call the roll and th clerks of the Senate will act as tellers. The candidates are the Honorable J. Fred Thomas and the Honorable J. Hiram Swope.

The roll was called and resulted as follows:

FOR MR. THOMAS—26

Berger,	Kessler,	Peelor,	Wade,
Blass,	Kopriver, Jr.	Propert,	Wagner,
Chapman,	Madigan,	Scott,	Watkins,

Barr,	Haluska,	McMenamin,	Silvert,
Camiel,	Hays,	Miller,	Stiefel,

Dent,	Holland,	Mullin,	Weiner,
Derk,	Lane,	Ruth,	Yosko,
DiSilvestro,	McCreesh,	Schmidt,

The PRESIDENT. J. Fred Thomas having received twenty-six votes, and J Hiram Swope having received twenty-three votes, the Chair declares J. Fred Thomas duly elected Chief Clerk of the Senate.

ELECTION OF SENATE LIBRARIAN

The PRESIDENT. The next order of business before the Senate is the election of the Senate Librarian.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I take great pleasure in placing in nomination for the office of Senate Librarian, my friend of long standing, Charles J. Lathero.

Mr. STEVENSON. Mr. President, good works and deeds speak more eloquently than words. With this in mind, it affords me an ineffable pleasure to second the nomination of one who is the ultimate in service to all the Members of this Senate.

It is, therefore, a privilege for me to second the nomination of Charles L. Lathero for the office of Senate Librarian.

The PRESIDENT. Are there any further nominations?

NOMINATIONS CLOSED

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I move that the nominations for Senate Librarian be closed.

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The PRESIDENT. On the election of the Senate Librarian, since only one name has been placed in nomination, the Chair declares the nominee, Mr. Charles L. Lathero, elected by acclamation.

The roll was then called and resulted as follows:

FOR MR. LATHERO—49

Bane,	Haluska,	McMenamin,	Stevenson,
Barr,	Harney,	McPherson, Jr.,	Stiefel,
Berger,	Hays,	Miller,	Taylor,

The PRESIDENT. Mr. Charles L. Lathero having received forty-nine votes, the Chair declares Mr. Lathero duly elected Senate Librarian.

OATHS OF OFFICE ADMINISTERED TO SECRETARY OF THE SENATE, CHIEF CLERK OF THE SENATE AND SENATE LIBRARIAN

The PRESIDENT. The Secretary-elect of the Senate, G. Harold Watkins; the Chief Clerk-elect of the Senate, J. Fred Thomas; and the Senate Librarian-elect, Charles L. Lathero, will please approach the rostrum in order that the oaths of office may be administered.

RESOLUTIONS

NOTIFICATION OF THE HOUSE

Mr. VAN SANT offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, January 4, 1955.

Resolved, That a committee of three be appointed to inform the House of Representatives that the Senate is now in session and ready to proceed to business.

APPOINTMENT OF COMMITTEE

The PRESIDENT. The Chair wishes to announce the appointment of the following committee to notify the House of Representatives that the Senate is duly organized and ready to proceed with its business: the gentleman from Lehigh, Mr. Van Sant; the gentleman from Carbon, Mr. Scott; and the gentleman from York, Mr. Seyler.

NOTIFICATION TO HIS EXCELLENCY, THE GOVERNOR

Mr. WADE offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, January 4, 1955.

Resolved, That a committee of three be appointed to wait upon His Excellency, the Governor, and inform him that the Senate is convened and organized and ready to receive any communication he may be pleased to make.

APPOINTMENT OF COMMITTEE

The PRESIDENT. The Chair wishes to announce the appointment of the following committee to wait upon His Excellency, the Governor, and inform him that the Senate is organized and ready to receive any communication he may be pleased to make: the gentleman from Cumberland, Mr. Wade; the gentleman from Bucks, Mr. Watson; and the gentleman from Centre, Mr. Hays.

THANKS OF SENATE TENDERED TO HONORABLE HOMER L. KREIDER FOR ADMINISTERING OATHS OF OFFICE

Mr. FLEMING offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, January 4, 1955.

RESOLVED, That the thanks of the Senate are hereby tendered to the Honorable Homer L. Kreider, Judge of the Court of Common Pleas of Dauphin County, for his services in qualifying certain newly elected Senators and also the President pro tempore and the several officers of the Senate.

THANKS OF SENATE TENDERED TO HONORABLE CARLETON T. WOODRING FOR ADMINISTERING OATHS OF OFFICE

Mr. YOSKO offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, January 4, 1955.

RESOLVED, That the thanks of the Senate are hereby tendered to the Honorable Carleton T. Woodring, Judge of the Court of Common Pleas of Northampton County, for his services in qualifying certain newly elected Senators.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. BARR asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, I am speaking in a dual capacity as the Senator from Allegheny County and the Democratic State Chairman.

The opening of the 1955 Legislature represents a tremendous challenge to the Democratic Party, and it is essential that we face up squarely to the realities of that challenge.

Mr. President, I do not know of any Governor who was ever confronted with the problems that await George M. Leader when he takes office on January 18. Aside from the question of State finances, which must be resolved honestly and intelligently, Governor-elect Leader must tackle head-on the serious problems of unemployment compensation and industrial stagnation.

Mr. President, if business is to prosper; if our resources are to be developed; if good wages are to be paid; if all of our people are to live their own lives, work at the job of their own choosing in a fluid, productive economy, we must create the kind of governmental climate in which private enterprise can live and flourish.

What we need primarily, Mr. President, is understanding cooperation between labor, industry and government to enliven and strengthen the productive capacity of Pennsylvania, for only by increased production can we look forward to new jobs, greater progress, bigger profits and better living standards.

Ever since the November 2nd election, Governor-elect Leader has been laying the groundwork for a concerted assault upon the problems now threatening the economic security of Pennsylvania and its people.

Mr. President, the new Governor is conscious of the gravity of these problems. He knows they will not be solved by waving a magic wand. He is an extreme realist in his approach, and he will need all of the help he can get from all segments of our society, whatever their political beliefs.

It is our hope, Mr. President, as the General Assembly convenes, that political considerations will not supersede the vastly more important interests of the people. Political opposition merely for the sake of opposition is not a healthy ingredient for the future of the Commonwealth. The Democratic Party believes in constructive criticism when it serves a worthwhile purpose and in view of the vital responsibility facing the new administration, we are opening our doors to men of thought and action who will place the welfare of Pennsylvania before the compulsions of political expediency.

CONCURRENT RESOLUTIONS

INAUGURAL COMMITTEE

Mr. DENT offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, January 4, 1955.

Resolved, (if the House of Representatives concur) That the President Pro Tempore of the Senate be and is hereby authorized to appoint a committee of fifteen Senators to act in conjunction with a committee of twenty members of the House of Representatives, to be appointed by the Speaker of the House of Representatives, to make necessary arrangements for the inauguration of the Governor-elect, to wait upon His Excellency, and to conduct him to the Capitol for the purpose of having the oath of office administered to him; and be it further

Resolved, That the inaugural ceremonies take place at twelve o'clock Noon on the third Tuesday of January, the 18th instant, 1955, on the west side of the Capitol, should the weather prove favorable, otherwise in the Forum; and be it further

Resolved, That said committee be and is hereby authorized to expend a sum not exceeding Five Thousand ($5,000) Dollars in the making and carrying out of said arrangements, the same to be provided for in the Appropriation Bill.

CONDOLENCE OF SENATE EXTENDED TO SENATOR WILLIAM J. LANE ON DEATH OF HIS FATHER

Mr. DENT offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, January 4, 1955.

On Monday, January 3, 1955, William Lane, the father of one of our most distinguished members, The Honorable William J. Lane, departed from this life at the venerable age of eighty-one. He was for sometime a Justice of the Peace in the Borough of West Brownsville, and in 1932 was elected to the House of Representatives from Washington County. His services as a public servant and locomotive engineer on the railroad were performed loyally and effectively.

After years of a full and productive life, he was retired from everyday labor and spent the remainder of his years in peace and contentment with his wife and family.

Although his life was rounded and full, his departure has left a vacuum in the lives of his widow and nine children; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Senate extend its sincere sympathies to The Honorable William J. Lane, and to his mother and brothers and sisters in their hour of loss; and be it further Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be sent to Honorable William J. Lane.

REPORT OF ELECTION OF DIRECTOR OF LEGISLATIVE REFERENCE BUREAU

Mr. PROPERT. Mr. President, I beg to report that during the Joint Session of the Senate and House of Representatives, in accordance with the provisions of section two of the act approved the seventh day of May, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three (P. L. 158), entitled "An Act creating a Legislative Reference Bureau, providing for election of the director by the General Assembly, designating the officers and employes of such bureau, defining their duties, fixing their salaries, abolishing the present Legislative Reference Bureau, and making an appropriation," the Senate and House of Representatives in joint session today assembled elected S. Edward Hannestad as director of the Legislative Reference Bureau and that the oath of office was administered to S. Edward Hannestad by the Honorable Lloyd H. Wood, Lieutenant Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

The PRESIDENT. The Teller is now discharged, with the thanks of the Senate.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. MAHANY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, today when I listened to the address of Governor Fine, before the Joint Session of the Legislature, I note that he stated that the depreciation of the unemployment compensation fund brings into prominent focus the necessity of early action by the Legislature to thwart any dimunition of benefits to unemployed claimants. To permit this would defeat the underlying philosophy of unemployment compensation.

Mr. President, for the benefit of His Excellency, the Governor, we, the Republican Senators, want to assure him, as well as those who are so unfortunate at the present time as to have to receive unemployment compensation benefits, that we will initiate and sponsor and support any legislation which is offered here to do the thing which the Governor suggested we do. That is, to see that the safety factor provision of the Unemployment Compensation Law is amended, so as to provide that those who are unemployed shall continue to receive $30.00 a week benefits and will not be reduced to $20.00.

Mr. President, we feel at the present time that there is no question but that they will continue to receive the $30.00. There is no imminent danger that they will be cut off until such time as the Legislature can come back at the time of the Governor's Inauguration, and we will then present legislation which will do as I say, amend the safety factor provision of the law so that the unemployed will continue to receive $30.00 per week unemployment compensation benefits.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. DENT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, we all listened very carefully to the Governor's address and, as the Majority Leader has stated, we particularly paid attention to that section of his speech which dealt with the depletion of the Unemployment Compensation Fund.

Mr. President, during the past summer months and early fall, Senator George M. Leader, the candidate for Governor on the Democratic ticket, became aware of the dangerous trend in the Unemployment Compensation Fund, and we started a study to discover the reasons for the weakness of the fund at that time. During the 1949 and, later, the 1951 Sessions of the Legislature, amendments to the Unemployment Compensation Law started under Governor Duff as a preliminary to the campaign of 1950. A few misinformed corporations took the lead in fighting for a raid on the public funds, held in trust for the unemployed persons of this Commonwealth. In order to cut a ripe and luscious mellon of over $185,000,000 among a few large and ruthless corporations, the future stability of this trust fund was placed in jeopardy.

Mr. President, today, after about six years of operation under the raiding amendments of 1949 and less than three years after the 1951 amendments, we find the fund has dropped below what Governor-elect Leader calls the peril point, and right at this moment every unemployed beneficiary of the Fund is liable for a 35 per cent cut in benefits and every employer in Pennsylvania is liable for a full 2.7 per cent payroll assessment to make up the 185 odd millions taken from the fund by the retroactive amendments of 1949 and 1951.

Mr. President, the only reason these twin disasters have not been visited upon the employee and the employer in Pennsylvania is because the same shortsighted, selfish promoters of these ruinous amendments called an emergency meeting in December, this year, and with the aid of the politically biased State Chamber of Commerce started a campaign among the employers of Pennsylvania to pay their unemployment compensation contributions in advance, so that the fund would remain at the 1½ times the payment level, which is the basis of the formula employed in the 1949-1951 amendments, to open up the grab bag of political payoffs that have brought us to this disastrous level.

Mr. President, this bold attempt to thwart the law was conceived in the panic-stricken minds of those who refused to follow the advice and warnings of a few in their own group who, in my presence, predicted the dire consequences which, in the course of normal tendencies in our economy, were bound to happen sooner or later. The fund at that time, in 1949, had reached the apparently safe level of $635,543,000.

Mr. President, the misguided consultants to certain industries saw an opportunity to stage a well timed and well planned raid and with the aid and support of certain factions, put through the first of a series of packaged amendments which gave labor some minor benefits and, at the same time, opened the door for the infamous raid on the trust fund. Genuine friends of both labor and industry found themselves euchred into a compromising position of voting against both labor and industry.

Mr. President, the fund, as of the end of the last quarter of 1954, totaled $390,180,000. This was $1,010,000 less than the amount prescribed by law to be the floor level of the peril point, and by all the rules of the game, the cut in benefits and the increase in contributions would have to be put into effect.

However, Mr. President, the employers' group, after a hurried and frantic meeting, called upon its members to make their payments in advance of the due date and by so doing have gained a reprieve from a sentence imposed upon both labor and industry by their own delinquencies, moral, political and mental. They have, as of the end of December 1954, contributed $1,559,000 in advance of due date of the payment.

Mr. President, this does not cure the problem nor does it remedy the grave damage. The Legislature now must work out a schedule of contributions that will remove forever the damage of a recurrence of this shortsighted public policy. We must and shall remove the inequitable, unsound section of the law which cuts the employees' benefits from $30.00 a week to $20.00 a week and from 26 weeks duration benefits to 20 weeks. It is impossible for an unemployed person to pay his or her normal expenses on $30.00 a week, and to even suggest the utterly ridiculous figure of $20.00 a week is economically unsound, policically dishonest and morally unfair.

Mr. President, our immediate attempts to correct these conditions will in no way influence or prejudice our deliberations at some future date on the whole problem of unemployment compensation dealing with benefit payments, duration of benefit periods, eligibility of claims, contributions to the fund and necessary reforms in the Act itself.

Mr. President, we believe that this new Democratic Administration in Pennsylvania, under Governor George M. Leader, will give its undivided attention to the over-all problem of employment security and corporate well-being. It will not fail in its duty to put the full spotlight of publicity upon the results of the abuse and misuse of political power by any of the proceding administrations, when by so doing the people will gain a better understanding of the problems facing this Commonwealth and at the same time, will learn some of the background of the contributing factors that have gone into the boiling caldron of chaos and abuse that resulted in the greatest revolution by ballot in Pennsylvania's political history.

At the proper time, Mr. President, on behalf of the Democratic Caucus, I will present a resolution which, if passed, will eliminate the danger of a cut from $30.00 to $20.00 weekly in compensation payments and the number of benefit weeks from 26 to 20 to the unemployed citizens of our Commonwealth while, at the same time, a reasonable schedule of contributions will be worked out for industry.

Of one thing I am sure, the Administration of George M. Leader will not militate against either labor or industry, but will strive instead to bring about a better relationship between these two important segments of our society so that together, Pennsylvania can march into the full sunlight of a new and great economic productivity and security for all.

Mr. President, in order to call attention to the seriousness of the situation, I would like to give to the Members of the Senate some facts that are, as of the moment, fresh, new and important.

Mr. President, the balance in the Fund on December 31st was $390,180,000. The peril point was $391,190,000; advance in contributions by 254 employers who paid in $1,000 or more a piece, was $1,559,000, leaving us a surplus over the peril point of $549,000. However, all of us must understand that when we took from the payments due in the next quarter, $1,559,000 of the moneys that will be required in the next quarter, we can safely say that by January 31, of this year, we will find that the peril point amendments will go into effect. The basis of the law is one and one-half times the amount paid out in any twelve-month period.

Mr. President, in so far as the labor cut is concerned, the benefits to labor or unemployed labor is based upon a twelve-month period, made up of four quarters. So, the labor peril point amendments will not go into effect until the first of April, 1955, but industry finds itself in the position that its peril point amendments will go into effect the first day of February 1955. When you realize that the contributions being paid by industry today are 1.11 per cent of payroll contributions into the fund as against a 3.31 per cent of a withdrawal from the fund for employee benefits, you can easily see that paying out at the rate of approximately $5,000,000 a week, we are going to find ourselves at the end of January in real jeopardy with this public trust that was to be built up, as the Governer said for the unemployed persons of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. The actual shortage was over a million dollars as of December 31. I believe that it was morally wrong to lead certain employers in Pennsylania to believe that by paying into the fund prior to the end of the year, they had set aside the danger which confronts the fund.

Mr. President, those of us who have worked on unemployment compensation can well remember the many words of warning that were issued upon the floor of the Senate and in the many committee meetings that were held toward the end, that we knew then and can now prove that it was shortsighted public fallacy to take and give back to certain industries in Pennsylvania, in the two year period of 1952-1953, $185,000,000 out of the public trust fund that was created for the common good of all of the people of Pennsylania.

Industry, itself,—and I say this with all feeling of consideration for the industrial leaders of this great Commonwealth, who too often put into the hands of a few the destinies of their own peoples and their own plants and their own corporations—was misled by a group of consultants wo tried to sell to the employers in Pennsylvania an idea that was unsound economically and morally wrong.

So I say to the Members of the Senate, Mr. President, we do intend in the next two weeks to fully study the problem and to come before the Senate, God willing, with a program designed to benefit not only the unemployed persons, but to give industry a sound basis upon which to calculate the future needs of the Commonwealth and the future needs of the unemployed persons in this Commonwealth.

COMMUNICATION FROM GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented communication in writing from His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth, which was read as follows:

REASONS FOR PARDONS

Resolved, That the members of the Senate of Pennsylvania extend their sympathy to her son, Senator Albert E. Madigan, and other members of her family, in their hour of bereavement.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now adjourn until Monday, January 17, 1955, at 4:00 o'clock p. m., Eastern Standard Time.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The Senate adjourned at 3:50 o'clock, p. m., Eastern Standard Time, until Monday, January 17, 1955, at 4:00 o'clock p. m., Eastern Standard Time.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

TUESDAY, JANUARY 4, 1955

At 11:30 a. m. Mr. James E. Lovett, senior Democratic Member in length of service, from Westmoreland County, made the following announcement in the Hall of the House.

In accordance with the provisions of Article II Section 4 of the Constitution of Pennsylvania, the Members-elect of this 140th regular session of the House of Representatives will meet this day at twelve o'clock noon in the Hall of the House for the purpose of organization.

The hour of twelve o'clock having arrived, Honorable Wililam E. Habbyshaw, Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives, called the Members-elect to order and announced, that

This being the day and hour fixed by Article II, Section 4 of the Constitution of Pennsylvania for the meeting of the General Assembly, the Members-elect of the House of Representatives will come to order.

The CHIEF CLERK. At the conclusion of the prayer the Members-elect will remain standing in silence until the gavel falls as a mark of respect to the Members who have died since we last met:

Honorable Miles W. Leader, Eleventh Legislative District, Philadelphia County, died December 25, 1953.

Honorable George C. Shoemaker, Second Legislative District, Schuylkill County, died September 15, 1953.

Honorable Ivan C. Watkins, Third Legislative District, Schuylkill County, died March 8, 1954.

PRAYER

Prayer was offered by the Reverend WILLIAM HUGH FRYER, as follows:

O God, the Fountain of Wisdom, whose statutes are good and gracious and whose law is truth; We beseech Thee so to guide and bless the Legislature and those in authority in this State, that they may ordain for our governance only such things as please Thee.

Give us the courage to face the facts of our lives and the life of the world; spare us from all illusions and take from our mind anything that might hide the truth. Then, we pray thee, open our hearts and our hands that we may give those who are about us the best that we have, for in the giving is the glory.

Give to our legislators wisdom and understanding and to the people the spirit of cooperation and faith.

Remember, O Lord, Thy servants Miles, Albert, George and Ivan. Grant them entrance into the land of Thy joy and light and grant that they may go from strength to strength in the life of Thy heavenly service.

Comfort those who mourn and grant them Thy strength and peace.

All of which we ask in the Name of Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

PRESENTATION OF ELECTION RETURNS

The Secretary of the Commonwealth, Honorable Gene D. Smith, being introduced, pursuant to the provisions of the Act of June 3, 1937, P. L. 1333, presented to the House of Representatives the returns of the election for Members in this honorable body held on November 2, 1954.

RESOLUTION

ELECTION RETURNS OPENED

Mr. BOIES, a Member-elect, offered a resolution which was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, Tuesday, January 4, 1955.

Resolved, That the returns for the election of Members of the House of Representatives, held Tuesday, November 2, 1954, be now opened and read.

IN THE COURT OF COMMON PLEAS NO. 6 OF PHILADELPHIA COUNTY

IN THE MATTER OF THE CONTESTED ELECTION OF ALFONSE PARLANTE TO THE OFFICE OF REPRESENTATIVE IN THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY FROM THE SECOND LEGISLATIVE DISTRICT OF THE CITY OF PHILADELPHIA

SEPTEMBER TERM, 1954
NO. 7600

FINDINGS OF FACT, CONCLUSIONS OF LAW AND ORDER

AND NOW, to wit, this 27th day of December, 1954, after hearing in open court and upon consideration of the arguments of counsel, the court makes the following

FINDINGS OF FACT

1. The County Board of Elections has computed, totalled and recorded the number of votes cast for the candidates for the office of Member of the General Assembly from the Second Legislative District of the City of Philadelphia as follows:

For Alfonse Parlante—9,825 votes

For Abraham N. Sigman—9,824 votes

2. Each of the military ballots cast by Frederick W. Feuerborn, Jr., 17th Election Dist. of the First Ward; James F. Zellman, 17th Dist. First Ward; Samuel M. Polo, 7th Dist. First Ward for Candidate Parlante, and by James E. Daly, 19th Dist. First Ward for Candidate Sigman, was not enclosed in an inner envelope, as required by the Act of March 6, 1951, P. L. 3; 25 PS 3146.6.

3. The military ballot cast by J. C. Bush, 9th Dist. Second Ward for Candidate Parlante, was enclosed in an inner envelope, but such envelope was not securely sealed, as required by said Statute.

4. Only one military ballot was cast in each of the aforementioned Election Districts, except in the 17th District of the First Ward, where two military ballots were cast, one by mail and one at the polling place. The identity of the particular voter who cast each of the said military ballots was ascertainable merely by reason thereof.

5. The secrecy of the said military ballots was not affected by reason of the technical irregularities aforementioned with reference to the inner envelope.

6. Frderick W. Feuerborn, Jr., who cast his military ballot for Candidate Parlante at the polling place in the 17th Dist., First Ward, is a native of Philadelphia, who at the age of 13 left Philadelphia to reside at Oklahoma City with his father; entered military service in 1952 while still a minor and a resident of Oklahoma City; went on terminal leave from the service on July 17, 1954 and was discharged on September 17, 1954; wrote a letter in February, 1954 to his grandmother at 319 Reed Street, Philadelphia, telling her of his desire and intention to reside in Philadelphia with her, and also at about the same time wrote to the University of Pennsylvania for an application for admission as a student. Immediately after his separation from the service on July 17, 1954, he returned to Oklahoma City and stayed there until August 1st, when he came to Philadelphia. Although he has resided in Philadelphia continuously since August 1, 1954, he did not register personally prior to the date of the election and was permitted to cast a military ballot at the polling place on November 2nd.

CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

1. The provisions of the Act of March 6, 1951, P. L. 3; 25 PS 3416.6, relating to the inner envelope, are directory and not mandatory.

2. The military ballots of Frederick W. Feuerborn, Jr., Samuel M. Polo, James F. Zellman, James E. Daly and J. C. Bush were cast in substantial compliance with the provisions of the state statute, and the secrecy of the said ballots was not affected by any of the minor technical irregularities aforementioned.

3. The ballots cast by Samuel M. Polo, James F. Zellman, James E. Daly and J. C. Bush were valid and properly counted.

4. Frederick W. Feuerborn, Jr., was not a resident of the State of Pennsylvania for six months prior to November 2, 1954, the date of election, and was therefore not qualified to register or to vote at that election.

5. The ballot of Frederick W. Feuerborn, Jr. was invalid and should not have been counted.

6. One vote must be deducted from the total number of 9,825 votes as computed by the County Board of Elections as having been cast for Candidate Parlante.

7. Each of the two candidates, Alfonse Parlante and Abraham N. Sigman, having received 9,824 votes, the election resulted in a tie vote.

ORDER

AND NOW, to wit, this 27th day of December, 1954, it having been determined that the election for Member of the General Assembly from the Second Legislative District resulted in a tie vote, it is hereby ordered that the two candidates, Alfonse Parlante and Abraham N. Sigman, shall appear before the County Board of Elections on Wednesday, December 29, 1954, at 12 o'clock Noon, to draw lots in accordance with the provisions of the Act of June 3, 1937, P. L. 1333, Art. XIV, Section 1418, 25 P. S. 3168.

IN THE MATTER OF THE CONTESTED ELECTION OF ALFONSE PARLANTE TO THE OFFICE OF REPRESENTATIVE IN THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY FROM THE SECOND LEGISLATIVE DISTRICT OF THE CITY OF PHILADELPHIA

ORDER

And Now, to wit, December 29, 1954, the Court having on December 27, 1954, adjudged and decided that Alfonse Parlante and Abraham N. Sigman, the candidates for election to the office of Member of the General Assembly from the Second Legislative District of the City of Philadelphia at the election held on November 2, 1954, had each received 9,824 legal votes, the election resulting in a tie vote, and the said candidates having cast lots on December 29, 1954 for the purpose of determining who is entitled to the election and the lot having fallen to the said Abraham N. Sigman, it is hereby ADJUDGED, DECREED and DECIDED that the said Abraham N. Sigman is accordingly entitled to the election and further that the complaint in this proceeding was not without probable cause.

STATEMENT BY MR. READINGER

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Chief Clerk, as most of us are aware, there are two election contests relative to seats in this House. The one is Luzerne County in the Second District has resolved itself for the moment by both gentlemen standing aside for the present. That matter is still pending before the Courts and will be decided in due time.

In relation to the other contest in Philadelphia we desire at this time to make our position clear in connection with that contest as Mr. Sigman will take his seat today.

We are in receipt of a letter dated January 3, 1955, from Joseph E. Gold, Esquire, of Philadelphia, counsel for the Democratic City Committee of Philadelphia, who is acting as counsel for Alfonse Parlante, the Democratic candidate for the office of Representative in the General Assembly from the Second Legislative District of the City of Philadelphia.

M. Gold advises me that he intends to contest the alleged election of Mr. Abraham M. Sigman, the Republican candidate for the Legislative seat in question. It is the position of Mr. Parlante that he stands aggrieved by the decision of the Court of Common Pleas in his case; that a petition to the House of Representatives to contest the alleged election of Mr. Sigman will be filed within ten days after the meeting of the General Assembly, that is, before January 14, 1955; and that Mr. Parlante will present his claim to the appropriate Committee of Elections and trust that after the Elections Committee has heard the entire matter, it will report the facts with a proper resolution to this body.

It is the position of the Democratic leadership of the House that the assumption of his seat by Mr. Sigman does not affect or prejudice the right of Mr. Parlante to make this contest, nor does it in any way affect the result of the election contest.

The CHIEF CLERK. The remarks of the gentleman will be spread upon the Journal.

RESOLUTION

OATH TO BE ADMINISTERED TO MEMBERS-ELECT

Mr. YETZER, a Member-elect, offered a resolution which was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives,
Tuesday, January 4, 1955.

Resolved, That the Honorable Warren K. Hess, a Judge of the Court of Common Pleas of Berks County, be requested to administer the oath of office required by Article VII of the Constitution, to be taken by the Members of the House of Representatives ,and that the Honorable Ivan J. McKenrick, President Judge of the Court of Common Pleas of Cambria County, be requested to administer the oath of office to the Speaker of the House.

COMMITTEE APPOINTED TO ESCORT HONORABLE WARREN K. HESS AND HONORABLE IVAN J. McKENRICK TO ROSTRUM

The CHIEF CLERK appoints the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Yetzer, and the lady from Lehigh, Mrs. Markley, to escort His Honor, Judge Hess and His Honor Judge McKenrick to the rostrum to administer the oath of office to the Members-elect, and the Speaker.

OATH ADMINISTERED TO MEMBERS-ELECT

The CHIEF CLERK. A Bible will be found in the desk of each Member-elect for those who swear by the Bible.

The Members-elect will rise, raise their right hands and remain standing at their desks during the administration of the oath of office.

The oath of office was than administered to two hundred and ten Members-elect by Hon. Warren K. Hess as follows:

Do you solemnly swear, or affirm, that you will support, obey and defend the Constitution of the United States and the Constitution of this Commonwealth, and that you will discharge the duties of your office with fidelity; that you have not paid or contributed, or promised to pay or contribute, either directly or indirectly, any money or other valuable thing to procure your nomination or election, except for necessary and proper expenses expressly authorized by law; that you have not knowingly violated any election law of this Commonwealth, or procured it to be done by others in your behalf; that you will not knowingly receive, directly or indirectly, any money or other valuable thing for the performance or non-performance of any act or duty pertaining to your office, other than the compensation allowed by law?

ADDRESS BY HON. WARREN K. HESS

HONORABLE WARREN K. HESS. Mr. Chief Clerk and Members of the House, it is a real pleasure after eighteen years to return to the Hall of the House and to administer the oath to the Members. Eighteen years have passed by since Al Readinger and I first appeared in this House to represent the First District of Berks County, and I must say that the House has done well in the intervening years.

I was particularly happy when I heard the roll call and observed that our good friend, the Honorable J. P. Moran, is still in good voice. I was somewhat fearful that the passage of time might have dulled the ardor of his answer to the roll call, but I believe and I am certain that all will be well in the House this year with him in his usual good form.

I must say, too, that in the intervening years the House has been blessed with many things and I am happy to see that it is this year blessed with a record number of female Members. I understand that eleven of the Members are of the female sex. I submit that that augurs well for a congenial, pleasant session.

It is a pleasure, as I have said, to come back here to administer the oath and to express my personal congratulations to you.

Pennsylvania has always been well represented in its Legislative halls. The problems that face this session I know will not be too easy, but I have every confidence that with the diligent support of the Membership, the House will again give a good account of itself and enact a good program for Pennsylvania.

Sometime ago I looked through the Pennsylvania Manual and I noticed that in the history of Pennsylvania there have been four persons bearing my name, the name of Hess,, who have sat in this House. I was somewhat interested to see that two of the individuals bearing the name of Hess sat with the Republicans and two sat with the Democrats. So you see that the family is well divided. We have decided that there will be no more Hesses come to the Legislature because we do not want to break the tie.

Again I want to express my real appreciation to you and my sincere congratulations to the Members and my real hopes for a pleasant, congenial and constructive session of this Legislature. Thank You.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE

The CHIEF CLERK. Are there any requests for leave of absence?

The Chair hears none.

RESOLUTION

ELECTION OF SPEAKER

Mr. SNIDER offered a resolution which was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives,
Tuesday, January 4, 1955.

Resolved, That in accordance with the provisions of Article 2, Section 9 of the Constitution of Pennsylvania, the House shall now proceed to the election of a Speaker, and that the Clerks act as tellers.

NOMINATIONS FOR SPEAKER

The CHIEF CLERK. The House will now proceed to the election of a Speaker. Nominations are in order.

MR. READINGER. Mr. Chief Clerk, on this day twenty-two years ago, a member of the House from Cambria County took his first oath of office. Few of us here today knew him at that time, but history records that during the 1933 Session, the gentleman in mind was a renegade of sorts. Indeed, he admits it.

The fire which burned within him at that time still flames brightly, but the intervening years, during 15 of which he served in this House with great distinction, have mellowed him, and by his conduct he has earned the esteem and affection of all who know him. His vast fund of knowledge, acquired during many years as a news reporter and editor, his keen intellect and his capacity for hard work, combined with an unusual degree of talent for expression of his thoughts, has justly earned for him the reputation of being one of the most able legislators ever to grace the Halls of this House.

He has served well the people of this great Commonwealth, by turning the bright light of his reason on the deliberations of its Representatives. This he did without rancor or sarcasm, and ever mindful of the fact that his opponents in debate should not be subjected to ridicule or scorn. His wit and ability to inject humor into the art of debate has dissipated many a tense moment in this House when feelings and emotions were worn thin.

Today it is my great privilege to nominate this gentleman for election to the highest office of this House. That he will fill it with distinction is a foregone conclusion. We know that he will preside over our deliberations with firmness, and also with fairness. We know also that members of the minority side will come to regard him as their 'Mr. Speaker' to the same extent as those on the majority side. And this is as it should be, for we have many and grave problems facing us during the 1955 Session.

That we will miss this gentleman on the floor of the House also goes without saying. However, if we urge him enough, he may be willing, at times, to leave the rostrum, and join us in the rough and tumble of debate.

We have had many fine, able Speakers preside over this House since its inception. A few have reached the status of being great Speakers. It is my belief that the man I am about to nominate has the capacity to acquire this status

It is, therefore, a pleasure and a privilege to place in nomination for the Office of Speaker, the name of the gentleman from Cambria County, Hiram G. Andrews.

The CHIEF CLERK. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Johnson.

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Chief Clerk, we open today what is said to be the one hundred and forty-first session of the General Assembly of Pennsylvania. There are many new faces on both sides of the House. We certainly want to wish them welcome and hope that they will be justly rewarded by their new experience. And to the old Members who have returned, we want to renew with them our bonds of friendship.

It is going to be a very unusual Session for those of us on this side to be in the minority, but that is the will of the electorate, and we of course will graciously abide by it.

Two years ago it was my pleasure to nominate the person who was then elected Speaker of this House. At that time it was pointed out that to be a good Speaker one must possess qualities of leadership, a natural sense of fairness, no end of patience, and a burning desire to do that which is just and right. Those of us who were here last Session and who saw this gentleman in action as our Speaker know that he possessed and displayed those very qualities.

Today as we come to organize this Session, it seems that the problems facing the Commonwealth are greater than ever before. It seems that they are becoming more and more numerous and complex. The man we are going to nominate for Speaker here now is a man who could well lead this House in these trying times. He comes well prepared for the job.

He was first elected to this House in 1943 and has served as a Member with distinction.

In 1949 we honored him by naming him the Republican Whip of this House. In 1951 he was elevated to the job of Majority Leader, and all of you who were here then know that he served in that job with distinction. It paved the way for the higher honor that he was going to receive in 1953, that is the Speakership of this House .

It gives me a great deal of pleasure to place in nomination today for the office of Speaker the gentleman from Philadelphia, Honorable Charles C. Smith.

Mr. MORAN. Mr. Chief Clerk, I move that nominations for the office of Speaker of the House of Representatives be now closed.

The motion was agreed to.

ROLL CALL

The CHIEF CLERK. The roll will now be called. Each Member will announce distinctly, when his name is called, the candidate for whom he votes.

The roll was called and was as follows:

Honorable Hiram G. Andrews received one hundred eleven votes.

Honorable Charles C. Smith received ninety-eight votes.

The Honorable Hiram G. Andrews having received a majority of all the votes cast is hereby declared elected Speaker of the House of Representatives.

ELECTION OF SPEAKER MADE UNANIMOUS

The CHIEF CLERK. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Charles C. Smith.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Chief Clerk, today we are witnessing a very unusual sight, a Democrat taking over the Speaker's Chair. This has not happened, as all of you know, for many, many years. However, I am sure that if we on this side of the House have to give up the Chair to a Democrat, and we had our choice, we know of no one who would treat us more fairly, no one who has earned or better deserves this great honor or has a broader knowledge of the problems of the minority than Hi Andrews.

But forgetting all these virtues, above all—and I mean this very sincerely—he is a great and grand gentleman, and we regard him with real affection.

However, Mr. Chief Clerk, I want to warn the Speaker-elect, that while we are saying these nice things about him today, he has only a two-year lease on that Chair, and we are going to do our very best to make him vacate it two years from now.

Mr. Chief Clerk, I move that the vote for the Honorable Hiram G. Andrews who has now become your Speaker and mine be made unanimous, and may Heaven bless him.

The motion was agreed to.

COMMITTEE TO ESCORT SPEAKER-ELECT TO ROSTRUM

The CHIEF CLERK. The Chair appoints Messrs. Readinger and Charles C. Smith to escort the Speaker-elect to the rostrum.

OATH OF OFFICE ADMINISTERED TO SPEAKER-ELECT

The oath of office was administered to the Honorable Hiram G. Andrews, Speaker-elect of the House of Represenatives by the Honorable Ivan J. McKenrick, President Judge of the Court of Common Pleas, Cambria County.

ADDRESS BY HON. IVAN J. McKENRICK

Mr. JUDGE IVAN J. KENDRICK. Mr. Speaker, ladies', and gentlemen, I did not come prepared to make a speech, but it is with a great sense of personal pride that I have come down from the mountain top to the river side to present Cambria County's gift to the Commonwealth.

Hiriam G. Andrews, affectionately known as "Hi" among us, has been my friend, and I have been his friend. It is with a great sense of personal pride that I have performed for him this day this slight office.

You know Hiram G. Andrews, you know his experience, his training, his fairness, his loyalty to the spirit of the Constitution, and you know he will make a most excellent Speaker for the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in this House.

Hiram can speak for himself, and I am sure he is going to, but I do want to say that personally, as his life-long friend, I invoke the blessing of Almighty God upon him in his ministrations among you, and hope and trust that he may have many, many more years to serve the people of this Commonwealth.

The CHIEF CLERK. Members of the House, I have the honor to present to you the Hoenorable Hiram G. Andrews, Speaker of the House of Representatives.

THE SPEAKER (HIRAM G. ANDREWS) IN THE CHAIR.

The SPEAKER. They tell me that when you rap once with this "hickey," it is for attention. When you rap three times it is "stand up," and when you rap once it is "sit down" again.

The Chair recognizes its Sergeant-at-Arms of the House.

NOTIFICATION FROM SENATE

SERGEANT-AT-ARMS. Mr. Speaker, the committee on the part of the Senate.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the committee on the part of the Senate.

Mr. VAN SANT. Mr. Speaker, the Committee on the part of the Senate is sent to inform the House that the Senate is now organized and ready to proceed with business.

The SPEAKER. The Chair thanks the Committee on the part of the Senate.

ADDRESS BY THE SPEAKER

The SPEAKER. Mr. Chief Clerk, this is a beautiful, a simply beautiful, scene to look out upon. Lovely flowers, lovely ladies. I think perhaps the artistic values are somewhat impaired by the masculine faces, but it is still beautiful.

I want to thank the Chief Clerk, the Chief Clerk particularly, for the able and efficient way in which he and the members of his staff have arranged for this particular occasion.

I want to congratulate the minority and the majority parties upon their Floor Leaders. Both men are able party men, both are able legislators, and both I am glad to say root deep in the affections of the Chair.

Ladies' and gentlemen of the House, I realize the weight and the gravity of the responsibilities that your confidence has imposed upon me. It is indeed a sobering experience suddenly to become the custodian of a parliamentary tradition that is a challenge to your desire, worthily to perform the functions of a post which time and circumstance have imposed upon you.

During the years, the Members of this House and my predecessors in the Speaker's chair have made outstanding contributions to the dignity of the parliamentary process, a process to the maintenance of which we are mutually committed. It would be unseemly if I did not at this time call your attention to the fact that during my term of service as a Minority Floor Leader, I have never been required upon a single occasion to appeal from any decision interpreting the rules or precedents of this House as made by my extremely photogenic predecessors.

If I must ever remain their inferior in the mater of personal pulchritude it will be my ambition to be their equal in all matters involving integrity.

Nor can I, in justice, fail to call your attention to the fact that this House by recent precedents and practices has been a House that has been well served.

It will be the purpose of the Chair to keep it so. There will be no place upon the payrolls of this House for absentee employees.

As a Minority Leader of yesteryear, I want to thank all the members of the House organization with which we have been dealing through the years. For the present minority party I bespeak the consideration that as a minority we have received during recent years, and we con confidently expect that the standards of service which have been maintained during the last few years will be continued.

Candor compels the admission that I have approached this occasion with confused emotions.

There was once a man who, while being ridden out of town upon a rail, plaintively remarked that if it was not for the honor of the thing he would rather walk. In a very real sense that man was my mental kinsman.

Imagine, if you can, the inner stresses to which anyone in whose veins there flows a single drop of Irish blood is subjected if he must stand idly by and witness battles in which he cannot join.

Of what good, I ask you parenthetically, is any fight if you just can't get in it?

And now please pardon a private, personal, and wholly confidential confession—I have been somewhat disturbed by the intimation from some quarters that my selection for the post of Speaker in this House, in some way climaxes the end of a career.

At a time when I was poised to greet the dawning of a new day, it was disconcerting to find there were those who held that the faint glow I imagined I saw upon my horizon was not a sunrise but was indeed a sunset.

Permit me to assure you I have no intention of assuming the role of an elder statesman with my office upon a bench in the park.

Incidentally and parenthetically if I were an elder statesman with a bench in the park I would only have one word of advice at this time. It would be a word of advice for the heads of all departments of the state government and the advice would be this: If you must use drive, drive with exceeding care.

I realize, of course, that what to do with ex-speakers has long been something of a political problem. In some instances the path from transient Speakership glory has been the beginning of the path to political oblivion.

Being only at high noon in my endeavor I would not have it that way.

Incidenatally, the minority party in this House has evolved an ex-speakership formula all its own. It is decided that an ex-Speaker furnishes the raw material out of which to fabricate Minority Leaders. I desire to assure my photogenic predecessor that in serving as Minority Leader he participates in an incident, and I will do my best to make certain that he is not creating a precedent.

Ladies and gentlemen of the House, while I realize that as Speaker I am but the pale shadow of your will, I nevertheless in some matters crave the privilege of serving as your advocate. From time to time we will acquaiant you with the planks of what we, perhaps overambitiously, will cite as a Speaker's platform.

First of all, but perhaps not of major importance, we will claim for you the right of unimpeded parking upon the Capitol Plaza. All day parking by capitol city business and professional citizenry is out. To the Members of this House, particularly the Members of the minority party, we pledge the unimpeded opportunity to exercise a right which the minority party in this House has not previously enjoyed.

During the next two years our Commonwealth will have no fiscal secrets. There will be no budgetary mysteries. You will have access to the Commonwealth's fiscal records. The only top secret or confidential files that this Commonwealth will have will the files dealing with personnel or files relating to matters under consideration concerning which no decision has been reached.

And we say to the gentlemen of the Press that we will protect their right to scrutinize the record. The records of this Commonwealth are public records.

Doubtless mistakes will be made in the days to come. Our theory will be that the way to deal with mistakes is not to hide them but rather to cure them.

We say to the Departments and all those concerned with the administration that we shall defend your right to legislative inquiry into whatsoever governmental operation this House in its wisdom may desire to inquiry from time to time.

Incidentally, may I say parenthetically, that the component parts of our Commonwealth's General Assembly are a House and a Senate and that in this parliament there is no upper house and neither is there a lower house.

In the parliament that comprises our Commonwealth's General Assembly, House and Senate happily are vested with co-equal powers.

The 1955 Session of Pennsylvania's General Assembly will be no holiday. The problems that impend will tax our ability, our integrity and our patience. It will be necessary for us to make an agonizing reappraisal of our fiscal situation.

In fiscal matters miracles do not happen, and in the fiscal arena miracle men are conspicuous by their absence.

We must needs touch the rock of our resources with the wand of prudence, to the end that revenues sufficient to meet the compelling needs of our Commonwealth may pour forth.

Our Commonwealth's fiscal needs are imposing, but ours is a strong and sturdy state—a state endowed with the strength to carry the Commonwealth's burden, burdens imposed by the popular will, if the load is but equitably apportioned.

In dealing with the fiscal problems of our Commonwealth I appreciate, as you doubtless appreciate, that the fiscal problems did not come into being in 1950.

You will shortly hear from His Excellency the Governor of the Commonwealth. He will tell us facts—facts that have accumulated during the years, conditions and circumstances for which we are not responsible primarily, because they are an inheritance that has come down through many years. In solving these problems we must approach them not as partisans, not for the purpose of of gaining a partisan advantage because those who play for partisan advantage lose the advantage.

I want to close with one parting word to my great and good friend, the Minority Leader. He does not know a thing about being Minority Leader. He has never had any experience in the role; he is just a babe in the woods. He will have to get up before a mirror and practice saying "No." It will not come so easy to him.

I have had some experience in building, helping build, a minority party into a majority party and I have witnessed the process by which a majority party becomes a minority party; and so just as a gesture of good will, when the minority leader is lost in the mazes of maneuver which he will encounter as minority leader, if he will just come around to the Chair we will give him some fatherly advice.

"It would be improper for me, quite contrary to protocol, at this time and in this forum, to discuss the various problems that will confront us in the days to come and suggest solutions for them.

"Following the forthcoming inauguration the present Governor-elect doubtless will tell us what he believes should be done in the light of the picture which the departing Governor has presented.

"It will be our province to weigh and measure what the departing Governor has told us, what the new Governor tells us; to check and double check the needs, scrutinize the allocations requested, approve appropriations commensurate with the needs, and then, to the best of our ability, to make certain that the money appropriated is being wisely spent for the purpose intended.

"It has happened in the past that all the members of this House knew about what a department was doing was what the department said it was doing.

"It may be impractical, during the forthcoming session, to create all the agencies of inquiry which the General Assembly must needs possess, in order to acquaint itself with the factors that mirror administrative practice and administrative failures.

"If there are failures, and we do not learn about them, our successors will.

"There are various objectives which we should envision.

"In the past we have, perhaps, indulged in too much here-today-and-gone-tomorrow planning. Only those who say, "after us, the deluge," can afford to draw upon their tomorrows in an effort to finance their yesterdays.

"And here, permit me to express my personal conviction that many of the problems now facing us root deep in the past—a part that anti-dates 1950.

"We, like the outgoing administration, are the victims of a fell circumstance not of our creation.

"While, as I have pointed out, it would be inappropriate for me to suggest to you the details of legislative program, there are some steps that must eventually be taken if legislative bodies are actually to come to grips in practical fashion with their fiscal problems.

"Before the fiscal affairs of government, at its various levels, can be managed to good purpose, an understanding must be arrived at concerning the financial jurisdiction and responsibility of government at the national level, government at the state level, and government at the various local levels.

"What should the Federal Government do for the states? What are its proper source of revenue?

"What should the various states do for themselves? What are their proper sources of revenue?

"And what services should be performed by the state for and on behalf of the various local municipal subdivisions?

"And what should the various local subdivisions do for themselves?

"And what are the sources of revenue that should be exclusively reserved for their benefit?

"We cannot, of course, determine federal jurisdiction, but we can press for a solution of the problems which the overlapping of federal levies present.

"An we can gradually establish meets and bonds which will determine financial responsibility at the state and local level.

"Until we do that, sound budgeting must remain an objective rather than a fact accomplished.

"There is another matter, long of deep concern to me—I do not believe that the major committees of this House have been well served. They have lacked the tools with which to work.

"In the past we have committed a billion dollar budget—A billion dollar-plus budget—into the keeping of an appropriation committee that has only been staffed to the extent of one or two stenographers and a single technical assistant.

"We cannot hope to end the era of blank-check appropriations for the various departments—and the era should be ended—until we have the facilities with which and through which to weigh the various demands in an itemized budget.

"It is my hope that in the days to come the appropriations committee, as well as several other major committees, will be adequately staffed.

"It is also my hope that this House will frequently see the wisdom of making haste slowly, and that the Legislation we enact will be well seasoned with cogitation.

"In the days to come differences of opinion will inevitably arise. Ours is a deliberate body. Let us all make it a matter of personal concern to differ in proper parliamentary fashion.

"It is not our mission to attempt to make personal political hay while our institutions wither.

"In this chamber we are on trial and the parliamentary system of government is on trial.

"As we face the future, there is one consummation devoutly to be wished—the segregation of the objectives concerning which we can agree from the matters concerning which disagreement will inevitably arise.

"The people who sent us here will not welcome an era of jangle and recrimination.

"And now, a parting word to the Minority Leader—

"He has had absolutely no experience in the role he has been called upon to play.

"What does he know about being the Floor Leader of a Minority Party?

"Nothing at all; In that realm he is a mere babe in the woods, as it were.

"And there is many a prickly briar in the woods in which he must needs wander.

"I suggest to the Minority Leader that, on the basis of experience, I can qualify as a consultant concerning matters of minority party mass movements—and so, if the Minority Leader chooses to consult with the chair from time to time we will give him some pointers.

"And we will be privileged to do so.

"And I say further to the Minority Leader, that he is the happy inheritor of the best office layout on Capitol Hill.

"After dwelling in the gaudy replica of Grand Central Station, which is the Speaker's Office, he will find the quiet elegance, the studious atmosphere of the quarters into which he is moving, a welcome relief.

"Since 1945 those quarters have been a haven and a home to me. I leave them with a deeper regret than he can perhaps realize.

"Ladies and Gentlemen of the House, on previous occasions I have been privileged to wish you peace, prosperity, and abiding good health—but never did I wish a body of men and women abiding good health—one and all—everyone—The Minority and the Majority—(particularly the Majority) with the fervor that I wish it now!"

ELECTION OF CHIEF CLERK

Mr. SPEAKER. The House will now proceed to the election of a Chief Clerk.

Mr. KOLANKIEWICZ offered a resolution which was read as follows:

In the House of Representatives,
Tuesday, January 4, 1955.

Resolved, That Benjamin L. Long of Philadelphia County, be elected Chief Clerk of this House of Representatives.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Ziegler.

Mr. ZIEGLER. Mr. Speaker, I should like to place in nomination for the office of Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives the name of a man who by past experience is well qualified for this very important office.

He was elected a Member of this Body in 1932, reelected in 1934, 1936, 1948 and 1940. In 1941 he become Chief Clerk to the County Commissioners of Dauphin County and he served in that office until 1943 at which time he resigned, and was elected to the office of Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives. He was successively reelected in 1945, 1947, 1949, 1951 an d1953. During that time I think you will agree that he served impartially and efficiently to the Majority and the Minority.

Mr. Speaker, it gives me a great deal of pleasure to nominate William Habbyshaw from Dauphin County.

Mr. MUSTO. Mr. Speaker, I move that nominations for the office of Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives be closed.

The motion was agreed to.

On a rising vote, Honorable Benjamin L. Long received one hundred and eleven votes; Honorable William E. Habbyshaw received ninety-eight votes and Benjamin L. Long was declared elected Chief Clerk of the House.

ELECTION OF SECRETARY

Mr. BUCCHIN offered a resolution which was read as follows:

Resolved, That Paul C. Moomaw of Franklin County, be elected Secretary of this House of Representatives.

Mr. MIKULA. Mr. Speaker, I nominate for the office of Secretary of the House Honorable William P. Roan of Luzerne County.

Mr. POLASKI. Mr .Speaker, I move that nominations for the office of Secretary of the House of Representatives be now closed.

The motion was agreed to.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, may I respectfully suggest that for the benefit of some of the elderly Members of the House who might find it difficult to rise and sit down so often that we take the previous roll call on all the other persons about to be elected.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the Minority Leader, but would suggest to the Majority Leader, what does he think we have been doing but taking the previous roll calls.

Mr. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I would just like to state for the Majority Leader's information, that we on this side of the House, which is the rejuvenation of the Young Republican Party, are willing to stand up any time and be counted.

On a rising vote Honorable Paul C. Moomaw received one hundred and eleven votes; Honorable William P. Roan received ninety-eight votes and Paul C. Moomaw was declared elected Secretary of the House.

COMMITTEE TO ESCORT CHIEF CLERK AND SECRETARY

The SPEAKER. The Chair appoints Messrs. Habbyshaw and Mr. Roan as a committee to escort the Chief Clerk and Secretary to the Bar of the House where the oath of office will be adminisered to them.

OATH OF OFFICE ADMINISTERED TO CHIEF CLERK AND SECRETARY

The oath of office was then administered to Benjamin L. Long Chief Clerk-elect, and Paul C. Moomaw Secretary-elect of the House of Representatives by the Honorable Warren K. Hess.

APPOINTMENT OF PARLIAMENTARIAN

The SPEAKER. In compliance with the Act of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, approved the 28th day of May, 1931, P. L. 201, as amended, the Speaker appoints S. Edward Moore of Cumberland County, Parliamentarian of the House of Representatives for the ensuing session.

RESOLUTION THANKING JUDGE WARREN K. HESS AND JUDGE IVAN J. McKENRICK FOR ADMINISTERING OATH

Mr. ROBERT K. HAMILTON offered a resolution which was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives,
Tuesday, January 4, 1955.

Resolved, That the Members of the House of Representatives do hereby extend their thanks to the Honorable Warren K. Hess of Bucks County, and the Honorable Ivan J. McKenrick of Cambria County, for their services in administering the oath of office to its Members and Officers.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. WORLEY. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. WORLEY. Mr. Speaker, when Judge Hess said: "and so you do swear." I said "affirm" and did not swear.

The SPEAKER. The remarks of the gentleman from Adams will be spread upon the record.

STANDING RULES OF HOUSE

Mr. STANK, offered a resolution which was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives,
Tuesday, January 4, 1955.

Resolved, That the standing rules of the 1953 regular session of the House of Representatives be and the same are hereby adopted as the temporary rules for the 1955 regular session of the House.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY SPEAKER

The SPEAKER. The Chair would request that until the Standing Committees have been appointed the Members refrain from introducing any bills.

Resolutions will be in order, but not bills because there are no Committees to which to refer those bills.

As soon as the Standing Committees have been appointed, of course, Members may begin submitting bills. It is requested that bills be held until the Committees have been appoined.

APPOINTMENT OF MAJORITY FLOOR LEADERS

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Petrosky for the purpose of making an announcement to the House.

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, I have been instructed to announce for the information of the Members of the House and for the record that the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Albert S. Readinger has been elected by the Democratic Caucus as Majority Leader of the House, and that the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Lovett has been elected Majority Whip of the House.

APPOINTMENT OF MINORITY FLOOR LEADERS

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Lancaster, Mr. Wood for the purpose of making an announcement to the House.

Mr. WOOD. "Mr. Speaker, as Chairman of the Republican Caucus, I have been instructed to announce for the information of the Members of the House and for the record that the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Charles C. Smith, has been elected by the Republican Caucus as the Minority Leader and that the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Albert W. Johnson has been elected Minority Whip of the House."

DRIVER PROVIDED FOR SPEAKER

The SPEAKER. As a matter of personal concern, driving from the Capitol Plaza to where the Speaker lives, he very narrowly escaped being completely sabotaged by a reckless driver. As a matter of grave concern for the protection of your Speaker, therefore—

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I move that it is essential to this House that the great state of Pennsylvania should in some way provide a driver for the Speaker.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The SPEAKER. The Speaker is willing to furnish the car and the Department of Property and Supplies, the State Police and the Chief Clerk are on notice to the effect that the House has so expressed its unanimous will.

RESIGNATIONS OF FORMER MEMBERS

The SPEAKER laid before the House the following resignations of Honorable William P. Kohl and Honorable Paul F. Jones:

January 14, 1954.

Hon. Charles C. Smith,
Speaker, House of Representatives
Harrisburg, Pennsylvania

Dear Mr. Speaker:

Presently I am serving as a member of the House of Representatives, the General Assembly of the State of Pennsylvania from the Second Legislative District of Luzerne County, under a term commencing January, 1953.

I herewith submit my resignation from this office effective tomorrow, January 15, 1954.

It has been a great honor to represent the people of my district, and to have served in the Assembly under such a distinguished Speaker. Please accept my thanks for the many services rendered to me and my constituents.

Respectfully yours,

WILLIAM P. KOHL.

January 14, 1954.

Hon. Charles C. Smith,
Speaker,
House of Representatives,
Harrisburg, Pennsylvania

Honorable Sir:

I respectfully herewith tender my resignation as a member of the House of Representatives, representing the First Legislative District of Pittsburgh, Allegheny County, Pennsylvania, effective January 5, 1954.

I have been informed that this action is necessary because I cannot continue as a member of the House after being elected to fill an unexpired term in the Pittsburgh City Council.

Kindly accept my thanks and gratitude for the numerous courtesies extended me during my two sessions in the House. I enjoyed the personal association of all of the members and shall always regard my service in the House as one of the most pleasant experiences in my lifetime. With every kind wish, I am

Very truly yours,

PAUL F. JONES.

JOINT SESSION OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY

LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR WOOD PRESIDING

COMMITTEE ESCORTING GOVERNOR

The SERGEANT-AT-ARMS OF THE SENATE. Mr. President, the Committe appointed to escort the Governor to the Hall of the House.

Mr. WAGNER. Mr. President, I have the Honor of presenting His Excellency, John S. Fine, Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

The LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR. Members of the General Assembly, I have the honor and privilege of presenting His Excellency, John S. Fine, Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, who will now address you.

ADDRESS OF GOVERNOR JOHN S. FINE

Governor John S. Fine.

To the Honorable, the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Four years ago I assumed administration of this great Commonwealth's governmental affairs. I announced then my intention of making Pennsylvania a better state in which to live and to work. I proposed to fully instill in government the principle of humaneness.

With these paramount thoughts in mind, I charted a course for this Administration. Our objectives were motivated solely toward making a great State greater and better, thereby redounding to the benefit of every man, woman, and child living within our boundaries.

In my Inaugural Message I laid down a definite course. I then said:

"We must and we will be thrifty. Frugality in everything except protection of our people will be the watchword of this Administration. Where our people's health is concerned we will not stint. We will not be parsimonious in educating our children. We shall not be rigid in our treatment of the unfortunates among our citizens; nor will this Administration be wasteful with the people's money."

That well-rounded program has been fulfilled. Our hopes of four years ago have been attained in large measure.

Our industries and business have prospered. Our State Government has extended a helping hand to the four million working men and working women who turn the industrial wheels which keep Pennsylvania in the vanguard of the Nation's industry and, consequently, its welfare.

Unemployment—rampant throughout the Nation—has plagued us, too. What our State Government could do to alleviate this unfortunate condition, we did. We sought remedy through new construction; through public assistance; through welcoming new industries; and through record-making increases in unemployment insurance and workmen's compensation benefits.

In fulfilling our program we have given Pennsylvania more and better hospitals. We have improved and extended our huge highway and turnpike systems; we have made gratifying advances in education and in protecting and caring for the health and welfare of our citizens.

We engaged in record-breaking construction projects to keep Pennsylvania abreast of its tremendous growth and to insure progress by stifling retrogression.

In every section of the Commonwealth improvements have been made. They have bettered the everyday living conditions of our people. We have done all this with marked frugality and with almost complete elimination of wastefulness.

Nowhere in the administration of the public's business have I cause for apology for the Administration. This has been a very good Administration. The record speaks for itself, and, Ladies and Gentlemen of the General Assembly, it speaks loudly and clearly.

I have no intention here and now to invite possible boredom by being too specific as to this Administration's accomplishments. Should you wish to delve into the details, the opportunity is afforded you in supplementary Department reports appended in printed form to this message.

This occasion presents to me the opportunity of repeating my oft-spoken thanks to the members of the Legislature for the support they gave most of the Administration's program. While bestowing this accolade, I also must call attention to the fact that some members of my Party more than once thought it expedient to endeavor to thwart what the Administration thought best for the people of Pennsylvania. I had expected that opposition from Democratic legislators; I regret a lot of it came from Republicans, while many Democrats cooperated. However, these things are now in the past, and I am far more thankful for the support I obtained than I am recriminatory for the support denied me.

At the very outset my Administration—now almost closed—was confronted with a huge financial problem. Much of the fiscal difficulty was created before I assumed the governorship. It was inherited, and I was not adised of its extent.

A great many of you are fully aware of the Soldiers' Bonus financing, the additional millions for school subsidies, and the added millions for General State Authority rentals which were laid upon my doorstep for me to find the money to pay them.

My first recommendation to pay accumlated bills and to meet increasing costs of education was, as you remember, a flat Income Tax, because our antiquated Constitution does not permit a graudated Income Tax. That recommendation represented the opinion of all the legislative leadership of my Party. That tax on earned and unearned income—less onerous than the Wage ax, and perhaps the Sales Tax—was scuttled by those Republicans who were more intent on embarrasing me and promoting their own selfish interest than they were interested in the good fortunes of their Party and the people. The result was the passage of the Sales Tax, on the eve of this year's elections.

Although I avoided the Sales Tax battle in the Legislature for six months, I finally and reluctantly responded to a House leadership call for aid. In thus adopting the Republican—not Fine's, pattern of sales taxation, I have no apology to offer. It was the only real broad base tax available—and a true broad base tax is necessary for the expanding educational needs of Pennsylvania.

The very first Budget of this Administration called for total appropriations of $853,000,000. The Legislature determined to raise this amount to $890,000,000. The result was we needed a tax program of $162,500,000 to balance the Budget.

An acceleration of the Corporate Net Income Tax brought in $60,000,000. That helped balance the 1951-53 Budget; but it was no help to the last Budget. Neither was the fact that of the $100,000,000 increase in appropriations recommended for 1953-55, $95,000,000 was mandated by law primarily for school subsidies. This left an additional $135,000,000 in revenue to be brought in. The Legislature, having turned down an Income Tax proposal, passed the Sales Tax to fill this gap—which, however, will fall short by about $35,000,000 of the $135,000,000 we hoped would accrue from it.

At the beginning of this Administration the Commonwealth's net full faith and credit indebtedness was $509,413,386. As of October 31st last this indebtedness had been reduced by $107,912,378.

Total allocations to the Department of Highways from the Motor License Fund during my Administration amount to $704,000,000. Of that amount $480,274,000 was spent or projected for construction.

The State Highway and Bridge Authority had completed 12 projects at a cost of $9,522,262, and had 43 projects under construction costing $44,933,137 as of October 31, 1954.

The State Public School Building Authority, up to November 16, 1954, had approved 441 projects amounting to $260,953,329, and 151 of those projects were substantially completed.

The General Fund condition leaves a severe problem for the new Administration. That problem arises primarily from the failure of the Sales Tax and the corporate Net Income Tax to meet our estimates. It arises from the fact, also, that public assistance requirements were greater than had been anticipated, and that school subsidy appropriations are falling short by a number of millions. As I turn the reins of government over to the new Administration, this set of circumstances could result in a deficit presently estimated at $60,000,000. Of course, fiscal problems become increasingly grave by the proposed lapse of the Sales Tax.

The health and welfare of our people has ben our principal concern. To meet the needs as best we could, we improved the public health program by reorganizing the Health Department. We sought a merit system for all health employes, but the Legislature restricted our request to professional, technical, and executive personnel in the Department. A forty-hour work week was set up for all State institutions, including those under the Health Department's jurisdiction.

This Administration fostered a home rule concept for public health service, permitting full-time public health services to be performed with local autonomy in the various counties. This brings State Health Department services closer to local health problems, as well as providing professional guidance to local Departments of Health. Health education activities were expanded throughout the State; and our continuing efforts to lessen communicable diseases have paid off gratifyingly. Communicable and acute diseases continue to show decreases in morbidity and mortality, although chronic diseases continue to rise. Because of this fact we have shifted the State's attention more and more to measures to prevent the effects of chronic diseases.

One of the unfortunate problems presented State Government is that of properly and adequately dealing with mental health. This is a big problem. It challenges every ingenuity of the medical profession and of government, because it is so wide-spread and so deteriorating of human life.

This Administration early recognized the problem for what it really is. We vigorously pursued helpful and remedial measures.

For the first time the mental health problem was boldly grappled at the State level, on the broadest possible basis.

The past four years have seen the gradual completion in unbroken continuity of a vast institutional program involving $153,000,000. Of the several hundred projects only about five per cent remain to be completed. This residual has been supplemented with additional projects, so that more than $46,000,000 in construction is currently active.

The Department of Welfare has projected the construction needs through the next three bienniums toward the realization of sufficient well-rounded facilities to stabilize the institutional phase of the mental health program about the year 1960.

The four years I have been Governor may be noted for the formulation at the State level of a balanced mental health program. Our traditional institutional program has been coordinated with community mental hygiene programs throughout the Commonwealth for education, prevention, early recognition and treatment of this blighting disease at the local level. Our every resource to combat mental instability has been integrated with the communities of the State, not only for recognition and treatment of the disease, but also for the complete rehabilitation of the patients. In this we have made significant progress.

We have organized local resources to meet local mental health needs. During this Administration full-time treatment clinics have increased from nine to nineteen counties of the Commonwealth, covering about three-fourths of our population. This is a continuing process and a worthwhile development. I am sure that we have established a trend to less custodial care for the mentally ill, and for more intensive and remedial treatment. We have laid down a program which I hope will be continued. It will be a great boon to the mentally distressed.

Part of this program, of course, has been an expansion of facilities to care for the mentally retarded.

Just the other day contracts were awarded by The General State Authority for more than $8,500,000 to expand the Selinsgrove State School for the Mentally Retarded at Selinsgrove, Snyder County.

The project, when complete, will relieve the present over-crowded conditions at the State Schools at Polk in Venango County and at Pennhurst in Chester County.

Allocations have been made by The General State Authority for the improvement of facilities at Embreeville, and for construction of a mental hospital in Delaware County. These have been delayed by The General State Authority for various reasons. I sincerely trust that these needed construction projects will not be further delayed, since they are designed to relieve over-crowded conditions in the Philadelphia area. My only regret is that they are not already under construction.

While the delay in construction is most regrettable, it does not imperil the long-range program we have developed.

There is a national shortage of professional trained personnel, especially physicians. We have felt that shortage in Pennsylvania; yet despite this the State Bureau of Mental Health in the Department of Welfare in the past four years has expanded and reorganized its professional staff to the extent that leadership and guidance have been established in all the major disciplines dealing with the care and treatment of the mentally ill. This leadership has been nationally recognized.

We have recognized that brick and mortar alone do not complete the treatment facilities for the mentally ill. We have tried every means at our command to invite doctors and technicians into our State system, to provide the coordinated team-work necessary to activate the brick and mortar into real, live centers of rehabilitation.

To assist in obtaining the necessary personnel, the Eastern State Psychiatric Institute—now nearing completion in Philadelphia—will offer research and training to young physicians and to technicians in the care and treatment of the mentally afflicted. We impose on those who take this training the moral obligation of spending several years in the State's mental hospitals, with the hope that many will remain permanently within the State system.

The long-range program we have projected—including the expansion of facilities at Embreeville, the proposed hospital in Delaware County, and the Selinsgrove expansion—will mean about 3,500 additional beds for the mentally ill. It is imperatively necessary that these facilities be adequately manned. We are providing the means of manning them. It is, however, a problem which demands constant future attention.

Another extremely unfortunate segment of our population—the blind and visually handicapped citizens—also compelled our attention. We have steadily increased the State services to these people. During this Administration more than 900 blind and visually handicapped persons were rehabilitated into channels of employment, with estimated annual earnings of more than $1,300,000. This, too, is a significant contribution of government involving human values.

Our State hospitals have been augmented and greatly improved during the past four years. We initiated 27 new projects of hospital construction calling for an expenditure of better than $49,000,000.

This represented a part of the concerted effort we have put forth to improve conditions of patient care in the ten State-owned general hospitals.

New legislation was promulgated to give the Department of Welfare responsibility of supervision of all types of homes for the aged. We concentrated effort to insure that those who conduct homes for the aged comply fully with State regulations, which, of course, benefit those who occupy these homes.

There is another problem involving our older citizens to which we have directed intensive study. Simply stated, it is the problem of making a living while growing old.

The early definition of "aging" and "retirement age" in many industries, and the arbitrary decision of determining employment solely on the basis of age itself, have brought about this problem. We have consistently and constantly urged an expansion of the fields of employment to take care of this growing segment of our population. We have held annual conferences, and I can report much progress has been made.

A new Division of Youth Service has been added to the Department of Welfare. This was created to eliminate as many as possible of the undesirable factors contributing to juvenile delinquency. We endeavored to develop sound, uniform practices and procedures for handling delinquents.

The end of the conflict in Korea brought about the usual readjustments from war to peacetime activities, with the result that we faced an unemployment situation, as did most of our sister states. From January 1953 through September 1954, 280,000 Pennsylvanians applied for and received grants for assistance. The cost of public assistance from State funds decreased from a monthly rate of $7,461,000 at the beginning of this Administration to a low point of $4,485,000 in October 1953. In September last this increased to $5,355,000.

This distressing situation of the unemployed came about despite the fact that since the start of this Administration up to the end of last October nearly 1,000 new industries began operations in Pennsylvania, providing jobs for more than 6,000 persons and increasing the annual payrolls in this State by more than $191,000,000. The unemployment came about, too, despite the fact that more than 1,200 existing industries in the Commonwealth expanded their productive capacity and gave jobs to an additional 90,000 persons.

There are, as you know, many limitations imposed on State Government so far as being of assistance to the unemployed is concerned. Nevertheless, through the efforts of the Bureau of Employment Security of the Department of Labor and Industry more than one and one-half million job seekers were placed in suitable employment during this Administration.

With the cooperation of the General Assembly, sizable increases were made in workmen's compensation benefits. Furthermore, during the past four years approximately $540,000,000 was paid to 1,950,000 claimants under the State Unemployment Compensation Law.

The depreciation of the Unemployment Compensation Fund brings into prominent focus the necessity of early action by the Legislature to thwart any diminution of benefits to unemployed claimants. To permit this would defeat the underlying philosophy of Unemployment Compensation.

I am happy to be able to tell you, also, that working conditions for those employed in Pennsylvania have reached excellent standards. This fact in itself has been a contributing factor to the great reduction in the frequency rate of industrial accidents.

The new industries which began operating in this State, and those already here that expanded, are in large measure due to our Department of Commerce. This Department has contributed a great deal to the efforts of local communities, organizations, and trade groups in the successful forward march of industrial and commercial Pennsylvania. The Department of Commerce has been a stimulating influence on industry and a helpful adviser to communities throughout the State.

Ghost towns, with loss of jobs and taxes to the communities and states, occurred in New England during the past twenty years and resulted in the movement of the textile industry from that section to the South. With the realization that this luring of indusry by "give away" programs was a prime example of the growing competition for industrial life, a Textile Study Committee was appointed by me on April 25, 1952.

This Committee, composed of fourteen members, with representation from industry, education, power companies, retail sales, and citizens, with J. Lee Bausher, of Reading, as Chairman, served for twenty-three months. It made a thorough study of the probability of such a movement from Pennsylvania. The Committe found no such danger; but among its recommendations it strongly pointed out the need for continued observation and study. This responsibility was well placed with the Department of Commerce. I am delighted to say that the legislative attempts to abolish it at the last Session did not prevail.

Pennsylvanians today, more than ever before, have a right to be intensely proud of their great State highway and turnpike systems.

Throughout the Commonwealth the vast network of State roads has undergone record construction, reconstruction, and improvement. The Pennsylvania Turnpike has been extended in every direction. In these past four years it has enjoyed its most prosperous and progressive era, providing an outstanding example of how State Government and private capital can work together to contribute to the development of the industrial and social progress of our Commonwealth.

In keeping our State road systems at their apex of usefulness and modernization, and because of the record-breaking expenditures we have made to accomplish this, it is perhaps fortunate that we have enjoyed an economic cycle in which we find in many instances that construction work is being done at lower costs than our highway and turnpike engineers have estimated. This has been true despite cost rises in steel and cemnt, which ar major ingredients of our highways. On the Northeastern Extension alone the contract awards so far made are $23,000,000 under estimates.

During our term of office we extended the Turnpike east and west to give Pennsylvania a Superhighway now extending 360 miles across the State from the Delaware River west to the Ohio border. Work is now proceeding on the Northeastern Extension of the Turnpike—a vital step toward the development of the industrial potentialities of the Commonwealth's distressed anthracite region. We have approved extensions from the present Turnpike to a point near the Maryland State Line, and a Northwestern Extension from a point on the present east-west Turnpike to near the City of Erie.

I feel certain that before I leave office we will have established the line for an addition to the proposed new Northwestern Extension from the New York State border to the Ohio line, thereby joining our Turnpike with our sister State of Ohio at two points.

This indeed has been a golden age in turnpike development.

A State as productive in industry and in agriculture as is Pennsylvania needs the best transportation system possible to market its goods. We have provided that.

This Administration has been marked by a constant succession of record-breaking years for the Department of Highways. More than 11,000 miles of State highways have been constructed, reconstructed, resurfaced, or widened during the past four years, at a cost of approximately $542,000,000. Our highway system now is all-weather surfaced. The expansion of roadside rests along our highway and turnpike systems may be profitably explored.

During this Administration the assets of State banking institutions under supervision of the Banking Department have increased approximately one and one-quarter billion dollars. This is attributed mainly to constructive legislation enacted during the past four years, which places the banks in the State system on a fair competitive basis with the banks in the National system.

There has been an increase, also, in the growth of insurance business under the jurisdiction of the State Insurance Department. This, also, is due largely to the legislative program submitted to the General Assembly and for the most part approved by the lawmakers.

One of the most outstanding betterments in State Government is that pertaining to public education. This Administration, in pursuing our announced effort to give the children of the State the best opportunities for education, increased our appropriations 69.5 per cent. We reorganized the Department of Public Instruction. One result has been that we have been able to provide more services for more children, especially in rural and small urban communities. School building construction reached an all-time high during the past four years; while teachers' pay and the teachers' retirement status both were increased and strengthened. These strides of progress were imperative, as we are confronted with increasing school populations and increasing competition for teachers' services.

Our Ports of Philadelphia, Erie, and Pittsburgh all have been tremendously improved.

This Administration paid especial attention to law enforcement. We increased the number of State Police. We have made it possible for State Police to assist law-abiding communities all over the State without waiting to be asked by local authorities. The slot machines, usually referred to as "one-armed bandits," have been virtually eliminated. Never has Pennsylvania been so free of vice.

I would say that most of you are cognizant of the fact that during this Administration we reshaped Pennsylvania's penal system. We have modernized it. We have placed it under the jurisdiction of the Department of Justice, and we have made the system a model which other states are presently conforming to. This is a chapter in the accomplishments of this Administration of which I am justly proud. As a part of the modernizing of our penal institutions, I expect next week to break ground for an institution in Luzerne County.

Only yesterday I was privileged to break ground for the new eleven-story Commonwealth Office Building here in Harrisburg. It will complement the new State Labor and Industry Building, just across the street fro mit, and which is now under construction.

Next week, also, I propose to participate in ground breaking ceremonies in Pittsburgh for the new State office building projected there in Gateway Center. The contract price for this building was well over a million dollars less than the estimate. Money is available for another State office building to be erected in Philadelphia. These buildings are designed to concentrate various departmental offices now renting space in scattered sections of the cities in which they are to be erected. They will mean a savings to the taxpayers.

I am happy that under this Administration badly needed reconstruction of the State Capitol Building has been accomplished, and that we have made plans which will facilitate the early removal of the Temporary Office Buildings back of the Capitol which have been eyesores in Harrisburg for many years.

Happily we have made tremendous strides in the past four years in the conservation of our natural resources and in their utilization for the benefit of industry and of our people.

The State's woodlands have been greatly extended. Flood control projects of vast importance in the saving of property and for the welfare of our people have been completed for virtually every section of the State.

During this Admintsration 34 oil and gas leases were made by the Department of Forests and Waters. The State has profited from this action. Our earned income from rentals, from leases and royalties for natural gas produced from the start of the Administration to October 1st last, amounted to more than $8,000,000 as against earnings of $793,000 in three years of the preceding administration.

I strongly recommend to this General Assembly and to the incoming Administration the advisability of earmarking these funds for State Park purposes, for hunting, for fishing, for an urgent State Recreation Commission, thereby enhancing recreation for all.

With improved highways and extended turnpike systems, we must expand recreational and park facilities rapidly, that Pennsylvania will the more appeal to the tourist and those within and without the State who seek recreational outlets. It is good business.

For the recreation and enjoyment of our people we added five State Parks to the Pennsylvania State Park System; while a sixth Park—Slippery Rock Park in Lawrence County—is in process of acquisition.

Through intensive work on the part of the Fish and Game Commissions we have added to the enjoyment of fishermen and hunters who yearly seek out Pennsylvania's beautiful streams and forests for their sport.

I hope either the Federal or State government will soon recognize the obligation to posterity by acquiring title to the southwest corner of Seventh and Market Streets, Philadelphia, and restore this historic site where Jefferson penned the Declaration of Independence.

Based on sound and realistic plans, we have built a State-wide civil defense organization generally recognized to be among the Nation's very best. The value and effectiveness of this trained force already have been shown by vital service rendered in combatting the effects of fire, flood, and hurricane. It clearly stands as an essential form of insurance for our survival in today's troubled world.

This Administration is extremely pleased that the Industrial Race Relations Committee was continued. The members of this Committee have performed excellently under the able leadership of Mr. Samuel Daroff, of Philadelphia, in bettering race relations. It is to be hoped their efforts will be rewarded with F.E.P.C. legislation at this sesion of the Legislature.

Since the last session of the Legislature, TV Educational Station WQED of Pittsburgh was opened. This was later followed by the dedication of Philadelphia's Educational FM Station WHYY. Before the close of 1955 the latter Station will be on TV. Of course, other sections of Pennsylvania may not be so fortunate to raise private funds and may need the aid of government. Fiscal resources did not come so easily for these pioneering educational stations already opened in the Commonwealth. The struggle was hard and severe.

For the more than six million inhabitants of the Delaware Valley the birth of WHYY was a matter of primary importance to plans for future cultural and educational growth. After three years of concerted effort by school boards, educational and cultural institutions, civic groups, and individuals, this Station was founded to serve the intellectual and cultural interests of the people within a five-county area. As much may be said of the great industrial area similarly serviced by the Pittsburgh Station.

I should like also to believe that these educational stations are but initial links in what will inevitably be a growing network of FM radio and television stations established to promote the daily educational needs and cultural concerns of the almost 11,000,000 citiezns of the entire Commonwealth.

Educational television and radio constitute a national asset. Hundreds of thousands of our fellow citizens now take part in this movement to find a place for the sight and sound of knowledge, education, and fellowship in American homes.

Supporters of a program for educational television and radio do not spin from private fancy and imaginative fantasy. Let us face the harsh, cold facts of national life: three and a half million Americans today are illiterates in a Nation that prides itself for a high level of public education.

Ten millions of our fellow citizens all over 25 years of age—some 11 per cent of this age group—are considered functional illiterates by educators. They completed less than five years of elementary school.

Many of our fellow citizens, for reasons of livelihood, also have not had the opportunity to improve themselves in information through secondary education. Nearly one-half of the adult population of the United States did not attend high school. Only six per cent of the American people completed college.

Army records point out the undeniable fact that one out of every six draftees is rejected by the armed services for the absence of educational fitness.

During my Administration Pennsylvania has been undertaking systematic steps to meet this issue. But all of us—the rank and file of the citizens as well as those of public administration and of the community agencies—must enlist for the duration.. We must resolve together not to waste the human resources of America—the most percious of all our Country's natural resources. Our citizens of tomorrow must be fully prepared today. I hope the present Legislature will look more kindly on educational television than did its predecessor.

I was delighted to be among the first governors in this Country to urge upon a State Legislature our State's obligation in furthering this revolutionary media of educational development.

Likewise, we are proud our Highway Safety Conference was so eminently successful, and our old age, industrial safety, and mental health seminars were so fruitful.

The Commonwealth's first Industrial and Construction Exposition was held in September last, and was markedly successful and a harbinger of bigger and better Expositions in the future. It is destined to take its place alongside our great Farm Show, which is internationally known. The second Industrial Show will be held on September 19-24, inclusively, 1955.

Needless to say, I am particularly happy that this Administration initiated and organized the first Governors' Coal Conference of the coal-producing states. Although still in swaddling clothes, the Governors' Coal Conference has already been a boon to the distressed and depressed coal industry.

We would be most remiss indeed if due tribute were not given those many outstanding Pennsylvanians—men and women—who unhesitatingly answered the call of their State Government by service on various committees, boards, and commissions. Those men and women gave unstintingly of their time without remuneration on the Buehler Tax Study Committee; the Intergovernmental Relations Commission; the Chesterman Committee; the Textile Committee; the Mental Health Survey Committee; the Governor's Commonwealth Fuel Conference; the Industrial Race Relations Committee; the Council of Education; the Old Age, the Youth, and various Safety committees; the Korean Committee; and many, many others. Also the Refugee Relief Committee; the State Recreation Council; the members of Commissions and Boards of Trustees. All were important and made substantial contributions to the betterment of State Government.

This Administration is deeply indebted to all these devoted Pennsylvanians. All are exemplary citizens dedicated to the progress of their Commonwealth. Through them and our body of conscientious and efficient State employes our Commonwealth was bettered during the last four years.

Serving the people of the Commonwealth as their Governor has been an enriching experience for me. I am convinced that in these past four years I have fulfilled the trust my fellow Pennsylvanians confided in me. In every phase of government we have progressed. Our industries, our laboring people, and our citizens are better off today than they were four years ago. I trust this progress will be maintained.

Reports of Departments, Boards and Commissions, and other agencies of State Government

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA
BUDGET BUREAU
HARRISBURG

Dear Governor Fine:

At the outset your Administration was confronted with a huge financial problem

In the first budget of this Administration there were $112 million of General Fund obligations arising from actions taken before you came into office. These consisted of $60 million for bonus financing, $42 million additional for school subsidies, and $10 million additional for General State Authority rentals. Total appropriations recommended amounted to $853 million. The estimated funds available were $163 million short of that amount. As it turned out appropriations approved for the 1951-1953 biennium were $890 million. This amount was met primarily by a tax program amounting to $162.5 million by revision of the estimate of revenue, and by the fact the surplus turned out to be more than anticipated.

A large item in the tax program, $60 million, was provided by acceleration of the Corporate Net Income Tax. While that helped to balance the 1951-1953 budget that amount could not be taken advantage of for the 1953-1955 budget and therein lay one of the chief financial difficulties for the present biennium. The other chief difficulty was that of the $100 million increase in appropriations recommended for 1953-1955, $95 million was mandated by law—primarily for school subsidies. Total appropriations recommended were $1,003,899,000. This amount was $157 million above revenues as estimated in the budget. After revisions, which it now appears were not justified, the gap between appropriations recommended and estimated revenues was $135 million. The Sales Tax was adopted to fill that gap. But due to the fact three months of the biennium were lost in starting the tax because the Act did not become effective until September 1, 1953 and due to many exemptions, the tax will fall short of that amount by $35 million as presently estimated.

General Fund appropriations for the four years 1951-1955 amounted to $1,917,786,379. This amount went for the following purposes:

Public Education	$ 912,864,463
Public Assistance	240,049,500
Public Welfare	302,408,757
Public Health	71,141,773
Conservation of Natural Resources	29,706,665
Interest and Sinking Fund Requirements	138,558,972
General State Authority Rentals	29,528,127
Operation of Departments	166,631,767
Civil Defense	5,073,000
Legislative	6,958,007
Judiciary	14,865,348
Total	$1,917,786,379

A large program of building construction and other public works has been completed during this Administration. The General State Authority borrowing limit was increased from $175 million to $330 million. Of that amount $185 million had been borrowed as of October 31, 1954. Ninety million dollars of it was borrowed during this Administration. There was 330 projects completed during this Administration to October 31, 1954 at a cost of $104,484,076. There are 67 projects under construction at an estimated cost of $117,612,211.

Indebtedness

At the beginning of this Administration the Commonwealth net indebtedness stood at $509,413,386. As of October 31, 1954, the net indebtedness had been reduced to $401,501,008—a reduction of $107,912,378. The following table shows the purposes for which the indebtedness was incurred and the amounts of reduction:

	Net Indebtedness January 1, 1951	Net Indebtedness October 31, 1954	Debt Reduction
Road Bonds	$ 7,753,251.87	$	$ 7,753,251.87
Veterans Compensation Bonds (World War I)	11,261,554.42	2,318,554.61	8,942,999.81
Public Buildings Construction Bonds	42,748,580.45	35,232,453.85	7,516,126.60
Toll Bridge Bonds	7,650,000.00	4,950,000.00	2,700,000.00
World War II Veterans Compensation Bonds	440,000,000.00	359,000,000.00	81,000,000.00
	$509,413,386.74	$401,501,008.46	$107,912,378.28

Total allocations to the Department of Highways from the Motor License Fund during this Administration amount to $704 million. Of that amount $480,274,000 was spent for construction to December 31, 1954.

In addition to the amount spent from the Motor Licesse Fund for construction, the State Highway and Bridge Authority, as of October 31, 1954, had completed 12 projects at a cost of $9,522,262 and had 43 projects under construction at a cost of $44,933,137.

The State Public School Building Authority as of November 16, 1954, had approved 441 projects amounting to $260,953,329. Of that amount 151 projects valued at $69 million were substantially completed.

Estimates High

The General Fund financial problem for the new Administration in this biennium arises primarily from the failure of the Sales Tax and Corporate Net Income Tax to meet the estimates, to the fact that public assistance requirements were more than had been anticipated, and school subsidy appropriations are falling short by a number of millions. This combination of circumstances could result in a deficit now estimated at $60 million, which brings up a difficult problem in view of the constitutional restriction on indebtedness exceeding $1 million.

For the next biennium the problem arises in part from a large amount of mandated increases, primarily school subsidies, and in part from what now appears a lower yield in some of the present sources of revenue. If any of the present sources of revenue which will require reenactment to continue are not reenacted, the problem will be intensified.

Respectfully submitted,

EDWARD B. LOGAN
Budget Secretary

DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE
HARRISBURG

Dear Governor Fine:

I have the honor to submit to you a report of the activities of the Department of Justice from the date of your inauguration to November 1, 1954.

The department has been successful in winning in the Supreme Court of the United States, the Circuit Court of the United States for the Third District, the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania, the Superior Court of Pennsylvania and other courts, a great majority of its cases. The figures omitting the cases before the Public Utility Commission and its cases stipulated for judgment amounted to 224 won and 68 lost.

Approval of Documents

The following legal documents have been carefully examined and approved for the various departments:

Department of Property and Supplies
Fidelity Bonds	17878
Publication Agreeemnts, Bonds and Contracts	2153
Supply Contracts and Bonds	17701
General Construction Contracts and Bonds	690
Land Option Purchases	31
Department of Forests and Waters
Agreements and Bonds	752
Game Commission
Timber Sale & Right-of-way Agreeemnts and Bonds	182
Department of Highways
Contracts (Involving $221,808,108.50) Bonds and Agreements	4820
General State Authority
Contracts to Lease and Leases	724
Highway Bridge Authority
Contracts, Right-of-way Agreeemnts and Leases	212
Department of Revenue
Cigarette Tax Bonds, County Officials' Bonds, Motor Boat License Bonds, Informers Escheats Bonds, Guardians Bonds, Guardians

discharged upon filing accounts which we approved, Register of Wills Inheritance Tax Bonds	3877
Department of Welfare

Together with Miscellaneous documents being approved for the following departments:

Department of Commerce, Fish Commission, Historical Commission, Military Affairs, Department of Health, Department of Labor and Industry, Pennsylvania State Police, Liquor Control Board, Department of State, County Officials' Bonds, and Turnpike Commission in the aggregate amount of 1089.

Liquor Control Board

Ten attorneys, assigned to the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board by the Department of Justice as deputies and special deputy attorneys general, handle the Board's legal work throughout the Commonwealth. During your term, this work involved:

785 hearings on applications for licenses before the Board's hearing examiners.

2153 hearings on citation cases against licensees charged with law violations before the Board's hearing examiners.

124 appeals in quarter sessions courts, from the Board's refusal to grant licenses.

90 appeals in quarter sessions courts, from the Board's suspensions and revocations of licenses.

207 forfeiture cases in quarter sessions courts on seizures of contraband liquor and vehicles.

21 appeals to the Superior and Supreme Court of Pennsylvania.

Support Laws

The Department of Justice in cooperation with the Department of Public Assistance engaged in a lengthy and important analysis of the support laws of Pennsylvania. Legislation was prepared and methods revised by which a great deal of taxpayers' money was saved and may be saved in the support of wives and children and which should be paid by the defaulting husband and father. Attorneys were appointed in Luzerne, Blair, Mercer, Washington, Delaware and Montgomery Counties to prosecute support cases. Statistics show that in these six counties alone as much as $100,000 is being saved per month in the form of relative contributions which permit the reduction of assistance grants for the closing of assistance cases. Eventually it is believed that the savings will be in excess of $3,000,000 each biennium. A Special Deputy Attorney General was assigned to these activities in the Department of Public Assistance.

Pittsburgh Investigation

The second presentment of the investigating grand jury was returned January 14, 1951, and concerned vice conditions of the Borough of McKees Rocks. In accordance with the recommendations of the presentment, all defendants were indicted in February of 1951.

The third presentment was returned on February 14, 1951, and concerned an investigation of the Bureau of Building Inspection of the Department of Public Safety of the City of Pittsburgh. In accordance with the recommendations of the presentment, the defendants were indicted in March, 1951.

The fourth presentment was returned by the grand jury on May 1, 1951, concerning vice and racket conditions in the Borough of Homestead, Allegheny County. The presentment recommended 18 indictments, and in accordance with the recommendations of the presentment, all defendants were indicted in November of 1951.

The fifth presentment of the grand jury was returned June 29, 1951, relative to an investigation of the award of coal contracts and street lighting contracts by the City of Pittsburgh. Fourteen indictments were recommended and all recommendations were followed with the exception of Mayor Lawrence.

The sixth and final presentment concerned an investigation of the vice squad of the City of Pittsburgh, the Pittsburgh police and the Pittsburgh Federal Credit Union and parking meters. This presentment was returned January 2, 1952, and 24 indictments were recommended. Thirteen defendants have been found guilty and other cases are awaiting trial.

Extraditions

Approximately 800 extradition cases were reviewed and recommended for your approval. Numerous hearings were held at the request of the defendants to determine what recommendation should be made to you.

Tax Litigation

The following important tax cases handled during your term are summarized:

MILLS ESTATE, 367 Pa. 504. Taxability of legacy to wife made by decedent husband under postnuptial agreement.

SCHOOL DISTRICT OF NEWPORT TOWNSHIP v. STATE TAX EQUALIZATION BOARD, 366 Pa. 603. Denied to the school district the right of certiorari to the Supreme Court from the decision of the State Tax Equalization Board.

GLEN ALDEN COAL CO. v. STATE TAX EQUALIZATION BOARD, 367 Pa. 63, aff'g 61 Dauph. 235. Upheld the constitutionality of the statute which provided for the adjustment of school subsidies by the equalization of local tax assessments.

COMMONWEALTH v. FIRST NATIONAL BANK OF SCRANTON, 63 Dauph. 298, aff'd 378 Pa. 272. See appellate cases, supra.

COMMONWEALTH v. BUTLER COUNTY NATIONAL BANK, 64 Dauph. 82, 90, aff'd. 376 Pa. 66. See appellate cases, supra.

COMMONWEALTH v. AMERICAN TELEPHONE & TELEGRAPH CO., No. 200 Commonwealth Docket, 1953. COMMONWEALTH v. ALLIED CHEMICAL & DYE CORP., No. 197 Commonwealth Docket, 1953. Denied right of Commonwealth to make multiform corporate net income tax settlements against corporations which are multiform for franchise tax purposes; pending on appeal to Supreme Court.

COMMONWEALTH v. FIREMAN'S FUND INS. CO., 369 Pa. 560, aff'g. 62 Dauph. 139. Sustained constitutionality of the retaliatory provisions as to gross premiums tax on insurance companies.

COMMONWEALTH v. BAKER-WHITELEY COAL CO., 62 Dauph. 209. Multiformity granted for the first time under Corporate Net Income Tax Act.

COMMONWEALTH v. GOLDMAN THEATRES, INC., 62 Dauph. 256. Leasehold construed as property employed in Pennsylvania under foreign bonus.

CHAPMAN-BURROUS, INC. v. BOARD OF FINANCE AND REVENUE, 61 Dauph. 150. Liability of the Board to grant refunds of Oleomargarine tax (later proceedings handled by Mr. Friedman).

Stipulations

In addition to the cases disposed of by litigation, many pending appeals were concluded by agreement of counsel, in most cases after conferences and/or investigations. In some cases, counsel for the taxpayer was persuaded to discontinue or withdraw the appeal.

The following tabulation indicates the number of cases disposed of by litigation, stipulation or discontinuance:

Appeals determined by litigation	17
Appeals stipulated or withdrawn	546
Total appeals closed	563

During this same period 155 new appeals were filed. This shows a ratio between appeals concluded and appeals filed of better than three and one half to one, and a net reduction of 408 appeals.

Many pages of this report would be necessary for the summary alone of the vast number of cases referred to as general litigation.

Milk Control Commission

The Commission issued 120 citations against milk dealers and other interested parties in its administration of the Milk Cnotrol Law. Representatives of the Legal Bureau appeared in behalf of the Commission at the hearings held on these citations. In some cases the charges were withdrawn or settled and in other cases findings of fact and orders were prepared by the Legal Bureau for the use of the Commission.

The Enforcement Bureau of the Commission, during the period, instituted 303 summary conviction proceedings for violations of the Pennsylvania Milk Control Law and, where necessary and required, the staff of the Legal Bureau assisted the Enforcement Bureau in the prosecution of these proceedings.

Numerous appeals were taken during the period by parties in interest from Official General Orders of the Milk Control Commission to the Court of Common Pleas of Dauphin County. Most of these appeals were not pressed by the appellants and the questions involved have become moot.

Employment Security

The Bureau of Employment Security participated in three important appeals before the Supreme Court of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania: namely, the appeal of DEPARTMENT OF LABOR AND INDUSTRY v. ALUMINUM COOKING UTENSIL COMPANY, 368 Pa. 276, BOYERTOWN BURIAL CASKET CO. v. COMMONWEALTH, 366 Pa. 574, and IN RE: PETITION OF THE CITY OF PITTSBURGH, 367 Pa. 447.

The principal activities of the Legal Division pertain to the collection of delinquent unemployment compensation contributions through legal process, and the review and disposition of overpayments resulting from the invalid payment of benefits to unemployment compensation claimants.

In pursuance of these activities, during the period involved, the following report is submitted:

Delinquent Unemployment Compensation Contributions Due by Employers:

	Number	Amount
Liens Filed	7,203	$4,275,546.85
Liens Reduced to Judgment	1,174	774,780.18
Executions	711	447,465.53
Liens Paid	2,157	930,464.56
Judgments Paid	176	117,387.80
Executions Paid	416	198,774.67
Proofs of Claim Filed in Various Insolvency Proceedings, including Bankruptcy, Receivership, Decedent Estates, etc.	2,006	$1,614,558.45

Overpayments of Unemployment Compensation Benefits to Claimants:

Overpayment Cases Reviewed and Analyzed	84,562
Prosecution Proceedings Instituted	2,335	270,236.00
Total Amount Recovered to Unployment Compensation Fund as a Result of Over-all Overpayment Spot-Check, Investigation and Prosecution Activity		2,374,112.00

*Included in this figure are 4 "Mass Appeals" involving 103 claimants.

With respect to LITIGATION INVOLVING LICENSE BOARDS, ANNEXATION PROCEEDINGS, AND COMPULSORY SCHOOL ATTENDANCE LAWS OF THE DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC INSTRUCTION, while some of these cases are appealed, the decisions at the present time have all been in favor of the Commonwealth.

Funds actually collected and transmitted exceeded $166,000 in litigation involving inheritance tax matters, escheat and charitable trusts.

Collections

During the period of January 1, 1951, to and including September, 1954, 5,168 new claims were received and 5,222 cases were disposed of. The total collection amounted to $3,774,597.86, as follows:

Corporate Tax	$ 371,454.04
Liquid Fuels Tax	77,773.12
Highway Department	22,716.06
Unclaimed Funds	942,878.29
Insane Maintenance	1,913,835.27
Forest Fires	65,010.40
Personal Property Tax	1,172.24
Bond and Coupon Defaults	188,491.52
Domestic Bonus	13,673.04

Bureau of Correction

Since the transfer of the various penal and correctional institutions from the Department of Welfare to the Department of Justice, they have been administered in this department under the laws drafted by this department. We think the second report of the Devers' Committee and other articles, comments and inspections which have been made justify the action of the General Assembly in passing this legislation. The Bureau has been administered under the Commissioner of Correction, Arthur T. Prasse.

Approval of Bond Issues

For the year 1951, we passed upon and approved 195 Municipal Bond proceedings totaling $40,128,400, which produced revenues to the Commonwealth, in the way of fees, in the amount of $22,014.20.

In the year 1952, we passed upon and approved 189 Municipal Bond proceedings in the amount of $36,750,500, which produced fees to the Comonwealth in the amount of $20,265.25.

In the year 1953, we approved 189 proceedings in the amount of $39,320,300, producing fees to the Commonwealth in the amount of $21,550.15.

In the year 1954, up to and including October 27, we approved 147 proceedings in the amount of $32,329,800, producing fees to the Commonwealth in the amount of $17,634.90.

Members of this department appeared in hundreds of cases representing claimants before the Workmen's Compensation Board. The legal staff assigned to the Unemployment Compensation Board of Review during your administration was kept most active.

In conclusion, may I say that it has been a great pleasure and privilege to have served under you, as your Attorney General.

Respectbully submitted,

FRANK F. TRUSCOTT,
Attorney General

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA
DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC INSTRUCTION
HARRISBURG

Dear Governor Fine:

A comparison of departmental appropriations for public education during your term of office, 1951-1955, with those of the preceding four years, 1947-1951, shows an increase in all classifications. Appropriations for education during your Administration increased 69.5 per cent.

Purposes	1951-55	1947-51	Per Cent Increase
Government Operations
Other than Subsidies	$ 10,324,450	$ 6,621,440	55.9
Institutional	29,206,000	20,315,306	43.8
Total Governmental Operations Other Than Subsidies	$ 9,530,450	$ 26,936,746	47.0
Subsidies
Public Schools	$700,305,304	$422,467,446	65.8
Education of Deaf, Blind and Cerebral Palsied	7,008,000	5,227,500	34.1
Retirement of School Employes	88,580,344	40,126,400	120.8
Universities and Colleges	76,227,435	42,015,380	81.4

Aid to Public Libraries	361,000	210,000	71.9
Total Subsidies	$873,384,013	$511,545,726	70.7
Grand Total	$912,914,463	$538,482,472	69.5

* Some of these institutions became degree granting and were transferred to Universities and Colleges during this period.

The achievements of this Administration for public education are evidenced by the 332 acts passed by the 1951 and 1953 Sessions of the General Assembly and approved by you.

In the 1951 Session 212 acts, and in the 1953 Session 120 acts relating directly or indirectly to public education were passed. In 1951 there were 121 acts in the area of General Education, 25 acts relating to Professional Licensing, and 44 appropriation acts. In 1953 there were 62 acts in the area of General Education, seven acts in the area of Professional Licensing, and 40 appropriation acts. Fifteen acts relating to Public School Employes' Retirement were passed in the 1951-1954 period—nine acts by the 1951 Assembly and six by the 1953 Assembly.

On December 8, 1953 you appointed an Advisory Committee to the State Council of Education for the purpose of revising school building standards. Members of the State Council of Education were appointed on September 2, 1954.

Reorganization

A reorganization of the Department of Public Instruction which began in 1952 has been completed. The Bureau of Higher Education was created by legislative act in 1951 and was organized in 1952. The creation of this Bureau completed the organization of the Department at all levels of education. The Bureau of School Licensing and Special Services was created in order to coordinate more effectively and more efficiently the various elements of private school registration and licensure. One bureau, the Bureau of Instruction, was divided into two bureaus for efficient operation: The Bureau of General Education and the Bureau of Adult, Vocational and Practical Arts Education. A sixth division, the Division of School Building Programs, was added to the Bureau of School Administration. The Office of Teacher Education and Certification was made a Bureau. The Bureau of Professional Licensing retains its original form. This reorganization was carefully charted and is demonstrating its effectiveness.

During this period the offices of the Public School Employes' Retirement Board have been reorganized to make for greater efficiency and to modernize the accounting system. Conversion of all active contributors' accounts to business machine record accounting was accomplished during the fiscal year, 1953-1954. Actual business machine operations were begun July 1, 1954.

Of the 452 joint school boards now in operation, 203 have been created during the past four years. These joint boards consist of 1,782 school districts, which represent an increase of 958 in the four-year period.

More Services

More services have been provided for more children, especially in rural and small urban communities. The real measure of progress, of course, is found in the comparative number of children who have access to the broader school programs in the reorganized school systems. Here the forward progress is most notable, and most gratifying. In 1950 there were 187,076 pupils in reorganized schools in Pennsylvania. Four years later this figure had leaped to 501,677 pupils. Much of this expansion resulted from the e:orts of joint school boards and union and merged school districts to meet the criteria for entitlement to the supplementary appropriations provided by Act 472.

Beginning wtih the school year 1950-1951 reimbursement paid to school districts in Pennsylvania on account of transportation of school pupils furnished during this period of time increased from $10,519,334 paid on transportation furnished during the 1950-1951 school year to an estimated total of $12,200,000 which is payable on account of transportation furnished during the 1953-1954 school year. This represents an increase in cost to the Commonwealth of less than 20 per cent during the four-year period. At the same time the number of pupils transported increased from 343,00 transported in 1950-1951 to approximately 490,000 transported during the 1953-1954 school year. This represents an increase of more than 40 per cent.

Construction

School building construction reached an all-time high during the last four years. With enabling legislation, school building projects numbering approximately 800 were either completely constructed, placed under construction, or committed for construction by the end of the school year 1954-1955.

The school districts of Pennsylvania have begun, in earnest, to construct school buildings. As of September 9, 1954, 666 projects had been placed under lease, at a gross cost of over $360,000,000. An additional 102 projects with a gross cost of almost $87,000,000 are approved for reimbursement but are not yet under lease. In recent months 28 projects totaling over $13,000,000 have been approved for construction without State reimbursement. In addition, there were on file as of September 9, 1954, 122 applications for new projects, totaling $100,000,000 for which no approval could be given because of the limitation imposed in Act 431 of the 1953 General Assembly.

The plants of the 14 State Teachers Colleges, the Scotland School for Veterans' Children, the Thaddeus Stevens Trade School, and the Scranton Oral School for the Deaf have been improved by the expenditure of 23 million dollars for new plants and equipment and for the rehabilitation of existing facilities. This amount also includes the construction of the Firemen's Training School at Lewistown.

For Teachers

The passage of Act 471, 1951, was an outstanding accomplishment in the interest of Pennsylvania's teachers, supervisors, principals, and superintendents since it raised the State-mandated Minimum Salary Schedule and provided a minimum of annual increments. Act 600 of the 1951 General Assembly, which provided minimum and maximum salaries for facilities at State Teachers Colleges with guaranteed increases and leaves of absence with pay, has helped significantly.

The Teachers' Retirement Status was improved immensely during this period—total monthly payroll of the 12,000 annuitants and former teachers of the Public School Employes' Retirement System is now $1,900,000. Many other improvements were noted.

Pennsylvania took a forward step in census enumeration during this period. A study involving visits to 13 camps for migratory workers and five offices of the Pennsylvania State Employment Service coordinated the effort to provide adequate education for children of migratory workers.

Higher qualifications for certification have been approved by the State Council of Education for the work of (1) the Home and School Visitor, (2) the Public School Dental Hygienist, and (3) the School Nurse.

Nearly 300,000 meal-type lunches have been served to school children daily.

During each biennium of this administration an act appropriating $100,000 was passed by the General Assembly to make possible a curriculum improvement program. As a result, one of the most outstanding programs in curriculum improvement in the United States has been going on in Pennsylvania.

Since the enactment of Act 522 in 1947 mandating the employment of school nurses, the number has increased to approximately 1,200 school nurses serving about 95 per cent of the school districts of the Commonwealth. In 1946-1947 fifty per cent of the school pupils were reported as having remediable defects; in 1952-1953 thirty-four per cent had remediable defects.

Today in Pennsylvania 418 high schools out of a total of 834, or 50 per cent, offer the Standardized Driver Education Program to approximtely 45,000 pupils, with 536 teachers, properly certificated, teaching in this field.

Through local school districts cooperating with trade and industry, nearly 50,000 secondary school youth and adults in Pennsylvania improve their skills and technical knowledge through Trade and Industrial Education.

During the school year 1950-1951, 102 school districts requested assistance from the special aid fund and 54 grants were made in the amount of $299,400. During the school year 1951-1952 this was reduced to 76 requests and 43 grants in the amount of $245,500. A further decrease was noted during the school year 1952-1953 when 51 school districts filed applications and 23 were granted assistance in the amount of $129,800. Reflecting a change in economic conditions, 42 districts filed applications during the school year 1953-1954 and grants were made to 20 districts in the amount of $150,500.

Respectfully submitted,

FRANCIS B. HAAS,
Superintendent.

DEPARTMENT OF MILITARY AFFAIRS
HARRISBURG

Dear Governor Fine:

During the period 1951-1955, the agencies of the Department of Military Affairs have had varied and complex problems.

As a result of the Korean Emergency, the major portion of units of the Pennsylvania Army and Air National Guard were in Federal Service performing duties in various parts of the world, including the Korean battlefields. After the cessation of hostilities, it was the task of the Department to reactivate and supply those units which returned from active military service. During their absence from the armories and bases, a program of rehabilitation was initiated by the State, with some new construction paid for from Federal funds.

Despite the number of units that were inducted into active military service, there remained with the State at all times, sufficient troops to cope with any state emergency in rendering assistance to the civilian populace of any stricken area.

There was also a marked increase in the Civilian Personnel Program since the Federal Government authorized the State to employ additional persons for supply, administration and maintenance duties in the many Army and Air National Guard Units.

In January 1951 the strength of the Pennsylvania Army and Air National Guard was 1,041 officers and 8,378 enlisted men. From January to November 1951, 306 officers and 2,637 enlisted men in 24 units were inducted into active military service, or a total of 17,500 ground personnel, and 2,500 air personnel furnished from the Pennsylvania Army and Air National Guard during the Korean Emergency; leaving 112 units composed of 735 officers and 5,791 enlisted men. After that date, there were no more inductions into Federal Service. Steady recruiting and the return of units from active military service increased the strength so that by the end of 1952 there were 145 units, with a strength of 871 officers and 7,412 enlisted men. With a continuance of return of units, including the 28th Infantry Division, by the end of 1953 there were 245 units of 1,325 officers and 10,357 enlisted men. As of December 1954, there were 277 units, 1,652 officers, and 16,005 enlisted men, or an aggregate strength of 17,657.

The Federal Government furnished the supplies and equipment for the Pennsylvania Army and Air National Guard. The total valuation of Federal property issued is estimated at over $800,000,000. In the years 1951 to 1954, the valuation of major items received was $215,200,000.

The Pennsylvania Army and Air National Guard has reecived during the years 1951 to 1954 inclusive, pay and allowances from the Federal Governemnt including personnel attending Service Schools, a total of $13,000,800.

A total of $3,171,000 was expended from Federal Funds for construction and maintenance of buildings.

Authority has been received and plans are being prepared for the construction of Armories at Hanover, Pittston, Sharon, Johnstown, Harrisburg, and Philadelphia. These projects when completed will represent the expenditure of Federal Funds well over $2,000,000.

In January 1951 there were a total of 695 civilian employes paid from Federal Funds for maintenance, administration and supply activities of the Pennsylvania Army and Air National Guard; and at the end of this year, a total of 1,100 employes are on the rolls of the Department. During the four years, the total amount of money paid to civilian employes in this category was $10,472,400.

The four-year period reflects many changes in organization, personnel, procedures for supply, reactivations and redesignations of units. Financial support received from the Federal Government totalled $215,200,000 in major items and equipment, plus and additional amount for fiscal operation of personnel, contracting, small purchases, etc., representing a total of support from the Federal Government of $243,000,000.

Indiantown Gap Military Reservation

Indiantown Gap Military Reservation is the headquarters for the Pennsylvania National Guard, The Adjutant General, United States Property and Fiscal Office, the State Maintenance Office. In 1951, officials of the Department of the Army conferred with the Adjutant General of Pennsylvania for the reactivation of Indiantown Gap Military Reservation as an Infantry Replacement Training Center. This was accomplished, and the buildings and areas were rehabilitated, with an expenditure in excess of $13,000,000. With the cessation of hostilities in Korea in 1953, and the curtailment of Department of the Army activities, the Post was returned to a stand-by basis, and presently houses the Pennsylvania Military District, in addition to those headquarters above.

With many of the Armories vacated in 1950 and 1951, it was determined there was a need for rehabilitation and renovation. A total of $1,036,500 was expended on rehabilitation on State-owned Armories during the past four years.

The Department of Military Agairs has effectively and efficiently operated in keeping with good business practices and procedures. The Pennsylvania Army and Air National Guard is ready to help any stricken area within the State, in the event of an emrgency as was proven recently when Hurricane "Hazel" devastated small communities throughout the State.

Respectfully submitted,

LIEUTENANT GENERAL FRANK A. WEBER,
The Adjutant General.

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA
INSURANCE DEPARTMENT
HARRISBURG

Dear Governor Fine:

I am enclosing a concise report of the accomplishments o fthe Insurance Department during the four-year period, 1951-1955, of your Administration.

The growth of the insurance business, as reflected in the premium writings of 99.3 million plus in 1949 to 1.4 billion plus in 1953, an increase of 427.2 million plus in the period, presented many and diverse problems.

During the same period 82 new companies, associations and exchanges were licensed. There are presently 1,030 insurers doing business in Pennsylvania.

A total of 30,114 new agents were licensed, and 99,996 licenses were issued to qualified agents. There are at present 189,685 licensed insurance agents.

A total of 54,935 brokers' licenses were renewed on an annual basis. 3,715 new licenses for brokers were issued. At present there are 15,698 licensed brokers.

The Department issued 105 professional bondsmen's licenses in accordance with the professional bondsmen statute of 1953.

In September of 1951, a full time Hearing Officer was appointed to conduct hearings on the conduct of licensed agents and brokers. 270 cases were referred to the Hearing Officer for investigation. 99 hearings were held, and in 66 cases licenses have been revoked or suspended, and fines levied.

A total of 16,828 inquiries were received and acted upon by the Complaints Division, which serves the Commonwealth from three strategic points, Harrisburg, Philadelphia and Pittsburgh.

The Bureau of Rates and Policy Forms received 5,873 rate filings on behalf of casualty companies, and 3,168 rate filings on behalf of fire companies. 23 rate filings were received from independent title companies.

Our Department has approved the many package fire and casualty filings which make possible the obtaining of diversified coverages in one policy, with resulting savings in premiums.

The Policy Analyzer Division was transferred from Philadelphia to Harrisburg, and has approved more than 50,000 policies and related forms.

The Department has initiated or approved many changes in Workmen's Compensation procedures, which resulted in economies to the policyholders and to the insurance companies. Among these are the National Defense Projects Rating Plan, Experience Rating Plans, Retrospective Rating Plans, Pennsylvania Workmen's Compensation Statistical Plan and an Endorsement Filing Procedure. On July 1, 1954, the Department approved the creation of a new Rating Bureau for the Coal Mine Compensation Rating Bureau. The Department approved the new Standard Provisions for Workmen's Compensation and Employers' Liability Policy Forms. The Department initiated a new optional procedure for the filing of endorsements by the Rating Bureau, which resulted in a great savings in time and expense, both to the companies and to the Department. By Circular P-62 requirements concerning policies, endorsements and related forms were clarified and simplified.

Five insolvent insurance companies have been placed in liquidation by the Court of Common Pleas of Dauphin County. The liquidation of twelve companies has been concluded and the Insurance Commissioner discharged by the Court as Statutory Liquidator of these companies.

The 1951 Legislative program of the Pennsylvania Insurance Department was perhaps the most comprehensive since the legislation of 1921. Through the organization of Industry Legislative Committees in all fields of insurance, the problems pertaining to each were discussed and recommendations made to the Insurance Department. The Department submitted ten proposals for legislative action. Nine of the ten bills were enacted into law.

In the 1953 Legislative Session the Department sponsored seven bills which proposed tighter restrictions upon companies insuring out-of-state risks, unearned premium reserves and approval of policies in the case of domestic mutual fire companies, and a plan to simplify the procedure involving the placing of an insolvent company in liquidation.

A streamlining of the Insurance Department has been accomplished. The manual issuance of licenses has been discontinued, and a machine issuing of licenses is now in operation. In addition to the economies of space, personnel were relieved of monotonous tasks and made available for other duties. A savings of $25,000 a year was accomplished by this change.

The filing systems were modernized. Microfilming reduced the amount of dead storage, and $12,000 worth of filing equipment was returned to the Department of Property and Supplies for redistribution to other agencies.

A system of perpetual control over supplies was inaugurated. The basement file room of the Department in Harrisburg was freed of obsolete records and 2,000 square feet of office space is now being used as the Licensing Section of the Department.

A savings of $10,000 a year was effected by the discontinuance of the publication of a brokers' bulletin, and the reduction in the postage on brokers' licenses.

Respectfully submitted,

ARTEMUS C. LESLIE,
Insurance Commissioner.

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA
DEPARTMENT OF BANKING
HARRISBURG

Dear Governor Fine:

During your Administration assets of State banking institutions under supervision of the Banking Department have increased over $1,207,000,000. These institutions serve over 4,725,000 depositors. A good portion of this increase is due to constructive legislation enacted during your Administration to place the banks in the State system on a fair competitive basis with the banks in the National system. Through National banks merging with State banks under State charter, the assets were increased over $669,000,000. However, the State system lost $181,000,000 of assets through State banks merging with National banks. This gives a net gain to the State system of over $488,000,000. There are now 320 banking institutions in the State. These instiutions operate 181 branches. Thirteen more branches have been authorized but are not as yet operating.

State Law in the case of conversion required 66-2/3 consent of the stockholders, while the National Law required 51%. Early in your Administration, the State Law was changed to 51% in order to be consistent with the National Law and enable a National bank to convert to the State system.

In the 1951 Session of the Legislature, the so-called "prudent man rule" bill was passed by the General Assembly which permitted fiduciaries to invest a limited percentage of their legal trusts in common stocks, subject to restrictions and qualifications which only the highest grade common stocks could meet. This bill not only places State banks in a better competitive position with the banks in the adjoining states, but applies to National banks with fiduciary powers as well as State banks.

The Banking Code with regard to capital requirements for State bank branches was amended to place the State banks in a fair competitive position with the National banks. The Banking Code was also amended to prohibit any State banking institution from acquiring more than 10% of the outstanding capital stock of any other bank.

In 1953 the General Assembly amended the Fiduciary Act to permit fiduciaries to invest in certain of the mutual fund investment trusts with approximately the same restrictions assuring high quality as apply to other investments by fiduciaires. However, in order to qualify the mutual funds must have assets in excess of $10,000,000.

At the 1951 Session the investment powers of savings banks were liberalized to permit them to invest in G.I. mortgages and conventional mortgages on real estate located anywhere in the United States and at the 1953 Session, the savings banks were also permitted to invest 5% of their assets or 50% of their surplus in common stocks with the same restrictions as are placed on fiduciaries investing in common stocks for their legal accounts. Savings banks can now compete favorably with similar institutions located in adjacent states, although Pennsylvania Law is more conservative than the New York and New Jersey Laws.

At the 1951 and 1953 Sessions, the Building and Loan Code was expanded to broaden the field of investments for State building and loan associations, which placed the State associations in a better competitive position with the Federal associations. Authority was granted to the State associations to operate branches with the approval of the Building and Loan Board, which now has approximately the same authority over building and loan branches as the Banking Board has over branch banks. We have 746 State chartered building and loan associations with assets of approximately $812,000,000 as of December 31, 1953. The assets of these associations at the beginning of your Admniistration were approximately $645,000,000, or a gain in assets of approximately $167,000,000. Since the Building and Loan Board's powers were enlarged in 1953 to give it control over branch building and loans, the Board has approved eleven branches.

In addition to banks and building and loan associations, this Department in its Consumer Credit Division, supervises and licenses 756 small loan companies, 413 consumer discount companies, 93 credit unions, and 104 pawnbrokers. The Motor Vehicle Sales Finance Division licenses and examiners 5,332 sellers of motor vehicles, 705 sales finance companies, and 22 collector-repossessors.

The State chartered banks and building and loan associations pay all of the expense of supervision and examination. The licenses under the supervision of the other Divisions of the Department, namely, the Motor Vehicle Sales Finance Division and the Consumers' Credit, Small Loan, Pawnbroker and Credit Union Divisions, pay an annual license fee to permit them to engage in business. The expense for examination and supervision is charged against the receipts of these Divisions and they are charged for the proportionate share of the Department's overhead. The balance is turned over to the General Fund. Thus, the Banking Department has been able to add from $300,000 to $400,000 to the General Fund each biennium.

The remarkable growth of the State chartered financial institutions in the past 4 years and their excellent condition today are proof of the support and assistance rendered to the financial community by your Administration.

Respectfully submitted,

L. M. CAMPBELL,
Secretary of Banking.

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA
DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE
HARRISBURG

Dear Governor Fine:

Farmers of Pennsylvania faced many new problems during your Administration. The Korean War stepped up production. Later there was need for adjustment to peacetime operation. State government and state-supported agencies in various ways helped farmers to help themselves with their problems.

More than 77 per cent of Pennsylvania farm cash income is from livestock and poultry and livestock and poultry products such as meat, milk and eggs. For years the efficiency in these phases of our agriculture was reduced by losses from diseases of livestock and poultry. This was remedied. Similarly, farm crops and forests constantly were subjected to the menace of plant diseases and destructive insects. This, too, was corrected.

It is a matter of record that this Administration has provided more service, appropriations, and legislation beneficial to agriculture than the Commonwealth has supplied in many years.

There has been increased protection for the public through rigid enforcement by the Department of Agriculture of our outstanding food laws. The farmer, too, has been protected from fraud and deception in the feeds, fertilizers, seeds and other supplies that he buys.

Competition in farm foods from areas with lower production costs is being met with an over-all program of promotion through cooperation. This effort has brought together all agencies involved in the growing, distribution, processing, manufacturing and consumption of Pennsylvania farm products.

Achievements in the control and eradiction of the more destructive disease of livestock and poultry have been outstanding. The Commonwealth has provided nearly $7,000,000 for this purpose in the past four years. This is an all-time record.

Tuberculosis in cattle has been reduced to a record low of 1/10 of 1 per cent.

In the control and eradication of brucellosis or Bang's disease we lead all states in the number of herds tested since the start of the program; we have 26 counties certified as Bang's disease-free; 13 counties are completely tested and soon to be certified; area testing is under way in all but five counties; last October the number of cattle under test passed the million mark for the first time.

We have expanded the program of calfhood vaccination until it now approximates 200,000 animals per year, greatly reducing losses to farmers and costs to the State.

We have placed two traveling laboratories in service for making "milk ring" tests on the farm at a great saving in time and effort.

Laboratories

Topping the livestock and poultry disease control program in this Administration has been provision of a livestock and poultry research center at The Pennsylvania State University, and the establishment of five regional poultry diagnostic laboratories, providing free service to farmers. They are located in Butler, Bucks, Centre, Chester and Wyoming Counties.

Regional laboratories supplement the services rendered to our poultry industry at the State's central animal and poultry laboratory near Harrisburg. During the 1951-1954 period nearly 11,000,000 specimens were received, examined and reported by the laboratory, which also tested 2,400,000 blood samples for Bang's disease. More than 8,000,000 samples of blood sera were tested for Pullorum disease of poultry. These are new records.

Through prompt action, vesicular exanthema (VE) disease of swine was eradicated by means of quarantine measure and the enactment of a law in 1953 prohibiting the feeding of collected raw garbage to swine. Enforcement gradually is reducing the incidence of such swine diseases as hog cholera, swine erysipelas, trichinosis and parasitic diseases which are spread through the feeding of unsterilized garbage.

In cooperation with the State Game Commission and the State Department of Health an epidemic of rabies in foxes was eradicated in 1952. The incidence of rabies in animals was reduced from a high of 302 that year to an all time low of 27 in 1953.

Aware of the possibilities of livestock sabotage through biological warfare, the Department of Agriculture, with the cooperation of the State Civil Defense office and 16 State and Federal agencies, has set up facilities for prompt reporting and action in each county of the Commonwealth.

Through inspection by the meat hygiene division 50 slaughtering establishments were closed for failure to meet regulations on sanitation.

In protection of public health under our food laws there has been an increase in activities of food agents who made an average of more than 33,000 inspections annually. The number of food samples collected for analysis increased by 14 per cent, reaching a total of 8,360 in 1954. Effectiveness of compliance is reflected in a decline of 8 per cent in the number of prosecutions.

Within the four-year period, income from licenses increased 10 per cent and from fines, 12 per cent. New laws and regulations have further improved the effectiveness of food law enforcement and protection for the consumer.

Transfer of the Bureau of Milk Sanitation from the Department of Health as a division in the Bureau of Foods and Chemistry, Department of Agriculture, has added to the over-all effectiveness of food supervision.

Demand for marketing services continued to establish new all-time records during the past four years. Pennsylvania leads all other states in the volume of quality eggs graded for market.

Fruit and vegetable inspections exceeded 900,000 tons under this Administration, an increase of almost 13 per cent in the quantities certified for processing.

Cooperatives

The 1953 General Assembly amended the 1919 and 1929 Agricultural Cooperative Acts to enable the Department of Agriculture officially to liquidate defunct cooperatives in an equitable manner. Of the 441 farmer cooperatives listed as "active," 159 have been declared officially nonexistent. Some had been inactive since the early 1920's.

A state-wide census of the commercial apple, peach and sour cherry orchards was conducted in 1953. A special census of grapes was made in Erie County.

Assistance was given in determining proper methods and detergents for the sanitization of eggs.

More rigid enforcement of the potato marketing law assured consumers of a higher quality product.

A destructive disease of oak trees, known as oak wilt, was first found in Pennsylvania in the fall of 1950. Hopes are entertained for its eradication within a few years.

Annual scouting for the presence of gypsy moth has been carried on.

Eradication of potato wart was intensified during the past four years and this menace soon will be completely eradicated.

New records have been established in the State certification of seeds and our farmers no longer need to go outside of the State for high quality seeds.

Pennsylvania now has 29 county-wide soil conservation districts in operation and one part-county district. During this Administration the expansion has been such that more than 50 per cent of all farms in the State now lie within soil conservation districts.

The Pennsylvania Farm Show has grown in attendance and value as an educational and promotional feature for the advancement of our agriculture. All records for interest and attendance were broken at the 1952 Show.

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA
DEPARTMENNT OF PROPERTY AND SUPPLIES
HARRISBURG

Dear Governor Fine:

I herewith submit a four-year enelysis of accomplishments for the Department of Property and Supplies.

The Department of Property and Supplies, as a service department, functions for the most part as the agent of the several departments, boards and commissions in the purchase of materials and supplies, printing, automotive equipment and minor construction projects.

A high degree of efficiency was maintained in the procurement function of the Bureau of Purchases in servicing the needs of the several departments, boards and commissions. A brief statistical summary best indicates the volume of service rendered by this bureau based on annual tabulations:

Year Ending	General	Highway	Total
May 1950	$19,201,254.	$27,146,268.	$46,347,522.
May 1951	22,041,699.	24,063,451.	46,105,150.
May 1952	21,847,917.	28,197,141.	50,045,058.
May 1953	20,511,427.	28,967,780.	49,479,207.
May 1954	24,270,740.	28,241,797.	52,512,538.

These little publicized figures indicate the tremendous volume of purchasing handled routinely by the bureau, and average close to $50,000,000 per annum. Particularly, since the close of the Korean Action has the procurement problem been acute. With a buyer's market in effect, there was no shortage of materials and supplies but competition in bidding was keen, creating many critical problems.

From January 1951 to September 1, 1954 a total of $17,262,755.58 has been allocated for construction work.

During this period 581 separate projects, including new construction and remodeling work were received, covering the above total allocation of $17,262,755.58.

To date 290 of these projects have been completed for a total of $7,595,046.07.

Construction work now going on or in the process of starting, as of this date, amounts to $9,668,709.51.

During the Legislative Session of 1951, the Legislature passed Act No. 134-A, imposing on this Department the additional responsibility of checking plans and construction work of the General State Authority, as stipulated in this Act. This organization was set up by this Bureau, and from February 1952 to the present date, we have inspected a total of 180 projects, totaling approximately $116,135,867.11. Of this total 132 projects, totaling $62,901,998.74, have been completed leaving 48 projects with a total of $53,233,868.37 now under construction.

We have also an additional 10 projects, totaling approximately $25,442,763.00, that are in the planning state and are now being checked for bidding.

Your administration faced, head on, a problem that had been postponed and avoided for many years. With a group of capitol buildings dating from 1906, the oldest, only routine and minor maintenance had been performed. Faced with reports of inadequate systems and dangerous operating conditions, your approval was granted for major renovations.

Minor and routine maintenance projects repaired and renovated all buildings in the Capitol Group as well as the grounds and approaches of Capitol Park in general. Planning for additional renovations in Capitol Park with particular reference to Fire Lines and Lighting Circuits as well as renovation of the Fire Alarm System of all buildings is presently under study and will be activated under funds appropriated during your administration.

This general program of renovation of existing buildings is an outstanding accomplishment of your four years. A critical operating situation was faced and disposed of, a program that will extend for years to come the life and use of these buildings.

Possibly one of the most overlooked units of the governmental organization is the State Art Commission. The Commission passed on 4,043 projects covering an approximate cost of the completion of such structures of $543,000,000.

It is estimated that for the remaining months of 1954 there will be 300 additional projects with an approximate cost of $60,000,000 increasing the approximate total for this Administration of 4,343 submitted at a cost of $600,000,000.

Respectfully submitted,

FRANK C. HILTON,
Secretary.

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA
DEPARTMENT OF FORESTS AND WATERS
HARRISBURG

Dear Governor Fine:

Tremendous strides have been made in the past four years in the conservation of the natural resources of the Commonwealth and in their utilization for the benefit of both industry and our people.

The woodlands of the State have been greatly extended; flood control projects of vast importance in the saving of property and for the welfare of our citizens have been completed or projected in virtually every section of the State.

Great strides have been made in stream clearance and antipollution projects, while large areas have benefited from our reforestation program.

We have expanded the State park system and facilities. Some 36 parcels of forest land, comprising 29,147 acres, were purchased for State forest purposes at a cost of $134,910,000. In addition, approval has been given for the purchase of 18 additional tracts involving 38,744 acres.

During this Administration 34 oil and gas leases were made by the Department. They covered 159,000 acres of State forest land with an earned income from rentals from leases and royalties for natural gas produced of $8,346,502 to October 1, 1954. For the period 1947-1950 inclusive, the gas earnings of State forest lands were $793,638 making a total of $9,140,140.

The Department has undertaken 137 stream clearance projects in 36 counties at a total cost of $632,000. These projects were undertaken to reduce or prevent recurrent flood damage to improved properties in small communities and to restore stream channels which had become clogged with flood deposits and debris. All of these projects were undertaken in cooperation with local authorities.

The Water and Power Resources Board during the present Administration granted 1,268 permits authorizing the construction of bridges and other encroachments across and along the Commonwealth's streams. There were 130 permits granted for the construction of dams. The Board also granted 1,261 permits to the Pennsylvania Department of Highways and 91 permits to the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission for the construction of bridges and channel changes required for their construction programs. Permits were issued to 50 public water supply agencies for the allocation of water from surface sources. The Board approved the applications for incorporation of 16 water supply companies.

Five State parks were added to the Pennsylvania State Park system in Bedford, Montgomery, Monroe, Elk, and York Counties. A sixth park—Slippery Rock in Lawrence County—is in process of acquisition.

Other divisions of the Department were equally active in formulating forest management plans to insure continuous maximum production of timber crops; reduce the damage caused by insects and diseases; stabilize wood-using industries; develop and preserve the recreational values of the forests; protect watersheds; and provide an abundant supply of food and cover for wildlife.

Pennsylvania has fulfilled all of its obligations to the Federal Government in connection with dredging and purifying the Schuylkill River project.

Great progress has been made in the beautifying of Independence Mall in Philadelphia and the Point Park development project in Pittsburgh. Food control projects have been completed or initiated in many of the counties of the State. Tremendous steps have been taken for the preservation of Presque Isle Peninsula at Erie.

Respectfully submitted,

S. S. LEWIS, Secretary.

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA
DEPARTMENT OF MINES
HARRISBURG

Dear Governor Fine:

Pennsylvania, during the administration of a Republican Governor, enacted the first substantial Compensation Law in history. The present administration, during the 1951 Session of the General Assembly, extended this law to increase, substantially, the benefits derived by injured workers and their dependents.

The Mine Sealing Program conducted by the Department of Mines was again approved by the 1951 Legislative Session which provided that abandoned mines should be sealed by this Department which were abandoned prior to the original passage of the Act, namely, June 1, 1947. It also provided for the sealing of mines abandoned since that date to be done by the operator. This Act was a portion of the project conducted by the present administration in the cleaning and purifying of streams in Pennsylvania.

The Mine Sealing Act was further amended, during the 1953 Session, providing that the monies appropriated should be spent for the sealing, dewatering and extinguishment of mine fires in abandoned coal mines. The enactment of this amendment permitted the Department of Mines to extinguish a mine fire in Scranton. A project is now being conducted in Carbondale in the extinguishment of a mine fire. Work has been done in conjunction with the Federal Bureau of Mines in the extinguishment of mine fires in the Borough of Donora in Washington County, and the City of Greensburg, Westmoreland County.

In the Anthracite and Bituminous Coal Areas dangerous hazards to life and property have been eliminated under the Pennsylvania Department of Mines by backfilling abandoned strip mine pits, particularly those flooded with water. This work has been done under the Mine Sealing Act and the Strip Mine Acts. These pits have been sealed and the areas converted into plots that can be used as playgrounds, building lots, industrial sites, etc. More than 19 of these projects have been completed in the Anthracite Region since the 1953 Legislative Session amended the Mine Sealing Act and permitted this type of work. Some 14 similar projects have been completed during the same time in the Bituminous Region.

During the recent Legislative Session of 1953, several safety laws were passed for the protection of miners. As a result of these laws and their enforcement, Pennsylvania leads all coal producing states in safety records. The safety record is also being improved each year. In comparison, there is a decrease of fatalities shown from 1953 to 1954 of 30 fatalities.

During the present administration more than 45,000 miners have been trained in the fundamentals of First Aid to the injured and more than 3,500 mine workers have been trained by this Department in Mine Rescue and are available in case of a mine disaster.

During the 1953 Legislative Session a law was passed creating the Anthracite Mine Drainage Study Commission whose duty it was to make a complete study and investigation of the economic, social, or governmental problems relating to, connected with, resulting from the flooding of Anthracite Mines and feasible solution thereof.

A Preliminary Report was written by this Commission and presented to you in April of 1954 describing certain suggestions of eliminating the flooding of the mines in the Anthracite Region and providing employment for approximately 2,600 men for a period of two years.

Respectfully submitted,

W. J. CLEMENTS, Secretary.

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA
DEPARTMENT OF HIGHWAYS
HARRISBURG

Dear Governor Fine:

This Administration has been marked by a constant succession of record-breaking years by the Pennsylvania Department of Highways.

Construction, reconstruction, resurfacing and widening soared to $540,780,000 during these four years, each of which surpassed the record of the preceding year.

Never before has as large a sum been spent on converting our highways, in all parts of the State, into roadways capable of moving modern traffic rapidly and safely.

It is an achievement that should be the source of great pride to every resident of Pennsylvania for everyone uses the highways in one form or another.

More than 11,000 miles of State highways have been constructed, reconstructed, resurfaced and widened during this Administration.

Total costs of the Department of Highways showed similar forward progress.

The yearly totals were:

1952—$197,466,000
1953—$205,027,000
1954—$233,000,000 (Estimated for final two months)
Total—$814,140,000

Sixty-six per cent of this total was devoted to construction, reconstruction and resurfacing, a higher ratio than ever before attained. During 1947-1951 this figure stood at 65.5 per cent and the over-all average for 1931-1947 was only 47 per cent.

Some Costs Reduced

Despite a vastly improved highway system, maintenance expenditures were reduced, proportionately.

During this time, maintenance costs were 16 per cent as compared with 17 per cent in 1947-1951 and 31.5 per cent for 1931-1947, a remarkable achievement, also, considering the high quality of our highways, superior snow removal and a rating that is among the leaders on a nationwide basis.

Administration, engineering and overhead are showing slight percentage increases as must be expected under the more intricate and complex plans and surveys required by modern expressways and bypasses, with their complicated structures and interchanges. The percentage during this Administration was 8.6 compared with 8.1 during the former Administration and 10.7 for 1931-1947.

State Aid

Aid to townships, boroughs and cities during this Administration were advanced to new high levels. The 1951 Legislature increased these grants from $10 million to $15 million per year and the 1953 Session granted a further increase to $18 million per year for a two-year period. This is in addition to the one-half cent gasoline tax returned to the counties, which now exceeds $13 million per year.

Total State aid available to local levels of government is now in excess of $31 million per year for highway and street purposes.

A comparison of dollar volume for construction, reconstruction, widening and resurfacing illustrates the record-making gains of this Administration:

Administration	Amount	Average per year
1931-35	$123,692,000	$ 31,173,000
1935-39	$ 91,660,000	$ 22,915,000
1939-43	$143,652,000	$ 35,913,000
1943-47	$ 89,879,000	$ 22,470,000
1947-51	$411,537,000	$102,884,000
1951-55	$542,000,000*	$135,500,000

*Estimated for final 7 months

Of the $1,350,000,000 expended for construction, reconstruction and resurfacing in Pennsylvania from June 1, 1929 to May 31, 1954, the total Federal aid payments amounted to $240,420,000. This represents 17.8 per cent of the total.

During the past three fiscal years the Pennsylvania Department of Highways expended $325,157,000 of State money on these accounts which is almost $85,000,000 more than the total Federal aid funds expended in Pennsylvania during the past 25 years.

For every dollar of Federal aid appropriated to date to Pennsylvania for highways the Federal government collected more than four dollars from the motorists of our State in excise taxes on motor equipment, accessories, oil and gasoline taxes.

The net cost of the ten toll bridges purchased by the Commonwealth amounted to $7,565,997.

At the current average of $1,000,000 annual net return from these bridges, they will be freed of tolls by the latter part of 1956. Thus a public demand for free bridges that first arose many years ago will be realized.

The vast 41,000 mile State Highway System is now all-weather surfaced.

A huge program of shoulder stabilization was launched on the main State Highway System.

The ever popular roadside rests along our highways have steadily increased in number under this Administration. The completed rests are exactly double the number in operation in 1951.

Records show that an average of more than 4,000 motorists per month stop at these areas between mid-April to October of each year and approximately one-half of these users are from out-of-State.

A poll made by the Department of Highways reveals that out-of-State tourists spend $1,000,000 per day while visiting Pennsylvania.

In the field of safety, the Department of Highways also cooperates with the Highway Safety Bureau of the Department of Revenue and the Pennsylvania State Police in educational and enforcement features of safer highways. This combined with modern engineering placed Pennsylvania among the leaders in maximum highway safety, which has resulted in a continuing decrease in highway fatalities and accidents for miles traveled in our State.

Within the Highway Department, safety is an ever present precaution. As a consequence Pennsylvania has been awarded two consecutive "Awards of Honor" by the National Safety Council, the only State ever to qualify for this dual award.

As a result, premiums on Workmen's Compensation Insurance are at the lowest rate in the history of the Department, as well as the lowest in the competitive field of activities.

Respectfully submitted,

E. L. SCHMIDT,
Secretary of Highways.

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA
DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH
HARRISBURG

Dear Governor Fine:

Major plans were made at the beginning of your Administration for bringing about improvement in the public health program. A remarkable amount of the activities planned have been acomplished.

Legislation was enacted for a merit system for professional, technical, and executive personnel in the State Health Department under rules and regulations adopted by the Advisory Health Board. Merit system examinations have been conducted for over 140 different classes of positions in the Department.

A rating system has been established within the Department to determine the quality of service of employes on an objective basis. More than one-third of the merit system employes have now achieved permanent tenure.

A forty-hour work week has been effected for all the institutions under the Department's jurisdiction.

The Administration fostered a "home rule" concept for public health services. This was made possible by enabling legislation, enacted by the 1951 Legislature, permitting full-time public health services to be performed locally with local autonomy by the various counties, if these services were provided by a qualified staff meeting necessary professional standards, established by the Advisory Health Board.

Butler and Bucks Counties have established health departments under such legislation. A number of other counties are considering such establishment.

The work of the State Health Department is being decentralized to bring State Health Department services closer to local health problems, as well as to provide professional guidance to local departments of health.

Training Program

A training program for public health personnel within the State has been established and accelerated to enable citizens interested in health work to get adequate training to perform necessary administrative and professional duties. Graduate study in public health was supported for 33 administrative staff members of the Department, while 97 public health nurses participated in undergraduate study in public health practices and 511 staff members attended short courses and institutes. The Department cooperated with three other health organizations in the formation and administration of the Pittsburgh Field Training Center for the training of public health personnel.

The General Assembly in 1953 passed a new Vital Statistics Act, the first such complete Act to be passed by any State in the last ten years. Pennsylvania thus moves to the forefront in its legislative foundation for an efficient Vital Statistics system. Old and conflicting legislation has been repealed, the statutes have been codified, and new provisions have been included which make for a more effective Vital Statistics program.

Education Activities

Health Education activities were expanded to implement a broadened public health program. New publications dealing with Tuberculosis Control, Alcoholism, County Health Departments and Fluoridation of Public Water Supplies were produced. The showings of health films throughout the State were increased.

Continued efforts in communicable disease control have paid off in savings of sickness and lives. The annual number of cases of typhoid fever in the State dropped from 163 in 1950 to 110 in 1953, while diphtheria dropped from 142 to 60 during the same period.

During the last two years the Health Department was responsible for the distribution of gamma globulin to physicians for the inoculation of the contacts of cases of poliomyelitis, as well as for the prevention of measles and infectious hepatitis. Four counties in Pennsylvania this year were selected for participation in the national poliomyelitis field trials of the new vaccine developed at the University of Pittsburgh. These are Centre, Clinton, McKean, and Mercer Counties. A total of 4,612 children in the second grades in these counties received the vaccine.

The Division of Veterinary Public Health was established in 1953 to aid the control of communicable diseases which are carried by organisms other than humans.

The efforts to protect the citizens of Pennsylvania from tuberculosis have been greatly strengthened during the past four years. During these past four years approximately 3,364,000 X-rays have been taken, discovering about 2,700 new cases of tuberculosis.

In 1950 there were 600 patients waiting for admission to our sanatoria. Now there is no one who must wait more than a very short period to be admitted. A new sanatorium was established in Philadelphia, by purchase through the General State Authority of the former Lankenau Hospital. A drastic decrease in deaths from tuberculosis has occurred: there were 2,303 deaths reported in 1950; it is estimated that the final number in 1954 will be around 1,200.

In 1951 a law was passed providing for the licensing of clinical laboratories by the State Health Department, beginning in January, 1952. At present 112 laboratories operate under this law. Regulations pursuant to this act were passed by the Advisory Health Board. Since 1952 an annual list of approved laboratories has been published and furnished to using laboratories. This is kept up to date quarterly.

Fluordiation

The prevention of dental caries through fluordiation of public water supplies has been recognized by the Department of Health as a proven and safe method of reducing tooth decay. The program has been developed in the State to the point where three million people in Pennsylvania are now drinking public water supplies which are fluordiated.

For the first time in Pennsylvania all migrant labor camps, housing more than ten laborers, received thorough sanitary inspections before operation.

During the past four years the State Hospital for Crippled Children at Elizabethtown has cared for nearly 8,000 crippled children. This hospital is now approved for resident training.

While it is necessary to give continued attention to the control of communicable and acute diseases, these diseases continue to show decreases in morbidity and mortality, while the chronic diseases continue to rise. It has been, consequently, not only necessary to establish a Bureau of Chronic Diseases but to shift the State's attention more and more to measures to prevent the effects of chronic diseases. The control of cancer and the execution of laws dealing with narcotics and dangerous drugs have continued at an accelerated pace. Heart disease and diabetes programs have been conducted to the extent that limited appropriations in these areas would allow. Noteworthy among acts in the health program was support of the Cardiac Work Clasification Unit at the Philadelphia General Hospital in cooperation with the Heart Association of Southeastern Pennsylvania and a Cardiac Nutrition Work Simplification Clinic at the Woman's Hospital in Philadelphia.

The appropriation of $500,000 for the prevention and rehabilitation program in the field of alcoholism has enabled Pennsylvania to get a start towards control of this serious problem.

In all of the preventive medicine programs the public health nurses have been on the firing line.

Clean Streams

Outstanding accomplishments have occurred in the execution of the Clean Streams Program. In this connection plans have been checked for 150 sewage treatment plants, involving an estimated cost of 80 million dollars. Included in this total are four of the largest sewage treatment plants in Pennsylvania: the northeast, southwest, and southeast plants of Philadelphia, and the Allegheny County Sanitary Authority project. Four hundred and seventy-eight (478) industrial concerns have abated pollution of state waters. As a part of this program comprehensive surveys were made of 906 slaughter houses and more than 1,000 milk plants with resulting improvements in waste discharges. Nearly 6,000 investigations were made of coal mine operations to ascertain if there is discharge of acid wastes into streams.

A ten-year engineering and medical study was completed in an industrial plant engaged in the extraction, reduction and alloy fabrication of beryllium. These findings will be of aid in reducing the number of poisonings from this operation. Facilities have been expanded for the detection of harmful radiation in the use of radioisotopes. The U. S. Atomic Energy Commission cooperates with the State Health Department in monitoring such hazards in Pennsylvania. Programs have been accentuated to cooperate with municipalities and industry in the solving of problems of atmospheric pollution, with particular emphasis on the testing of community air for concentrations of sulfur dioxide.

Respectfully submitted,

RUSSELL E. TEAGUE,
Secretary of Health.

PENNSYLVANIA STATE POLICE
HARRISBURG

Dear Governor Fine:

The Pennsylvania State Police, in the enforcement of the Criminal Laws and the Motor Vehicle Code, have been active in reducing accidents and saving lives on our highways.

The Pennsylvania State Police have coperated with local authorities, furnishing assistance in the investigation of major criminal offenses resulting in court convictions in many of our counties. Sheriffs have been assisted; District Attorneys have been furnished detectives in the investigation of murders and other serious crimes.

Gambling in Pennsylvania, through the use of slot machines, punch boards and other devices, has been reduced to what might be determined as a irreducible minimum.

Traffic activities throughout the Commonwealth have increased. With the opening of the Eastern Expressway to Philadelphia, additional men were required to keep fatalaties and accidents at a minimum. With the opening of the new "Parkway" in Allegheny County the State Police were again called upon to police additional road mileage. The extension of the Pennsylvania Turnpike required additional men for such service with excellent results.

An average of fifty men were assigned to supervise licensed garages known as Inspection Stations. Through their activity Pennsylvania is known to be outstanding in that area of safety.

In cooperation with the Department of Revenue, an average of 396,657 persons were examined each year of the four years for driving licenses. Some 578,712 applicants failed to pass their tests out of a total of 1,586,630 examined.

Traffic Safety as placed before the students in Public Schools by members of the State Police played an important part in bringing National Safety citations to Pennsylvania.

During your Administration the Legislature increased the authorized strength of the Force from 1,800 to 1,900 men.

With the completion of the current housing program police facilities have been greatly improved. New barracks have been completed at Hollidaysburg, Reading, Bethlehem, Punxsutawney, Montoursville and Philadelphia. A driver testing field has been constructed adjacent to each of the new buildings providing facilities for off-the-street examination of prospective drivers.

Law enforcement, both motor vehicle and criminal, has continued with new emphasis on the enforcement of anti-gambling laws. As a result of the policy adopted by the Fine Administration permitting State Police to go into communities without awaiting a request from local authorities, Pennsylvania is freer of vice and gambling than at any time in the history of the State Police.

Outstanding among unusual activities of the State Police was the suppression of the prison riots which developed with little or no warning in January, 1953. Members of the State Police were mobilized for riot duty. The riots were broken without loss of life or serious injury.

Respectfully submitted,

COL. C. M. WILHELM,
Commissioner.

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA
DEPARTMENT OF LABOR AND INDUSTRY
HARRISBURG

Dear Governor Fine:

I transmit herewith a report on the Department of Labor and Industry from January 1951 to date.

Provision was made for a new office building which, when completed, for the first time in our history will house under one roof all units of the Department numbering 5,295 employes. This integration of activities will not only improve the functioning of the Department but will greatly reduce, if not completely eliminate, what is now one of the largest items of expense, namely, the leasing of many buildings in the capital city.

Another outstanding accomplishment during this Administration was passage of a bill in the 1953 Session of the Legislature authorizing construction of a Pennsylvania Rehabilitation Center where the necessary medical attention and theropeutic treatments will be provided to the disabled simultaneously with their vocational training. Johnstown was selected for the erection of this building and actual construction will begin shortly.

Of prime importance also has been the extensive revision of numerous codes which govern the enforcement of acts of the General Assembly. The determination of employe representation in wage contracts, the forestalling or solving of labor disputes before they have reached crises and the notable decline in industrial accident frequencies through annual State-wide and regional safety conferences are but a few of the highlights of our activities.

Bureau of Workmens' Compensation

The 1951 General Assembly granted an across the board increase of 20 per cent on workmen's compensation benefits. The maximum weekly rate on total disability claims moved from $25 to $30; the number of compensable weeks increased from 500 to 700, and the maximum compensation in permanent total disability rose from $12,500 to $20,000. Concurrently the minimum compensation rate was upped from $12.50 to $20 a week. The total amount of cmopensation payable in silicosis, anthracosilicosis and asbestosis cases was increased from $6,000 to $6,500. The Commonwealth's liability in occupational disease cases was also increased from 10% to 40%.

But the Administration did not rest content with the foregoing increases. Further amendments were made by the 1953 Legislature wherein the maximum weekly benefits rose from $30 to $32.50 and the minimum from $20 to $22.50. Compensation to widows was extended from 300 to 350 weeks and compensation to children previously terminating at age 16 was extended to age 18. Funeral expenses rose from $250 to $425. The total amount of compensation payable in silicosis cases was increased from $6,500 to $7,500. Medical expenses, formerly payable during the first 90 days after disabiltiy, began at $225; they were increased to 120 days for a total of $450. Hospital expenses were also increased from 90 to 120 days at prevailing rates.

From the enactment of the Workmen's Compensation Law through 1953 benefits totaling $516,280,164 were paid on 2,459,887 cases exclusive of medical expenses. In 1952, $19,122,511 was paid on 53,541 cases. The 1953 payment of $20,207,115 disbursed on 52,111 cases—1,430 less than the preceding year—reflects two items: less accidents and the effect on the increased compensation rates.

From the beginning of your Administration through September 1954, the Bureau of Mediation handled 1,983 labor disputes involving 554,096 employes; 501 strikes involving 166,389 employes; and 1,482 controversies involving 387,707 employes. During the four years prior to this Administration the Bureau reported 767 strikes involving 431,928 employes and 5,748 controversies involving 1,260,630 employes; and 5 lockouts involving 99 employes.

The Labor Relations Board has made expeditious disposition of the nearly 700 proceedings instituted before the Board in the period January 1, 1951, to October 1, 1954.

A total of 374 collective bargaining elections were held during this period. The courts sustained decisions of the Board in 16 instances and reversed it in only 3, evidencing the obvious soundness of the Board's decisions.

As of October 15, 1954, the Bureau of Social Security for Public Employes had negotiated 14 individual plans and agreements with political subdivisions and some 40 agreements and modifications of agreements with the Federal Government, under which approximately 30,000 local government workers were brought into the Old Age and Survivors Insurance System.

Working conditions for the more than one million women employed in Pennsylvania have been brought under excellent standards. During the present Administration there has been an increase in the confidence the public has displayed in our fair approach and in our knowledge of specified subjects relating to the employment of women and minors.

During your Administration the frequency rate of industrial accidents was reduced 13.6 per cent and the severity rate 32 per cent. During this period of four years 48,088 Honor Certificates were issued to firms having perfect safety records and 6,619 Merit Certificates to firms that had accidents but whose frequency rates were below the State average for their industrial classifications.

The net premiums written under the State Workmen's Insurance Fund for the four years of your Administration will approach close to $17,000,000, while the losses paid during the same period will amount to approximately $11,000,000.

The Bureau of Rehabilitation increased by 23 per cent the annual number of physically disabled Commonwealth citizens who were provided wtih rehabilitative services and prepared for remunerative jobs during this Administration.

During the past four years and for the first time in Pennsylvania this Bureau has provided rehabilitation services to the mentally handicapped. Through these rehabilitative services the over-all income of the State was increased approximately $5,400,000 a year.

Through the efforts of the Bureau of Employment Security, approximately 1,520,800 job seekers were placed in suitable employment during your Administration. This represented an increase of 52 per cent over the preceding four years.

During the past four years approximately $540,000,000 was paid to 1,950,000 claimants under the Pennsylvania Unemployment Compensation Law. To finance this payment to benefits to unemployed workers, employers in Pennsylvania contributed $350,000,000 during the four years.

During this Administration unemployed claimants have received larger checks for weeks of idleness than ever before, while at the same time employers have been saved large sums of tax money. Departmental regulations aided many other employers.

Particular attention was given to the matter of employment of workers 45 years of age or over, and during the four years of your Administration approximately 112,800 persons in this age category were placed in suitable employment.

Placement in jobs surveys and studies were made for most of the varied industries in Pennsylvania. They were fruitful in placing hundreds of thousands of workers in employment. More than 55,000 Pennsylvanians were assisted in securing suitable employment in areas outside the State.

Respectfully submitted,

DAVID M. WALKER,
Secretary.

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA
DEPARTMENT OF WELFARE
HARRISBURG

Dear Governor Fine:

Twenty-seven new projects were started under the Hill-Burton program for hospital construction. The total cost of these projects was $49,473,000 of which the Federal share was $16,926,000.

During the same period, a total of $25,589,000 in payment to projects under construction was disbursed.

A concerted effort has been put forth to improve conditions of patient care in the 10 State-owned general hospitals. A new set of standard by-laws were drawn up by this Bureau and put into effect in these hospitals. Revenue was raised by raising the rates for rooms and wards, increasing X-ray and laboratory services and standard charges for medicines. There was new construction to expand services at Philipsburg and Nanticoke.

New legislation was promulgated to give the Department of Welfare responsibility for supervision of all types of homes for the aged.

A concentrated effort was made, especially during the last year, to have all individuals conducting homes which require licensure to comply. In cases of violations, prosecutions are instigated if the unlicensed operators refuse to close their homes after appropriate notification. This procedure has continued to reduce the number of violations

Adoption Act

Passage of the 1953 amendments to the Pennsylvania Adoption Act relating to relinquishment and abandonment, has resulted in 58 institutions and agencies meeting the approval of the Department of Welfare, to operate under the new set-up. Many applications are pending and are being investigated. Standards must be met by all institutions and agencies desiring approval for operation.

Approval is required only for institutions and agencies who wish to qualify for approval in regard to special sections of the new law to relinquishment and abandonment.

Agencies, institutions and individuals already placing children for adoption, under the old law may continue to do so without seeking this special approval. Approval means that agencies and institutions can accept the custody of children by court order and give consent to their adoption in lieu of the parents' consent. This was not permitted under any condition under the old law, which required the consent of the parent or the finding of abandonment at the adoption hearing.

Youth Service

A new Division of Youth Service, Department of Welfare, was created this year to make a basic research study in an effort to try to eliminate the undesirable factors contributing to juvenile delinquency. Social, religious, educational, and recreational programs, will be coordinated to combat the increase in juvenile delinquency. Child guidance centers are being established, a study is being made of detention care, and the Department is working closely with Juvenile Court authorities to develop sound uniform practices and procedures for handling delinquents.

Blind Progress

During the period of your Administration the State Council for the Blind of the Department of Welfare steadily increased services to the blind and visually handicapped.

The number of cases providing remedial eye care increased 235% during this period. Services to families of preschool age blind children were increased to meet the need brought about by recent increase in the incidents of blindness in preschool age children. Over 900 blind and visually handicapped persons were rehabilitated into employment during a four-year period with estimated annual earnings of over $1,300,000 per year. The reduction in payments to recipients of public assistance and blind pensions brought about by the rehabilitation program is estimated at $160,000 per year.

In 1952, following the passage of enabling legislation, a supervised program of business enterprise for the blind was inaugurated. Earnings of blind persons operating vending stands totalled over $141,000 for the twelve-month period ending June 30, 1954.

In the area of cooperation with private agencies to extend and improve services to the blind and visually handicapped and the prevention of blindness, the State Council entered into an agreement with the Pennsylvania Association for the Blind providing for a jointly sponsored Mobile Eye Clinic operated by the private agency.

In its first year of operation, the Mobile Eye Clinic provided eye examinations to 2,543 medically indigent persons, bringing to light 995 cases having eye problems needing attention. Also in cooperation with the private agency, the State Council for the Blind entered into an agreement with the Pennsylvania Association for the Blind which established a Pilot Industrial Homework Project for the purpose of determining how to best meet the employment needs of an estimated 1,500 blind persons who for one reason or another cannot accept employment other than on a homebound basis.

The State Council for the Blind participated in and sponsored a research project inquiring into the problems of adjustment to blindness which covered a six-state area. The findings of this study were published in September of 1954 and have received national recognition.

Bureau of Mental Health

This period is noted for the formulation at the state level of a balanced mental health program whereby the traditional institutional program has been coordinated with a community mental hygiene program for education, prevention, and early recognition and treatment at the local level.

Accordingly, the state mental hospital becomes another resource of the community in case of need and must be integrated with the community in the complete rehabilitation of the patient. This means that our interest reaches out to the prospective patient before he is admitted and follows him back to the community until he is readjusted. A number of actiities initiated and sponsored by the Bureau of Mental Health have contributed to the significant progress of such a balanced program.

In-service training and education have been promoted to round out the professional members of the institutional team focused on the patient. This has had a direct effect in building up necessary professional departments among our institutions. Annual meetings or institutes have helped to weld together the state mental hospital system at all professional echelons.

Collaterally, the use of volunteers from the community have for the first time been brought into a coordinated program of the institutions and is being further developed under full time coordinators. In the nursing area is fellowship program for graduate study is resulting in better qualified staff for the training of clinical specialists in this field. Psychiatric social work has embarked on closer liaison with community areas and is developing a follow-through placement and rehabilitation program for the express purpose of increasing the turnover of patients.

Special note must be given the reorganization of the clinical psychological services in the Bureau with the formulation of a coordinated program on mental deficiency. In this connection, a citizens' advisory committee has assisted in securing the necessary community interest and support.

On the community side, with the aid of funds under the National Mental Health Act, a full time division of the Bureau has been engaged in the education of the public at large and in the organization of local resources to meet local mental health needs. Grants-in-aid and consulative services have expanded existing community mental health clinic and created new ones. In the four years' time such full time treatment clinics have increased from nine to nineteen counties of the Commonwealth covering a population of 7¼ million people. Through the medium of workshops and training courses, community leadership in mental health promotion was developed and is a continuing process. Collaboration has been established at the state level to bring together the resources of the Department of Public Instruction, Health, Public Assistance, and Labor and Industry in a cooperative effort for mental health.

Basically, the most important advances in the past four years have been the stimulus for more adequate and concerted action within the mental institution, the development of a cooperative community action and the integration of all possible resources under a more centralized state mental system. A ground work has been laid that will make possible a much more effective program for promotion of positive mental health, for more prompt recognition and treatment at the local level and for shorter periods of hospitalization. In the final analysis this will establish a trend to less custodial care and more intensive and remedial treatment.

Respectively submitted,
ALAN D. REYNOLDS,
Secretary

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA
DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE
HARRISBURG

Dear Governor Fine:

During the four years just finished, the collection of taxes and fees due the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania—the primary duty of the department—has been carried out more effectively and at lower cost than ever before.

These facts are revealed in figures for the fiscal year that ended May 31, 1954. Revenue to the State's General Fund amounted to $545,885,453—a record income for any such period. The collection of that huge sum cost taxpayers a total of $4,455,931, which works out at eight-tenths (8/10) of one per cent for the over-all expense of collection.

To show just how efficient the operation was, compare the fiscal year of June 1, 1938, through May 31, 1939. The General Fund that year received $171,279,297—less than a third as much money—yet the Revenue Department's cost for collection was $1,765,210, or slightly more than one per cent.

Motor Fund taxes were collected with a similar saving to taxpayers, as is shown by comparing the same fiscal years—that ending in 1954 with 1939. In the recent year, the Commonwealth got $221,273,557 from motor vehicle sources, and it cost $7,301,760, or three and three-tenths (3.3) per cent to collect it. Back in 1938-39, such revenue came to only $78,147,370—a little over a third as much—and it cost the taxpayers $2,947,896 for that collection job, or three and eight-tenths (3.8) per cent.

Executive Office

During your administration the Executive Office of the Department, which functions to co-ordinate the work of the various bureaus of the Revenue Department, has undertaken greater responsibilities and a greatly increased volume of work.

For example, the administration and collection of the Real Estate Transfer Tax became a duty of this office three years ago. Likewise, the work of the Disbursement Accounting Division increased sizeably because of the 500 or so additional employes taken on by the Sales and Use Tax Bureau, with an accompanying rise in the number of requisitions for payment for supplies and equipment for the new unit. Advent of the Sales and Use Tax Bureau, also, has meant a big extra volume of work for the Supplies and Equipment Section.

In addition, the new bureau has meant more work and responsibility for the Personnel Setcion, as well as for the Payroll Section which now takes care of deductions for government bonds and medical and surgical insurance.

Recently, the Executive Office organized a Division of Research, Statistics and Methods which prepares and furnishes information concerning revenue and taxation as it may be needed by the Governor, the Secretary of Revenue, the Budget Secretary and members of the Legislature.

All the extra duties have been initiated and are being conducted without appreciable increase in personnel.

Corporation Taxes

The collection of taxes from Pennsylvania's corporations has been maintained through these four years on a current basis, with more than 16,000 new domestic and foreign corporations having been processed. In addition, as a result of presettlement conferences, the number of petitions for resettlement, review and appeal have been greatly reduced.

Beginning with 1952, corporation tax reports were revised to include the Standard Industrial Classification. The change provides a detailed breakdown of data on industries as an aid to state uniform budgetary control.

The bureau has continued its practice of working closely with the Department of Commerce in discussing tax problems with firms which contemplate locating in this Commonwealth.

Sales and Use Tax Bureau

In the year and a third since the Pennsylvania Sales and Use Tax Law went into effect, this bureau has become a smoothworking, efficient operation, with about 525 employes, 213 of whom are in the headquarters office building on Pine Street, Harrisburg. There are 11 district offices and 21 sub-district offices.

Approximately 205,000 business concerns and individuals are registered as potential taxpayers.

County Collections

Though revenue from inheritances has steadily increased during these four years, the cost of collecting those taxes has declined. In 1950, this particular tax amounted to $24,611,741.89 and 5.6 per cent was spent to collect it. In 1953, collections came to $38,931,457.84, but it cost only 4.4 per cent to operate the Inheritance Tax Division.

During the Fine Administration, about 6,000 delinquent accounts have been collected or closed.

In the Miscellaneous License Section, the number of agents who issue licenses to hunt and fish increased from 1,400 to 1,600, thereby giving a wider and more convenient distribution. Also, the license sales have gone up by 30 per cent in these four years. These expansions have been handled without additional personnel.

Improved methods and enforcement procedures in this bureau from 1951 through 1954 have achieved a steady rise in revenue collections from the Cigarette Tax, Malt Beverage Tax and various kinds of delinquent accounts. Personnel has been substantially reduced in these four years.

Institutional Collections

Though not a tax-collecting agency, this bureau is instrumental in obtaining payment for care and treatment given patients in the Commonwealth's medical, surgical and mental institutions.

In the last four years, investigation and collection procedures have been so improved that $8,123,877 more have been collected—about 50 per cent more—than during the previous four years. Such collections represent a direct saving to Pennsylvania's taxpayers.

Athletic Commission

During three years and eight months of the Fine Administration, this body supervised 1,707 boxing and wrestling matches in Pennsylvania.

Bureau of Liquid Fuels Tax

The Bureau of Liquid Fuels Tax has collected taxes on more than 10 billion gallons of motor fuels, the amount of revenue coming to approximately $500,000,000.

During this Administration, great improvement in the Bureau of Motor Vehicles has been effected through the enactment of several amendments to the Motor Vehicle Code.

The expiration date of registration plates for commercial vehicles was shifted from March 31 to May 31 of each year, beginning in 1953.

A single license tag was substituted for two effecting a saving of $776,191.48 in 1953 alone. Registrations of motor vehicles are constantly increasing, so each year this amendment is in effect will result in more savings.

Other legislative improvements included the adoption of the Uniform Law for the transportation of dangerous materials along the highways of the Commonwealth, and the providing for a new building in the near future to house the Bureau of Highway Safety as well as the Bureau of Motor Vehicles.

There were administrative steps taken in these four years, also, to provide better service and more thrifty functioning. Among them were the purging of the Certificate of Title files of more than four million records which had become over five years old. The file containing Learners' Permits was cleared of many thousands of old records.

Highway Safety

This important bureau, during the four years of the Fine Administration, has kept accelerating its campaign against death on the highways until the traffic death rate has reached its lowest mark in the history of Pennsylvania.

A juvenile Unit, set up within the bureau, works closely with Juvenile Court judges and has been valuable in reducing recklessness among teen-age drivers.

The Governor's Highway Safety Advisory Committee has carried on a more intensive program of highway safety education than ever before. Its work has included close cooperation with schools, the State Police, safety councils, automobile clubs, local government officials, citizen groups, the press, radio and television.

Another effort to save lives on streets and highways was participation by this state in the "Slow Down and Live" crusade during vacation months (June, July and August).

Suspension or revocation of driving privileges for violators of the Motor Vehile Code has increased tremendously. This so-called "tough" attitude toward violators of the rules of the road, though it has angered many offenders, has contributed to Pennsylvania's good record for traffic safety—a record that has brought numerous awards over these four years from people who are authorities in this difficult field.

Respectfully submitted,

OTTO F. MESSNER,
Secretary.

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA
DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC ASSISTANCE
HARRISBURG

Dear Governor Fine:

The following is a summary of the accomplishments of the Department of Public Assistance during the present Administration.

The number of persons dependent on public assistance decreased from 333,000 at the beginning of this Administration to a low point of slightly less than 200,000 in October, 1953.

As the result of a certain amount of unemployment during the past twelve months the assistance rolls have increased somewhat and as of September, 1954 the number of persons on the rolls totaled about 251,000.

Those receiving assistance today are primarily the aged, dependent children and their parents. the blind, the permanently and totally disabled, persons of marginal employability, and a few fully employable persons who are temporarily out of work.

From January, 1953 through September, 1954, the total number of persons whose applications for assistance were approved and who began to receive grants, totaled 280,000. During the same period the total number of persons for whom assistance was discontinued amounted to 250,000. This clearly indicates the large number of people for whom assistance is a temporary means of tiding them over periods of illness, unemployment, and the like, and is in sharp contrast with the fact that an average of only 220,000 persons received assistance per month during the past four years.

The cost of public assistance from State funds decreased from a monthly rate of $7,461,000 at the beginning of this Administration to a low point of $4,485,000 in October, 1953. As a result of the increase in the number of dependent persons, costs in September amounted to $5,355,000.

In keeping with the two-fold objective of (1) reducing dependency by placing a firm emphasis on the responsibility of people to be self-supporting whenever possible, and (2), making more adequate assistance grants to those who have no other means of support, assistance allowances were increased effective October, 1952 by approximately 10%.

A new assistance category known as Aid to the Disabled has been established during the present Administration under which the Federal Government pays part of the cost. In this category at the present time there are approximately 12,500 persons who have physical or mental impairments to the extent that they are totally disabled.

Blind Pensions were increased by legislative action in 1951 from $40 to $50 per month.

A cooperative agreement has been developed with the State Council of Civil Defense as a stand-by procedure for giving financial aid to persons who may be the victims of enemy disaster.

At the request of the Department new legislation was enacted that requires that all institutions meet minimum standards of health and safety as prescribed by the Department of Welfare. This is designed for the protection of our aged and infirm citizens who are dependent on others for personal care and attention.

The Relief Work Program of the Department has been stepped up from 58 projects at the beginning of this Administration to 354 in September, 1954. The number of workers on these projects increased from 300 to almost 2,700 during the same period. The Relief Work Program is a big factor in helping the taxpayer receive value for his dollar.

The Secretary of Public Assistance has established a closer working relationship with County Boards of Assistance.

A new In-Service Training Program has been placed in operation for all employes with sharp focus on how to help those who are eligible for assistance and at the same time deny assistance to those who are not eligible.

The Claims Collection Division of the Department has been unusually active, with the result that the amount of money recovered as reimbursement for assistance has been running at the rate of approximately three and one-fourth million dollars a year.

The Department through its Claims Division has waged an intensive campaign against persons who obtain assistance for which they are not eligible. The recoveries have been running at the rate of about three-fourths of a million dollars per year. Cases of flagrant violation involving chiseling have been prosecuted and jail sentences imposed in addition to fines and repayments when possible. An amendment to the Public Assistance Law making it possible to use Summary Proceedings in certain cases has materially aided in this effort.

The efforts of the Commonwealth to hold relatives liable for supporting their indigent kin have been aided by new legislation. One new law strengthens procedures for getting support from a person who has deserted his family in Pennsylvania and gone to work in another state.

The "Pennsylvania Civil Procedural Support Law" was enacted in 1953 and is designed to make more effective enforcement of support against persons in the various counties of the Commonwealth. It is conservatively estimated that this is resulting in a saving of at least $3,000,000 during a biennium.

In order to develop public confidence in the assistance program the law was amended so that any citizen who inquires at a County Assistance Office will be told whether a person is receiving assistance, and if so, his address and the amount of assistance.

As the result of a ruling made by the Attorney General, it is now possible for the Department of Public Assistance to grant financial help to persons on leave of absence from State mental institutions. This has made it possible to return to the community persons no longer needing institutional care but who need public assistance in order to maintain themselves. This frequently leads to complete rehabilitation at a cost to the Commonwealth that is much less than institutional care.

Respectfully submitted,

ELEANOR G. EVANS,
Secretary.

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA
DEPARTMENT OF COMMERCE
HARRISBURG

Dear Governor Fine:

Since January 1, 1951, to October 31, 1954, 993 new industries began operations in Pennsylvania, making the total number of manufacturing plants at that time 20,470.

These new industries provided jobs for 62,402 persons, increased the industrial payrolls of Pennsylvania annually by $191,242,974 and invested new capital totaling $269,219,250.

Some 1,263 existing industries, that had been in operation for years, expanded their productive capacity giving jobs to 90,339 persons and increasing the annual payroll in Pennsylvaniaby $295,068,608 through new capital investment totaling $3,782,129,385.

Pacing the great industrial growth, since January 1, 1954, 2,596 new commercial enterprises—retail and wholesale stores, service stations, restaurants and professional services and the like—started operations investing $20,600,000 in new capital and providing additional jobs.

Since January 1, 1951, new industries, branch plants and expansions of existing industries were established at the rate of 27 per month—almost one daily.

Here are a few examples showing from where Pennsylvania's new industries came in the past four years:

New York State, including New York City; California; Forest Park, Illinois; Cleveland, Ohio; Detroit, Michigan; Akron, Ohio; Chicago, Illinois; New Jersey; Minnesota; Peoria, Illinois; St. Louis, Missouri; and from faraway Switzerland.

During the four-year period, industrial field representatives of the Department of Commerce made 29,452 personal calls on business and industry within the State, extending the services of the Department and being helpful to industry and commerce with many problems. During the same period executives of the Department made 1,386 personal calls on industry—many of these calls being outside the State and in which they conferred with manufacturers urging they locate in Pennsylvania and extending the services of the Department to that end. These calls in many instances were successful.

The Department made a listing and photographs of all building in Pennsylvania available for manufacturing purposes and added the additional data of floor space, transportation facilities, labor supply, power, water and gas utilities and other pertinent information. This file of data is consequently kept up to date.

A substantial part of this industrial expansion in Pennsylvania resulted from direct or indirect efforts of the Department of Commerce.

Led Nation

Pennsylvania led the nation in every category of plant expansion in the years of 1951, 1952, 1953. More machinery was installed than in any other state. More money was spent for new structures and plant expansion than in any other state.

These statements are from the Bureau of the Census, of the United States Department of Commerce records.

Recognizing the need for studying problems facing the textile industry you named a Textile Study Committee. It made a long and exacting study and presented its findings November 6, 1953.

The first Industrial Exposition ever to be held on a state-wide basis was held in Harrisburg, in September, 1954, under the direction of the Keystone Building Contractors Association, with the assistance and full cooperation of the Department of Commerce. More than 300,000 persons view this exhibit.

The Department has contributed greatly to the efforts of local communities, organizations, chambers of commerce and other trade groups in the successful forward march of industrial and commercial Pennsylvania, Scores of communities have been helped in setting up plans for industrial development funds. A staff of six field men, assigned to regions of about eleven counties each, is constantly on the alert to be of help to local communities and groups.

Steel Production

An example of industrial progress is seen in the report of the American Iron and Steel Institute which states the steel capacity of Pennsylvania totaled 33,351,000 tons as of January 1, 1953. That was the largest steel producing capacity of any state and represented an increase of 2,000,000 tons during the year 1952 and as of January 1, 1953, the steel capacity of Pennsylvania was 28.4 per cent of the national total of 117,547,470 tons.

During the period between January 1, 1951, and October 1, 1954, only 467 industries closed down with an employment loss of but 9,046 persons.

Another of the Department's newer policies is preparing brochures detailing community advantages and opportunities so that this information may be placed in the hands of manufacturers seeking new locations for plants.

The total income in Pennsylvania in 1953 was higher as a whole than in the previous year. So was the per capita income. For the country as a whole the per capita income was $1,709 in 1953; in Pennsylvania it was $1,822.

Exceptional progress has been made in the past four years in promoting Pennsylvania as a vacationland. Inquiries for colorful literature on Pennsylvania's vacation attractions and opportunities have resulted in thousands upon thousands of persons coming to the Keystone State for their vacations.

In 1951, according to a survey made for the department, the recreational travel and vacation business in Pennsylvania—accruing from out-of-state visitors and by Pennsylvanians traveling in their own state, including the expenditures by hunters and anglers—was conservatively estimated at $800,000,000. Since that time it has shown a steady increase until in 1954 it may well be said to be approching the billion dollar mark.

That Pennsylvania ranks high among the top twelve vacation states during the year ending March, 1953, was shown in a nation-wide survey conducted by the research department of a well-known national publishing company. Vacationists named Pennsylvania as the destination of 5.7 per cent of all the trips taken during the year for which the survey was made. Only three other states were ahead of Pennsylvania in that survey.

During the past four years the department's colored, sound motion pictures were shown to nearly ten million persons in the United States, in Pennsylvania and in some foreign countries.

The department printed more than 1,000,000 pieces of colorful literature for distribution. In addition it distributed, during the four-year period, better than 10,000,000 pieces of literature furnished to it by chambers of commerce, hotel and resort groups and other community organizations.

Representatives of the department have encouraged the formation of community groups to promote the recreational and vacation attractions of certain areas in the State. This effort has been successful. At the same time it has cooperated fully with groups that have been organized for some time.

A Tourist Advisory Committee—made up of representatives of the hotels, the newspapers and the motor clubs—works effectively with the Department of Commerce in its efforts to increase the recreational travel and vacation business.

Pennsylvania Week

There has been an overwhelming response to the call for service in our annual Pennsylvania Week observance.

Originated by the State Department of Commerce in 1946 it has been carried forward each year with increasing vigor and success. Designed to do a job of "selling" Pennsylvania's advantages to the rest of the nation it also is acquainting or reacquainting Pennsylvanians with all that the Commonwealth enjoys in good living and working, the great productive output of our mills and factories, the wealth of our agricultural efforts, the cultural blessings, the educational opportunities, the recreational attractions throughout the State and the scores of major historic shirnes that dot the State from one end to the other.

In carrying out its program for the stimulation of local planning and zoning activities, the State Planning Board, an administrative agency of the Department of Commerce during the years 1953 and 1954, conducted conferences for planning technicians from various state communities. It arranged for meetings leading to the reorganization of the Pennsylvania Planning Association and continuing advisory service to communities of the State in regard to planning and zoning. More than 45 community planning and zoning organizations were activated or reactivated durig the biennium.

Technical services in recreation site planning, programming and training were provided more than 100 Pennsylvania communities. Nearly 50 communities established recreation commissions during the biennium. A County Park Commission was created in Bucks County.

Housing Projects

During the biennium housing porjects were started and completed the Emporium, State College, Waynesboro and Coatesville. To date 3,500 dwelling units have been constructed and occupied or are nearing completion in 35 separate State projects and all of this work from ground breaking to conditions of tenancy have been under the Department's jurisdiction. Construction of many hundreds of dwelling units has been made possible by grants to assist urban redevelopment. Sixteen urban redevelopment projects made possible by funds so allocated will result in housing developments in crowded and run-down sections of industrial cities.

Ground has broken for a moderate rental project in Reading to be erected at a cost of $1,714,000, to which the Department allocated a subsidy of $514,205. A grant agreement was approved providing a $300,000 subsidy for a redevelopment project in York. In Pittsburgh a multi-million dollar redevlopment has been initiated, to which the State has contributed $1,000,000. In Philadelphia redevelopment plans were completed for the Southwest Temple area to whih the State contributed $310,333. Two hundred twenty-nine dwelling units will occupy the site and the State's contribution here will be $767,705.

The total estimated value of construction that will accrue from assistanc granted by the State for the building of moderate rental housing approximates $40,000,000.

The Bethel Court Redevelopment project of the Chester Redevelopment Authority has been approved and a grant from the State of $250,000 has been given. In Harrisburg $559,009 has been allocated from State funds for the redevelopment of 24 acres adjoining Capitol Park Extension.

The total appropriation of $15,000,000, made by the General Assembly, has not only covered the State's contribution to construction and to urban redevelopment but most of the administrative costs.

Basic programs of research in the fields of population have been carried forward and estimates of changes in population by counties between 1950 and 1952 have been completed, as has been a study of movements and characteristics of the State's population. A study of the bituminous coal industry was published and recommendations for a program designed to improve the State's position in this basic industry were presented.

Resepctfully submitted,

WILLIAM W. BEHRENS,
Secretary.

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA
PENNSYLVANIA GAME COMMISSION
HARRISBURG

Dear Governor Fine:

I am pleased to submit herewith a brief resume of the Game Commission's accomplishments during the four-year period of your Administration. Much of the success accredited to the wildlife conservation program can be attributed to your personal interest and cooperation in the Commission's objectives.

The Game Commission is charged with the responsibility of administering one of the special funds of the Commonwealth—the Game Fund. Briefly, the following report refers to our finances and various statistical data:

The sale of 859,783 Resident Licenses in 1953, and 32,042 Non-Resident Licenses in 1952 established an all-time record to date. More hunters were afield during the past four years than any previous four-year period; however, the percentage of fatal accidents was reduced by intensive safety campaigns.

Game Kill

A summary shows that the kill of Raccoons, Wild Turkey, Ruffed Grouse, Ringneck Pheasants, Rails, Gallinules and Coots, Wild Waterfowl, Woodchucks and Doves increased over the previous four-year period. By the same token, there was a slight decrease in the kill of Deer, Bear, Rabbits, Hares, Hungarian Partridges, Squirrels, Quail and Woodcock.

The Commission has taken full advantage of Federal Aid funds from its inception in 1939. During the four (4) fiscal years included in this report Pennsylvania's apportionment amounted to $1,897,111.67. The 75% reimbursement during the same period from projects applied against this apportionment and the balance collected from apportionment made prior to June 1, 1950 amounted to $2,060,239.29.

All wildlife research studies are designed to accomplish practical management programs to provide a greater amount of healthful, outdoor recreation for hunters and nature lovers.

Within the past four years several research projects have been completed:

1. Three cottontail rabbit management studies in three different parts of the State. These five-year investigations provided information for increasing cottontails on abandoned farm land.

2. Four to six regional surveys of Pennsylvania mammals. The final reports of these surveys have been published.

3. A study of environmental control on forested lands for game management. This was a comparison between bulldozing, cutting, and fire as means for creating food and cover for forest game species.

4. Research studies of predators and predator control methods. The three separate projects included an analysis of the Pennsylvania bounty system, a compilation of the food habits of predators, and an evaluation of modern concepts concerning predator control as a game management procedure.

Studies currently in operation are

1. White-tailed deer study. The difficult task of managing Pennsylvania's tremendous deer herd must be based upon the biological findings and recommendations of research.

2. Wild turkey study. An attempt is being made to extend the wild turkey range to all suitable parts of the State.

3. Woodcock study. This is a management study primarily designed to restore woodcock coverts to higher productivity.

4. Cottontail rabbit study. The current rabbit management procedures being evaluated with the intent of improving their effectiveness.

5. Management of transmission lines for wildlife. The hundreds of mile of power lines and pipe lines should provide food, cover, and nesting sites for game if properly managed.

6. An evaluation of wildlife food production efforts. The cuttings, plantings, and food patches are being carefully examined throughout the State to determien the best methods and materials to use for the production of food for wildlife.

7. Experimental management of the Conemaugh Reservoir Area. This 6,800-acre tract in Indiana County is being used to study land management techniques for wildlife and the population dynamics of resident game.

Through a cooperative agreement with the Pennsylvania State University, various wildlife research studies are conducted by graduate students enrolled there. These studies are selected by a committee representing the University and the Game Commission. Among the more important during the past four years were

1. A study of the parisitological, pathological, and biochemical factors affecting the grouse cycle.

2. An analysis of the factors responsible for antler growth in deer.

3. An economic analysis of deer damage to farm crops as related to income from deer hunters.

4. An appraisal of deer damage to forest reproduction in Pennsylvania.

5. A study of ruffed grouse in the Barrens, Centre County.

6. The biology and ecology of the gray squirrel in Pennsylvania.

7. Waterfowl investigations on Conneaut Marsh.

School of Conservation

Since its inception in 1936, the Commission's Conservation School, operated on an actual need basis only, continues to lead the Nation in preparing carefully selected men for wildlife conservation careers in Pennsylvania. Graduate quality steadily improves; the rewards of the training program have been most gratifying. More emphasis is placed on conservation education each year and it is felt that Pennsylvania has progressively advanced its conservation education program.

Visual Aids

The Commission produced five feature motion pictures in color and sound and acquired seven others from outside sources. It also produced eight television pictures of 12½ to 13½ minutes running time which are currently being used by numerous stations in a weekly series titled "Operation Wildlife."

Three major live wildlife exhibits were held annually—at the State Farm Show, the Motorboat and Sportsmen's Show at Philadelphia and the Allegheny County Free Fair at Pittsburgh.

More than 5,000 meetings of sportsmen, farm youth groups, granges, Scouts and school children; civic and church organizations; women's garden and bird clubs, etc., were attended by field and office personnel most of this service having been rendered by the Conservation Education Assistants in the Commission's six field divisions. In addition, these men spearheaded more than 1,000 safe gun-handling programs in connection with Hunt Safely Week, proclaimed annually by you.

A program designed to encourage wildlife habitat improvement on Pennsylvania farms was jointly sponsored by the Commission and the Department of Public Instruction, to which the Commission provides annual cash awards not to exceed $1,000. This program is currently entering its third year.

Cash subsidies amounting to several thousand dollars were also provided the Carnegie Museum, Pittsburgh, and The Academy of Natural Sciences, Philadelphia, to carry on special conservation education programs in those metropolitan areas principally among school children.

Special efforts were made to promote the Boy Scouts of America Conservation Good Turn for 1954, and field personnel were instrumental in helping to develop many worthwhile programs at the local level.

Close liaison was also maintained with sportsmen, women's, garden, 4-H, and other clubs to further encourage individual and collective support of the conservation program.

Sixteen Waterfowl Propagation Areas and Refuges totaling 1,690 acres have been installed. New impoundments of water areas for waterfowl totaling 1,610 acres have been constructed; engineering and preliminary work has been done on numerous others.

During this four-year period, the Commission purchased 23,892.14 acres of State Game Lands. This brings the total State Game Lands area to 905,768.35 acres.

The Food and over program and the management of commission-owned and controlled lands were greatly expanded.

Nursery Management

Ten small seedling nurseries, totaling eleven acres, were mantained at locations on State Game Lands. Over 2,300,000 seedlings were grown and distributed from these small nurseries.

Approximately 5,240,000 seedlings were planted.

Over 6,935 acres of timberland were improved for wildlife. Timber sales improved over 3,000 acres for wildlife, in addition to providing an income from various products sold.

Development for Waterfowl

Fifteen new dams were built impounding 130 acres.

Under the new Small Marsh Program, initiated in 1953, thirty-one sites were surveyed, plans prepared for twenty-three structures, and one pond totaling 8.5 acres was completed. Operations have been started on six other dams.

An additional 580 acres were improved by planting seed, tubers and plants utilized by wild waterfowl.

Roads and Fire Trails

Approximately 1,050 miles of roads were maintained each year, and a total of over 90 miles were constructed to provide access to development area. Over 620 miles of fire trails were maintained and 13 additional miles were constructed during the four-year period.

During the period personnel constructed 18 storage buildings and 27 corn cribs to provide storage facilities.

Boundary maintenance on the State Game Lands totaled 3,800 miles, while lines around an additional 134,650 acres of refuges and propagation areas were mowed and serviced annually.

Flood Control Reservoirs

Leases were executed between the United States Government and the Commission providing licenses to manage wildlife on approximately 7,00 acres included in the Loyalhanna and Conemaugh River Reservoir areas.

The Commission, under an agreement signed in 1950, managed wildlife on the Allegheny National Forest.

Cooperative Program

The Cooperative Farm-Game Program has maintained 167 project areas containing 10,285 farms with a total of 1,040,144 acres. Of this total 847,164 acres have been open to public hunting. Impetus has been on development of improved wildlife habitat on the farms now under lease rather than on major expansion of project areas. Much constructive work has been accomplished with the aid of farmer cooperators.

Habitat for farm-game species was improved by distributing 7,118,315 evergreen and deciduous tree, shrub and vine seedlings to cooperators. In addition to benefiting wildlife, these plantings will help conserve soil and water.

During the past four years, 19,027 persons have been successfully prosecuted for Game Law violations for which penalties were recovered in the amount of $605,-988.22.

During the past four years, a total of 5,165 persons have had their hunting and trapping privileges revoked for a given number of years.

During the past four fiscal years, bounty claims were received from trappers covering 40,440 weasels, 71,364 gray foxes, 60,697 red foxes, 32 goshawks and 6,116 great horned owls. A total amount of $599,216.50 was expended in payment of these bounty claims.

In conclusion, we should like to stress the ever-increasing number of hunters and the huge task of providing adequate game to make their days afield attractive. We are fully aware of these responsibilities, and it is hoped that future Administrations will always be as interested, sympathetic and cooperative as the present one has been toward the Game Commission's wildlife conservation program.

Respectfully submitted,

LOGAN J. BENNETT,
Executive Director

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA
PENNSYLVANIA FISH COMMISSION
HARRISBURG

Dear Governor Fine:

Conforming with your request, I am transmitting this report of the accomplishments of the Pennsylvania Fish Commission during the four years of your Administration.

The program of the Fish Commission progressed with more and greater momentum during the past four years, than during any previous administration in my memory. During this period we broke all records in that the ten fish farms operated by the Commission are presently producing more pounds of fish, supplementing the fishery management program, than at any other time within our history.

During the past four years a much needed maintenance program has been well advanced. The warm water fish farm at Linesville has been completed and put into operation.

For the first time in the history of the Commission, we launched a progra mfor hatching and propagating muskellunge.

During your tenure in office, the Commission acquired a number of lakes, ponds, and fishing waters heretofore unimproved and unfit for public fishing. Numbers of these lakes were planned and constructed with funds of the Fish Commission by the Commission's own engineers; which together with many miles of additional streams, have been stocked with fish and opened to the public.

The Federal Aid in Fish Restoration Act (Dingell-Johnson Act) of August 9, 1950, was designed to help the States solve their sport-fishery problems. All money granted to Pennsylvania from this source has been used for acquiring land and building dams to provide public fishing lakes. The Fish Commission has attempted to locate such new lakes near areas of heavy human population and where public fishing facilities are limited. Lakes already acquired or built under this program are Virgin Run Lake, Fayette County, 32 acres; Ice Dale Lake, Chester County, 26 acres; and Glade Run Lake, Butler County, 51 acres.

Of interest to fishermen is the recovery of hundreds of black bass, catfish, sunfish, and suckers from Memorial Lake at Indiantown Gap Military Reservation. The lake has been turned over to the Pennsylvania Fish Commission as a nursery reserve in the Commission's propagation program.

After much improvement by the Delaware Valley Protective Association, the Delaware Canal, from the Northampton County line, south to a point near Bristol, was stocked with black bass. This was the first time in forty (40) years that this section of the canal was stocked. Also during this period the Schuylkill River has been returned to our stocking schedules and is now being stocked for public fishing.

Harvey's Lake, Pennsylvania's second largest natural water body, was stocked with thousands of trout for the first time.

Early in 1951, through the fine cooperation of the Pennsylvania Department of Welfare, the Fish Commission acquired a tract of land and a large spring in Centre County which are now being developed as the new Benner Spring Research Station.

Thorough biological investigations have been made on thirty-four lakes in the Commonwealth during the past four years.

Due to the late building program of various State and Federal agencies as well as that of the Pennsylvania Fish Commission, the area of warm water lakes open to the public for fishing has been increased by 2,675 acres.

A reclamation program to promote better fishing in lakes is now under way. To keep abreast of changing conditions in Pennsylvania streams, and to manage these streams for best fishing, Commission biologists are constantly conducting stream surveys and the miles of streams managed for trout has increased by 261.

The Commission liberalized fishing for panfish. In addition, the Pennsylvania Legislature legalized the use, by Commission agents, of chemicals and other methods of controlling fish populations. These two measures will bring about better fishing for more people. Uniformity of fishing regulations in bordering waters between Pennsylvania and adjacent states has been brought about.

During the past four years 227 tons of fish were netted from lakes and rivers and stocked where needed.

A biological laboratory was established at the Erie State Fish Hatchery in 1952. A check of commercial fishermen showed that the parasitic sea lamprey is not a serious problem in Lake Erie.

Added impetus was given the acquisition of public fishing areas during the past four years. Through this program, access lots have been purchased on a number of lakes and rivers, easements have been secured on 15 trout streams, 616 acres of ponds and lakes have been purchased and leases obtained on 428 acres of ponds and lakes.

Respectfully submitted,

C. A. FRENCH,
Executive Director.

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA
PENNSYLVANIA PUBLIC UTILITY COMMISSION
HARRISBURG

Dear Governor Fine:

The Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission, a five-member quasi-judicial agency regulating 10,000 utilities and carriers with a six billion dollar investment, disposed of an unusually heavy work load during your administration.

The postwar wage-price cycle, affecting public utilities as well as private industry, brought increased responsibilities which the Commission met forthrightly with a minimum number of employes.

Despite the sharp rise in the volume of regulatory work, accentuated by rate cases during the 1951-1954 period, the Commission adhered unswervingly to the law which requires that adequate service must be provided at reasonable rates.

Proof that the agency discharged its duties in the public interest is found in the fact that most of its decisions were upheld on appeal to the State Superior Court.

The continual rise of labor and material costs compelled many utilities to seek increases in rates for service. Those increases, however, were substantially lower during the 1951-1954 period than the general rise in the cost of non-regulated services and products.

In addition to handling rate increases, pared by nearly $33,000,000 after investigation, the Commission was responsible for many utility service improvements and increased public safety at highway-railroad crossings throughout the Commonwealth.

Approximately 800 formal highway-railroad crossing cases were processed, involving alteration, construction and elimination of crossings calling for improvements at an estimated cost of $128,500,000.

The most elaborate highway-railroad crossing project was in the City of Pittsburgh, in connection with improvements required for the downtown interchange of the Penn-Lincoln Parkway. The project included 40-odd highway crossings in the central business section of the city, involving the tracks of the Baltimore & Ohio and Pennsylvania Railroads, and the Pittsburgh Railways Company.

Commission approval of the crossing project cleared the way for construction by the Department of Highways at an estimated cost of $29,000,000. It is one of the largest highway-improvement projects ever undertaken by the Commonwealth.

Other noteworthy highway-railroad crossing projects approved by the Commission were:

(1) The Pottstown By-Pass highway, on two new bridge structures, over tracks of the Pennsylvania and Reading Railroads in Pottstown, Montgomery County, at an estimated cost in excess of $1,000,000.

(2) Highway and bridge improvements, costing approximately $2,275,000, over tracks of the Pennsylvania Railroad at Camp Hill, Cumberland County.

(3) The alteration, abolition and construction of 41 grade crossings on the West Chester Pike, along the right-of-way of the Philadelphia Suburban Transporting Company in Upper Darby and Haverford Township, Delaware County, at an estimated cost of $1,500,000.

(4) Highways Department construction of a new highway and bridge over the Susquehanna River, and two other bridges over tracks of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad, at an estimated cost of $5,350,000, in Hanover and Plymouth Townships, near Nanticoke, Luzerne County.

A guide to the agency's letter-of-the-law operation is found in reductions it made in proposed rate increases. Following are some outstanding examples, and the counties in which consumers gained the benefit of nearly all of the reductions:

(1) On December 2, 1952, the Commission ordered an $11,782,000 cut in an annual intrastate rate increase by Bell Telephone Company of Pennsylvania. The Commission's order was affirmed on appeal to the State Superior Court. The company serves 2,100,000 subscribers in the State.

(2) On February 17, 1953, the Commission ordered West Penn Power Company, Pittsburgh, to cut its rates by $1,663,840 a year, and pay refunds to 316,000 consumers in 16 counties. On an appeal taken by the utility, the Superior Court reversed the Commission and refused to permit the reduction and the refunds reflecting the lower rates ordered by the Commission. The utility furnishes service in these counties: Allegheny, Armstrong, Butler, Cameron, Centre, Clarion, Clinton, Elk, Fayette, Greene, Indiana, Lycoming, McKean, Potter, Washington and Westmoreland.

(3) On August 12, 1953, the Commission ordered Equitable Gas Company, Pittsburgh, to cut a nautral gas rate increase by $1,059,000. It also ordered appropriate refunds to its 221,000 Western Pennsylvania consumers. Equitable serves in the Pittsburgh area and Armstrong, Butler, Greene, Indiana, Washington and Westmoreland counties. On an appeal by the utility the Superior Court affirmed the Commission's order directing refunds.

(4) On October 5, 1953, the Commission denied the entire $1,179,000 annual rate increase sought by the Scranton Electric Company. The Commission's action kept unchanged the rates of 88,000 consumers in Lackawanna, Luzerne, Susquehanna, Wayne and Wyoming counties.

(5) On December 22, 1953, the Commission denied an entire $4,732,000 annual rate increase sought by Duquesne Light Company, Pittsburgh, and ordered a cut of almost $2,000,000 in the existing industrial rates. The Commission's decision meant a substantial saving in bills of 422,000 customers in Allegheny and Beaver counties after lengthy litigation.

(6) On July 27, 1954, the Commission cut General Telephone Company of Pennsylvania's proposed $1,548,000 annual rate increase by $455,000—a 30 per cent reduction. The utility furnishes service to 125,300 subscribers in these 13 counties: Bradford, Butler, Cambria, Crawford, Erie, Fayette, Forest, Indiana, Mercer, Somerset, Venango, Warren and Westmoreland.

(7) On August 24, 1954, the Commission ordered a $2,867,713 cut in a nautral gas rate increase sought by Manufacturers Light & Heat Company, Pittsburgh. The utility furnishes service to 229,316 consumers in these 22 counties: Adams, Allegheny, Beaver, Bedford, Butler, Chester, Armstrong, Clarion, Elk, Fayette, Franklin, Fulton, Greene, Jefferson, Lawrence, McKean, Mercer, Somerset, Venango, Warren, Washington and Westmoreland.

(8) On September 13, 1954, the Commission approved the plan of the Pennsylvania Power & Light Company, Allentown, to refund $1,472,807 plus interest to some 2,400 large-quantity commercial, industrial and resale electric power customers. This was the result of an earlier Commission order involving the method of computing industrial use charges. The Commission's decision was upheld on appeal. PP&L serves in these 28 counties: Berks, Bucks, Carbon, Chester, Clinton, Columbia, Cumberland, Dauphin, Juniata, Lackawanna, Lancaster, Lebanon, Lehigh, Luzerne, Lycoming, Monroe, Montgomery, Montour, Northampton, Northumberland, Perry, Pike, Schuylkill, Snyder, Susquehanna, Union, Wayne and York.

(9) On September 27, 1954, the Commission cut more than half an increase proposed by the Peoples Natural Gas Company, Pittsburgh. The reduction amounted to approximately 3 million dollars. The utility serves in these 13 counties: Allegheny, Armstrong, Beaver, Blair, Butler, Cambria, Clarion, Fayette, Greene, Indiana, Lawrence, Washington and Westmoreland.

These examples serve as a sound indication that the interests of Pennsylvania's utility users have been well protected under the law and by the Public Utility Commission.

Respectfully submitted,
LEON SCHWARTZ,
Chairman

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA
PENNSYLVANIA LIQUOR CONTROL BOARD
HARRISBURG

Dear Governor Fine:

We review herewith the activities of the Liquor Control Board during the four years of your Administration.

There have been no radical changes attempted, but rather we have pursued a course leading to gradual improvement of all phases of operations under the Board's jurisdiction.

Betterment of service to our patrons, and a tightening of controls in both State Stores and licensed establishments that sell and dispense alcoholic beverages has been a constant objetcive. Measures to secure the cooperation of licensees in actively supervising their establishments have, we believe, been helpful, but this necessarily is reinforced by constant activity on the part of our enforcement personnel.

Stores

The Board now supervises a system of 614 stores with an annual business, last year, exceeding $230,000,000. The Board does not advertise nor seek to promote sales. It provides a public service, as required by law, to an estimated 4,000,000 patrons. Emphasis is placed on courtesy as well as efficiency on the part of those in charge, and a training program has been inaugurated to assist in attaining this end.

A fully equipped laboratory is maintained with routine analysis of all products to assure the quality of distilled spirits and wines merchandised by the Board.

Revenues

Dollars sales volumes by calendar years, including the 10 per cent State tax, during your administration, were:

1951		$226,072,253.42
1952		227,277,238.81
1953		239,426,468.37
1954 (Jan. to Aug. actual)	$137,671,432.97
(Sept. to Dec. est.) ..	93,236,000.00
		230,907,432.97

Profits from the State Store System by calendar years were:

1951		$ 41,313,551.18
1952		38,422,715.57
1953		41,417,188.86
1954 (Jan. to Aug. actual)	$ 21,391,674.82
(Sept. to Dec. est.) ..	16,316,870.00
		37,708,544.82

Yields of the 10 per cent State tax by calendar years in addition were:

1951		$ 20,533,693.06
1952		20,643,453.53
1953		21,749,043.69
1954 (Jan. to Aug. actual)	$ 12,505,424.31
(Sept. to Dec. est.) ..	8,476,000.00
		20,981,424.31

During the present administration license fees amounting to $31,836,797.19 have been received by the Board; of this amount $23,412,658.34 has been returned to local municipalities.

The Board at the beginning of each biennium makes commitments as to the amount it can transfer from profits and has always fulfilled the commitments made.

Enforcement

An outstanding achievement in your Administration, with the cooperation of the State Police was the banishment of slot machines and other gambling devices in the clubs and other licensed premises of the State. This was accomplished without fuss or feather, with a minimum of punitive measures, and the ready acquiescence and cooperation on the part of most of the licensed places involved. Our Enforcement Bureau has cooperated with juvenile aid authorities and local police and has consistently worked to bring about better observance of law in licensed establishments. Constant vigilance has been shown in suppressing manufacture of and trafficking in illegal liquor.

Legislation

The Liquor Code was approved by you on April 12, 1951. It governs the three main functions of the Board's daily operations, buying and selling distilled spirits and wine; issuing licenses and permits and enforcing the laws and regulations. It combines in one package the original laws which controlled the traffic in liquor and beer.

The principle of home rule was extended to include in local option elections not only retail places, but also State Stores and beer distributors in an amendment approved by you January 19, 1953.

As of June 30, 1954, the Board's Civil Service employes totaled 4,150. More than 1,900 have veterans' status.

In view of the general trend toward higher costs, the Board has endeavored and succeeded in reducing costs of warehousing and distribution, especially in the northeastern district, and effected economies in other phases of our operations always giving due thought to the equalities involved and the maintenance of good service to the public.

Respectfully submitted,

FREDERICK T. GELDER,
Chairman.

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA
MILK CONTROL COMMISSION
HARRISBURG

Dear Governor Fine:

The basic purpose set forth in the Milk Control Law enacted by the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, is to insure a pure, wholesome and adequate supply of milk to the inhabitants of the Commonwealth.

During the period 1951 through 1954, the Milk Control Commission has been successful in regulating the milk industry so that Pennsylvanians are and have been receiving a pure, wholesome and adequate supply of milk at the least possible cost to the consumer while producers of this milk have received a fair and adequate return for their production.

Milk Production

Over the period 1951 through 1954, the cash income from approximately 55,000 dairy farms amounted to $801,592,000 of which approximately thirty-four per cent was income from dairy products. All other farm commodities including cattle, poultry, other live stock, field crops and fruits accounted for approximately sixty-six per cent of the farm income.

During this period milk produced approximated 21,887,000,000 pounds produced on 55,000 farms showing a total investment of $1,650,000,000 with 275,000 farm population.

A four-year record of prices paid to producers in other comparable markets outside of the Commonwealth reveal payments received by milk producers to be materially less for the same type and quantity of milk produced as in Pennsylvania.

During the 1951-1954 period, agents of the Milk Control commission check-tested approximately 200,000 composite and fresh samples of milk emanating from producer's farms and tested by licensed milk testers, and certified by agents of the Commission, and employed by milk processors throughout the Commonwealth.

Approximately 6,000 separate and distinct plant inspections were made.

In connection with producer payments, agents of the Commission were instrumental in effecting additional payments in the form of underpayment or delinquent payments, amounting to $855,697.43, approximately one-half the cost of operation of the Commission for the four-year period concerned. Payment to producers is insured by approximately $13,000,000 in bonds posted by milk processors and handlers, and held by the Milk Control Commission for distribution to producers if and when prompt and proper payment as required by law has not been effected by the licensed processor or handler involved.

Milk Consumption

The same basic purpose of a milk control law as set forth applicable to the production of milk holds true for milk consumption since the consumer must be assured a pure, wholesome and adequate supply of milk at a reasonable price.

During the 1951 through 1954 period, Pennsylvania consumers paid approximately on an average of .227c per quart for standard milk. The national average shows the same rate throughout the United States.

The Milk Control Commission, by its careful analysis of testimony presented at public hearings, has fixed consumer prices to allow for a reasonable return to the farmer who produced the milk, and to the processor who processed and delivered the milk to the position where milk for which the producer pays 23c per quart, allows the producer of the milk 12½c; labor, both organized and unorganized, 5½c; the cost of commodities which go into the processing and delivery including bottles, caps, truck expenditures, and all delivery and processing costs, 4½c; leaving the processor one-half cent per quart for each quart of home delivered milk.

Many national publications point to the Pennsylvania system of pricing as a model and attempt to fix prices with the same general principles considered.

Milk Processing

The same general principles are applied to the profit or return of a milk processor as are applied to the milk producer and consumer when public hearings are held to fix minimum prices.

The Commission, in the past four years, has initiated a seasonal pricing system whereby both consumer and producer prices are adjusted during the period when the natural supply of milk is increased.

The 1953 General Assembly, by Act 57, amended the Milk Control Commission is, to a large degree, borne by the milk industry.

Respectfully submitted,

JOAB K. MAHOOD,
Chairman

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA
STATE CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION
HARRISBURG

Dear Governor Fine:

Among the outstanding accomplishments to be noted in Civil Service administration and operation during the past four years was the inception of certain processes required by the Civil Service Act.

The Commission, on January 24, 1951, adopted rules to implement the Civil Service Act (Act 286, P. L. 752, approved August 5, 1941). These rules, amended and approved March 31, 1953, and July 20, 1954, following the required public hearing, have provided the appointing authorities with a device necessary to the handling of civil service administration.

The Classification Plan, defining the classes of positions and describing duties and minimum qualifications for each class existing in all agencies under the Commission's jurisdiction, with the exception of the Health Department, was initiated in 1951 and has been revised and amended through public hearing as required until it now comprises 272 class specifications or approximately 98% of its ultimate volume.

Allied with the Classification Plan's growth has been the revision of plans for individual agencies, four of which have been approved and adopted during the past four years. The plan of a fifth agency is presently awaiting action by the Executive Board.

Twenty-eight nation-wide classification and compensation surveys have been conducted in the last two bienniums which have supplied information for nearly 100 other merit systems, educational institutions or professional associations.

With more than eighty-five test programs, encompassing nearly 400 examinations, held throughout the Commonwealth since January, 1951, the Commission has developed and employed a variety of new test techniques for written, oral and performance examinations which have greatly increased the effectiveness of these tests. More than seventy tests have been developed soley by the Commission's Test Construction Unit for these sessions, resulting in a savings of thousands of dollars in consultants' fees. In the last biennium, consultants' fees were reduced by $7,000 through an original manual prepared for their use, and through innovations in the system of procuring test items.

In accordance with the loyalty oath program for all Pennsylvania employes, effective March 1, 1952, by legislation, the Commission initiated procedures for administering the law for the classified service by establishing a special unit to review applications. To date, approximately 18,000 applications, revised to include loyalty information, have been processed by this unit through the Pennsyl vania State Police.

Within the last forty-eight months, the Commission has administered 60,000 individual examinations, in which total were approximately 50,000 written examinations, 3,200 oral interviews and 8,4000 performance tests. In addition the Commission has extended services reciprocally to fifteen other state merit systems and to municipal authorities through the administration of more than twenty-five separate tests. Tests also have been given to military personnel at their bases by their commanding officers by means of the Commission's policy which permits servicemen and women to acquire employment eligibility for the future while on active duty in the Armed Forces.

Respectfully submitted,

HOWELL M. BECHT,
Executive Director

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA
PENNSYLVANIA BOARD OF PAROLE
HARRISBURG

Dear Governor Fine:

Complete statistics on the activities of the Pennsylvania Board of Parole are available from January 1951 through September 30, 1945.

During this period the Board took a total of 24,296 actions on all types of cases, including applications for parole and reparole, disposition of parole violations, requests for acceptance of out-of-state parolees and special probation and parole cases from the courts, investigations for the Pardon Board, and miscellaneous cases.

Definite action was taken on 9,611 applications for parole and 1,590 applications for reparole. Of the former, 7,190, or 74.8%, were granted and 2,421, or 25.2% refused; while of the latter, 892, or 56.1%, were granted and 698, or 43.9%, refused. It will be noted from these figures that parolees who have been returned for violations and apply for reparole receive less favorable consideration than applicants applying for initial parole. Many applications in both categories were considered two or more times, being continued for further information or observation before final disposition.

In addition to the regular cases coming under its jurisdiction namely, all sentences of two years or more, various courts of the Commonwealth referred to the Board for supervision a total of 233 probation and parole cases designated by the Parole Act as "special cases."

An average case load of 5,619 parolees was under the Board's jurisdiction at all times, with at least 85.1% in good standing.

The activities of the Board were affected by the following legislation passed during this Administration:

An amendment to the Parole Act, sponsored by the Board, was passed at the 1951 Session plugging the Tate Decision loophole through which absconders had escaped parole discipline by remaining unapprehended until the expiration of their maximum terms.

At the same Session the Barr-Walker Act was passed, imposing upon the Board of Parole the responsibility of reviewing every six months the cases of sex offenders sentenced thereunder from one day to life, and of determining, with the aid of psychiatric reports, when they might properly be paroled. Twenty-three sex offenders have been sentenced under this Act, of whom only one has been released on parole.

Cooperative Programs

On the Board's initiative, cooperative programs were developed with other State agencies, making available the following services:

1. The Department of Welfare designated out-patient psychiatric facilities to which the Board of Parole may send parolees for observation.

2. The Department of Health designated doctors under its jurisdiction to whom parolees with a history of drug addiction may be ordered to report periodically for examination as a deterrent to their resumption of the habit.

3. Arrangements were completed with the Board of Pardons whereby parolees with a record of five continuous years of successful adjustment on parole may be relieved of further supervision by commutation of their maximum sentences, except those on parole under life sentences, who are not considered until they have been out ten years. This plan was based on a study of parole violators, which indicated that less than four per cent of parolees who violate do so after they have been out five years. By thus relieving the case load of parolees who have established their ability to get along as law-abiding citizens without supervision, the Board has been able to provide more intensive supervision for those who need it. Under this program, 231 well-adjusted parolees have been granted final discharges.

In-service training institutes have been held for Parole Agents and case loads have been reduced by the addition of more field personnel to improve the quality of supervision. To the same end, the interest of more citizen groups has been enlisted in parole planning for parolees who have no resources of their own.

A "Manual of Parole Procedures and Supervision" released by the Board in 1951 has been acclaimed by parole authorities throughout the country and abroad as a model of its kind.

Finally, it is gratifying to report that parole has saved the Commonwealth close to five million dollars a year which would otherwise have been spent for institutional maintenance at eight times the cost of parole supervision, and that parolees under the jurisdiction of the Board of Parole earned over eight million dollars a year, contributing their share financially to both State and Federal governments as taxpayers and in many cases relieving the public of the burden of their dependent families.

Respectfully submitted,

H. C. HILL,
Chairman.

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA
PENNSYLVANIA HISTORICAL AND MUSEUM COMMISSION
HARRISBURG

Dear Governor Fine:

During the four years of your administration, the major purposes of bringing the history of Pennsylvania to the people, and of preserving the memorials, records, and documents which testify to the State's great historic past, have been carried forward in every field of the Pennsylvania Historical and Museum Commission's activities, with the support and encouragement of the administration and the General Assembly. The interest of the legislative branch took direct form in the addition of four legislative members to the Commission in 1951.

The most striking part of the Commission's work is the placing and maintenance of the 1,200 historical markers, which point out to travelers the spots which are significant in Pennsylvania's history. In the past four years, 104 roadside markers and 131 of the smaller city-type markers were designed and erected, as well as 344 approach markers.

In the past four years, two more historical properties were added to the fourteen already under the care of the Commission. Conrad Weiser Memorial Park, Berks County, was transferred from the Department of Forests and Waters, and the Pennsylvania Farm Museum of Landis Valley was acquired from two elderly collectors who had built up an astonishing collection of farming tools, handicraft products, and other relics of the agricultural development of the Commonwealth. Great strides have been made in the development of the properties. At Old Eeconomy, Beaver County, the Harmony Society's rich collection of historical manuscripts is now available for use by scholars, and thirteen buildings have been opened to visitors. The restoration of Pottsgrove Mansion, Montgomery County, was completed in May, 1952, and the two-centuries old home was beautifully furnished by gifts and loans from generous friends of the undertaking. The painstaking restoration of the old wooden structures at Ephrata Cloister, Lancaster County, has made such progress that two buildings now look as they did in olden days. An attractive addition to Drake Well Memorial Museum, near Titusville, provided space for exhibiting the great collection of oil fields, tools, relics, and photographs.

Similarly, the Pennsylvania State Museum, another division of the Commission, places special emphasis on its services to school children. More than a thousand school classes a year have been conducted on guided tours of the Museum, and an office has been converted into a classroom for special sessions with Scout groups, biology classes, and groups of handicapped children.

Respectfully submitted,

DONALD A. CADZOW,
Executive Director.

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA
STATE TAX EQUALIZATION BOARD
HARRISBURG

Dear Governor Fine:

Educational leaders and governmental authorities in Pennsylvania and throughout the nation have commended the special efforts of your administration in utilizing a local comparataive wealth index in distributing State subsidies to school districts. The State Tax Equalization Board program in providing this index is considered a model of many of the states contemplating the establishment of such a program or the improvement of their existing methods.

During the Fine administration the State Tax Equalization Board has re-evaluated, revised and adjusted annually the market values of taxable real property in each of the 2,490 school districts to reflect local economic changes. A program was initiated under this administration to provide supplemental market value indexes, such as appraisals and other relevant data, in areas where real estate sales have decreased or for specialized types of real property, as industrial and natural resources, wherein sales are insufficient or not representative.

The latest Board certifications, June 30, 1954, show a total market value of $27,069,504,700 for all taxable real property in the Commonwealth. More than 1,200,000 bona fide sales and appraisals of individual parcels of real property were used in determining the latest market value certifications.

The annual market values of the individual school districts as uniformly determined by the Board were used during your administration to distribute a record $694,-726,904 to local school districts.

The number of school districts requesting special financial aid from the State was reduced materially as a result of financial investigations made by the State Tax Equalization Board in conjunction with the Department of Public Instruction. Consequently, during your administration, the biennium special aid appropriation was reduced from $1,000,000 to $400,000.

In addition to the use of the Board's market values in distributing State school subsidies, the State Public School Biuding Authority relies on the Board's findings in its expanded program of school building construction. The growing movement under the Fine administration of local school districts operating better educational programs by jointures has been facilitated by the availability of the Board's market values.

Each year under your administration there was a greater demand for the Board's market values as an index of comparative local wealth. These requests came from other departments and boards of the Commonwealth, banks, bonding and investment companies, colleges and universities, governmental research organizations, taxpayers groups, as well as numerous governmental officials throughout the State and Nation.

Respectfully submitted,

JOHN N. O'NEIL,
Chairman.

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA
PENNSYLVANIA TURNPIKE COMMISSION
HARRISBURG

Dear Governor Fine:

During the four years of your administration the Pennsylvania Turnpike has enjoyed a most prosperous and progressive era. It has proven itself an outstanding example of State Government and private capital working together for the accomplishment of a project contributing to the development of the industrial and social progress of our great Commonwealth.

Outstanding in the period was the progress made in the retirement of the bonded indebtedness of the existing system extending from the Ohio Border to Valley Forge. The total bonded indebtedness of this portion of the Pennsylvania Turnpike System at the beginning of your term of office was $211,500,000. Retirement of this indebtedness from June 1, 1951, to October 31, 1954, totaled $25,602,000, reducing the indebtedness to $185,898,000. Of the total reduction of the bonded indebtedness, $5,700,000 bonds matured, while the balance—$19,902,000—were called for redemption. The retirement of bonds is nearly seven years in advance of schedule.

In addition to this remarkable reduction of bonded indebtedness, the condition of the Turnpike has been maintained in an excellent state of repair and the operation of the facility has been most efficient to contribute to the comfort and safety of the patrons.

During the first year of the present administration, the Western Extension—67 miles to the Ohio Border—a vital link between the industrial Midwest and the Eastern Seaboard, was completed.

In this first year, also, the Delaware River Exension—a 33 mile link connecting Valley Forge, the terminal of the existing system, with the Delaware River—was authorized and approved. Work on this project began November 20, 1952, and the formal dedication of this new Extension was conducted October 15, 1954, which gave Pennsylvania a super-highway extending 360 miles across the State from the eastern to the western border.

To provide the ultimate in economy and convenience in travel, the Administration played a dynamic role in the Federal Compact between the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and the State of New Jersey, allowing the construction of a bridge across the Delaware River to provide a connection between the Pennsylvania Turnpike and the New Jersey Turnpike. Consent of Congress was given October 26, 1951, and work on the project was started May 25, 1954. It is expected that the Delaware River will be completed in the Summer of 1956.

The first north-south Extension of the Turnpike System —the Northeastern Extension—was authorized and approved in 1951. The first section will be 110 miles in length, extending from Plymouth Meeting on the present Delaware River Extension to a point just north of Scranton. Work on this project started March 25, 1954, and is scheduled for completion in the Fall of 1956. Ultimately, it will extend to the New York State Line.

The Northeastern Extension is viewed as a vital step toward the development of the industrial potentials of the Commonwealth's distressed Anthracite region. It will provide easy access to source of supply and to markets.

In the Session of 1953, authorization was given for the construction of a lateral connection on the Northeastern Extension, running east to the Delaware River and west to the Susquehanna River.

January 14, 1952, authorization was given for the construction of the Gettysburg Extension—a 40-mile link designed to extend from a point west of Harrisburg to a point near the Maryland State Line.

The vital Northwestern Extension was authorized by the 1953 Legislature and approved by you. This link is designed to run from a point on the present east-west Turnpike to near the City of Erie and will include a 45-mile lateral spur through the Erie County corridor, extending eastwardly to the New York State Line and westwardly to the Ohio State Line.

Intensive traffic and engineering surveys are now in progress on this project.

The Fine Administration has been responsible for a "Golden Age" in Turnpike development. At the beginning of the Administration the total mileage in operation was 260. At present in actual operation are 360 miles of roadway. Under construction are the 110 miles of the Northeasern Extension and the Delaware River Bridge. Monies used or committed for construction during the present Administration are estimated at $328,000,000. of which amount $30,000,000 was the expenditure necessary to complete the Western Extension. The remainder was used for the Delaware River Extension and will be used for the Delaware River Bridge and the Northeasern Extension.

Respectfully submitted,

T. J.EVANS,
Chairman.

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA
SELECTIVE SERVICE SYSTEM
HARRISBURG

Dear Governor Fine:

I am plased to submit this report covering the operations of the Selective Service System in Pennsylvania during the years 1951 through 1954, inclusive:

The beginning of your Administration, in January 1951, found the Selective Service System operating at its peak load for the Korean emergency. After a cessation of calls beginning February 1949, inductions were again resumed in September 1950 with an average of 3,500 for the last four months of that year.

January, February and March, 1951, found the National Call 80,000 and 40,000 each for April and May. Pennsylvania's proportion of these calls was: January, 5,528; February, 5,423; March, 5,657; April, 5,651 and May, 4,243.

The Selective Service Act of 1948, which expired June 30, 1950, was extended to July 9, 1951. On June 19, 1951, the Universal Military Training and Service Act became Law and the entire System was called back to full duty. In this Act was also included the so-called "Doctor Draft," which provided for the calling and commissioning of doctors, dentists and veterinarians.

Beginning with June 1951 our calls averaged approximately 1,000 per month for the remainder of the year and continued at that rate until October 1952, when they were greatly stepped up, as follows: October, 4,844; November, 6,204; December, 5,356.

In January of 1953, our call was 6,027; February, 6,000; March, 6,000; April, 4,081 and May, 3,884. Since that time and to January 1955, the calls have averaged approximately 1,500 per month.

Pennsylvania presently has 1,105,762 total living registrants of all ages. At the present time, 28,544 of these men are under 18½ yars of age. Total classified registrants, of all ages, is 1,039,009. Preinduction physical examination is one of the main functions in our processing, as you will assume from the fact that from January of 1951 through 1954, 198,223 Pennsylvanians have been mentally and physically examined to determine their fitness to serve in the armed forces. Of that figure, 141,429 were found acceptable for service and 118,007 of them have been inducted during the past four years.

The Pennsylvania Selective Service System has met all calls to date and while the number of those inducted is quite evident, this figure does not indicate the great movement of men from their homes to the local board, from the local board to the examining stations, from the examining stations home and again a one-way trip to the Induction Station. 5,000 men inducted closely represents a total in man movements approximating 25,000. This entire movement of individuals was planned at State Headquarters in the Manpower Division and executed through the individual local boards. At present, men approximately 21 years of age and over are being inducted.

Beginning June 1951 and to the present the Selective Service System in Pennsylvania, through its processing, has been responsible for the commissioning of 1,011 doctors of medicine, 344 dentists, and 22 veterinarians, or a total of 1,377 men in the medical, dental and allied special category. However, only six (6) Special Registrants have been inducted.

The Act which provided for the Special Registrants also provided for the classification, assignment and service of Conscientious Objectors to civilian work contributing to the maintenance of the national health, safety and interest. To date, we have assigned 720 Conscientious Objectors to work of national importance.

Information obtained at the national level has proved that enlistments drop when induction calls drop or become non-existent. Nevertheless, it appears that 202,832 Pennsylvanians have been enlisted into the various branches of the armed forces during the past four years. At the present time, almost half of our local boards are able to fill their calls from those volunteering for induction ahead of the order of their call.

During your Administration we have continued operations under one Act and, at present, are operating under a new Act. We have seen the fighting in Korea terminated by an armistice on July 27, 1953 and, as of today, there are no active battlefields anywhere in the world. Under the International Agreement just signed, Secretary Dulles has brought home a strengthening of our Allies and, we hope, a moving from the danger of war.

In these last four years we of the Selective Service System in Pennsylvania have tried to meet changing conditions and conform to changing laws. We have at all times fulfilled our obligations fully and completely and have tried to do our duty both in inductions and deferments with the least disturbance to individuals and to the State. Anything which we of Pennsylvania have accomplished during your Administration has been, in great part, due to the continuing support and assistance which you have rendered to me as State Director.

We are continuing to take all possible steps to safeguard the State, provide the manpower necessary for the defense of our country and to carry out all foreseeable needs for the future expansion of the System.

Respectfully submitted,

HENRY M. GROSS,
State Diretcor.

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA
STATE PUBLIC SCHOOL BUILDING AUTHORITY
HARRISBURG

Dear Governor Fine:

The State Public School Building Authority, activated February 5, 1948, has for this same period negotiated $117,250,000 sale of bonds in planning to provide adequate educational facilities for the Commonwealth.

The State Public School Building Authority has approved for construction a total of 235 projects at an average cost per project approximating $500,000.

Prior to January 1951 the Authority had entered into contracts with 146 school districts to lease a total of 82 projects. Since January 1951 this number has risen sharply to a total of 363 additional school districts, which have applied for services through the Authority.

Of the 235 projects approved, 144 are completed and in use.

The 1953 General Assembly passed legislation which placed a ceiling on the total school building construction which could be authorized by the Department of Public Instruction, subject to being subsidized by the Commonwealth. Consequently, the Authority has a backlog of applications for new schools estimated to cost in excess of $30,000,000.

Throughout the United States, the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania's State Public School Building Authority has become a model for similar programs in other states.

Respectfully submitted,

R. C. BARTMAN,
Executive Director.

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA
GENERAL STATE AUTHORITY
HARRISBURG

Dear Mr. Fine:

During the four years of your Administration from January 1, 1951, to October 31, 1954, the General State Authority has completed projects amounting to $104,484,076 and has under construction other projects amounting to $117,612,211. This is a total during this period of $222,096,287.

These projects encompass practically every section in the Commonwealth.

The General State Authority's work on projects requested by the various Commonwealth Departments is shown in the following table:

Recapitulation of Projects
From
January 1, 1951 to Ocober 31, 1954

Department	Projects Completed	Projects Under Construction	Total All Projects
Forests and Waters	$ 4,465,411	$ 14,627,489	$ 19,272,900
State Police	2,476,125	257,400	2,733,525
Health	4,083,042	2,630,404	6,713,446
Public Instruction	26,702,293	7,345,643	33,947,836
Welfare	64,977,095	49,454,604	114,431,699
Justice	1,430,446	695,145	2,125,591
Miscellaneous	169,664	54,701,526	42,871,190
Totals	$104,484,076	$117,612,211	$222,096,287

As indicated, the projects undertaken by the General State Authority cover flood control, construction and rehabilitation of new buildings for the Department of Health, the various State Teachers Colleges, State University, the various hospitals under the Department of Welfare, together with additions and new equipment for the various State penitentiaries under the Department of Justice and projects for the Pennsylvania State Police.

Also included in the totals are construction of new State office buildings in Pittsbrugh, Harrisburg, and Philadelphia; a new Labor and Industry Building in Harrisburg; and an office building, garage, and warehouse.

The State Highway and Bridge Authority, during the same period, has had 40 projects under construction throughout the State at an estimated ocst of $44,933,137. During this time, this Authority completed 12 projects amounting to $9,522,262. The total for all projects was $54,435,399.

Respectfully submited,

JOHN N. FORKER,
ExecutiveDirector.

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA
STATE COUNCIL OF CIVIL DEFENSE
HARRISBURG

Dear Governor Fine:

A State-wide civil defense program to effectually meet any emergency was set up during your Administration.

The General Assembly early in 1951 enacted four basic laws providing for this program and appropriated during the period 1951-1954 a total of $5,028,000. Matching funds were available to the Commonwealth from the Federal Government.

Warning and detection systems and communications facilities have been placed in operation in every part of the State.

The State Council of Defense has purchased approximately $4,000,000 worth of emergency medical supplies sufficient to equip 1,650 aid stations, each capable of providing preliminary medical treatment for 1,000 casualties.

Auxiliary police and auxiliary firemen have been trained and are available for any emergencies. In addition 12,000 other individuals have received special training in emergency activities. School and industrial defense programs have been perfected.

During the four-year period of your Administration the State Council has developed a State-wide civil defense organization in which 350,000 Pennsylvania volunteers actively participate.

The value and effectiveness of the present organization have been demonstrated clearly both by action and a series of State-wide and local defense tests and by emergency service rendered during recent natural disasters.

Respectfully submitted,

RICHARD GERSTELL,
Director.

LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR WOOD. Governor Fine, in behalf of the General Assembly I wish to express our appreciation and thanks for your excellent address.

THE LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR. This also being the day and the time agreed upon by a concurrent resolution of the Senate and House of Representatives and in accordance with the provisions of the Constitution and the laws of this Commonwealth for the opening and computing of the official returns of the election for Governor, Lieutenant-Governor and Secretary of Internal Affairs, held on Tuesday, November 2, 1954, in the several counties of this Commonwealth, the returns will now be open and read; and also the election of a Director of the Legislative Reference Bureau.

RESOLUTION

ELECTION OF DIRECTOR OF LEGISLATIVE REFERENCE BUREAU

Mr. READINGER offered a resolution which was read as follows:

In Joint Session of the Senate and House of Representatives, January 4, 1955.

Resolved, That in accordance with section 2 of the act of May 7, 1923 (P. L. 158), creating the Legislative Reference Bureau, the Senate and the House of Representatives in joint session elect S. Edward Hannestad of Delaware County as Director of the Legislative Reference Bureau.

Mr. WATKINS. Mr Speaker, I take pleasure in seconding the nominating of S. Edward Hannestad.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

It was unanimously adopted.

COMMITTEE TO ESCORT DIRECTOR OF LEGISLATIVE REFERENCE BUREAU TO ROSTRUM

The SPEAKER appoints Messrs. Watkins and Readinger to escort S. Edward Hannestad, Director-elect of the Legislative Reference Bureau to the rostrum.

OATH OF OFFICE ADMINISTERED TO DIRECTOR OF LEGISLATIVE REFERENCE BUREAU

The oath of office was then administered to the Director of the Legislative Reference Bureau, S. Edward Hannestad by Lieutenant-Governor Wood.

ELECTION RETURNS

The LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR. The Joint Assembly will proceed to the opening, counting and computing of the official returns for the election of Governor, Lieutenant-Governor and Secretary of Internal Affairs held on Tuesday, November 2, 1954 in the several counties of the Commonwealth. The returns will now be opened and read.

The Teller on the part of the Senate is the gentleman from Montgomery, Mr. Propert. The Teller on the part of the House is the lady from Lackawanna, Mrs. Munley. They will please come to the desk and proceed in the performance of their duty.

The returns for Governor were opened and read by the Clerk.

SENATE

MONDAY, January 17, 1955

The Senate met at 4:00 o'clock p. m., Eastern Standard Time.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore (M. Harvey Taylor) in the Chair.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The Session will be opened with prayer. At this time I would like to suggest to the Senators, those who arrive in Harrisburg on Sunday, that they come down to the Market Square Presbyterian Church and hear Dr. Stephens, and start the week right.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. ROBERT H. STEVENS, D.D., Pastor of the Market Square Presbyterian Church, Harrisburg, offered the following prayer:

Eternal God, Who hast set us in Thy fair world, how good it is to be alive on such a day as this. How thrilling it is to be called to important tasks and to be trusted with great responsibility.

We praise Thee for Thy good gift of life, with all its wonder and mystery. We thank Thee for the things that make life worth living, for friends and the joy of a warm handshake and a hearty laugh; for health, and the strength to tackle hard jobs and difficult problems. We thank Thee for the respect of those who put their confidence in us, and for the privilege of having something worthwhile to do in making this world a better place.

We thank Thee for prayer and for the high privilege of looking to Thee for wisdom when our wisdom fails. We thank Thee that Thy Eternal Spirit broods over us, watching us, loving us, seeking to help us, eager to bring out the best in us. We thank Thee that what we do matters to Thee, O Heavenly Father.

So, under the shadow of Thy great protection and under the shadow of Thy loving care, we face up to our tasks this day.

In the Master's Name, Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. A quorum of the Senate being present, the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. MAHANY and Mr. BERGER, further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE

Mr. PECHAN asked and obtained leave of absence for Mr. PEELOR.

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

TIME OF NEXT MEETING

Mr. WHALLEY offered the following resolution, which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, January 17, 1955.

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That when the Senate adjourns this week it reconvene on Monday, January 24, 1955, at four o'clock p.m., E.S.T.; and when the House of Representatives adjourns this week it reconvene on Monday, January 24, 1955, at four-thirty o'clock p.m., E.S.T.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. MAHANY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, tomorrow, one of those who formerly sat in this Chamber will take on the toughest job in Pennsylvania. George Leader, who two years ago was a Member of this Senate, will be sworn in as the Governor of Pennsylvania.

Although he is a member of a different party than myself, I wish him well. I wish him well both because as a fellow Senator I learned to know and respect him, even though we were on opposite sides of most political issues and because, as a citizen of Pennsylvania, I am deeply interested in the future welfare of our Commonwealth.

About a week or so ago, I was wondering what we would do when the new Governor, George Leader, would send over his appointments for the members of his Cabinet. I thought for a time that, perhaps, it would be well for us to bring in those individuals, and interrogate them and find out about their backgrounds and so forth. Then, another thought occurred to me that perhaps the people of Pennsylvania might misunderstand our motive in this regard. They might think we were starting off to obstruct Governor Leader, and try to throw roadblocks in his way. After all, these appointments are his official family, and it might be that we would be holding up the machinery of State in some way by doing that. So, rather than do that, we on the Republican side, in Caucus just a short time ago, decided that we would go along with Governor Leader in his selections and that we would unanimously approve his appointments to his new Cabinet.

In doing this, I do want to have the gentlemen on the other side recollect for a minute concerning their action four years ago. I can't help but point out to them that we are returning good for evil. They held up Governor Fine's Cabinet for about two months for various and sundry reasons. However, we are not going to go along and follow that pattern. Tomorrow, when Governor Leader sends over his list of appointments, after he has taken his oath of office and reviews the nice parade that I understand is going to take place, we on this side will unanimously go along with that request.

Mr. President, for the next four years, the future of our Commonwealth will largely depend on how well George Leader does his job. It will depend on the recommendations he makes to the General Assembly, on the laws he signs and the appointments to office which he makes. It will depend on how he administers and directs the State Government, and how he gets along with the General Assembly, one branch of which, the Senate, is controlled by the Republicans.

In the hard months to come when the shine of his new office wears off, there will be occasions when the Governor will be sorely tempted to attribute his troubles as Chief Executive to the Republican Party, past and present. I hope with all my heart that he resists that temptation to the utmost. Name calling and personalities have never solved anything.

As Republican Floor Leader of this Senate, I probably will rise here from time to time to oppose some of the things he proposes. I would not be sincere in my belief in Republican principles if I did not do so. However, in doing so, I want our incoming Governor, and the people of Pennsylvania, to know that it will never be done by Republicans in the spirit of obstructionism or vindictiveness, or for petty political advantage. We shall do so only when we honestly differ with him and when we believe that his policies and his programs are not for the best interest of the vast majority of our citizens. The many great problems facing our Commonwealth can only be solved if we all approach them with a true spirit of cooperation, based on mutual trust and respect. That mutual trust and respect must be maintained. There can be disagreement between Republicans and Democrats without resorting to gutter politics.

Mr. President, the citizens of Pennsylvania will listen earnestly to the new Governor's inaugural address tomorrow. I sincerely hope he will present a program for the betterment of Pennsylpania, which all of us can join in putting into execution.

I sincerely hope that our Democratic friends will not expect us to rubber stamp everything he proposes in his program.

Mr. President, I want to assure you that we will listen to the Governor with open minds, and support everything in his program that we believe is for the welfare of all the people.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. DENT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, first of all on behalf of the Democratic Caucus and on behalf of the new Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, I want to sincerely thank the Republican Members of this Senate for taking the broad-minded view that they have taken in the matter of confirmations to the new Governor's Cabinet.

Mr. President, I am sure that as we go along the words that were uttered here this afternoon will come back to us many times. We all know that there will be many trying moments between now and adjournment sine die of this Senate. I am sure that starting off as you are, on the other side, showing the good and glad hand of friendly cooperation, this Session of the Legislature may be able to achieve a good and lasting improvement in the relationships of the Minority and Majority Parties in the Senate of Pennsylvania, and to improve the health and welfare and happiness of the peoples of this great Commonwealth.

Mr. President, first and foremost in all our deliberations must come the considerations for the people. I do believe that at any time your opposition is based upon those principles for which your party stands, there will never be any misunderstanding on our part. None of us will ever, if we can help it, indulge in personalities, as referred to by the gentleman, the leader of the other side. If we can help it, we must refrain from that at all costs. As he said, it does not add to anything and only detracts not only from the dignity of this Senate, but also from its working functions.

Therefore, Mr. President, again, on behalf of all of the Members of the Democratic Caucus, I cordially invite you, the Members of the Republican Caucus, to break a little bread with me this evening.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WAGNER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WAGNER. Mr. President, among the many important assignments that go to the Joint State Government Commission is one to make a Continuing Study of the Public School System.

On January 5th, of this year, each of the Senators was sent a report by mail on School Health Services, a very important segment of our school responsibilities, which deserves the careful study and attention of every legislator.

REPORT FROM THE JOINT STATE GOVERNMENT COMMISSION DEALING WITH "SCHOOL HEALTH SERVICES"

Mr. WAGNER, on behalf of the Joint State Government Commission, submitted the following report, which was read by the Clerk as follows:

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA
JOINT STATE GOVERNMENT COMMISSION
of the General Assembly
P. O. Box 61
Room 450—Capitol Building
Harrisburg

January 17, 1955

To the Honorable, the Senate of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

On behalf of the Joint State Government Commission, I have the honor to transmit herewith A Report of the Joint State Government Commission, Session of 1955, dealing with "School Health Services."

A copy of this report was mailed to each member of the Senate on January 5, 1955.

Respectfully submitted,

BAKER ROYER, Chairman.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The Report will be noted in the Journal.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now adjourn until Tuesday, January 18, 1955, at 10:00 o'clock, a.m., Eastern Standard Time.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The Senate adjourned at 5:02 o'clock, p. m., Eastern Standard Time, until Tuesday, January 18, 1955, at 10:00 o'clock a.m., Eastern Standard Time.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

MONDAY, January 17, 1955

The House met at 4:30 p. m. EST.

The SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Reverend Harold J. Crouse, York County, offered the following prayer:

Almighty God, the God of heaven and earth, Who holdest in Thy hand all the might of men and nations, and in Whom are all rule and authority, we humbly beseech Thee to graciously bless Thy servants. Grant them wisdom and understanding that they may govern justly and wisely. Through these, Thy representatives, make this great Commonwealth Thy servant, Thy chosen channel of blessing so that all men shall receive justice and all shall be heard, the weak as well as the strong, the helpless as well as the powerful. Give them faith and courage to make changes if it be a change from bad to good, and from good to better.

In the name of our Lord Jesus Christ, we pray. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The SPEAKER. Are there any corrections to the Journal of Tuesday, January 4, 1955? If not, and without objection, the Journal is approved.

ANNOUNCEMENTS BY SPEAKER

The SPEAKER. The Speaker has received as of January 10, 1955, the petition of Alfonse Parlante, a candidate for election to the office of Representative in the House of Representatives, contesting the seat from the Second Legislative District of Philadelphia, now held by Abraham N. Sigman.

This petition will be referred to the House Committee on Elections when created.

The Chair at this time desires to make another announcement. If there are any Members who travel back and forth by auto, and who have difficulty in securing a place to park, if you will leave your name with the Chief Clerk and the approximate time that you expect to arrive on each legislative day, the Chair and the Chief Clerk will endeavor to see to it that places for parking are reserved for your convenience.

COMMITTEE ON COMMITTEES

The SPEAKER. The Chair announces for the record the names of the Committee on Committees, selected by the Majority and Minority Parties of this House.

Messrs. Sarraf, Chairman, Breth, Capano, Kolankiewicz, Mihm, Petrosky, Wargo, Mrs. Varallo, Messrs. Royer, Breisch, Cooper, and the Speaker of the House ex-officio.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I want to just say a few words that we hope might help our new Governor in his thinking, although I must confess at this time and I must apologize to the Majority Leader, that if I had seen the statements that are now in the paper, these words would have been different.

I understand that the Governor-elect has made some statements that are now published. They have just been placed on my desk. The statement that I intended to make was only to help him in his thinking tomorrow in his inaugural address. It was to help the now Majority party in its thinking towards us, the Minority party. We were offering, shall we say, an olive branch only for the purpose of benefiting the citizens of Pennsylvania. I am rather surprised at this time to see a statement coming from the Governor-elect as I have just seen in the newspaper.

The statement that I am about to make is as follows:

Tomorrow the new Governor will take over the administration of the state Government of Pennsylvania; and although we Republicans opposed him in the recent campaign, we certainly have no intention of carrying on that opposition in this House of Representatives unless and until we believe that what he proposes and what he does is injurious to the welfare of our citizens.

I would like to elaborate here by saying that we on this side of the House feel that the welfare of the citizens of this state is above partisan politics. We certainly will not be obstructionists in this session, and I cannot say that too emphatically at this time. I hope that we can say that emphatically throughout this session.

We will try to work in harmony with the majority on every occasion that is consistent with the Republican party's principles.

We Republicans are awaiting the message the new Governor will deliver tomorrow when he takes office—we were awaiting it tomorrow, but I see it is in tonight's newspapers.

He has promised to do a great many things for the welfare of Pennsylvania and its citizens, and we want to take this opportunity to state we want to see that he keeps those promises. I believe that I can state for the minority party that we believe the Democratic Party is now in power in the state of Pennsylvania mainly because the Governor-elect and the candidates, made promises to our citizens.

We believe that our citizens believed in what he said; we believe our citizens believed in what all the candidates said. When I say we want to see that he keeps these promises, I do not mean by saying that that we want to see that he keeps those promises piece-meal. We are not going to sit and cooperate with one promise and two promises. When we cooperate, it will be on the basis that this is a package deal and that the promises are given to use as a package, not one at a time for any expedient reasons.

He has promised to expand our industries and to bring in new industries. We are certainly for that one hundred percent. We want to see our industries expand because it means more jobs for the average guy, and there are more average guys in the Republican party than anything else. However, we must serve warning on the new Governor that we will not support his program blindly. We will want to know that what he proposes specifically will carry out his general promises. We will oppose that which is bad, support that which is good, and try to improve that which is weak.

Our position in this House of Representatives will not be one of rubber stamping everything that the majority recommends—and again let me say here that we will not be obstructionists. We will present legislation that will carry out every pledge of the Republican party platform. We will have a Republican party House program to submit to this House in the very, very near future.

We know from the pledges in the Republican party platform that it was a good platform. We know that it was progressive; we know that it was liberal, and we know, too, that if the laws that we advocate are enacted in Pennsylvania, it will be a better place in which to live.

I might say here in elaboration that we hope that the Majority party will give every consideration to the program that we, the minority, will submit to this House, the same way that we will give every consideration to the program that the majority presents to this House because we have been in the majority. We are now in the minority. Our main thought, I think, as are those of the majority party today, is that we give good government to Pennsylvania and to its citizens.

We want Pennsylvania to be a better place in which to live, a better place in which to work, and a place which will offer every expanding opportunity for our children.

We will support legislation which will continue to give equal opportunities for the education of our children, according to the highest standards. We stand ready to expand our school facilities and to meet the State's obligations to our teachers and our other public school employes.

We will support legislation that will give our teachers a salary schedule comparable to schedules in other surrounding states. We will support the continuance and expansion of what has been accomplished since World War II in the fields of public health, mental health, and child care. We will want to maintain the Commonwealth's program for the needy, the aged, the blind, the crippled, and the mentally deficient and do whatever possible to improve them.

All of these humanitarian obligations must be met and met squarely.

The Republican party stands pledged to enact an effective FEPC bill. We will carry out that pledge. And I quote today from the Republican platform.

> The Republican platform said that "The Republican party in Pennsylvania pledges vigorous action for the immediate enactment of effective FEPC legislation."

A Republican-controlled House passed an FEPC bill during the last session. The Republican party is pledged to keep faith with the working men and working women in Pennsylvania, to foster further progress in maintaining better working conditions, improve protection for those unable to work due to unemployment or injury on the job or from occupational diseases.

Certainly we will give full support to legislation to provide adequate protection for those out of work through no fault of their own.

We will join the majority in immediately suggesting that steps be taken to prevent a reduction in unemployment benefits so that those out of work will not suffer.

The Republican party is pledged to a continuing policy of sound financing of governmental economy which, as everyone knows, is the main problem facing the 1955 General Assembly.

In all of these things the Republicans will be evermindful that what we do will be be of great benefit or great harm to the people.

These things were not brought today to the attention of this House with any idea of showing partisanship in any way. I assume, and probably wrongfully so, that the Governor was still working on his inaugural speech. We did this in good faith, we thought that possibly if he would know how we in the House stood on some of these basic principles, it might help him to make an easier speech or a better speech tomorrow. It might help him to give a better platform tomorrow.

Unfortunately, I see, as I must repeat, that it has been released to the newspapers, and I want to assure you, I want to assure the Governor, that what we are doing is not on a partisanship basis in any sense of the word. It is for the betterment of the citizens of our Commonwealth, and we as the Republicans in the House have that one main and basic idea in mind. That is what we are going to work for and, if humanly possible, we will not let partisanship interfere in any way whatsoever in anything that would benefit the citizens of our great state.

Mr. READINGER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I have not had the advantage of reading the statements in the newspapers to which the Minority Leader refers, but I do wish to thank the Minority Leader at this time for the remarks he has just made in relation to the spirit of cooperation which he is extending to this side of the House.

I am glad to hear that, because we have many and difficult problems to deal with during this session. We will need your cooperation in many instances and we will expect your opposition in other instances. That is only as it should be. We hope that you will see eye to eye with us in the program that the Democratic party will evolve for legislation during this session, but we certainly can not expect you to agree with us on everything. When you oppose a measure, we will assume that you do so in all sincerity and with good reason, and we will do our best to persuade you that our course of action is right.

I wish to assure the Minority Leader now that all of the courtesies which have been extended between the two sides for the past many years will certainly be extended to the minority side this session.

We have many deep and serious problems with which we must deal during this session. It is our hope that the Members will be diligent in their attendance at the sessions when they are scheduled so that we do not have to unduly delay because we do not have enough Members here to take up important measures. I know that the minority will accept this responsibility as well as the majority in that respect and will be in their seats when legislation is being considered.

In the very near future, probably next week, I intend to request the House to allow the Democratic platform of 1954 to be entered in the Journal of this House so that the public, as well as the Members, may have easy access to it, because I assure you that the Democratic party intends to fulfill every promise made in the platform of 1954.

I will invite at that time the minority party to also introduce its platform so that the public may judge at the end of the 1955 session whether or not the minority has lived up to its own promises.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I would just like to remind the Majority Leader that I think he will find the Minority in agreement with putting both platforms in as a matter of record, but the now minority is fortunately in one other position. It is unfortunate that we cannot have all of the campaign promises that the majority made during the heat of the campaign entered into the legislative records. I think it will probably be far more important to enter those than it would to enter the platform.

We are not only going to ask the majority to adhere to its platform pledges, but we have kept a record of their campaign promises. We would also like to ask them to adhere to their campaign promises.

RESOLUTION

AMENDING HOUSE RULE 27

Mr. READINGER asked and obtained unanimous consent to offer a resolution which was read as follows:

In the House of Representatives, January 17, 1955.

Resolved, That House Rule 27, paragraph four, is hereby amended by adding

A committee on
Child Care to consist of 20 members,

And a committee on
Judiciary Special to consist of 9 members.

Paragraph four is hereby amended by striking out the committee on

Cities-Counties, First-Second and Second Class A to consist of 20 members, and inserting in lieu thereof two committees as follows:

Cities-Counties—First Class to consist of 20 members.

Cities-Counties—Second and Second Class A to consist of 20 members.

Paragraph four is hereby amended by reducing the number of members on the Committee on Eletcions and Apportionment from 15 members to 9 members.

Paragraph four is hereby amended by striking out the committee on

Game and Forestry to consist of 20 members and inserting in lieu thereof a committee on Conservation and Wild Life to consist of 20 members.

The SPEAKER. This is not a privileged resolution and will be laid over under the Rules.

APPOINTMENT OF COMMITTEE ON RULES

The SPEAKER. The Chair announces the appointment of the following House Committee on Rules:

Messrs. Stank, Chairman, Readinger, Sarraf, Kolankiewicz and Breth.

REPORT OF SLATE COMMITTEE

Mr. STANK offered a resolution which was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, January 17, 1955.

REPORT OF JOINT STATE GOVERNMENT COMMISSION

SCHOOL HEALTH SERVICES

Mr. ROYER presented the following communication and report from the Joint State Government Commission.

The communication was read by the Clerk as follows:

January 17, 1955.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

On behalf of the Joint State Government Commission, I have the honor to transmit herewith A Report of the Joint State Government Commission, Session of 1955, dealing with "School Health Services."

A copy of this report was mailed to each member of the House of Representatives on January 5, 1955.

Respectfully submitted,

BAKER ROYER,
Chairman.

(For Report see Appendix)

INAUGURAL COMMITTEE

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, the Inaugural Committee of the House of Representatives is as follows:

Messrs. Lovett, Chairman, Sarraf, Mills, Snider, Cochran, Wheeler, Robert K. Hamilton, Kolankiewicz, Williams, Pettigrew, Amarando, Filo, Mrs. Susie Monroe, Messrs. Rovansek, Kubacki, Charles C. Smith, Johnson, Kent, Wood and Hewitt.

These gentlemen have received letters but some of them do not pay too much attention to letters, so we are notifying you that you should read that letter and use your tickets for entrance to the Capitol building tomorrow morning.

ANNOUNCEMENTS BY SPEAKER

The SPEAKER. At ten o'clock tomorrow morning the main capitol building will be closed. Corridors will be cleared of all visitors, and the Pennsylvania State Police will assume charge of the building. It is, therefore, important that all Members, officers and employes of the House be present in the building before 10 a. m.

The SPEAKER. The Chair desires the Majority Leader and the Minority Leader to ascertain sentiment in their respective caucuses regarding a change in the hour of meeting on Mondays.

There is no united opinion, I imagine, on either side of the main aisle. Some of the majority party members of the House prefer 4:30, others prefer 9:00. We have not taken a count of noses and we have no way of knowing what the sentiment on the minority side is.

So the Chair would request the Minority and the Majority Floor Leaders as early as is convenient for them to ascertain what the sentiment is in their respective caucuses regarding the time for meeting on Mondays. We will undoubtedly be guided by the majority opinion as we find it revealed by the figures reported.

We will, of course, meet tomorrow. We will not meet on Wednesday. When we adjourn, we will adjourn until Monday, next.

SENATE MESSAGE

TIME OF NEXT MEETING

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced presented an extract from the Journal of the Senate, which was read as follows:

In the Senate, January 17, 1955.

Resolved, (if the House of Representatives concur), That when the Senate adjourns this week, it reconvene on Monday, January 24, 1955, at four o'clock p. m., and when the House of Representatives adjourns this week, it reconvene on Monday, January 24, 1955, four-thirty o'clock p. m.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for its concurrence.

On the question,

Will the House concur in the resolution of the Senate?

It was concurred in.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

If the Chair remembers, when he was made Speaker of this House he said that the Minority Leader was just a babe in the woods as far as being a Minority Leader was concerned, and I can assure the Speaker he is perfectly correct. I can assure the Speaker that the Minority Leader hopes that he will only be a babe in the woods for a period of two years. He will then, maybe, get back to what he is more experienced in, in being Speaker of this House.

Now the Minority Leader would like to give some advice to the Speaker of the House, who we feel is just a babe in the woods as being a Speaker. I noticed during the last meeting of the House that two gavels were broken. I do not want to say how expensive they are, because the taxpayers might be shocked to see the wastefulness that the now majority party has already started. I know that the majority party is certainly economy minded. I might state—and I say this with some pride—that the last Speaker of the House went through an entire Session without even cracking a gavel.

I might say that if the Speaker would care to come up to the third floor rear, which is now the minority's office, I will show him the proper use of a gavel, how it should be used, so that he can save the taxpayers money and not break any more gavels.

The SPEAKER. The Chair thanks the Minority Leader, and assures him that he would much prefer cracking a gavel to cracking a majority.

In line with the suggestion made by the Minority Leader, as he knows and as he tells the Chair, there was a very, very, very able Speaker of this House in times gone by who had the good sense to preside not with a trinket of this kind, but with a bung starter.

I assure the Minority Leader that if he will bring to the Chair one of the old-style, sturdy, hardy bung-starters, we will give it a trial here at the desk.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. AGNEW. Mr. Speaker, I move that this House do now adjourn until Tuesday, January 18, 1955 at 10:00 a. m.

The motion was agreed to, and (at 5:21 p. m.) the House adjourned.

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

Legislative Journal.

Session 1955. 141st of the General Assembly.

Vol. 34. HARRISBURG, PA., TUESDAY, JANUARY 18, 1955. No. 3.

SENATE

TUESDAY, JANUARY 18, 1955

The Senate met at 10:00 o'clock, a. m., Eastern Standard Time.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore (M. Harvey Taylor) in the Chair.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The Session will be opened with prayer. I don't need to remind the Senators again, when they come into Harrisburg on Sunday, to start the week right and come down to the Market Square Presbyterian Church.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. ROBERT H. STEPHENS, D.D., Pastor of the Market Square Presbyterian Church, Harrisburg, offered the following prayer:

Let us pray.

Our Father God, as we meet at the beginning of a new administration, we would remind ourselves that Thy administration never changes; that age after age Thou dost rule in righteousness, govern us in love, care for us in mercy, and inspire us with truth and goodness. We give Thee praise for Thy faithfulness that is without end.

We unite all our hearts in prayer for the new Governor, for the Lieutenant-Governor and for all the members of the Cabinet. Endow them plentifully with wisdom and courage. Keep them in health and in heart. Use them as the instruments of Thy will in serving the people of this Commonwealth.

We thank Thee for the good will and kindly spirit already revealed in this Senate. May that spirit permeate all the deliberations of this body, to the glory of Thy Name, the good of the Commonwealth and the everlasting credit of free government.

And to Thee be glory and power for ever and ever, Amen.

UNITED STATES SENATOR EDWARD MARTIN PRESENTED TO SENATE

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. At this time, the Chair takes pleasure in presenting to the Senate the Honorable Edward Martin, United States Senator from Pennsylvania.

Everybody knows him; he is one of the real great United States Senators.

REMARKS BY UNITED STATES SENATOR EDWARD MARTIN

SENATOR EDWARD MARTIN. Mr. President, I am very highly honored to be presented to this wonderful group by your distinguished Presiding Officer.

Harve, I am going to say something that I have probably never even said to you, as close as you and I have been over the years. One of the ambitions of my life was to serve in the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. When that time came when I could have been elected as a member of this great body, back some 35 years ago, I decided I would get entirely out of politics and so I did not accept it. But, really, I have always regretted it, because I have considered this one of the greatest legislative bodies of America. I appreciate being invited.

What a great country it is. I did everything that I could toward nominating another candidate for Governor. However, we are all here together, and we will support the new Governor in every possible way when the things are for the benefit of this fine Commonwealth.

I could not help being impressed with the great prayer that we just heard. I am going down on the sunset side of life very rapidly, and I am realizing more every day that what America needs more than the material and cultural is the spiritual side. That is the only way we will be able to conquer the terrible hoards that now oppose our way of life throughout the world.

I have been greatly impressed always, Harve, with this great body. Thank you very much for introducing me to it.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. I want to make a prediction. When Senator Martin gets out of politics, there will have to be a lilly in his hand. Of course, we admit that this is a greater body than the United States Senate, but it is nice to have him say it.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. A quorum of the Senate being present, the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. MAHANY and Mr. PECHAN, further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

RESOLUTION

COMMITTEE BE APPOINTED TO WAIT UPON THE HONORABLE JOHN INGHRAM HOOK

Mr. BARR, on behalf of Mr. BANE, offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, January 18, 1955.

Resolved, That a committee of three Senators be appointed to wait upon the Honorable John Inghram Hook, President Judge of the Court of Common Pleas of Greene County, and escort him to the Senate Chamber for the purpose of administering the oath of office to the Honorable Roy E. Furman, Lieutenant-Governor-elect.

COMMITTEE APPOINTED

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The Chair wishes to announce the appointment of the following committee to wait upon the Honorable John Inghram Hook, President Judge of the Court of Common Pleas of Greene County, and escort him to the Senate Chamber: the gentlemen from Washington, Mr. aLne; the gentleman from Fayette, Mr. Bane; and the gentleman from Somerset, Mr. Whalley.

RESOLUTION

COMMITTEE BE APPOINTED TO WAIT UPON THE LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR-ELECT

Mr. DENT offered the following resolution, which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, January 18, 1955.

Resolved, That a committee of three Senators be appointed to wait upon the Honorable Roy E. Furman, Lieutenant-Governor-elect, and escort him to the Senate Chamber to take the oath and assume the duties of the office.

COMMITTEE APPOINTED

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The Chair at this time wishes to announce the appointment of the following committee to wait upon the Honorable Roy E. Furman, Lieutenant-Governor-elect: the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Dent; the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Barr; and the gentleman from Crawford, Mr. Mahany.

CONGRESSMAN FRANCIS E. WALTER PRESENTED TO SENATE

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, it is a pleasure at this time to present to the Senate the Congressman from my District, the Honorable Francis E. Walter.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. I think Congressman Walter is as well known among the Republicans as I am among the Democrats. He is one of the outstanding Democrats of Pennsylvania in the Republican book.

(The Senate was at ease.)

GOVERNOR-ELECT GEORGE M. LEADER PRESENTED TO SENATE

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. At this time, the Chair has the distinct privilege of presenting to the Members of the Senate and their guests the Honorable George M. Leader, Governor-elect of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

REMARKS BY GOVERNOR-ELECT GEORGE M. LEADER

GOVERNOR-ELECT GEORGE M. LEADER. Mr. President and my colleagues in the Senate, friends and all the well-wishers of my good friend, Roy Furman, the Lieutenant-Governor-elect, I cannot tell you how proud and happy I am to be here to participate in this ceremony today. I think I can say honestly and sincerely that I never had a happier association with any body of men than I had with you good men who are sitting out there inside the railing.

I hope we are going to continue our friendship; I hope that we together can do great things for the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and I hope that you are going to be happy in your association with my good friend, Roy Furman, whom we are honoring here today. Thanks so much.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE TO WAIT UPON THE HONORABLE JOHN INGHRAM HOOK

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The Chair recognies the Sergeant-at-Arms.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, the committee named by the Senate to escort the Lieutenant-Governor-elect to the Senate Chamber has performed its duty, and the Lieutenant-Governor-elect is present.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The committee is discharged with the thanks of the Senate.

CERTIFICATE OF ELECTION OF LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR

Whereupon, the certificate of the election of the Honorable Roy E .Furman, as Lieutenant-Governor was read by the Chief Clerk of the Senate as follows:

In the Name and by Authority of the

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY IN JOINT SESSION

Harrisburg, January 4, 1955.

We, the President of the Senate and Speaker of the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, do certify that the President of the Senate, did, on the fourth day of January, A.D. one thousand nine hundred and fifty-five, in the Hall of the House of Representatives at the State Capitol, open the returns of the election for Lieutenant-Governor of this Commonwealth, and publish the same in the presence of both Houses of the General Assembly, conformably to the provisions of the Constittuion and laws of said Commonwealth and upon counting the votes by a teller appointed on the part of each House, it appeared that Roy E. Furman had the highest number of votes; whereupon the said Roy E. Furman was declared to have been duly elected Lieutenant-Governor of the Commonwealth.

In testimony whereof, we have hereunto set our hands and affixed our seals the day and year above written.

LLOYD H. WOOD,
President of the Senate

HIRAM G. ANDREWS,
Speaker of the House of Representatives

HENRY J PROPERT,
Teller on the part of the Senate

MARION L MUNLEY,
Teller on the part of the House of Representatives

ADMINISTRATION OF OATH TO LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR-ELECT

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The oath of office to the Honorable Roy E. Furman, Lieutenant-Governor-Elect of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania will be administered by the Honorable John Inghram Hook, President Judge of the Court of Common Pleas of Greene County.

(Whereupon, the oath of office was duly administered to the Honorable Roy E. Furman by the Honorable John Inghram Hook, President Judge of the Court of Common Pleas of Greene County.)

GAVEL PRESENTED TO LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR ROY E. FURMAN

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. It is my privilege at this time to present the gavel of authority of the Senate to the Lieutenant-Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR ROY E. FURMAN. Thank you, Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Roy E. Furman) in the Chair.

INAUGURAL ADDRESS OF LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR ROY E. FURMAN

LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR ROY E. FURMAN. Mr. President, Governor-elect Leader, Members of the Senate and fellow citiezns, I take this opportunity, with my first words as an elected official of our Commonwealth, to thank my fellow Pennsylvanians for the honor bestowed upon me today. I am grateful to you for it and I now accept my duties and responsibilities with a deep sense of humility, and a desire to serve all the people of our great State ably and well. Everyone, regardless of their race, color, religion, political faith or their station in life will receive from me and from my office the same treatment I would expect from you, were you the incumbent of this office.

In the Senate, you will often differ on methods and policies, but you will generally agree on purposes. And often your disagreements and your arguments and your debates will bring forth better methods and better policies for the benefit of all of us in this Commonwealth.

A tremendous and a difficult job lies ahead for the new administration during the next four years, and for the Senate and the House of Representatives in this Session now beginning. But that has always been true, and these problems have generally been met and solved with wisdom and foresight.

From my experience, as a legislator in the House of Representatives, and as I observe the membership of this Senate, I know that there are men here who have the experience, the knowledge, the wisdom, the foresightedness, the courage and the statesmanship to solve the problems confronting us. You can do this with credit and honor to yourselves, and with the general approval of all of our citizens.

As the President of this Senate, I intend to preside honestly and fairly and in accordance with parliamentary procedure. I believe in freedom of speech, and that every Senator has a right to be heard as long as the proper rules are adhered to. No favoritism will be granted, neither will any discrimination be practiced. My policy will be to preside with dignity, composure and impartiality. If we all play the game squarely, much good will be accomplished and our electorate will be satisfied.

In years past, it has been my observation that too often one party will oppose good legislation when it is proposed by the other one. I have seen this practiced by each great party. That is not good policy; neither does it resemble statesmanship in any degree. It is politics of the lowest order. We are all classed as politicians when we are a part of government, and let me now make this further observation—the best government is good politics and the best politics is good government.

The public today is well informed. They must always be kept advised and consulted concerning the problems facing us. No other method will suffice. You can all be easily led in the right direction but we can only be temporarily fooled.

It ill behooves any politician, or legislative body, or any administration or political party by slick legislative practices or unsavory administrative orders to try to mislead the people. For any political party or individual to perpetuate themselves in office, they must first be honest and frank, they must be intelligent in their approach to the problems of government and they must produce results that can stand the test of time.

There are many monumental problems facing this Legislature. Many of them are duties required by our Constitution; others are just as necessary and as demanding and must be solved. We have an enormous tax problem; an almost burdensome school program; an ever increasing highway demand; and an ever enlarging and demanding health and welfare responsibility. The greatest and number one situation facing us today is unemployment, and the methods we must devise to create a great industrial empire in Pennsylvania, which will eventually place our people back on a self-supporting basis and on a pay roll where they belong. These problems, plus many others of a lesser nature, can and will be solved by this Legislature and this new administration. If we will all use our mental resources and our abilities, and resolve that through all our cooperative efforts we intend to make this the greatest State of them all, then Pennsylvania, which is now great, will be even greater.

RESOLUTION

THANKS OF THE SENATE EXTENDED TO THE HONORABLE JOHN INGHRAM HOOK

Mr. LANE offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to.

In the Senate, January 18, 1955.

Resolved, That the thanks of the Senate are hereby tendered to the Honorable John Inghram Hook, President Judge of the Court of Common Pleas of Greene County, for his services in administering the oath of office to the Honorable Roy E. Furman, Lieutenant-Governor.

GEORGE M. LEADER.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, January 17, 1955.

To the Honorable, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

In conformity with law, I have the honor hereby to nominate for the advice and consent of the Senate the following:

JUSTICE OF THE PEACE

A. H. Shughart, North Baltimore Avenue, Mount Holly Springs, Cumberland County, for appointment as Justice of the Peace in and for the Borough of Mount Holly Springs, Cumberland County, until the first Monday of January 1956, to fill a vacancy.

JOHN S. FINE.

INTERROGATION

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Bucks, Mr. Watson.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Bucks, Mr. Watson. permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WATSON. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. BARR. Was the nomination of General Anthony J. Drexel Biddle, Jr., for appointment as Adjutant General, read by the Clerk as having been reported from committee?

Mr. WATSON. I am sorry, Senator. That is my mistake.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE ON EXECUTIVE NOMINATIONS

Mr. WATSON, from the Committee on Executive Nominations, reported with a favorable recommendation the following nomination, made by His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth:

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governo'r Office, Harrisburg, January 18, 1955.

To the Honorable, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

In conformity with law, I have the honor hereby to nominate for the advice and consent of the Senate the following:

ADJUTANT GENERAL

Anthony J. Drexel Biddle, Jr., Philadelphia, Philadelphia County, for appointment at Adjutant General, to serve until the third Tuesday of January 1959, and until his successor shall have been appointed and qualified, vice Frank A Weber.

GEORGE M. LEADER.

NOMINATION BY THE GOVERNOR LAID ON THE TABLE

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I would ask that the nomination of Anthony J. Drexel Biddle, Jr., for appointment as Adjutant General, be laid on the table. In so doing, I want to explain to the Members of the Senate, and to the guests of the Senate today, my reason for doing this.

Mr. President, General Biddle is now with the Department of Defense in our National Government, and he is assisting General Ridgeway in making the budget for the Department of Defense and will not be available to take his position until sometime later, which is really indefinite. It may be late March before he will be able to come to Harrisburg.

The PRESIDENT. The Senate has heard the request of the gentleman from Allegheny. Is there any objection? The Chair hears none, and the nomination of Anthony

J. Drexel Biddle, Jr., for appointment as Adjutant General, will be laid on the table.

CONSIDERATION OF EXECUTIVE NOMINATIONS

Mr. WATSON, asked and obtained unanimous consent for immediate consideration of the nominations reported at today's Session.

EXECUTIVE SESSION

A motion was made by Mr. WATSON and Mr. BLASS,

That the Senate do now resolve itself into Executive Session, for the purpose of acting upon the nominations reported at today's session.

NOMINATIONS RETURNED TO THE GOVERNOR

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I move that the nominations just read by the Clerk be returned to the Governor.

Mr. BARR, Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The PRESIDENT. The nominations will be returned to the Governor.

(The Senate was at ease.)

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, I want to remind our Lieutenant-Governor and our many visitors here today that something happened in this Chamber this morning that was most unusual. That was when our Lieutenant-Governor was sworn in here. I have been told by reliable authorities that he is the only man who has ever presided over both the House and the Senate of this Commonwealth .

Mr. President, I have not gone clear back to the beginning, but if there was someone who had that honor before, it happened very rarely. I am very glad that this honor has come to a man from western Pennsylvania and a Democrat. I can assure every Republican on this floor that this President of the Senate will be as kind, and courteous and as fair to you as Lloyd H. Wood has been fair to us over here in the past.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair wishes to thank the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator McGinnis, and I personally would like to know. I have heard that, but I am not sure; I would like to have the record checked so we would know the correct answer to that question.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now adjourn until Monday, January 24, 1955, at 4:00 o'clock, p. m., Eastern Standard Time.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The Senate adjourned at 3:42 o'clock, p. m., Eastern Standard Time, until Monday, January 24, 1955, at 4:00 o'clock, p. m., Eastern Standard Time.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

TUESDAY, January 18, 1955

The House met at 10:00 a. m.

The SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Reverend Harold J. Crouse, offered the following prayer:

We thank Thee, O God, for the land we call our own. At this moment on this day of Inauguration the Governor-elect, the Senators and Representatives of the people of this great Commonwealth implore Thy help and guidance. Grant, O most loving Father, they may ever be mindful of their need of Thee, the Giver of all that is right and good. Grant that all of us working together shall ever be determined to make it the kind of land it ought to be. Bless us in all that is right, and correct us in all that is wrong. Now may the peace and mercy of God the Father, God the Son, and God the Holy Spirit rest and abide upon us and guide us into the way of all truth. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVAL POSTPONED

The SPEAKER. Are there any corrections to the Journal of Monday, January 17, 1955?

Mr. HELM. Mr. Speaker, I move that the approval of the Journal for Monday, January 17, 1955 be postponed until the Journal is in print.

The motion was agreed to.

LEAVES OF ABSENCE

The SPEAKER. If there are no objections, the Chair will dispense with Leaves of Absence for today. The Chair hears none.

RESOLUTION

CONGRATULATIONS

Mr BROWN offered a resolution which was read, considered and unanimously adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, January 18, 1955.

T. Luke Toomey, Representative from Perry County, celebrates his forty-first birthday anniversary on this eighteenth day of January. Representative Toomey has proven by his outstanding patriotism and citizenship in both war and peace that he is worthy of the highest admiration, and this is honorably reflected by his election to serve a fifth consecutive term as Representative from Perry County; therefore be it

Resolved, That this House of Representatives hereby congratulates Representative Toomey on his birthday anniversary and extends to him its wishes for many more pleasant anniversaries in the future; and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of this House deliver a copy of this resolution to Representative T. Luke Toomey.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Perry, Mr. Toomey.

Mr. TOOMEY. Mr. Speaker, I wish to thank the gentleman from Chester County for his fine words and kind thoughts on my twenty-ninth birthday.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Perry give the Chair his formula for age?

ANNOUNCEMENT BY SPEAKER

The SPEAKER. We are operating this morning on a close schedule. Some of you, I have no doubt, intend braving the elements and moving in a body from this Hall to the scene of the inaugural.

At 11:05 the Sergeant-at-Arms will marshall the column that is to go from the Hall of the House. The Chair would suggest that those who intend moving in the group to march to the scene of the inaugural, that they secure their hats and coats and put them on their desks, and that they do that now and return within a period of, let us say, ten minutes. The House will be at ease until those who desire to secure their garments have had the opportunity to do so.

The SPEAKER. The Chair requests the Minority Leader to preside over the deliberations of the House during the remainder of the session, beginning now.

MR. CHARLES C. SMITH IN THE CHAIR.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Before the present Speaker leaves, I would like the record to show evidence that we now have another broken gavel which has just been handed to me.

Members, friends and relatives, or any other persons in the Hall of the House, who have inaugural tickets are requested to go to the stands now. They will not be permitted to accompany the members in the line of march to the ceremonies. If the Members have any relatives or friends who have inaugural tickets, who would like to leave the Hall of the House now, it is permissible.

If any Members of the House Inaugural Committee are present in the House at this time, they are requested to report to the Governor's Reception Room immediately, through the door at the left of the Speaker's rostrum.

The Chair will announce the names of the Inaugural Committee: Messrs. Lovett, Chairman, Sarraf, Snider, Mills, Cochran, Wheeler, Robert K. Hamilton, Kolankiewicz, Williams, Pettigrew, Amarando, Filo, Mrs. Monroe, Messrs. Rovansek, Kubacki, Charles C. Smith, Johnson, Kent, Wood and Hewitt.

The Sergeant-at-Arms will take the Mace and go to his station in the center aisle for the purpose of escorting Members and Officers of the House to the Post Office entrance at the rear of the House to await instructions from the State Police when to proceed for the inaugural ceremonies.

The Chief Clerk and the Secretary of the House will take their places directly behind the Sergeant-at-Arms.

The Members of the House will assemble in the center aisle, forming a line of twos behind the Officers of the House. Only Members are to form in line. Relatives and friends will not be passed into the stand if they are in the line with the Members.

RECESS

The SPEAKER pro tempore. If there is no objection, the Chair will declare a recess until 4:30 p. m. The Chair hears none, and a recess is declared.

AFTER RECESS

The SPEAKER pro tempore (CHARLES C. SMITH) IN THE CHAIR.

SCHICKSHINNY HIGH SCHOOL BAND WELCOMED

The SPEAKER pro tempore. We are privileged to have with us today the Shickshinny High School band. We also have with us their leader, Joe Gentili. They are guests of Representative Curwood of Luzerne County. If the band feels like striking up a number, let us have something real good.

Mr. GENTILI. Before we do play a selection, I would like to introduce the young lady who has been at the head of our band as Head Majorette for the past three years. She is none other than the daughter of one of your Members here, Representative Curwood's daughter, Sally Curwood.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The House welcomes the lady from Luzerne.

Miss CURWOOD. Thank you very much. It is a privilege to be here.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair might say that the lady's mother must be very good looking because we know the lady's father.

Mr. CURWOOD. Mr. Speaker, I won't object to anything now.

Music by the band.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair thanks the Director and the Band.

Mr. CURWOOD. I would like to thank the Speaker of the House for the courtesy extended my band, and I would like to thank Joe for playing for us, and the kids, too.

PERMISSION TO ADD ADDITIONAL SPONSORS

Mr. POLEN asked and obtained unanimous consent to add additional sponsors to a resolution to be introduced by him.

RESOLUTION

CONDOLENCE

Messrs. POLEN, FLYNN, WILLIAMS, CAPANO and McCANN offered a resolution which was read, considered and unanimously adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, January 18, 1595.

Whereas, the Honorable J. William Lane, a former member of this House, from Washington County, and father of the present distinguished member of the Senate, the Honorable William J. Lane, died on Monday January 3, 1955, at the age of eighty-one years; and

Whereas, Mr. Lane's long and exemplary life was an example of the highest traditions of American life; and

Whereas, Mr. Lane with his wife, Alice Pursglove Lane, not only reared a large family of nine children, but was active in public life, having been elected justice of the peace in the Borough of West Brownsville, as well as member of this House; and

Whereas, Mr. Lane's death is a great loss to his many friends as well as to his wife and children; therefore be it

Resolved, That this House of Representatives extend its sincere sympathies to the family of the late J. William Lane, in their hour of great loss and sorrow; and be it further Resolved, That copies of this resolution be sent to Mrs. Alice Pursglove Lane, the Honorable William J. Lane and to other members of the family of the late J. William Lane.

CONGRESSMAN WELCOMED

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The House is honored today to have with us as a guest, Congressman James Fulton, of Allegheny County. He is the guest of the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Thompson.

The Chair is happy to announce he is a Republican Congressman.

COMMUNICATION FROM GOVERNOR

APPOINTMENT OF SECRETARY TO GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced presented a communication from the Governor which was read as follows:

Governor's Office, Harrisburg
January 18, 1955.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I have the honor to inform you that I have appointed David V. Randall, Lykens, Dauphin County, to be Secretary to the Governor.

GEORGE M. LEADER.

COMMUNICATION FROM GOVERNOR

INAUGURAL ADDRESS

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

Governor's Office, Harrisburg
January 18, 1955.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I transmit herewith for your information a copy of my Inaugural Address delivered today.

GEORGE M. LEADER

INAUGURAL ADDRESS OF GOVERNOR LEADER PRINTED IN JOURNAL

Mr. READINGER. I move that the Inaugural Address of His Excellency, The Governor, The Honorable George M. Leader be printed in full in this Day's Legislative Journal.

The motion was agreed to.

INAUGURAL ADDRESS OF GOVERNOR GEORGE M. LEADER

My Fellow Pennsylvanians:

Inauguration as Governor of Pennsylvania is a proud, a solemn thing.

I would not be frank if I did not confess a stirring in my heart and a challenge, bold and emphatic, in my spirit. This is a post I sought; this is an opportunity I asked of my fellow Pennsylvanians. And the people of Pennsylvania gave it to me.

Today, when I take office by their vote, I owe them the performance they were promised. With God's help, I will work unremittingly in my term of office, sparing nothing of my strength, to accomplish the full scope of the program for Pennsylvania which we set forth as my pledge and the pledge of the Democratic party.

That program, in its essence, is a simple one.

It is the assemblage of the great resources of this state, of the energetic people of this state, of the wisdom and the hope and the God-given intelligence of our leadership in every phase of community endeavor, into a common effort which will benefit us all.

Our great, our over-riding concern, is the economy of Pennsylvania.

Our effort is to find in that economy the source of a rising living standard, the full employment of our people, the provision of an environment which will bring today's opportunities to every home and every child in Pennsylvania.

I ask you today—you who wish me well, you who will work with me—to lift up your sights, to think of government as something more than a dreary contest for power and privilege, to think of our obligation to our present trust and to our future hope.

Pennsylvania through the years has made great progress, no matter who was governor or what party was in control. The energy of its people assures that much; the interplay of ideas, the effect of our enterprise, will bring us forward even when official leadership may fail.

But I take office in the conviction that we can do more —much more.

It is my belief that there is a great potential of leadership in this sprawling framework of state government; that the stately words "Commonwealth of Pennsylvania" mean something more than a commission to an office or a party to a trial.

I intend to do all that is in me to summon up that leadership; to make it effective; to make it helpful; to make it imaginative and alert to the problems of the people of this state.

I see the state government as the co-worker and friendly partner of local governments and community agencies everywhere in Pennsylvania, helping them to develop their resources and overcome their obstacles.

I see the state government as a vigorous spokesman for Pennsylvania before the Congress and the National Administration, acting quickly to protect our people's interests, calling on Federal agencies to treat us fairly, alerting the nation to Pennsylvania problems which have national implications and with which we cannot deal alone.

I see the state government as the helpful friend of business and of labor, of the city and farm, as an agency which exists to help the people do, as Abraham Lincoln said, what they cannot do for themselves acting individually.

Good government acts to prevent injustice, to prevent exploitation, to guard the humble against oppression by the strong.

But, in a sense, those things are negatives.

As this administration will see it, this state government will also be a positive force for accomplishment. We will not sit by, wringing our hands while any phase of our community life deteriorates, or while whole regions slip into stagnation, chronic unemployment, and decay.

We consider that we have a positive mandate to act.

We will carry out that mandate.

We will act in the fields of social progress, the things of humane concern such as public health, the care of retarded children and the mentally ill, the advancement of public education, the prevention of discrimination among our people.

We will act to conserve and to develop for our wise use the natural resources of our state, to purify its streams, to increase its opportunities for outdoor recreation, to keep a sense of the forest and the field in our lives. The more complex, the more urban, our civiliaztion becomes, the more we must preserve our right to restore ourselves by contact with the land and the water as God bequeathed them to us.

But all these good things have their source in one great fundamental—the enduring prosperity of the people of the state; the development of constantly increasing employment opportunities in our economy for today's population and the rising population of tomorrow.

We must face the fact that growth and development are not automatic. We are in competition with other states and other regions. The relative growth pattern in this country is not necessarily favorable to us. We cannot depend upon the simple course of nature to protect us. We grew on a traditional energy source—coal. Others now share with us the newer energy sources—oil, natural gas and the atom. We have in too many instances an aging industrial plant—newer industrial areas often gain an advantage in more efficient facilities.

To this date, we have not made a co-ordinated statewide effort to provide plant sites. Our effort—private and public—to attract new industry has not been emphasized enough, not been supported enough; it has been altogether too little.

But it is certainly not too late.

I pledge you today that the primary work of this administration will be to make Pennsylvania a good competitor—a winning competitor. This state must do more than hold its own. It must rescue its areas of distress; it must gain its proportional share of our national expansion.

This governor will be proud to be a salesman, an advocate, for Pennsylvania.

In that work, I am sure I will be joined by every Pennsylvanian.

In human affairs, there are times of passive resignation, of acceptance. In the stress of our daily lives, we may ignore community problems, regard them as something for others to solve or to ignore as they will.

Then of a sudden, a flame is kindled, an example set, an impulse stirred. That has happened in Pennsylvania.

Our period of passivity is ended.

Our time of flame, of concentrated endeavor, of tireless, ceaseless work has now begun.

For the four years of this administration, and I hope for unnumbered years to come, this will be the theme of the state government and those who staff its agencies.

The governorship confers on me the titular leadership of my party—the Democratic party—in the state. I intend to exercise that leadership as boldly and as strongly as I can, so that our party meets its responsibilities, redeems its pledges, and is an effective instrument for Pennsylvania's progress.

I have every confidence that our party will not fail our program or the state.

Nor, while I concede cheerfully the right of the opposition to oppose, do I believe the Republican party will adopt a policy of willful or malicious obstruction. I have too much confidence in Americans, regardless of their party, to fear their basic attitudes on grave matters of public interest. Particularly, I know my former colleagues in the Senate, men with whom I served.

I cannot conceive that they will not unite with us in the cause of Pennsylvania's future.

We may have differences. We'll try to thresh them out. Where our views cannot be reconciled, we will have a mutual right to ask the people to judge between us.

It is known to us all that the state faces a crisis in its own structure. The outgoing Governor, who shares this platform today, told the Legislature a week or so ago, that his predecessor in office had not informed him of the burdens he was passing on, of the commitments made, the funds pledged, the lack of revenue to meet the state's need.

I will plead no such surprise, because we campaigned on the statement that the succession of Republican administrations had each practiced some deception of the people and each other—that, in effect, the new administration would be a receiver in bankruptcy.

I must say today, however, that it is even worse than we thought.

As we must now forecast the deficit for this biennium, it will come to a staggering total of approximately $86,000,000. That huge deficit must be financed in the budget which the Legislature will adopt for the biennium that is ahead.

The budget figures for the coming biennium, compiled by the outgoing administration, including the current deficit, indicate that the state's revenue would be more than $500,000,000 short of covering its expenditures. Even if the general sales tax were re-enacted, the revenue would still be $400,000,000 short.

Two things are obvious:

The general sales tax enacted by the 1955 Legislature does not produce even a scant fourth of the amount needed to cover the state's income shortage.

And secondly the people, in what amounted to a referendum in the governorship campaign, instructed us to let the general sales tax die.

And die it will!

Our first task will be to revise the budget figures assembled by the outgoing administration, and to cut them wherever it is possible. We have developed plans which I will submit to our new department heads for reducing operating costs. We are planning a revitalized and more stringent administration of our revenue department to increase our tax income.

But I cannot be so optimistic as to predict that these measures will solve our basic problem.

Past legislatures have made enormous commitments which are now the pledged faith of the state, and it has not enacted a tax program that is adequate to raise the money to honor those commitments.

That is the recipe for bankruptcy.

And, as might be expected, this administration inherits the full impact of a reckless fiscal policy in which each Republican governor in turn, and each Republican Legislature, followed a policy of "after us, the deluge."

Well, the deluge is on.

But the people did not elect us, did not change their government after sixteen years, so that we could rake over the past and bemoan our bad luck.

They elected us to solve the problem, and solve it we must and will.

It is our plain duty to attack the problem of the state's services and the state's finances all along the line. We can tolerate no more postponement. We must provide an answer, and it must be an answer which the people of the state are willing to accept.

For my part, I will oppose half measures.

And I suggest to our Republican colleagues that, inasmuch as their party bears the responsibility for the state's fiscal crisis, they join with us in an honest bi-partisan statesmanlike attempt to reach a meeting of the minds on a finance program which will make Pennsylvania solvent once again.

I would like to say this as to the philosophy which will imbue our administration. It will not be an administration that believes in party feuding as the prime function of government; it will have no hate; it will have no vindictiveness. It will not adopt the political technique of exhuming the past to pollute the present. It will not follow the old game of politics as usual, in every situation, under every circumstance.

I am loyal to my party and want it to succeed.

But that very loyalty joins with my conscience to tell me that party success can only follow public success; that any party deserves to win and to hold office only if it attains the objectives which it has promised and gives a competent administration of the affairs which are committed to its trust.

I may say that I detest, and will not tolerate, laziness and sloppy performance of a public duty. No one in my administration, no matter who he is, is going to draw pay from the state without rendering a fair return in work performed. This administration will be no hayride for anyone; it is going to be work, hard work, and more work.

I will be impatient of failure.

It follows that I will be merciless toward corruption, and strictly judge offenses against ethics, even if they are within the letter of the law.

This administration will not suffer itself to be wrecked or sabotaged by self-seekers whose interest is not the state, not its people, and not the Democratic party.

But again, those things are negatives.

They are the least that can be expected; they are the lowest common denominator of decent government.

It is an article of faith with me that government can do much more; that it can expand its views; widen its horizons; draft into public service and into public thought, the whole imagination and vision and skills of a great community.

It will be our cardinal principle to be always open to ideas; to seek the participation in our state's affairs of Pennsylvania citizens, regardless of their party, who have a zeal for public service; to set up new standards for the state's services; to improvise; to modernize; to excel.

We will have a sober respect for experience and tradition, but we will be unafraid of experiment, willing to take risks, ready to adopt bold measures if they promise to advance the interests of the state.

It is our desire, our premise, that we will pass the state government to our successors as a stronger government, a better government, a more solvent government than that which we receive.

The next governor of Pennsylvania, so far as we can help it, will have no cause to complain that this administration has not faced its own problems.

And, above all, it is our desire, our premise, and our pledge, that we will build toward an enduring economy in this Commonwealth—fruitful and prosperous farms, a rising living standard, new and expanded industry, more and more job opportunities for Pennsylvanians.

Let those who will call it idealistic, the stuff of dreams, visionary.

But in this Bible on which I took my oath today, these familiar words, from Proverbs, Chapter 29, Verse 18, appear:

"Where there is no vision, the people perish."

In Pennsylvania, I promise you, there will be vision.

ADJOURNMENT

Mrs. REIBMAN. Mr. Speaker, I move that this House do now adjourn until Monday, January 25, 1955, at 4:30 p.m.

The motion was agreed to, and (at 4:53 p.m.) the House adjourned.

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

Legislative Journal.

Session 1955. 141st of the General Assembly.

Vol. 34. HARRISBURG, PA., MONDAY, JANUARY 24, 1955. No. 4.

SENATE

MONDAY, January 24, 1955.

The Senate met at 4:00 o'clock, p. m., Eastern Standard Time.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Roy E. Furman) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. ROBERT H. STEPHENS, D.D., Pastor of the Market Square Presbyterian Church, Harrisburg, offered the following prayer:

Let us pray.

Our Heavenly Father, as we bow in prayer may our hearts be open to Thy Spirit. We confess that we are only human, and we do not know all the answers. But we are Thy children, made for fellowship with Thee, and Thou wilt help us find answers if we will let Thee.

So we would bring to our tasks humility of spirit, reverence before Thee, ears attuned to Thy voice, eagerness to do what is right, and courage to do it.

We ask it in the Spirit of Jesus, Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present, the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. MAHANY and Mr. DERK, further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

NOMINATIONS BY THE GOVERNOR REFERRED TO COMMITTEE

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented communications in writing from His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth, which were read as follows, and referred to the Committee on Executive Nominations:

MEMBERS OF THE VALLEY FORGE PARK COMMISSION

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, January 24, 1955.

To the Honorable, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

In conformity with law, I have the honor hereby to nominate for the advice and consent of the Senate the following persons for appointment as Members of the Valley Forge Park Commission, to serve until the third Tuesday of January 1959, and until their successors shall have been appointed and qualified:

DELAWARE COUNTY

Walter F. Moses, 5028 Marvine Road, Drexel Hill.

MONTGOMERY COUNTY

Daniel J. Keating, Sr., 401 Holly Lane, Wynnewood.

CHESTER COUNTY

Charles Kaercher, Jr., Innhill Farm, Valley Forge.

GEORGE M. LEADER.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. BARR asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, for the information of the Senate, the reason for those names being sent over to the Valley Forge Park Commission is that their meeting is this week and, through an oversight in the past administration, there is no one actually serving with the Commission. They need these people in order to have a meeting on Thursday night of this week and in order to proceed with their business. Some of it deals with salaries of employees.

COMMUNICATION FROM GOVERNOR

He also presented communication in writing from His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth, which was read as follows:

GOVERNOR'S MESSAGE

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, January 24, 1955.

To the Honorable, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

The need for a comprehensive reorganization of the structure of Pennsylvania's government has long been recognized by everyone familiar with the Commonwealth's affairs. The purpose of such reorganization is two-fold: first, to secure a more efficient performance of the State's services to its people, and second, to do it for less money.

Many earnest and competent people, both inside the framework of the legislative and executive branches of the government and from citizens' organizations concerned with better government, have made excellent surveys and reports concerning the advantages of reorganization. The basic information has been assembled and re-assembled many times.

I now suggest that we have been surveyed enough. The time for action is at hand.

Accordingly, I am asking the authority of the General Assembly, expressed in legislation, to permit the executive department to set its own house in order.

Substantially, legislation is proposed that is modelled after the Federal reorganization statute, which has been re-enacted under Presidents of both parties, by Congresses of both parties. Such legislation has had the endorsement of President Roosevelt, President Truman, and President Eisenhower. It has been the foundation upon which many recommendations of the Hoover Commission have been adopted.

The members of the General Assembly may be sure that the executive branch is already acting within its present powers to improve the functioning of government in the State. The Governor's Office has been reorganized according to a plan originaly prepared by the Pennsylvania Economy League, reviewed by me, and adopted.

Under this reorganization, I have appointed a Secretary for Administration, whose task it will be to bring a steady, unremitting pressure for improvements in every phase of the State's operations. He is supported by appropriate specialists in personnel, accounting and controls, management, and fiscal and administrative planning. As my direct representative, the Secretary for Administration will have the support of the Governor's Office.

We are acting quickly to remedy the State's deficiencies in accounting methods and in budget control. That the State's accounting methods have been deplorably slipshod has been established by every professional group of accountants which has examined it. The most definitive criticism came from an agency of the Legislature—the Joint State Government Commission—in its report on Commonwealth Accounting, submitted to the 1951 session of the General Assembly.

In that report, it was stated:

"The accounts of the Commonwealth are kept on a cash basis but, by virtue of the use of different codes and conventions, reconciliation of the statements of elected officers is difficult; and adequate appraisal of the financial condition of the Commonwealth is impossible. Reconciliation difficulties aside, the cash system of accounting not only permits but actualy requires the preparation of statements which are at variance with the facts."

This language is astonishing. Still more astonishing is the fact that nothing has been done about it, although the proper legislative powers were granted to the Governor by legislation passed in 1929.

Any beginner realizes that an accounting system must do at least three things:

It must indicate accounts receivable, accounts payable, and inventory on hand. The accounting system of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania does not do this, and there is no way for its officers to tell the citizens where they stand financially. There is no overall control under existing accounting procedures on income, disbursements, or balance.

One example of the archaic system in effect in this Commonwealth will suffice. Some weeks ago, the Department of Public Instruction requested mine million dollars deficiency appropriation to continue school subsidies for the remainder of the current biennium. When this request was questioned the Department reconsidered and decided it needed no money at all. Now, the Department has decided to reconsider once again in order to come up with some figure that represents its actual requirements.

I cite this example not to condemn the Department of Public Instruction but rather to illustrate a deplorable condition which exists throughout the government of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

It is our purpose to install modern accounting methods before the beginning of the next fiscal year on June 1, 1955, which will protect the State against fraud and which will provide everyone with a truthful statement of the State's finances.

Accurate accounting is the very foundation of good business management.

We are all under an obligation to make sure that the public business has the same prudent management we would expect in a well-run private enterprise.

That is why I now, as Governor, request the General Assembly to grant to us a workable program for reorganization. The members may be sure that we will not wait a quarter of a century, as in the case of the State's accounting practice, to use such powers for the public benefit.

The members may also be assured that it is not our intention to use such powers recklessly, instituting change merely for the sake of change. Each reorganization plan will be carefully worked out. Each will have a clear purpose.

The legislation itself carries appropriate safeguards against the misuse of the authority it would grant.

The reorganization powers are restricted to the executive department, and exclude the agencies of the Legislature, the Courts, and the other elected officials of the Commonwealth.

The reorganization plans, as they are prepared, must be submitted to the Legislature. Either branch of the General Assembly, by majority vote under such rules as it may choose to adopt, may nullify any reorganization plan submitted.

There can be no "recess" reorganizations. They can only be proposed when the Legislature is in session, with adequate time to consider them.

I do not suggest that the legislation as proposed is not subject to review, modification, and improvement by the Legislature. The substance I do regard as vital; the methods and procedures certainly are not rigidly fixed.

It is my hope, since time is so important, that the members will regard governmental reorganization as a matter of urgency. I will be more than happy to confer with the representatives of the respective Houses, and of the majority and minority parties in each, to the end that our views may be in accord.

GEORGE M. LEADER.

The PRESIDENT. The communication will be spread upon the Journal.

GOLD STAR MOTHERS OF PENNSYLVANIA PRESENTED TO SENATE

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, it is a very rare occasion that the Senate has been graced by such distinguished visitors as we have with us today. Those who are with us today have proved their love of Country, for they have made the greatest of all sacrifices by giving a son in the defense of our Country.

With great humility, Mr. President, I present to the Members of the Senate the Executive Committee of the Gold Star Mothers of Pennsylvania.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair wishes to say for himself, and for the Members of the Senate, that we are very happy to have with us today the Executive Committee of the Gold Star Mothers of Pennsylvania. We hope they will enjoy the Session of the Senate, and come back to visit us again many times.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. DENT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, on November 2, the year of our Lord 1954, the people of Pennsylvania elected George M. Leader as Governor of this Commonwealth. Along with the election went the duties of office. In these duties he finds that he must from time to time name certain citizens of this great Commonwealth to serve in various capacities.

Mr. President, following the procedure and precedent set up by every Governor since the inception of this great Commonwealth, he has sent to the Senate names of Pennsylvania citizens for various posts, under the government of the Commonwealth. Today he sent to the Senate a list of three names; one, Walter F. Moses, from Delaware County; Daniel J. Keating, from Montgomery County; and Charles Kaercher, Jr., from Chester County. These names were submitted to the Senate for consideration for appointment to the Valley Forge Park Commission. Under the statutory laws of the Commission setup, that Commission must meet on the 27th of this month, Thursday of this week.

Mr. President, the Governor inherited a condition which is deplorable and could stand some criticism. However, it is not my position at this moment to criticize. There are thirteen members of this Commission, and every one of their terms of office has expired. The Governor, in trying to follow the letter of the law of this Commonwealth, has sent to the Senate these names in order that the Commission may function within the law. Personally, I do not know any of them. I doubt if the Governor, other than taking the recommendation of those people who should know them, knows them personally. He has sent them to the Senate because it is an emergency. We have asked the Republican Senators to meet in Executive Committee, or to call a meeting, in order that these names may be confirmed by the Senate. We are told that they cannot act unless they are confirmed by the Senate.

Mr. President, I learned that there would be no meeting of the committee and I asked the reason for it. I was told that the members from the various counties in which these men reside object to their confirmation.

Mr. President, it has always been and always will be the prerogative of any Member of this Senate to object to the confirmation of any person named by any Governor. However, the usual courtesies of the Senate have always been extended to the Governor, to the extent that when it comes to naming boards and commissions, the minority party or the majority party, whichever party happens to be holding the powers of confirmation, has always placed it on the basis of what is good for the Commonwealth and not what might be good for the individual Senators.

Mr. President, over the years I have never required any Republican appointee of my county, under the four Republican Governors, to come to my home or to come to my office to appeal to me to get his confirmation through this Senate. I have never asked any Republican appointee to bow to me or to kneel to me in any way, shape or form. I believe that the prerogatives of the Senate are highly honored by the Members of the Senate. However, when this is being done to the Governor of Pennsylvania, where it is not a personal matter, I believe it goes beyond the realm of decency and respect for the office of Governor, and I appeal to the Members of this Senate to consider their position in this matter and present these names for confirmation so that this board, which is now lacking a quorum because of dereliction not on the part of Governor Leader but on the preceding Governor, and, therefore, if the board cannot function it should be given that right by this Senate regardless of their political affiliations.

Mr. President, I say to this body today that I do not know the members' political affiliations who have been named to the board.

JUDGE WILLIAM S. RAHAUSER PRESENTED TO SENATE

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, we have a guest here today, a former Member of the Senate, who is now a Judge of the Orphans' Court in Allegheny County, former Senator Rahauser.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair takes pleasure in welcoming Judge Rahauser to the Senate.

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, it is my opinion that Senator Dent, the gentleman from Westmoreland, gave a very good reason why we should not confirm these gentlemen today. He said that he did not know them, and he doubted if the Governor knew them and I doubt whether anyone in the room knows them. Certainly, if we in this Body are going to exercise the prerogatives that are given to us under the Constitution we surely owe a debt to the people of Pennsylvania, before we put people on these boards, to at least have someone know them and vouch for them.

Certainly, Mr. President, we do not think that the Senators from Delaware, Chester, Bucks or Montgomery want these people or especially request them to come to their homes and kneel down to ask that they should be confirmed. I do think that we owe to these Senators from these respective counties the opportunity for them to go back home and find out about these people who are recommended and then, if they are all right and they feel that they will be good men to serve on these boards, they will come back next week and next Monday we will be glad to take them up.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, that is very nicely said and very well put, but it so happens that the same speech was made last week on the Governor's appointments and that we would come back this week, after they had a week of investigation, and the Governor would be given consideration on his appointments. However, the Republicans, as I understand it, in Caucus determined that they would not confirm any of the Governor's appointments today. Now, they have had a week to investigate them. There are a couple or a few of the members who I understand were Members of this Body. I do not think that anybody in this room would have to interrogate or investigate a former Member of this Body with whom they served as to whether they were qualified or not. They would know whether they were qualified or not. This is an emergency that has been brought about by the dereliction of the former Governor who failed to name to these various posts, these park commissions and these trusteeships, the men required by law.

Mr. President, Governor Leader does not intend to jam down the throats of this Senate any of his appointments. However, he is faced with this proposition. Either these men are named or the board cannot function legally. Therefore, I again petition them to set aside any pettiness they might be harboring in the matter and come out and endorse and recommend, or rather confirm, this particular slate of candidates for this very important post on the Valley Forge Park Commission.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President last week, last Tuesday, Governor Leader, following the example of all the Governors before him, made an Inaugural Address to the people of Pennsylvania in which he used, I believe, certainly ill-advised words when he alleged that the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania was bankrupt, the inference being, of course, that this bankruptcy was brought about by the Republican Party. That certainly, the people of Pennsylvania are entitled to know, is not true. The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania is not bankrupt. In fact, the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania compares most favorably with any of the other forty-eight States in this Union.

Mr. President, certainly there is a deficit. Governor Fine estimated the deficit at some $61 million, and I believe that Governor Leader and his advisers estimated it at some $86 millions. Those figures, of course, are to a certain extent conjecture; they are the figures of the outgoing Budget Secretary and the figures of the financial advisers of the incoming Governor of Pennsylvania.

Mr. President, we of the Republican Party feel that the $61 million figure is correct, and certainly the opposition in the present administration has every right to feel that their figure of $86 million is right. The true figure certainly will not be determined until the end of the biennium when all the lapses are in, when all the deficits are counted up, and then we will have an absolute picture of what it will be.

Certainly, Mr. President, there are a lot of people across —not only in this Commonwealth—but across the length and breadth of the United States who own bonds of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, who are backed by the full credit and responsibility of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and for anyone to get up and say over the television and over the radio that this Commonwealth is bankrupt, when we are in one of the finest financial states of any State of the forty-eight in the Union, I think calls for clarification. Certainly, we all know that we have added commitments to the cost of running government. We said during the campaign that the deficit, provided the sales tax was not re-enacted, would amount to about $351 million. If you take off the $100 million that the sales tax was estimated to bring in, that would bring it down to about $251 million, and I believe that our candidate, Lieutenant-Governor Lloyd H. Wood, said that we would need that much money and we were prepared to enact the taxes with which to provide the money to carry on the orderly processes of government. We were prepared to do that, and I might say further that of that $251 million which we said would be necessary, $61 million of that was to meet deficiencies which would leave approximately $191 million to meet new commitments, commitments that have been made. Of that amount, $102 million of it would go into education, in all its phases and all its forms. The rest of the $89 million was due largely to the failure of our estimates of income to come up to what we figured the taxes would bring. In other words, what the Budget Secretary thought they would bring.

Mr. President, of those commitments that were made in the Legislature of Pennsylvania, every one of you who is sitting across the room, who served in the Senate of Pennsylvania, those of you who were here before, voted for every measure that put those commitments onto the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. That would also include the new Governor, George M. Leader. I do not mean to criticize him for it. He voted for that which he though was right, as we all did. Certainly, we are all then committed to meet those expenses of government. It surely does not come with good grace from an incoming Governor to attempt to put across to the people of Pennsylvania that the Republican Party has left this great Commonwealth in a state of bankruptcy. We are in good shape in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and we believe that with the right kind of leadership, we sincerely hope that Governor Leader will give it to us, we can meet all the commitments that have been made by the previous Sessions of the Legislature.

Once and for all, Mr. President, we of the Republican Party want it clearly known throughout the length and breadth of Pennsylvania that this great State of our is not bankrupt, and that the Republican Party has not left it in any state of bankruptcy. I would draw to the attention of all of those of you who are within the hearing of my voice that when Governor Earle went out of office, he left a deficit of $58 million, with a total budget of about $414 million. I do not mean to stand here and open old sores, and say that we are going to compare Governor Earle's administration with Governor Fine's administration, but the inescapable fact remains that Governor Earle was dealing with a $414 million budget when he ended up $58 million in the hole. Certainly, Governor Fine has done a pretty fair job in dealing with almost a billion and a half dollar budget and only winding up with an estimated $61 million. We estimate $61 million, and even if we take the figure advanced by the incoming administration of some $86 million or $89 million, he still did a pretty fine job of running Pennsylvania.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I certainly do not intend to take the time this afternoon to defend the Governor of the great Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in his statement. However, I think it would be enlightening for those who did not hear the speech to hear exactly what the Governor did say.

"Our first task will be to revise the budget figures assembled by the outgoing administration, and to cut them wherever it is possible. We have developed plans which I will submit to our new department heads for reducing operating costs. We are planning a revitalized and more stringent administration of our revenue department to increase our tax income.

"But I cannot be so optimistic as to predict that these measures will solve our basic problem.

"Past legislatures have made enormous commitments which are now the pledged faith of the state, and it has not enacted a tax program that is adequate to raise the money to honor those commitments.

"That is the recipe for bankruptcy."

Now, Mr. President, I can find no fault with the logic of that statement. It is the recipe for bankruptcy when you commit moneys and do not pass the necessary taxes to create the revenue to pay the commitments. Yes, we voted for the commitments that have gone on into the future. However, if you will remember, the Democratic Caucus came down to the floor of the Senate and introduced bills into the Senate hopper to take care of the bonus and to take care of the teachers' salary increases that were put in by Governor Duff. We tried to amend the revenue bills time and time again to have the necessary moneys ride along with the expenditures then being placed. But it was the political behavior on the part of Governor Duff that would not allow us to pass the necessary taxes because he wanted to give the schoolteachers raises, but not tax the people for them. He wanted to give the soldiers' bonus, but not tax the people for paying the bonus. We called to the attention of the Senate at that time that it was trickery and it was not based on sound economics. You failed to pass the legislation and the amendments that we tried to attach to the bill. Naturally, we voted for the commitments after you failed to pass our amendments to create the funds, not only because it was politically expedient, as the gentleman has said, but because we felt then, and we feel now, that the soldiers were entitled to the bonus and the teachers were entitled to the raises.

However, Mr. President, we did have the courage politically to stand on the floor and try to pass the legislation to enable the revenue to be raised. You did not want it that way. You cannot blame the Democrats for voting for the commitments when they were standing ready and willing to vote for the revenues. That is a matter of historical fact. That is contained in the record of this General Assembly.

If you will go back far enough, you will find that we presented an entire tax program to raise $656 million, when the Governor needed at that time five hundred and some odd milions of dollars in order that we would have sufficient moneys to meet the schoolteachers' needs. Now, that is not the finished project. the project that was started by Governor Duff is still with us and it will be with us for three more bienniums. We will still go on paying the money that Governor Duff and the Republican Legislature passed onto the people for schoolteachers' increases without creating the revenue. Governor George Leader has found, when he entered the Governor's chair, that he has to pay for the commitments made by Governor Duff. That is not a matter of conjecture, of guesswork. It is a matter of historical fact contained in the record books of this Senate. We have to have an additional seventy-two odd million dollars in 1957. You are not voting on the $72 million this year; you voted for it when Duff was the Governor. You have already committed yourselves for 1957 and 1959 and 1961. Now, the Governor who is in office is trying to meet the bill that is presented to him.

Mr. President, Governor Leader said that when you commit moneys and do not raise the revenues to pay for them, it is a recipe for bankruptcy. Any sound businessman will tell you that that is a recipe for bankruptcy. Incidentally, that has nothing to do with the fact that the Governor of the Commonwealth, in fulfilling his duties, has sent to this Chamber this afternoon names of citizens of this Commonwealth to serve on a board created by this General Assembly, and that you have failed in your duty to name these gentlemen to that board and, therefore, by your lack of direction you have allowed the board to die and it cannot function legally.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I certainly do not intend to arise to defend the administration of Governor James Duff; it needs no defense. It will go down in the history of Pennsylvania as one of the greatest we ever had.

I stil maintain my original statement that Governor Leader used ill-advised and reckless words when he attempted to put into the minds of the people of Pennsylvania that the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania was a bankrupt State and that we were in bad financial condition.

If I may correct myself, Mr. President, I have just been handed the Legislative Journal. I read from the Governor Leader's address:

"I will plead no such surprise, because we campaigned on the statement that the succession of Republican administrations had each practiced some deception on the people and each other—that, in effect, the new administration would be a receiver in bankruptcy."

Mr. President, if that is not a direct allegation that we are in a bankrupt condition, made by the Chief Executive of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, then I certainly do not know where one would be.

Mr. President, the only reason I rose to my feet was to say that the great State of Pennsylvania is not bankrupt; that we are fully able to carry on our financial responsibility, and that the full faith and credit of Pennsylvania will keep Pennsylvania one of the top States of the Nation and that the people who hold the bonds which we have issued are in no danger of having those go down the drain in any manner, shape or form.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Fleming.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Fleming, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. FLEMING. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. DENT. Senator Fleming, will you describe for the benefit of the Senate what the word "bankruptcy" means?

Mr. FLEMING. You mean a legal definition?

Mr. DENT. I don't care what kind.

Mr. FLEMING. It means that your liabilities exceed your assets. You can no longer meet them, and you have to appoint some type of a receiver to take over and try to do the best they can.

Mr. DENT. Thank you very kindly.

Mr. President, we have debts beyond our resources at the present moment, and the people elected a receiver, George M. Leader.

Now, Mr. President, I do not believe that it does anybody any good to hash out problems, but if the gentleman from Allegheny will see me privately, after the Session, I will be glad to point out to him something about the bonds of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, which he may not know and which I do not want to put into public record.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Westmoreland, Senator Dent.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Dent, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. DENT. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. MAHANY. Senator Dent, so that those people who are holding Pennsylvania bonds may go to sleep tonight, do I understand that you are inferring that these bonds might not be met? I would like to have that last statement of yours clarified.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, the bondholders who hold bonds of the various agencies of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania won't have any trouble sleeping tonight.

Mr. MAHANY. They would if they just read that last statement that you made. There may be some inference about when you and the Senator from Allegheny got together.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I was going to talk to the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Fleming, about some simple matters of banking that a little eighth grader from Jeannette, Pennsylvania, has learned about interest rates and things. If he is interested, I will tell him. If you want me to tell the Senate, it will be perfectly all right. I do not think it would be proper to air it out here.

Mr. MAHANY. Senator Dent, I was just merely trying to clarify that statement. I do not want the people who have bought bonds from the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania for one minute to think, by any inference or by any statement made by you or any other Senator here, that they might be in trouble and that they may not get paid off.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I want to assure the gentleman that we have become a little inflated with our own ego when we get to the point that we think that the bondholders are listening to what we are saying this afternoon.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WAGNER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WAGNER. Mr. President, the Governor, in his Message, made reference to a Study of the Joint State Government Commission, which has made many studies for the Legislature and which have been exceedingly helpful in our legislating.

I have here a copy of a Report which outlines in concise from the studies which have been made and the recommendations of the Commission with respect to those studies since our last Session. A copy of this Report has been mailed to each Senator.

GENERAL REPORT OF THE JOINT STATE GOVERNMENT COMMISSION 1953-1955

Mr. WAGNER. Mr. President, on behalf of the Joint State Government Commission, I offer the General Report and ask that it be noted in the Journal.

The Clerk read as follows:

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

JOINT STATE GOVERNMENT COMMISSION
P. O. Box 61

Room 450—Capitol Building, Harrisburg

January 24, 1955.

To the Honorable, the Senate of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

On behalf of the Joint State Government Commission, I have the honor to transmit herewith the General Report of the Joint State Government Commission, 1953-55, to the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Copies of this report were mailed to the members of the Senate on January 19, 1955.

Respectfully submitted,

BAKER ROYER, Chairman.

BR:djc

The PRESIDENT. The General Report of the Joint State Government Commission for 1953-1955 will be noted in the Journal.

Which was committed to the Committee on Public Health and Welfare.

Mr. YOSKO read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 16, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 1, 1929 (P. L. 905), entitled "An act for the protection of the public safety; regulating the use of highways, and the operation of vehicles, tractors, street cars, trackless trolly omnibuses, bicycles, pedestrians, and the riding of animals upon the highways of this Commonwealth; providing for the titling, including liens, encumbrances, and legal claims; registration of certain vehicles and licensing the operators thereof, upon payment of prescribed fees; prescribing and limiting the powers of local authorities to deal with the subject matter of this act; conferring powers and imposing duties upon the Department of Revenue, the Department of Highways, peace officers, mayors, burgesses, magistrates aldermen, justices of the peace, the courts and the clerks thereof, owners of vehicles, and garage keepers; providing that records are admissible as evidence; imposing upon owners, counties, cities, boroughs, incorporated towns, townships, within the Commonwealth, liability for damages caused by the negligent operation of their motor vehicles; imposing penalties; imposing certain costs upon counties; providing for the disposition of fines, forfeitures, fees, and miscellaneous receipts; making an appropriation and providing for refunds," prohibiting passing school buses in business or residential districts.

Which was committed to the Committee on Highways.

Mr. BARR read in his place and presented to the Chair, Senate Bill No. 17, entiled:

A Supplement to the act, approved the 7th day of March, one thousand nine hundred and one (P. L. 20), entitled "An act for the government of cities of the second class," establishing a department of water in said cities; providing for its officers and employees, and defining the powers, duties and jurisdiction of said department.

Which was committed to the Committee on Local Government.

Mesrs. WEINER, DONOLOW, MULLIN, DiSILVESTRO, SILVERT and CAMIEL read in place and presented to the Chair, Senate Bill No. 18, entitled:

An Act amending the act of April 12 ,1951 (P. L. 90), entitled "An act relating to alcoholic liquors, alcohol and malt and brewed beverages; amending, revising, consolidating and changing the laws relating thereto; regulating and restricting the manufacture, purchase, sale, possesion, consumption, importation, transportation, furnishing, holding in bond, holding in storage, traffic in and use of alcoholic liquors, alcohol and malt and brewed beverages and the persons engaged or employed therein; defining the powers and duties of the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board; providing for the establishment and operation of State liquor stores, for the payment of certain license fees to the respective municipalities and townships, for the abatement of certain nuisances and, in certain cases, for search and seizure without warrant; prescribing penalties and forfeitures; providing for local option, and repealing existing laws," limiting the number of Pennsylvania Liquor Stores in each municipality and the issuance and transfer of retail licenses in any ward of any city of the first class and in certain other cases.

Which was committed to the Committee on Law and Order.

Messrs. HOLLAND, WOLFE and LANE read in place and presented to the Chair, Senate Bill No. 19, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 13, 1925 (P. L. 644) entitled "An act relating to and regulating the solicitation of moneys and propertys for charitable, religious, benevolent, humane, and patriotic purposes," exempting War Mothers' organizations from provisions of act.

Which was committed to the Committee on Military Affairs and Aeronautics.

Mesrs. DENT and MAHANY read in place and presenated to the Chair, Senate Bill No. 20, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the General Assembly for the payment of expenses of its Inaugural Committee.

Which was committed to the Committee on Appropriations.

INTERROGATION

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the Majority Floor Leader, Senator Mahany.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Crawford, Mr. Mahany, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MAHANY. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I presented to the gentleman from Crawford, Senator Mahany, this afternoon a series of three resolutions which he was to discuss with his Caucus. Senator Mahany, will you tell me what disposition has been made concerning those resolutions?

Mr. MAHANY. I certainly am pledged to a certain amount of secrecy, Senator Dent, as to what happens in the Republican Caucus. However, I would say this, that they all agreed that you might present the resolutions.

Mr. DENT. Will you tell me which one, number one, two or three?

Mr. MAHANY. We do not like to advise you. Present them all. I think the same thing is going to happen to all of them.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I do not think it would be proper to present them all since I have already been told what will happen to them. So, I will, therefore, present the one.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. DENT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, I present this resolution because it deals with making the Minority Leader of the Senate an ex-officia member of the Senate committees. I will say that this was done with the complete understanding of the President pro tempore of the Senate who, in agreement with me, discussed the matter and I was to present the resolution. I will present it, and let it ride on that statement.

RESOLUTION REFERRED TO COMMITTEE AMENDING SENATE RULE 23

Mr. DENT offered the following resolution, which was twice read as follows:

In the Senate, January 24, 1955.

Resolved, That the Rules of the Senate be amended by striking out that part of Rule 23 which reads as follows:

> "The President pro tempore shall be ex-officio a member of all Standing Committees and included in the number of committee members herein provided."

and inserting in lieu thereof the following:

> "The President pro tempore shall be ex-officio a member of all Standing Committees and included in the number of committee members herein provided, and the Minority Leader shall also be ex-officio a member of all Standing Committees and not included in the number of committee members herein provided."

MOTION TO ADOPT RESOLUTION

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I move the adoption of this resolution.

Mr. BARR. I scond the motion, Mr. President.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I understand that before this resolution can be voted on, the Senator should have asked for unanimous consent for its immediate consideration. Otherwise, the resolution goes to the appropriate committee. Is that not right?

The PRESIDENT. Does the gentleman from Crawford, Mr. Mahany, object to its immediate consideration?

Mr. MAHANY. I do object, Mr. President.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I take the position that a roll call is in order, because when we adopted the rules last week, it was with the definite understanding that I would be given the privilege of presenting this resolution. Now, if you want to break every word, it is perfectly all right with me.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I do not understand that I had any such agreement with Senator Dent. Certainly, if there was any such agreement on the part of any one of the Senators, we certainly could not bind the whole Republican Caucus.

Mr. President, does the Senator from Westmoreland remember that he had any such agreement as that with me?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I yield to the Senator from Allegheny, Senator Barr.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, the agreement was with the President pro tempore and you, and the meeting was right here when the rules were adopted last week.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I yield to the gentleman from Dauphin, Senator Taylor.

Mr. TAYLOR. Mr. President, I very frankly say that I agreed to this proposition with the understanding that I never thought for a moment that I controlled twenty-five others Senators. As far as I am concerned, I would be very happy to vote for the resolution. However, I could not guarantee the vote of twenty-five other Senators. I found today that I was right in saying that I could not guarantee twenty-five other Senators.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, in fairness to the gentleman from Dauphin, Senator Taylor, I never asked him to guarantee anything. He told me that I would be privileged to put the resolution, and that he would vote for it. That is all I asked.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I object to the immediate consideration of this resolution, and ask that it be referred to the appropriate committee.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I have not been provided with a Rule Book. I would like to be provided with a Rule Book.

The PRESIDENT. The Senate will be at ease.

(The Senate was at ease.)

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to present a resolution.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. DiSilvestro, wait just a moment until this matter is finally settled?

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. I will, Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT. The Senate will be at ease.

(The Senate was at ease.)

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I yield to the gentleman from Crawford, Senator Mahany.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I throw the ball back to my good friend, Senator Dent. I do not wish to take the floor at this time.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I have nothing to say.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, to clarify the statement, when I was over there just a bit ago, I suggested to Senator Dent that I come back to find out whether we wanted to take a recess for the purpose of having a caucus. I understand that we do not wish to take such a recess. I certainly fulfilled my mission.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I remember what he did say, if Senator Mahany's memory is so short. He said, "Give us five minutes so that we can have a caucus, and get this all straightened out."

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I am not going to ask that Rule 39 be set aside because I understand, of course, that you will have just a delay in time. They have twenty-six votes, by which they are determined to show that they are going to run the Senate.

Mr. President, I just want everyone to know that it is not a desire to run the Senate, or any desire to inject myself into any position not warranted by the position that has been vested upon me by the Caucus Members. The Democratic Majority in the House has extended the courtesy of electing the Minority Leader over there ex-officio on all committees. It is proper that the Minority and the Majority Leaders, the representatives of both bodies, have access to the commitees in order that they know the business of the day, in order that they know the arguments pro and con and in order that they are better qualified to act in their capacities as Senators.

Mr. President, at the present time I find myself, after twenty years of service in this Senate, on the Rules Committee of the Senate. I am not a member of any other committee. That is perfectly all right with me. However, I just want to issue one little bit of advice that was given to me by my father many years ago—"Six and a half years aren't seven."

The PRESIDENT. Objection having been raised to the immediate consideration of this resolution, the resolution is referred to the Committee on Rules.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. MAHANY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, to clarify Senator Dent's statement about his not being a Member of the Rules Committee. I believe that Senator Taylor requested Senator Dent to make recommendations on every committee for those Democrats whom he wished to be represented on each and every committee. Senator Taylor took his recommendations. If Senator Dent is not a Member of the Rules Committee—and I understand that he is. My Whip just looked over the Rules Committee personnel and makeup, and found that Senator Dent is a member of that committee.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. BARR asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I would like to make a request of the President pro tempore, that he have my name dropped from the Highways Committee and have Senator Dent put on in my place.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. HALUSKA asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I request that my name be withdrawn—

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman yield just a moment?

Mr. HALUSKA. I will, Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair would suggest to the Members who have already risen, or any others who might wish to change their committees, as I understand it, the rules provide that the President pro tempore makes these appointments. I was wondering if we could not expedite the business of the Senate and take that up in a private conference.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. HALUSKA asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, we find ourselves in a sad state of affairs when our Leader is serving on one committee. I have been chosen to serve on seven. He is on one. With all fairness, I can withdraw from one of those committees and make a place for Senator Dent.

Mr. President, I, therefore, publicly ask to resign from the Committee on Labor and Industry to make room for Senator Dent.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. TAYLOR asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. TAYLOR. Mr. President, I would suggest to the Members on the other side of the Senate that I asked the Floor Leader of the Democratic side to give me the names of all the Democratic Members he desired on the following committees. I did not appoint anybody on that side. Senator Dent appointed them all. I would suggest that you Democratic Members take the matter up with Senator Dent, and then we will adjust it.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. DENT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I thank the Members of the Democratic Caucus who intended and who still intend, if I so desire to accept their generous offers, for me to serve in their places.

Mr. President, in order that there be no misunderstanding, we have six more Senators on the Democratic side this year than we had last Session. The Republicans have six less. If you will look over the Committee assignments, they are not exactly in proportional representation. It was difficult to give the Members of the Democratic Senate, who are elected by their respective districts, any kind of decent committee memberhsip. When I took it up with the President pro tempore, I suggested that if I served ex-officio, without a vote on the committees, I could take my allotment of six committees and give one apiece to the new Members of the Senate.

Mr. President, I am going to ask them to retain their committee memberships, and I will guarantee all of you that I will know what is going on

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. DiSilvestro, will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. Mr. President, being a master at racing and timing, I believe I am out of time right now. I have no resolution to present at this time.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

TIME OF NEXT MEETING

Mr. WHALLEY offered the following resolution which was twice read as follows:

In the Senate, January 24, 1955.

Resolved, (if the House of Representatives concur) That when the Senate adjourns this week, it reconvene on Monday, January 31, 1955, at four o'clock p. m., and when the House of Representatives adjourns this week, it reconvene on Monday, January 31, 1955, at four-thirty o'clock p. m.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION ADOPTED

Mr. WHALLEY. Mr. President, I move the adoption of this resolution.

Mr. SCOTT. I second the motion, Mr. President.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I understand that the Republican Majority is going to try to call the Session tomorrow at ten o'clock a. m. At least, there should be some decency in them, if there ever has been, and it should be shown at this time.

The Republicans know—it has been told to them several times—that we have several conferences set up for tomorrow. There is one scheduled for ten o'clock and one for eleven-thirty. It will be impossible for a number of us to be here.

The PRESIDENT. For the information of the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Barr, this resolution pertains to the Session next week.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

The Resolution was agreed to.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

REFERRED TO COMMITTEE

URGING APPOINTMENT OF JOINT COMMITTEE OF HOUSE AND SENATE TO STUDY PROBLEMS RELATING TO JUVENILE DELINQUENCY

Messrs. WEINER, McMENAMIN, MILLER and CAMIEL offered the following resolution which was twice read as follows:

In the Senate, January 24, 1955.

In recent years, juvenile delinquency has increased alarmingly, not only in this Commonwealth but also nation-wide.

The resultant danger to our general welfare as well as to the future well-being of our youth is such as to demand the immediate attention of the people of this State; therefore be it

Resolved (the House of Representatives concurring), That the President pro tempore of the Senate appoint five members of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives appoint five members of the House who together shall constitute a joint committee, to make a thorough study of the problems relating to juvenile delinquency, giving particular attention to its ultimate decrease and cure; and be it further

Resolved, That the committee may meet, hold hearings, take testimony and make its investigations whether the General Assembly is in session or in adjournment. It may issue subpoenas under the hand and seal of its chairman commanding any person to appear before it and to answer questions touching matters properly being inquired into by the committee and to produce such books, papers, records and documents as the committee deems necessary. Any person who wilfully neglects or refuses to testify provided by the laws of the Commonwealth in such cases. before the committee or to produce any books, papers, records, or documents shall be subject to to the penalties Each member of the committee shall have power to administer oathes and affirmations to witnesses appearing before the committee; and be it further

Resolved, That the committee make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations for appropriate legislation to the next General Assembly.

MOTION TO ADOPT RESOLUTION

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I move the immediate adoption of this resolution.

Mr. MILLER. I second the motion, Mr. President.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, it is my understanding that the Senator should have requested unaminous consent for the immediate consideration of this resolution. Otherwise, it is referred to an appropriate committee.

Now, Mr. President, I certainly am in favor of studies being made regarding juvenile delinquency, but in order to conduct our business in an orderly fashion in the Senate, and maintain an orderly procedure, most of these resolutions will have to be referred to an appropriate committee and then reported from the committee to the floor at an appropriate time. That is the reason we have committees and I, therefore, object to the immediate consideration of the resolution and ask that it be referred to an appropriate committee.

The PRESIDENT. There being objection to the immediate consideration of this resolution, the resolution is referred to the Committee on Judiciary General.

INTERROGATION

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Westmoreland, Senator Dent.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Dent, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. DENT. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. MAHANY. Senator Dent, would you prefer to have a meeting at nine o'clock tomorrow morning, rather than ten o'clock as Senator Barr anticipated?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, does it matter much what I prefer?

Mr. MAHANY. Yes, I will be glad to—

Mr. DENT. Well, if you will call your caucus together to decide which hour you will give us and let me know that it is caucus action, then I will answer the question. I do not care when you hold the meeting.

Mr. MAHANY. Senator Barr seemed to have some objection, Senator Dent. Rather than have a conflict with your other meeting, which I did not know about, I would have the meeting at ten o'clock tomorrow morning.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. BARR asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, this may be out of bounds, but I do like the truth. Those men were informed and the Majority Floor Leader was informed.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. MAHANY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I was informed this afternoon. I meant that I did not have previous knowledge other than this afternoon.

Mr. President, Senator Barr and Senator Dent both know that for many years, I believe ever since I have been in the Senate, on Tuesdays, in the early part of the Session, we have been having our meetings at ten o'clock in the morning so as to give the fellows an opportunity of getting out of here and going home. Many of them have many miles to travel, and it gives them an opportunity to get out after the Session on Tuesday so that they may go back home.

Mr. President, that is the only reason that we would like to have our meeting in the morning.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I now move that the Senate do now adjourn until Tuesday, January 25, 1955, at 10:00 o'clock, a.m., Eastern Standard Time.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. LANE. I now ask for a roll call, Mr. President.

Mr. BARR. I ask for a roll call, Mr. President.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. LANEand Mr. BARR and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—26

Berger,	Kessler,	Peelor,	Wade,
Blass,	Kopriver, Jr.	Propert,	Wagner,
Chapman,	Madigan,	Scott,	Watkins,
Diehm,	Mahany,	Stevenson,	Watson,
Flack,	Mallery,	Taylor,	Whalley,
Fleming,	McPherson, Jr.	Van Sant,	Wolfe,
Harney,	Pechan,

NAYS—24

Bane,	Donolow,	McGinnis,	Seyler,
Barr,	Haluska,	McMenamin,	Silvert,
Camiel,	Hays,	Miller,	Stiefel,
Dent,	Holland,	Mullin,	Toole,
Derk,	Lane,	Ruth,	Weiner,
DiSilvestro,	McCreesh,	Schmidt,	Yosko,

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

The Senate adjourned at 5:54 o'clock, p.m., Eastern Standard Time, until Tuesday, January 25, 1955, at 10:00 o'clock, a.m., Eastern Standard Time.

MONDAY, January 24, 1955

The House met at 4:30 p. m.

The SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Reverend Harold J. Crouse, offered the following prayer:

Almighty God, this is a good and rich land Thou hast given us, Grant now that the Representatives of these Thy people may be high-minded men and women, worthy and pious, believing all they profess and practicing all they enjoin. Keep them from being fussy, flustered and small, from being fretted and over-anxious, peevish, cross with life and ill-tempered. Give them the quiet eyes, steady pulses, inexhaustible originality and unresting energy. Drop Thy still dews of quietness upon them so that in the stillness of Thy presence they may find health and strength of mind, body and soul. Then they will have a shoulder for every responsibility, a mind that will have time for others, even for those who seem to have no claim on them. This we ask in Jesus' name. Amen.

JOURNALS APPROVED

The SPEAKER. Are there any corrections to the Journal of Monday, January 17 and Tuesday, January 18, 1955? If not, and without objection, the Journals are approved.

COMMUNICATION FROM GOVERNOR

The SPEAKER laid before the House a communication from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

Governor's Office, Harrisburg, January 24, 1955.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

The need for a comprehensive reorganization of the structure of Pennsylvania's government has long been recognized by everyone familiar with the Commonwealth's affairs. The purpose of such reorganization is two-fold: first, to secure a more efficient performance of the State's services to its people, and second, to do it for less money.

Many earnest and competent people, both inside the framework of the legislative and execution branches of the government and from citizens' organizations concerned with better government, have made excellent surveys and reports concerning the advantages of reorganization. The basic information has been assembled and re-assembled many times.

I now suggest that we have been surveyed enough. The time for action is at hand.

Accordingly, I am asking the authority of the General Assembly, expressed in legislation, to permit the executive department to set its own house in order.

Substantially, legislation is proposed that is modelled after the Federal reorganization statute, which has been re-enacted under Presidents of both parties, by Congresses of both parties. Such legislation has had the endorsement of President Roosevelt, President Truman, and President Eisenhower. It has been the foundation upon which many recommendations of the Hoover Commission have been adopted.

The members of the General Assembly may be sure that the executive branch is already acting within its present powers to improve the functioning of government in the State. The Governor's Office has been reorganized according to a plan originally prepared by the Pennsylvania Economy League, reviewed by me, and adopted.

Under this reorganization, I have appointed a Secretary for Administration, whose task it will be to bring a steady, unremitting pressure for improvements in every phase of the State's operations. He is supported by appropriate specialists in personnel, accounting and controls, management, and fiscal and administrative planning. As my direct representative, the Secretary for Administration will have the support of the Governor's Office.

We are acting quickly to remedy the State's deficiencies in accounting methods and in budget control. That the State's accounting methods have been deplorably slipshod has been established by every professional group of accountants which has examined it. The most definitive criticism came from an agency of the Legislature—the Joint State Government Commission—in its report on Commonwealth Accounting, submitted to the 1951 session of the General Assembly.

In that report, it was stated:

"The accounts of the Commonwealth are kept on a cash basis but, by virtue of the use of different codes and conventions, reconciliation of the statements of elected officers is difficult; and adequate appraisal of the financial condition of the Commonwealth is impossible. Reconciliation difficulties aside, the cash system of accounting not only permits but actually requires the preparation of statements which are at variance with the facts."

This language is astonishing. Still more astonishing is the fact that nothing has been done about it, although the proper legislative powers were granted to the Governor by legislation passed in 1929.

Any beginner realizes that an accounting system must do at least three things:

It must indicate accounts receivable, accounts payable, and inventory on hand. The accounting system of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania does not do this, and there is no way for its officers to tell the citizens where they stand financially. There is no overall control under existing accounting procedures on income, disbursements, or balance.

One example of the archaic system in effect in this Commonwealth will suffice. Some weeks ago, the Department of Public Instruction requested nine million dollars deficiency appropriation to continue school subsidies for the remainder of the current biennium. When this request was questioned the Department reconsidered and decided it needed no money at all. Now, the Department has decided to reconsider once again in order to come up with some figure that represents its actual requirements.

I cite this example not to condemn the Department of Public Instruction but rather to illustrate a deplorable condition which exists throughout the government of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

It is our purpose to install modern accounting methods before the beginning of the next fiscal year on June 1, 1955, which will protect the State against fraud and which will provide everyone with a truthful statement of the State's finances.

Accurate accounting is the very foundation of good business management.

We are all under an obligation to make sure that the public business has the same prudent management we would expect in a well-run private enterprise.

That is why I now, as Governor, request the General Assembly to grant to us a workable program for reorganization. The members may be sure that we will not wait a quarter of a century, as in the case of the State's accounting practice, to use such powers for the public benefit.

The members may also be assured that it is not our intention to use such powers recklessly, instituting change merely for the sake of change. Each reorganization plan will be carefully worked out. Each will have a clear purpose.

The legislation itself carries appropriate safeguards against the misuse of the authority it would grant.

The reorganization powers are restricted to the executive department, and exclude the agencies of the Legislature, the Courts, and the other elected officials of the Commonwealth.

The reorganization plans, as they are prepared, must be submitted to the Legislature. Either branch of the General Assembly by majority vote under such rules as it may choose to adopt, may nullify any reorganization plan submitted.

There can be no "recess" reorganizations. They can only be proposed when the Legislature is in session, with adequate time to consider them.

I do not suggest that the legislation as proposed is not subject to review, modification, and improvement by the Legislature. The substance I do regard as vital; the methods and procedures certainly are not rigidly fixed.

It is my hope, since time is so important, that the members will regard governmental reorganization as a matter of urgency. I will be more than happy to confer with the representatives of the respective Houses, and of the majority and minority parties in each, to the end that our views may be in accord.

GEORGE M. LEADER.

The SPEAKER. The Governor's message will be printed in the Legislative Journal..

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. READINGER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I regret that there was so much inattention during the reading of the Governor's message, because I think we will find that it is a very important message and I would now suggest that those of you who were on other business at the time it was being read might read it in the newspaper tonight.

BILL INTRODUCED

Mr. READINGER. At this time, Mr. Speaker I desire to offer a House Bill to carry out the intention of that message.

The SPEAKER. The bill will be referred to the appropriate committee when the Standing Committees have been selected by this House.

INTERROGATION

The SPEAKER. For what purpose does the gentleman from Philadelphia, the Minority Leader rise?

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. To ask a question of the Majority Leader.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Berks permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. READINGER. I shall.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I was wondering if it would be convenient, and I think the Members on this side of the House would certainly appreciate it, if the Majority Leader would see to it that mimeographed copies of the Governor's address be given to the minority at least by tomorrow morning. It is rather difficult sometimes to get the full text of these things in the newspaper, they do cut things, and I think it might be appropriate if they were mimeographed and put on all the Members' desks.

Mr. READINGER. I shall be very happy to try to arrange to have that done by tomorrow morning .

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Thank you.

RESOLUTION NO. 1

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I wish to call up Resolution No. 1.

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, January 17, 1955.

Resolved That House Rule 27 paragraph four is hereby amended by adding

A committee on
Child Care to consist of 20 members

And a committee on
Judiciary Special to consist of 9 members

Paragraph four is hereby amended by striking out the committee on

Cities-Counties First-Second and Second Class A to consist of 20 members and inserting in lieu thereof two committees as follows

Cities-Counties—First Class to consist of 20 members

Cities-Counties—Second and Second Class A to consist of 20 members

Paragraph four is hereby amended by reducing the number of members on the Committee on Elections and Apportionment from 15 members to 9 members

Paragraph four is hereby amended by striking out the committee on

Game and Forestry to consist of 20 members and inserting in lieu thereof a committee on

Conservation and Wild Life to consist of 20 members

On the question,
Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer amendments.

The amendments were read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend Resolution No. 1, Printer's No. 1, page 2 by inserting between lines 3 and 4

"Paragraph four is hereby amended by increasing the number of members on the committees on:"

"Cities—Third Class from 15 members to 20 members."

"Insurance from 15 members to 20 members."

"Municipal-Corporations from 15 members to 20 members."

On the question,
Will the House adopt the resolution as amended?
It was adopted by a rising vote.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE ON COMMITTEES

Mr. SARRAF asked and obtained unanimous consent to offer a resolution which was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, January 24, 1955.

Resolved, That in compliance with the provisions of Rule 27 of the House, it is recommended that the Members of the House named herein be and are hereby elected Members of the Standing Committees of this House of Representatives. The Chairman and Vice-Chairman included in this report were appointed by the Speaker of the House.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. READINGER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I rise at this time to make a very brief statement in connection with the report of the Committee on Committees which was just adopted. At the outset I would like to say that the membership of the Committee worked long and diligently, but despite everything they could do certain errors crept into their work. For example, we discovered since the material was sent to the printer that one of our Members was assigned to only one committee and several were assigned to six. Having served on that particular committee for quite a long time, I appreciate the job that they had to do and I believe all of us will understand that no matter how hard you try to avoid errors, some will be made. I am rising at this time to state that certain persons whose names will appear on the printed booklet which will be distributed in a very few moments to all the Members will not actually be on certain committees and that certain other Members will be. There was not time since the errors were discovered to get in touch with each of the individual Members to explain that an error had been made and I am now making this statement so that no one's feelings are hurt by seeing his name on a certain committee in this booklet and finding out after he sees the Journal this report which you have just adopted that he is not on that committee.

I do not know whether my present list is complete or not. But I understand that the Committee on Committees will file a supplemental report next Monday and that any changes which are to be made will be made between now and that time, so that after next Monday the Committees will be completed and there will be no further changes.

On the Committee on Banks and Building and Loan Associations, the name of Rudisill will come out and Smith will go in. On the Committee on Highways, the name of Stone will be removed and the name of Walsh will be put in his stead. On Judiciary, the name of Mullen will be eliminated and Stone will be included.

On the Committee on Ways and Means the name of Smith will be removed and the name of Walsh will be included. On the Committee on Welfare, the name of Snider will be removed and the name of Walsh will be included.

To the best of my knowledge that is the list of changes which is already incorporated in the Committee on Committees report which was just adopted. I say there will probably have to be a few changes made between now and next Monday. I might also say that the Clerk of the House is distributing one booklet to each Member today and will keep the remainder of the books. I believe there was seven hundred printed, and make the changes in the books as fast as he can so that when the public representatives and other people interested are given those booklets, they will have in them these changes I have just mentioned.

The SPEAKER. The Chair thanks the gentleman.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I have just been informed by Mr. Royer, who was the Chairman of our Committee on Committees that we attended to our business on this side of the House in regard to the committees expediently, and have made no mistakes that we know of.

We are in perfect shape on this side and there probably will be no changes.

The SPEAKER. The chair thanks the gentleman.

For what purpose does the gentleman from Berks rise

Mr. READINGER. To file in impertinent retort.

The SPEAKER. The Chair will consider it in order.

Mr. READINGER. May I remind the gentleman on the other side that the reason for the supreme efficiency of their portion of the Committee on Committees is because they have so many fewer members than we have.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY SPEAKER

The SPEAKER. The Chief Clerk will distribute printed copies of the Standing Committees and also copies of the Governor's message to the General Assembly.

Members are now privileged to introduce their bills by filing them with the bill Clerk at the Speaker's left. All three copies should be legibly signed and dated. Keep the unsigned copy for your own personal use.

CONTESTED ELECTION—SECOND LEGISLATIVE DISTRICT—PHILADELPHIA

The SPEAKER laid before the House a petition in the matter of the contested election of Abraham N. Sigman to the office of Representative in the General Assembly from the Second Legislative District of Philadelphia—appeal from the Order of Common Pleas No. 6, September Term, 1954, dated the 27th day of December, 1954.

The petition was read as follows:

In the matter of the contested election of Abraham N. Sigman to the officer of Representative in the General Assembly from the Second Legislative District of the City of Philadelphia

Appeal from the Order of Common Pleas Court No. 6 September Term, 1954, dated the 27th day of December, 1954

To the Honorable, the Speaker of the House of Representatives and the Representatives assembled:

The petition of ALFONSE PARLANTE respectfully represents:

1. That the said ALFONSE PARLANTE was a candidate for election to the office of Representative in the General Assembly from the Second Legislative District (composed of the First and Second Wards in the City of Philadelphia) at the election held in the said district on November 2, 1954.

2. That the candidates of the said office at the said election were Abraham N. Sigman, Republican and your petitioner, Democrat.

3. That the final vote both civil and military for the respective candidates was:

Alfonse Parlante—9825.

Abraham N. Sigman—9824

4. That a contest petition was filed by the said Abraham N. Sigman, in which, inter alia, he did contest the vote of a certain military elector Frederick W. Feuerborn, Jr., 319 Reed Street in the 17th Division of the First Ward of the City of Philadelphia.

5. After hearing, the Court of Common Pleas No. 6 of the City of Philadelphia did reject the vote of the said Frederick W. Feuerborn, Jr. holding that the said military elector did not possess the qualifications as to residence such as to enable him to vote at the general election on November 2, 1954.

6. Your petitioner, having been advised by counsel, believes and therefore avers that the military ballot of Frederick W. Feuerborn, Jr., was improperly rejected in violation of the Acts of Assembly and the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

7. That if the said ballot had been properly counted it would have resulted in the election of your petitioner, Alfonse Parlante to the Office of Representative in the General Assembly from the Second Legislative District.

8. That as a result of the rejection of the said military ballot, it was ordered by the Court, a tie vote having been decared, that the said candidates resort to the drawing of lots to determine which of the candidates should be elected.

9. That your petitioner did then and there challenge the propriety of the order of Court and consented to the drawing of lots under a written proviso that his rights would not be prejudiced by the outcome of such drawing.

10. As a result of the said drawing, Abraham N. Sigman was declared elected to the Office of Representative to the General Assembly from the Second Legislative District in the City of Philadelphia.

11. That the Court of Common Pleas No. 6 as aforesaid did exceed its judicial discretion during the progress of the contest and associated legal proceedings and did improperly reject the military ballot as aforesaid.

12. That since the filing of the petition your petitioner has received information that other irregularities and improprieties occurred at the aforesaid election which, if corrected would have resulted in his election to the Office as aforesaid.

13. That your petitioner does make this appeal to the General Assembly under 1937, June 3, P. L. 1333, Article XVII Section 1747; Section 1748; Section 1749; 25 P. S. Sections 3407, 3408, 3409.

ALFONSE PARLANTE,
Petitioner

AFFIDAVIT

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania } SS
County of Philadelphia }

ALFONSE PARLANTE, being duly sworn according to law, deposes and says that he is the petitioner and the party aggrieved by the decision of the Court in the above entitled matter, and that he believes that he was duly elected to the Office of Representative in the General Assembly from the Second Legislative District of the City of Philadelphia and that the statements set forth in the foregoing petition are just and true to the best of his knowledge and belief.

ALFONSE PARLANTE.

The SPEAKER. The petition is referred to the Committee on Elections and Apportionment.

BILL INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

The SPEAKER. There being no objection the Chair will refer House Bill No. 1.

By Mr. READINGER. HOUSE BILL No. 1.

An Act providing for reorganizations of agencies and functions of the State Government by the Governor subject to disapproval by the General Assembly; and authorizing the transfer, abolition, consoldiation and coordination of agencies and functions and the authorization of State officers to delegate functions.

Referred to the Committee on State Government.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I might say, it is a little premature, some of this statement had to be changed we were dictating it rather late and I had hoped to have the entire statement at this time for the press. If it would be possible to hold off for another few minutes, if the Chair so desires and has other business, it would be perfectly agreeable to me.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would certainly desire that the gentleman from Philadelphia have the opportunity to make a finished production. If he desires a few more minutes for preparation they are granted.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. The Chair is very gracious. We have the finished production here as far as I am concerned, but I am a little concerned about the Press, Sir.

REPORT OF JOINT STATE GOVERNMENT COMMISSION

Mr. ROYER presented the following communication and report from the Joint State Government Commission.

The communication was read by the Clerk as follows:

January 24, 1955.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

On behalf of the Joint State Government Commission, I have the honor to transmit herewith the General Report of the Joint State Government Commission, 1953-55, to the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Copies of this report were mailed to the members of the House of Representatives on January 19, 1955.

Respectfully submitted,

BAKER ROYER,
Chairman.

BR:djc

(For Report see Appendix).

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, last week at the beginning of this session, the Republican minority stated its position, that it would not be an obstructionist toward the new administration or to the Governor in any way. That we were for harmony, particularly when we know that it is for the good of citizens of Pennsylvania and good for the citizens of this great Commonwealth. We said that we would not obstruct his program and certainly hoped that he would take the attitude and not force us into any position where we would have to change our thinking.

We were certainly sincere in that statement and we meant every word of it. While we were not in the position to do otherwise at that time in the House we certainly proved what we were thinking in the Senate. We proved it by virtue of the fact that we confirmed all of the appointments that the Governor requested in regards to his cabinet immediately. This certainly could not be said of the Democratic party during the years of 1951-1952. If we look at the record I am sure that you will find that the Democrats at that time held up confirmation of the cabinet posts for months. They showed no spirit of cooperation and then acted purely in the sense of being real obstructionists.

I would like to take this opportunity to congratulate Governor Leader on his Inaugural address, particularly the first four pages wherein he showed considerable signs of statesmanship and interest in the welfare of the citizens of our Commonwealth. But I must say when we turn over to page five his Inaugural address became a campaign speech and in our opinion there was no place in this address for politics. The Governor should remember that this is not a government of the Democrats, by the Democrats, for the Democrats, but a government for all of the people of this great Commonwealth, Republicans and Democrats alike.

In reviewing some of his comments on page five, and I quote, the Governor sarcastically remarks that his administration found the state to be in bankruptcy. He forecast a deficit for this biennium of $86 millions. I would like to ask the Majority Leader when I finish this statement to break down how he arrived at the $86 million figure. It was entirely new as far as we had heard. The last figures which we had showed a deficit of around $60 millions. As he well knows, and I mean the Governor this was caused by the corporate net income tax not producing what was estimated and the sales tax not producing what was estimated.

The Governor further states in his message, "the budget figures for the coming year compiled by the outgoing administration show"—and again let me draw attention to the fact that every man on this floor that has had any experience legislatively knows that the out-going administration does not compile or does not make a budget. This is the distinct responsibility of the new administration. It is not our responsibility to compile a budget. What he should have said was that this is not a budget but departmental requests and certainly we all know that our Governor cuts those requests considerably. Governor Fine during the last two years cut the departmental requests by approximately $60 million.

We know that it is human nature for departmental heads especially when they know they will be out of office within a short time, not to strive to make their requests too low or to particularly cut them too much.

Personally, perhaps we would have been better off if we had taken the attitude of the Governor and played a little politics. If we had done the same as Governor Leader we would have played politics and requested our department heads to ask for low amounts. That would have embarrassed the new administration. But this was not our attitude; we played fair. Governor Leader again states that the last legislature made enormous commitments and these are now pledges that the state must meet, and it did not enact a tax program sufficient to honor these committments, thus placing the state in bankruptcy. And as might be expected this administration inherits the full impact of a reckless fiscal policy in which the Republican Governors in turn and each Republican Legislature in turn has stated, "after us the deluge."

The Governor, in my estimation, is not consistent. He stated in the beginning of his speech that he is going to be a good salesman for Pennsylvania and believe me I am all for that and so is the Minority Party. I am a salesman and I know that it is hard to sell any goods. It is hard to sell Pennsylvania to new manufacturing plants and new business if we picture it as a state in complete bankruptcy, as he is trying to do. He further states in his speech that inasmuch as the Republican party bears the responsibility for the state's fiscal crisis, we the Republicans should join in an honest bipartisan statesmanlike attempt to reach a meeting of the minds on a fiscal program which will make Pennsylvania solvent once more. He deliberately tries to place all the blame and responsibility on the Republicans and tries to create a so-called fiscal crisis. Now, I believe that this is the quote to end all quotes. He further states in his speech and has the nerve after making statements like that to quote thus, "my administration will not adopt the political technique of exhuming the past to pollute the present." And may I present to you that for three preceding pages of that speech that is all he has tried to do.

Members, I have heard a lot of speeches on the floor of this House but certainly that one with that quote breaks the record after three pages of taking the Republicans apart and trying to place the blame on them.

Now, let us look at the record. We know the reason we need new money for the next biennium is for the soldiers' bonus. We all know that the mandated salaries for teachers, the transportation for school children, the school building authority, the GSA increase in rentals, the staffing of additional hospitals are going to cost money. And may I ask whether there were any Democratic votes for these bills? You're doggone right there were, for every single one of them, and I might say the Governor, voted for some of them. Every Democrat in the House and Senate voted for each measure. And I agree with them, they should. They would have been foolish if they had not taken that attitude. But I want to call to your attention a quotation from our present Speaker of the House when it came to placing the bonus bill on the ballot so that the people could vote for it. He stated that he would oppose the coupling of the soldiers' bonus with a horse-racing bill, but he says "but I am further opposed to coupling the soldiers' bonus with any tax."

Mr. Lovett, the gentleman from Westmoreland, stood on the floor of this House and stated I am like my colleague, Mr. Andrews. "I feel that the issue is a separate issue and should not be tied to any tax measure." That was the attitude and still is the attitude of the Democratic party. No Democratic vote was cast to try to balance the budget during the past sessions. There were votes cast for some of the tax bills but there were no votes cast to actually help balance the budget.

I would also like to quote from Senator Leader who is now so economy-minded, when he stated, and I quote, that he opposed the $425 million debt limit of the school board authority. His thinking was that the sky was the limit. He was opposed to the curtailment of the recreational program; he was opposed to the stretch-out of the schools' Health Program providing for examination on a three-year basis rather than a two-year basis, and certainly, let me assure you that all of us in the Republican Party did not want to oppose those things we would have liked the sky to have been the limit. We would have liked to examine the school children every two years instead of three. We would have liked to have been for everything we could in recreation, but unfortunately we had to provide the money and knew that we were not going to get any help.

Certainly to ask for bi-partisan support seems to me to be playing politics after statements such as that. There is an old saying in politics that a new campaign starts immediately after the last. It seems to me the Governor is starting to campaign. Perhaps it is smart politics, I do not know, but I do say he must remember that two can play at the game of politics. If he is asking for bi-partism support, let him be bi-partism in his talking when he addresses the House or makes speeches.

No man or woman of character is going to stand and take a slap in the face without fighting back, and certainly no political party will take a slap in the face without fighting back. Certainly there was no spirit of bi-partisanship on the part of the Governor, and I would like to remind him again that it is a two-way street.

All of us can forgive statements made in the heat of a campaign, but certainly this was a well-thought-out speech and was written in sufficient time to read and re-read it prior to delivery. In my estimation this was a premeditated attempt to murder the Republican party.

We in the Republican Party are men and woman who represent the people, and just because we are in the minority does not mean that we will not fight in order to see that matters are right. We again reiterate that. We will throw nothing in front of the incoming administration, but let the incoming administration remember it is a government for all of the people and not only of a few.

I might state here at this time that also in the Governor's speech he mentions the need of new money, and he states figures, four hundred, five hundred million, as though it means nothing. Those figures could just as well be one hundred million or two hundred million, and probably nothing. It depends entirely upon what the Governor wants to do. But I would like to make it clear to the people of Pennsylvania that we did not leave a deficit of four or five hundred millions for anybody. That is new money. If the Governor sees fit to go along and keep these laws enacted that is his prerogative. That is the only reason he is going to need new money, if he goes along with the mandated laws. He has the right, if the Majority Party sees fit, to amend those laws so that there will be no new money needed. That is a fact, we know it is a fact, and I believe, Mr. Speaker, you know it is a fact. Thank you.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. READINGER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, if the Chair does not stop referring to me as the Minority Leader, I shall address him as Your Honor.

Mr. Speaker, I wish to apologize to the Minority Leader for not having been able to listen to the first part of his address. I was detained on the rostrum on some business and the acoustics on the rostrum are anything but good.

I will, however, very carefully read the gentleman's address as soon as it is available in the Journal, and I assure you I will try to answer every statement he has made.

I gather from the part that I did hear that he has numerous and many complaints about our newly elected Governor and also about certain activities on the part of the Democratic membership of the House. Just what his complaints were in detail I do not know, but I do feel sure there is a good answer to all of them and it will be given in due time.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, the Minority Leader.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. I just would like to clear the record for the Majority Leader.

The minority at this time has no complaints whatsoever in regard to our new Governor, but we do have complaints in regard to our new Governor's attitude when he asks for bi-partisan support on one hand and uses a black-jack on us in the other.

PERMISSION GRANTED COMMITTEE TO MEET DURING SESSION

Mr. POLASKI asked and obtained permission for the Committee on State Government to meet during the session of the House.

PERMISSION TO ADD ADDITIONAL SPONSORS

Mr. WALSH asked and obtained unanimous consent to add additional sponsors to a bill to be introduced by him.

QUESTION OF INFORMATION

Mr. MORAN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of information.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. MORAN. Mr. Speaker, what is the Rule on the signing of bills? How many sponsors under the Rules at the present time are permitted to sign a bill?

The SPEAKER. Two sponsors unless permission of the House is granted for more.

Mr. MORAN. Mr. Speaker, I ask permission to add additional sponsors to a bill I want to introduce.

The SPEAKER. There being no objections, additional sponsors may be added.

PERMISSION GRANTED COMMITTEE TO MEET DURING SESSION

Mr. SARRAF asked and obtained permission for the Committee on Ways and Means to meet during the session of the House.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY SPEAKER

The SPEAKER. It may be of interest to the Members to know that we will be in session tomorrow, and we will also be in session on Wednesday.

For what purpose does the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McCormack, rise?

Mr. McCORMACK. To find out whether or not we will adjourn Wednesday. Will there be a session on Thursday, Mr. Speaker?

The SPEAKER. There will be no session on Thursday.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY SPEAKER

The SPEAKER. There is a little matter the Chair would like to talk about. You know, for years we always have had more or less commotion about verifying rolls.

A Member rises and asks was the gentleman from so and so in the Hall of the House. I am suggesting to the Floor Leaders that we charge the respective Whips with responsibility for answering when any Member questions as to whether a certain Member was in the Hall of the House, that the Chair interrogate the Whip and if the Whip says he was in the Hall of the House, the Chair accepts that statement. The Whips, on both sides, as a matter of honor. That would save us a great deal of fussing and a great deal of delay.

I do not know whether it will find favor, but I am suggesting that procedure to the respective Floor Leaders. If you like it, tell your Floor Leaders whether you think we ought to try it.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE

By unanimous consent leave of absence was granted as follows:

Mr. Kolankiewicz for Mrs. MONROE for the remainder of the week because of death in the family.

REPORT OF THE SAVING FUND SOCIETY OF GERMANTOWN

The SPEAKER laid before the House the One Hundredth Annual Report, January 1, 1955, of the Saving Fund Society of Germantown and its vicinity.

For Report see Appendix.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. VARNER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I admire your stand in regard to parking on the Capitol Plaza. I drove down from the hills of Clarion County today in anticipation of finding a place to park. I drove up on the ramp, and lo and behold, the ramp was full of cars. I figured all the Members must have gotten a new car, or perhaps the ramp and the plaza were filled with cars owned by job-seekers.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman file his request for parking space with the Chief Clerk? If he is unable to obtain service in that manner will he please inform the Chair?

Mr. VARNER. I shall, Mr. Speaker, thank you.

The SPEAKER. That space out there for those that drive should positively be retained for Members of the General Assembly.

The Chair will make very, very diligent efforts to see that that right is recognized.

PERMISSION GRANTED COMMITTEE TO MEET DURING SESSION

Mr. LOPRESTI asked and obtained permission for the Committee on Elections and Apportionment to meet during the session of the House.

PERMISSION TO ADD ADDITIONAL SPONSORS

Mr PACCHIONI asked and obtained unanimous consent to add additional sponsors to a bill to be introduced by him.

Session 1955. 141st of the General Assembly.

Vol. 34. HARRISBURG, PA., TUESDAY, JANUARY 25, 1955. No. 5.

SENATE

TUESDAY, January 25, 1955

The Senate met at 10:00 o'clock, a. m., Eastern Standard Time.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Roy E. Furman) in the chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. ROBERT H. STEPHENS, D. D., Pastor of the Market Square Presbyterian Church, Harrisburg, offered the following prayer:

Let us pray.

O Lord, our God, we pause as the day begins to offer Thee the tribute of our praise.

We thank The for all things that make life good; for home and family; for our duties and our daily bread; for the joy of litle children and the counsel of wise teachers; for the comfort of true comrades and the help of loyal friends. We thank Thee for life's labor, trial and discipline, and for the call to service through which we can have a part in making this world a better place in which to live.

Let Thy peace rule in our hearts this day, O Lord, and may it be our strength and our song. Prepare us for all the events of this day, its trials as well as its joys. Give us grace to deny ourselves, to take up our Cross daily and to follow in the footsteps of our Lord and Master, Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present, the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceeding session, when, on motion of Mr. MAHANY and Mr. WATSON, further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

COMMUNICATION FROM GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented communication in writing from His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth, which was read as follows:

GOVERNOR'S MESSAGE

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, January 25, 1955.

To the Honorable, the Members of the General Assembly:

It is my duty as Governor of the Commonwealth to call to the attention of the General Assembly certain steps which we must take immediately to assure the flow of revenues to the State and to provide funds for vital State services which cannot be shut off, although we find that the budgeted appropriations have been overspent and are approaching exhaustion.

I respectfully urge that appropriate legislation be introduced in the House of Representatives to re-enact the following "temporary" taxes, and that such bills be speedily approved by the House and Senate.

These taxes are:

Gross Receipts Tax on Public Utilities
Corporation Income Tax
Corporate Net Income Tax
Realty Transfer Tax
Fuel Use Tax
Liquid Fuels Tax, with the accompanying Farmers' Reimbursement

I also recommend the further deferment of the Manufacturers' Exemption from the Capital Stock and Franchise Taxes, which exemption has not been in effect since 1935.

While these taxes are still called "temporary," the fact is that they have become a basic part of the fiscal pattern of the Commonwealth, and their renewal at this time is an automatic necessity.

I suggest their re-enactment at existing rates under existing procedures. It will be recognized that the measures suggested do not provide a comprehensive revenue program for the Commonwealth in its present necessities, but their continuance is required to keep the State in funds to meet its obligations.

It will undoubtedly be necessary for the Commonwealth to issue tax anticipation notes against the receipts expected from these taxes. Accordingly, they must be enacted in the very near future to make such temporary borrowing possible.

At the same time that the General Assembly is thus securing the State's immediate cash position, it should act to meet the deficiencies which are occurring in departmental accounts which were underestimated at the time the State's budget was adopted for the 1953-55 biennium.

These deficiences are:

	Payable before 5-31-55	Payable after 5-31-55	Total Deficiencies
Department of Internal Affairs
Salaries and Expenses			$ 125,000.00
Department of Labor and Industry
Occupational Disease Compensation	$ 325,000.00		325,000.00
Department of Public Assistance	15,644,000.00		15,644,000.00
Department of Public Instruction
Salaries of County Superintendents and Assistant County Superintendents	27,973.00
Payments to Municipal Authorities	5,000,000.00	$ 6,711,000.00
Transportation	1,171,413.00
School Employes' Retirement Board—Contingent Reserve Account		967,004.00
Annuity Reserve Account No. 2 Interest Deficiency		7,537,457.00
Total—Public Instruction			$ 21,414,847.00
Department of State
State Employes' Retirement Fund—Interest Deficiency		2,650,655.00	2,650,655.00
Judicial Department
Supreme Court
Eastern District—Salaries and Expenses	$ 7,000.00
Western District—Salaries and Expenses	9,800.00
Salaries and Expenses of Criers and Tipstaves	6,600.00
Fees of Prothonotaries—all districts	1,000.00
Procedural Rules Committee	2,500.00
Board of Law Examiners	6,000.00
State Reporter—Salaries and Expenses	5,760.00
Superior Court
Expenses of Judges	4,900.00
Salaries and Expenses of Criers and Tipstaves	7,500.00
Dockets, Stationery and Supplies	1,500.00
Common Pleas
Expenses of Traveling Judges	30,000.00
Total—Judicial			82,560.00
TOTAL—DEFICIENCIES			$ 40,242,062.00

The figures given are the apparent amounts required to finance the obligations incurred or due to be incurred in the current biennium. They were compiled by my fiscal representative from information furnished by departmental controllers prior to the time of my taking office. During the six-week period that my representatives were engaged in their task, these figures changed almost daily. In fact, as I indicated in my message yesterday, as late as last Tuesday, January 18, 1955, the Deputy Superintendent of Public Instruction advised the then Budget Secretary that a deficiency of $9,251,220 for support of public schools which had been requested earlier will not actually be required. The reason given was a miscalculation. Neither my Budget Secretary nor I have been fully satisfied with this explanation, but because I am attempting to keep all appropriations to a minimum, I am not including this very large item in my requests.

Accordingly, the total deficiency appropriations requested come to $40,242,062.00.

It will be readily apparent that the two departments whose budget appropriations have proved insufficient are Public Assistance, which deals with relief, and Public Instruction, which distributes State subsidies to local school districts. Together, they are incurring more than 90 per cent of the total deficiency.

I trust that the members of the Legislature will agree with me that these departments must be put in funds to meet the policy in expenditures which the General Assembly has previously laid down.

These deficiency appropriation requests are based upon the accrual accounting methods which hold each biennium responsible not only for the cash expenditures actually made but also for the commitments incurred during that biennium. The State's new accounting system will be based upon this accrual method which will report the State's finances accurately at all times

The total of the deficiency appropriation requests is, of course, not identical with the estimate of the State's deficit for 1953-55. The total deficit will represent the failure of income estimates to be achieved, as well as expenditures that are in excess of budgetary allocations.

It is my hope that, in our work together, we can so formulate the 1955-57 budget for the State, and so carefully control expenditures made under it, that it will be unnecessary in future years to ask the General Assembly to pass important tax laws on an emeregncy basis or to make huge appropriations for departmental deficiencies.

GEORGE M. LEADER.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. BLASS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. BLASS. Mr. President, I would like to make a few remarks preliminary to the introduction of a bill.

Mr. President, ever since my entry into the Senate, I have been a strong proponent of the toll road. I have followed it with a great deal of interest from the time of the original Turnpike, through the Western Extension, the Delaware River Extension, the Northeastern Extension, and the Northwestern Extension.

Mr. President, in 1951, I introduced this same bill which passed the Senate, passed the House, but was vetoed by Governor Fine because he said it was premature. I know now that the age of prematurity is past.

Mr. President, in conjunction with Senator Chapman and Senator McMenamin, of Scranton, I am going to reintroduce the same bill.

Mr. President, this bill provides for the extension of the Pennsylvania Turnpike from a point at or near the city of Erie, on the Northwestern Extension, to a point at or near the city of Scranton, on the Northeastern Extension. The Northeastern Extension is in the process of construction. The Northwestern Extension is about ready to begin. This road, when completed, will provide a fine highway along the northern boundary of the State. It will provide access to the traffic coming from the great populace centers of the northwest, the cities of Cleveland, Chicago, Detroit, Minneapolis and Milwaukee, to New York. It will shorten the distance from Chicago to New York by a distance of about 200 miles. Instead of forcing traffic to go through the New York Thruway, from Albany to New York, this bill will provide a short and easy access, and it takes us through a section of Pennsylvania which needs development.

Mr. President, the reason I am such an advocate of the toll road is probably enhanced by the fact that this provides roads without any expense or burden to the taxpayers. Pennsylvania has taken its position, unique in this regard, that it was the originator of the Turnpike system. It should follow, and continue to follow, and provide these roads which carry no burden so far as the taxpayers of the State are concerned.

BILL INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Messrs. BLASS, CHAPMAN and McMENAMIN read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 21, entitled:

An Act to facilitate traffic in the northern section of the Commonwealth by providing for the construction, operation and maintenance of a turnpike from a point on the Northwestern Extension of the Pennsylvania Turnpike to a point on the Northeastern Extension of the Pennsylvania Turnpike, at such point as the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission may decide are the most feasible and practicable for the further extension of the Pennsylvania Turnpike, from or near the City of Erie in Erie County to or near the City of Scranton in Lackawanna County, or to a point on the Northeastern Extension of the Pennsylvania Turnpike; conferring powers and imposing duties on the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission; authorizing the issuance of turnpike revenue bonds of the Commonwealth payable solely from tolls to pay the cost of such turnpike and to issue notes or other evidences of indebtedness; providing that no debt of the Commonwealth shall be incurred in the exercise of any of the powers granted by this act; providing for the collection of tolls for the payment of such bonds, notes or other evidences of indebtedness and for the cost of maintenance, operation and repair of the turnpike; making such turnpike bonds, notes or other evidence of indebtedness exempt from taxation; constituting such bonds legal investments in certain instances requiring suits against the commission to be brought in Dauphin County; prescribing conditions on which such turnpike shall become free; providing for grade separations, grade changes, relocations, restoration and vacation of public roads and State highways affected by the turnpike; providing for the purchasing or condemnation of land and procedure for determining damages in condemnation; granting certain powers and authority to municipal divisions and agencies of the Commonwealth to cooperate with the commission; and authorizing the issuance of turnpike revenue refunding bonds.

Which was committed to the Committee on Highways

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. McMENAMIN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. McMENAMIN. Mr. President, I want to wholeheartedly endorse the remarks made by Senator Blass, of Erie, and say that this is a bill designed to give action to the crying problem in the coal fields of northeastern Pennsylvania. A Turnpike across northern Pennsylvania is not only sound and feasible, but it will have two immediate effects of benefit to the people of all of northern Pennsylvania. First of all, it will create employment in the building of the highway and, secondly, it will make northeastern Pennsylvania more attractive to new industries because of increased and better transportation facilities.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Messrs. PECHAN and McMENAMIN read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 22, entitled:

An Act providing for forfeiture of State and local public offices, trusts or employment and ineligibility to hold the same by persons refusing to testify on matters relating to the office, trust or employment on the ground of self incrimination.

Which was committed to the Committee on Judiciary General.

Mr. McCREESH read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 23, entitled:

An Act prescribing hours, rates and conditions of employment; imposing duties on employers in respect thereto; and providing penalties.

Which was committed to the Committee on Labor and Industry.

He also read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 24, entitled:

An Act permitting charitable, religious, patriotic or civic organizations to conduct the playing of the game of bingo when the proceeds thereof are used exclusively for charitable, religious, patriotic or civic purpose.

Which was committed to the Committee on Law and Order.

He also read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 25, entitled:

An Act providing payments to Philadelphia police for time spent on official duties in courts.

Which was committed to the Committee on Local Government.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. LANE asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, the bill that I am about to present this morning concerns the construction of a toll bridge across the Monongahela River from West Brownsville Hill to the top of Brownsville Hill. This bill is being co-sponsored by Senator Bane and, of course, myself, and the idea in support of presenting this legislation is the fact that in the Brownsville area there is a bottleneck as far as traffic is concerned.

Mr. President, the citizens of the tri-county area are strongly in favor of some measure which will alleviate the hazards which now exist, particularly on U. S. Route 40, which is our own National Highway and is known as the National Road. I feel that the construction of this bridge across the Monongahela River will have a great effect as far as business is concerned in southwestern Pennsylvania.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Messrs. LANE and BANE read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 26, entitled:

An Act authorizing the Department of Highways, with the approval of the Governor, to erect and construct a toll bridge over the Monongahela River connecting the State highway system in Washington County with the system of State highways in Fayette County, and to provide the necessary approaches and connections with such State highways; empowering counties to pay certain damages; providing for the collection of tolls; and making an appropriation.

Which was committed to the Committee on Highways.

Mr. YOSKO read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 27, entitled:

An Act making a deficiency appropriation to the Department of Public Instruction for payments to school districts on account of rentals payable to municipal authorities and nonprofit corporations.

Which was committed to the Committee on Appropriations.

Mr. BANE read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 28, entitled:

An Act making a deficiency appropriation to the Department of Public Assistance and providing for certain allocations therefrom for the purpose of carrying out the Public Assistance Law for the two fiscal years beginning June first, one thousand nine hundred fifty-three, and for the payment of assistance and expenses accrued or incurred prior to and remaining unpaid on May thirty-first, one thousand nine hundred fifty-three.

Which was committeed to the Committee on Appropriations.

Mr. RUTH read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 29, entitled:

A Supplement to the act, approved the twenty-second day of August, one thousand nine hundred fifty-three (Appropriation Acts, page 54), entitled "An act to provide for the ordinary expenses of the Executive, Legislative and Judicial Departments of the Commonwealth, interest on the public debt, and the support of the public schools for two years beginning June first, one thousand nine hundred and fifty-three, and for the payment of bills incurred and remaining unpaid at the close of the fiscal year ending May thirty-first, one thousand nine hundred and fifty-three," providing for deficiencies in certain appropriations made by the act for the fiscal biennium ending May thirty-first, one thousand nine hundred fifty-five.

Which was committeed to the Committee on Appropriations.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. LANE asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I believe that each and every member of this Senate fully realizes the serious problem of unemployment which now prevails within the confines of our Commonwealth. It seems to me that each and everyone of us would like to do something about unemployment because this great Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, which is supposed to be one of the richest States in the United States, is suffering from a terrible depression. It has reached home to us in western Pennsylvania, especially in the counties of Washington, Greene, Fayette and Cambria. We, in western Pennsylvania, are determined to do something about it.

Mr. President, the resolution I am about to present we hope will rectify this situation to a certain extent. At least, we are trying to do something to help or citizens who want to work and who do not want a handout.

Therefore, Mr President, on behalf of Senator Bane, Senator Haluska and myself, I present a resolution which really memorializes Congress to establish a public works program, something in which Pennsylvania and its political subdivisions can participate.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION REFERRED TO COMMITTEE

MEMORIALIZING CONGRESS TO ENACT A TEMPORARY PUBLIC WORKS PROGRAM

Messrs. LANE, BANE and HALUSKA offered the following resolution which was twice read and referred to the Committee on Constitutional Changes and Federal Relations.

In the Senate, January 25, 1955.

Whereas, Many Pennsylvania citizens are without employment and there is at least a probability that many more will be without employment within the foreseeable future; and

Whereas, It is impossible for this Commonwealth and its political subdivisions to bear, in addition to the burden of caring for the needy unemployables, the burden of caring for large numbers of needy unemployables; therefore be it

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That the General Assembly memorialize the Congress of the United States to enact legislation providing for a temporary public works program as a means of providing work for the needy unemployed, such program to be established in such a manner that the Commonwealth and its political subdivisions may participate therein, with the Federal Government contributing 60%, the Commonwealth 20%, and the county, city, borough or township 20% of the moneys required for the various projects; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be transmitted to the presiding officers of each house of the Congress of the United States, and to each Senator and Representative from Pennsylvania in the Congress of the United States.

SENATE RESOLUTION REFERRED TO COMMITTEE

State-Aided Colleges and Universities to Withdraw from Agreements Restricting the Broadcasting and Televising of Athletic Contests

Mr. DiSILVESTRO offered the following resolution which was twice read and referred to the Committee on Law and Order:

In the Senate, January 25, 1955.

A controversy of national importance has developed between the National Collegiate Athletic Association and some of its members in the matter of bringing collegiate sports events to the television public.

The N. C. A. A. through its television committee has decreed that in each football season thirteen inter-collegiate football games commonly referred to as "games of the week" may be telecast. These games are usually between comparatively large universities and colleges from all sections of the country.

In many cases, in fact, in most cases the television public has no interest in either the schools or the game itself, but has no freedom of choosing a game to view because no other game may be telecast.

In metropolitan areas many people who because of physical handicaps, age and employment are prevented from attending in person sports events in which their Alma Mater or schools to which they have attachments are engaged, and the only way they have to view these games is through the medium of television.

Viewing sports contests of colleges in which they have an interest would have a salutory affect on the very many persons who are institutionalized as well as the shut-ins and handicapped.

These are the ones who are really penalized by the rulings and arrangements of the N. C. A. A.

Interest in certain sports events in which colleges and universities are engaged should be the result of what the schools have to offer and certain sports events should not be foisted on the television public through arbitrary agreements; therefore be it

Resolved, That each college and university receiving appropriations from the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania withdraw from all agreements restricting the telecasting of athletic contests so that the contests may be available for commercial television; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be sent to the president of each college and university receiving State appropriaions.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WAGNER asked and obained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WAGNER. Mr. President, I want to send to the desk three copies of A Report of the Joint State Government Commission, dealing with Public School Building Subsidies. This is a Report which has been awaited by educators and legislators for quite some time. There have been many inquiries about it, and within the last half hour a copy has been placed in the mail box of each Senator.

REPORT FROM THE JOINT STATE GOVERNMENT COMMISSION DEALING WITH PUBLIC SCHOOL BUILDING SUBSIDIES

Mr. WAGNER, on behalf of the Joint State Government Commission, submitted the following report which was read by the Clerk as follows:

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA JOINT STATE GOVERNMENT COMMISSION

Of The General Assembly
P. O. Box 61
Room 450—Capitol Building
Harrisburg

January 25, 1955.

To the Honorable, the Senate of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

On behalf of the Joint State Government Commission, I have the honor to transmit herewith A Report of the Joint State Government Commission, Session of 1955, dealing with Public School Building Subsidies.

Copies of this Report for members of the Senate have been placed in their post office boxes.

Respectfully submitted,

BAKER ROYER, Chairman.

The PRESIDENT. The Report will be noted in the Journal.

HOUSE MESSAGE

HOUSE CONCURS IN SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced, informed the Senate that the House has concurred in resolution from the Senate as follows:

TIME OF NEXT MEETING

In the Senate, January 24, 1955.

Resolved, (if the House of Representatives concur), That when the Senate adjourns this week, it reconvenes on Monday, January 31, 1955, at four o'clock p. m., and when the House of Representatives adjourns this week, it reconvenes on Monday, January 31, 1955, at four-thirty o'clock p. m.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now adjourn until Monday, January 31, 1955, at 4:00 o'clock, p m., Eastern Standard Time.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The Senate adjourned at 10:46 o'clock, a. m., Eastern Standard Time, until Monday, January 31, 1955, at 4:00 o'clock, p. m., Eastern Standard Time.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

TUESDAY, January 25, 1955

The House met at 2:00 p. m.
The SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Reverend Harold J. Crouse, offered the following prayer:

Most merciful Father, Thou who art Eternal Goodness, we thank Thee that Thou hast chosen us for so many different adventures in life and that all the hopes and all the wonders of Thy divine skill and workmanship fashioned us for larger purposes, bigger ambitions, and greater services. Bless us now, Father, and the Representatives of this Commonwealth with originality in leading and planning. Keep them from unarresting conformity, thinking with other folk's opinions, from drifting along the usual ways. Help them and all of us to understand that there is something unique in every life, the dullest, drabest, most prosaic, something that even God cannot repeat.

Hear us, we pray Thee, as we now call upon Thee for help, strength, peace, grace and joy. Grant that we may all be kindly affectioned one to another, abounding in love, gentle and full of compassion, remembering that each walks a difficult road and each travels a lonely way. In Jesus' name we pray it. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVAL POSTPONED

The SPEAKER. Are there any corrections to the Journal of Monday, January 24, 1955?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I move that the approval of the Journal for Monday, January 24, 1955, be postponed until the Journal is in print.

The motion was agreed to.

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Mr. DOWNS. (Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 2.

In the House of Representatives, January 24, 1955.

From time to time the various practices, rules and regulations of the Milk Control Commission have been subjected to wide public criticism.

Members of the General Assembly have been asked by various groups of consumers and producers as to the propriety of the commission's rules, regulations and practices, particularly those relating to fixing of milk and cream prices and the reasons why milk produced in this Commonwealth and distributed in a neighboring state is cheaper when bought there by a Pennsylvania consumer than in the State wherein it was produced; therefore be it

Resolved (the Senate concurring), That the Speaker of the House of Representatives appoint a committee of three members of the House and the President Pro Temopre of the Senate appoint three members of the Senate, who together shall constitute a joint committee to make a thorough study of the rules, regulations and practices of the Milk Control Commission, giving particular attention to price fixing of milk and cream; and be it further

Resolved, That the committee may meet, hold hearings, take testimony and make its investigations whether the General Assembly is in session or in recess. It may issue subpoenas under the hand and seal of its chairman, commanding any person to appear before it and to answer questions touching matters properly being inquired into by the committee, and to produce any books, papers, records and documents as the committee deems necessary. Any person who wilfully neglects or refuses to testify before the committee or to produce any books, papers or documents shall be subject to the penalties provided by the laws of the Commonwealth in such cases. Each member of the committee shall have power to administer oaths and affirmations to witnesses appearing before the committee; and be it further

Resolved, That the committee make a report of their findings and recommendations to this session of the General Assembly as soon as possible

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Mr. WORLEY. (Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 3.

In the House of Representatives, January 24, 1955.

The President of the United States and his gracious wife, Mr. and Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower, have purchased a farm in scenic Adams County and have expressed the desire of making it their home in the near future; therefore be it

Resolved (the Senate concurring), That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania welcome President and Mrs. Eisenhower to become voting residents of Adams County; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted to the President of the United States.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

COMMUNICATION FROM GOVERNOR

The SPEAKER. The Chair lays before the House a communication from His Excellency the Governor in writing, which was read as follows:

Governor's Office, Harrisburg, January 25, 1955.

To the Honorable, the Members of the General Assembly:

It is my duty as Governor of the Commonwealth to call to the attention of the General Assembly certain steps which we must take immediately to assure the flow of revenues to the State and to provide funds for vital State services which cannot be shut off, although we find that the budgeted appropriations have been overspent and are approaching exhaustion.

I respectfully urge that appropriate legislation be introduced in the House of Representatives to re-enact the following "temporary" taxes, and that such bills be speedily approved by the House and Senate.

These taxes are:

Gross Receipts Tax on Public Utilities
Corporation Income Tax
Corporate Net Income Tax
Realty Transfer Tax
Fuel Use Tax
Liquid Fuels Tax, with the accompanying Farmers' Reimbursement

I also recommend the further deferment of the Manufacturers' Exemption from the Capital Stock and Franchise Taxes, which exemption has not been in effect since 1935.

While these taxes are still called "temporary," the fact is that they have become a basic part of the fiscal pattern of the Commonwealth, and their renewal at this time is an automatic necessity.

I suggest their re-enactment at existing rates under existing procedures. It will be recognized that the measures suggested do not provide a comprehensive revenue program for the Commonwealth in its present necessities, but their continuance is required to keep the State in funds to meet its obligations - - - - -

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will suspend. Will the Chief Clerk see that the workmen in the adjoining room cease their pounding.

The Chief Clerk is requested to notify the workmen to cease pounding.

The House will be at ease until the busy worker is so notified.

For what purpose does the Minority Leader rise?

Mr. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, to make a brief statement.

The SPEAKER. Without objection, the gentleman will proceed audibly

Mr. SMITH. I would just like to remind the Speaker that that was part of the Republican strategy, and you certainly have ruined it by sending the Chief Clerk out to stop the pounding. That was a Republican voter trying to get back in.

The SPEAKER. If the Majority Leader will take the place of the Minority Leader, or if the Minority Leader will take the place of the Majority Leader, the Chair will be glad to entertain what either leader has to say; but we cannot recognize the Majority Leader at the Minority Leader's post.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, is it permissible to speak without recognition?

The SPEAKER. The gentleman is out of order. We refuse to allow the Majority Leader to impose upon the Minority. We are here to protect the Minority.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Berks, the Majority Leader, in his right place and we hope in his right mind.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to inform the House that the Majority Leader is willing to speak from any position in the House, and would like to suggest that it is going to take a lot more than pounding to get that Republican back in.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will resume the reading of the Governor's message.

It will undoubtedly be necessary for the Commonwealth to issue tax anticipation notes against the receipts expected from these taxes. Accordingly, they must be enacted in the very near future to make such temporary borrowing possible.

At the same time that the General Assembly is thus securing the State's immediate cash position, it should act to meet the deficiencies which are occurring in departmental accounts which were underestimated at the time the State's budget was adopted for the 1953-55 biennium.

These deficiencies are:

The figures given are the apparent amounts required to finance the obligations incurred or due to be incurred in the current biennium. They were compiled by my fiscal representatives from information furnished by departmental controllers prior to the time of my taking office. During the six-week period that my representatives were engaged in their task, these figures changed almost daily. In fact, as I indicated in my message yesterday, as late as last Tuesday, January 18, 1955, the Deputy Superintendent of Public Instruction advised the then Budget Secretary that a deficiency of $9,251,220 for support of public schools which had been requested earlier will not actually be required. The reason given was a miscalculation. Neither my Budget Secretary nor I have been fully satisfied with this explanation, but because I am attempting to keep all appropriations to a minimum, I am not including this very large item in my requests.

Accordingly, the total deficiency appropriations requested come to $40,242,062.00.

It will be readily apparent that the two departments whose budget appropriations have proved insufficient are Public Assistance, which deals with relief, and Public Instruction, which distributes State subsidies to local school districts. Together, they are incurring more than 90 per cent of the total deficiency.

I trust that the members of the Legislature will agree with me that these departments must be put in funds to meet the policy in expenditures which the General Assembly has previously laid down.

These deficiency appropriation requests are based upon the accrual accounting methods which hold each biennium responsible not only for the cash expenditures actually made but also for the commitments incurred during that biennieum. The State's new accounting system will be based upon this accrual method which will report the State's finances accurately at all times.

The total of the deficiency appropriation requests is, of course, not identical with the estimate of the State's deficit for 1953-55. The total deficit will represent the failure of income estimates to be achieved, as well as expenditures that are in excess of budgetary allocations

It is my hope that, in our work together, we can so formulate the 1955-57 budget for the State, and so carefully control expenditures made under it, that it will be unnecessary in future years to ask the General Assemply to pass important tax laws on an emergency basis or to make huge appropriations for departmental deficiencies.

GEORGE M. LEADER.

The SPEAKER. The Governor's message will be printed in the Legislative Journal.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. READINGER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, during the 1953 session of this House, a practice was started which I think should be continued. At that time the now Speaker, and the then Minority Floor Leader asked the privilege of having printed in the Journal of the House the Democratic Platform which had been adopted in 1952. That permission was granted, the platform was written into the Journal, and as I recall the Republicans followed suit.

I think it is wise that this be done so that the public has easy access to the platform of the Democratic Party and can best judge after the Session has come to a conclusion whether or not we have fulfilled the promises made which were adopted in due course by the State Democratic Committee and the platform setting forth the various pledges made to the people of this Commonwealth.

In a moment I am going to ask that that privilege be extended again to print the Democratic Platform of 1954 into the Journal. I trust that the members of the Minority party will read the platform and will observe during this Session that bills carrying out every pledge are introduced and we assure you that we will do our best to pass through this House bills carrying out each one of these pledges.

I now request that the Democratic Platform of 1954 be printed in the Journal.

The SPEAKER. Without objection the platform will be printed in the Journal.

PENNSYLVANIA'S DEMOCRATIC PLATFORM

PREAMBLE

The Democratic Party in Pennsylvania is sincerely dedicated, as all Americans should be, to the preservation of Peace in the world, to the preservation of Freedom against Communist aggression and subversion, and to the rigid maintenance of America's unity of purpose with the peoples throughout the world who share our ideals and our hopes. We are proud of the impressive record of the Pennsylvania Democratic Congressional Delegation in support of these principles.

We believe in and have always advocated a truly bi-partisan foreign policy, and we will not endorse or condone opposition for opposition's sake. That is the prerogative of the cut-throat factions in the Republican Party.

NATIONAL LEADERSHIP WEAK

We deeply regret the weaknesses in the National Republican Administration which are the unhappy product of indecisive leadership, intemperate campaign oratory, and divided counsels. The spreading disillusionment which has cost us leadership and friends abroad, and enduring confidence and strength at home, is no source of comfort to us. We implore the President to use the unlimited power of his office to reassert our nation's once proud leadership in the world and to recapture that daring initiative which has now been lost by his administration.

We believe that this nation, under a liberal Democratic Administration, can attain full employment for its people without war. The Republican Administration obviously regards unemployment with complacency and callousness. Its index of prosperity is the stock market. Our index of prosperity is the employment office at mine, mill, and factory.

JOB SCARCITY SERIOUS

The Democratic Party believes that any unemployment is too much unemployment, and we pledge a determined, unceasing effort to awaken the Republican Administration to its grave responsibilities.

We condemn most strongly the Republican Party's bold attempt to conceal this seriousness of unemployment in Pennsylvania and the nation, reminiscent of the Hoover Administration, and we point out that it is only the economic safeguards built into our system by the Democratic Party that have kept us from a full-scale panic and depression.

RICH MAN'S TAX BILL

The Eisenhower Administration promised to be a middle-of-the road administration. Instead, it is frankly dominated and directed by the great corporations and banks.

Its tax bill is a rich man's tax bill.

Its housing bill is a mortgage banker's housing bill.

Its farm policy has reduced prices to the farmer, raised them to the consumer, and added to the profits of the middleman.

Its "give-away" programs have squandered the nation's tidelands oil, jeopardized our multibillion dollar investment in atomic energy, and restored the power trust to full strength and vigor.

GOP PLEDGES BROKEN

It has betrayed the confidence of millions of its supporters, quickly broken the campaign promises made to them, and failed to provide the leadership which they had hoped for. These things the Democratic Party will oppose to the full limit of its strength.

We believe in an America which can lead the world to peace and lead our people to full employment and rising living standards.

We believe the election of a Democratic Congress is necessary to achieve these goals.

DEMOCRATS ON THE MARCH

This is a year of great opportunity for the Democratic Party in Pennsylvania. It is an opportunity to serve wisely and well in the interest of the people as a whole.

It is an opportunity to banish from political power the ruthless and outmoded oligarchs of the Republican Party, who for years have subjected the people of this Commonwealth to long and violent abuse of Governmental Authority.

We need a new realism in State Government.

There is a basic and crying need for integrity and political morality to correct the evils we have suffered through the injudiciously managed affairs of our state government.

We have had government by secrecy, connivance, private deals, political favoritism and reprisals which are always the hand tools of the unwise and the incompetent.

Now the time is at hand for sound business judgment and moral integrity in the operation of our state government. The wastrels, the political medicine men, the financial jugglers and other perverters of orderly governmental processes must go.

Government of the type under which we have languished and suffered for so long extinguishes the hope of the people who look toward their government as a source of confidence and security.

REPUBLICANS FAIL PEOPLE

Responsible party government based on sound moral stability has ceased to exist in Harrisburg.

The Fine-Wood Republican record of indecisive leadership, bitter factional bickering, unredeemed platform pledges, continued concessions to the worst elements of the party, and cynical sacrifice of the interests of farmers, white-collar and industrial workers, housewives and small businessmen to those of a few favored corporations, demonstrates clearly that the Republican Party of Pennsylvania under such leadership is no longer fit to govern. It has renounced all right to public confidence.

In spite of record taxes and the highest debt of any state in the nation, we have lagged behind all comparable states in the quality and quantity of our state services.

WASTE AND CORRUPTION

The Fine-Wood Administration has been characterized by a trail of broken promises, the merciless macing of state employees for financing political feuds, reckless expenditures of public funds to bolster local political machines, shocking toleration of prison administrations that have produced riots and revolutions, secret tax settlements for campaign contributors, and stubborn refusal to eliminate costly waste and inefficiency in government.

Although elected on the solemn pledge that no new taxes would be enacted, the Fine-Wood Administration proceeded to levy the most iniquitous of all nuisance taxes—the General Sales Tax.

CLEAN UP THE MESS

In spite of the fact that large sections of Pennsylvania have sunk into a distressing state of economic stagnation, grimly reminiscent of the soul-searing Hoover depression, our Commerce Department, under absentee control, has been ineffectual and unimaginative in attracting new industry to these areas or in promoting the interests of native industry.

Clearly it is time for a sweeping change in Harrisburg.

The Democratic Party of Pennsylvania believes it is not enough to catalog the obvious failures of the Fine-Wood Administration. We and our candidate for Governor, George M. Leader, offer a positive program to restore the pride, prestige and prosperity of our Commonwealth.

DEMOCRATS OFFER HOPE

In this year, when the Democratic Party has lighted new bonfires of hope for the politically disillusioned people of this Commonwealth, it is our duty to combine, construct, reconcile, and bring into proper focus the issues in which the people have a vital stake.

We will not rest until the mess at Harrisburg has been cleaned up, all possible economies affected, and the overlapping of functions and bureaus and loose, uncontrolled spending eliminated.

An equalized tax structure, impartial and efficient tax collection and business-like budget control will be promptly instituted.

INSTALL ECONOMIES, END WASTE

By eliminating wasteful extravagance and stamping out the wide-spread tax-dodging which has robbed our school system of millions of dollars of desperately needed funds, we will improve the state's financial capacity to provide the greatest possible educational opportunities for our youth.

We will strive for an independent judiciary and to keep our courts free of political domination and control.

For the protection and development of our human resources, agricultural, industrial and natural resources, the Democratic Party of Pennsylvania pledges to the people of our Commonwealth the following:

REORGANIZATION OF STATE GOVERNMENT

To end the "mess in Harrisburg" through a complete reform and overhaul of our wasteful and inefficient state government in an orderly and systematic manner, and not through hasty and ill-considered action as was proposed by the Fine-Wood Administration; to pass a Governmest Reorganization Act, modeled after the Federal Government Reorganization Act, empowering the Governor to eliminate waste, inefficiency, and overlapping of state services; using as a basis the Chesterman Committee Report which revealed that after proper reforms, savings of $100,000,000 could be effected each biennium; to ascertain the true financial condition of the Commonwealth, which is now impossible under existing accounting systems, by establishing a modern system of accounting in accordance with the recommendations made by the Joint State Government Commission and approved by the Pennsylvania Institute of Certified Public Accountants, thus eliminating the practices which have enabled Republican Administrations to fool the people before each election by parading fictitious surpluses; to appoint, as, an administrative deputy to the Governor, a capable executive to supervise the administrative management of the sprawling state services; to improve personnel administration by a realistic revision of salaries and provide job security for professional and technical employees; to create a State Consumer Commission to represent the interests of consumers before the regulatory bodies and agencies of the Commonwealth.

TAXES

To abolish the General Sales Tax; to set up a more equitable tax structure, based on the principle of ability to pay, giving consideration to the taxes paid at local and Federal levels; to reconstruct Pennsylvania's hodgepodge fiscal structure; to eliminate the rampant waste, fraud and tax-dodging which has robbed our schools of desperately needed funds; to re-examine tax settlements and recover excessive refunds granted to favored corporations and taxpayers who are substantial Republican campaign contributors; to eliminate loopholes which afford opportunities for tax evasions; to provide a system of accurate budgeting to replace the antiquated hit-or-miss system now existing; to make appropriations to agencies of the Commonwealth in accordance with object classification instead of in a lump sum as at present, thereby eliminating the indiscriminate juggling of appropriations without proper approval.

STATE CONSTITUTION

To revise the Constitution of the Commonwealth for the purpose of streamlining and moderizing our state government.

ELECTIONS AND REAPPORTIONMENT

To carry out the Constitutional mandates governing periodic reapportionment of both House and Senate; to institute absentee balloting; to provide that a person who votes at least once every four years retains his permanent registration rights; and to safeguard the right of the minority party to have watchers and other election officials at the polls.

HEALTH AND WELFARE

To attract qualified and experienced technical and professional personnel into the Health and Welfare Departments under the full protection of a merit system; to encourage and strengthen local health units; to institute a policy of cure, rather than custody, for the mentally ill; to give the Bureau of Mental Health real authority to reverse policies which have retarded rather than advanced our mental health program; to staff our hospitals with well-trained personnel for the prompt and effective treatment of mental patients; to provide separate care for seniles and mentally-retarded children, and to set up clinical services throughout the state to prevent mental illness; to reduce overcrowding, bring about a reduction in cost, and alleviate the staggering human waste of mental care policies which provide life imprisonment for mental patients, rather than treatment to restore them to useful lives; to provide equitable reimbursement for hospitals providing free and below-cost care to needy persons; to establish a strong, state-wide program of preventive and placement services for dependent and neglected children; asd to insure proper care and training of the children of migrant farm workers.

HOUSING

To assist local redevelopment and housing authorities in their attack on urban blight which is destroying property values, providing breeding grounds for crime and juvenile delinquency and destroying the self respect of thousands of our citizens; to support in the Federal Congress a public housing program which will resume the rate of construction authorized by the Wagner-Taft-Ellender Housing Act of 1949.

EDUCATION

To make an accurate survey of the new school building needs of the Commonwealth, including all construction completed, authorized and projected by local authorities and the State Public School Building Authority, so that the long-range commitments of the Commonwealth can be accurately assessed, and the school building program, which has been brought to a virtual halt by actions of the Republican General Assembly, once more set in motion; to eliminate inequities in teacher retirement benefits; to maintain teachers' salaries at a level which will attract competent people into the profession; to strengthen the program of State Teachers Colleges to the end that they will supply more teachers to our schools and provide better continuing service to educational institutions and teachers; to provide equal educational opportunities regardless of race, religion or national origin in all state-aided schools, colleges, and universities; and to provide adequate educational opportunities for all crippled and retarded children.

COMMUNISM

To treat the Communist Party and its members as moral and legal outlaws, and deal with them accordingly; to pursue vigorously policies which will maintain a high level of prosperity and employment and thus eliminate the conditions which create a favorable climate for Communist subversion.

ATOMIC PROTECTION

To create a Civil Defense organization which can cope realistically with sweeping changes wrought by the rapid technological advances being made in the methods of atomic warfare.

CIVIL RIGHTS

To create a Fair Employment Practice Commission with enforcement powers. The record of betrayal of platform pledges on FEPC by the Repulican Party offers clear evidence that the only hope for the enactment of legislation to eliminate discrimination lies in the election of a Democratic Administration.

PUBLIC ASSISTANCE

To adjust the basic assistance grant so as to provide a minimum standard of health and human dignity, and to maintain the public assistance program as a state responsibility.

PUBLIC UTILITIES

To strengthen the provisions of the Public Utilities Act so as to provide greater protection for the interests of consumers, and to appoint members of the Public Utilities Commission who will make the public interest their primary concern, so that fair rates will be the objective of the Commission as well as a fair return on the investment of the utility.

HIGHWAYS

To abolish the Highway Department's control over local road affairs; to enact a home-rule road program which will give the political subdivisions a permanent and fair percentage of traffic earnings. This road program will result in the improvement of thousands of miles of state and local roads, save millions of dollars annually in local taxes for road purposes, reduce the state highway department's administrative and overhead costs, and stabilize the road building and allied industries.

MINING AREAS

To mobilize the resources of our State Government to attract new industries to our coal areas; to provide additional appropriations under the Mines Sealing Act for filling in strippings and fighting mine fires; to cooperate fully with a proposed Federal Mine Drainage and Mine Flushing Program; to provide an adult training program in our school system; to create a skilled labor force in distressed labor areas capable of attracting new industries to these areas; to expand our turnpike system by connecting the Scranton-Wilkes-Barre area with Erie.

VETERANS

To provide effective administration of existing laws relating to veterans, and to make adequate provision for the physical rehabilitation and vocational training of veterans.

LABOR

To repeal all anti-labor legislation enacted by Republican Administrations; to amend the Unemployment Compensation Law to provide that if a person qualifies for one week of benefits he will become eligible for the entire benefit period; to return to the original provisions of the law providing computation of weekly benefits according to the full weekly wage; to repeal the Lloyd Wood amendments which have placed the benefit payments of thousands of workers in jeopardy by granting concessions to favored employers; and to insure administration of the law which recognizes that unemployment compensation is insurance bought by the employee and not relief to the needy; to increase Workmen's Compensation and Occupational Disease Compensation benefit payments and extend payments for duration of disabiltiy; to liberalize definitions of compensation rights; and to change the statute of limitations in Workmen's Compensation cases from one to two years; to enact a fair Anti-Injunction Law which will require hearings before temporary injunctions and jury trials before permanent injunctions are issued in labor disputes; to require prevailing wage rates be paid on all government-sponsored contracts and projects; to provide that women in industry will receive equal pay for equal work; to improve the State Labor Relations Act; to sponsor a realistic minimum Wage Law; to provide that prison-made goods will be used only in state institutions and not sold in the open market; to oppose any attempts to eliminate labor organizations under the guise of "right to work" legislation; to vigorously enforce Industrial Safety Regulations and Sanitation Laws; and to enact legislation to insure minimum crew complements and crew requirements based on the general practice in the railroad industry.

NATURAL RESOURCES

To halt the "give-away" policies of Republican Administrations, both in Harrisburg and Washington; to protect the public's interest in the water resources of the Commonwealth, particularly the waters of the Delaware and Perkiomen Valleys, which are vital to the industrial growth of our state, in order that they do not become subject to abuse or monopoly control; to begin immediate negotiations with the states of New Jersey, New York, and Delaware and the cities of New York and Philadelphia to seek an interstate compact which will provide a permanent solution to the Delaware River water problem, and permanent protection of the rights of Pennsylvania, which have been bargained away by the Fine-Wood Administration; to institute a realistic anti-stream pollution program, beginning at the head-waters and working down to the outlets, instead of working toward the head-waters; to make the first complete geological survey of the state's mineral resources; to institute an effective program of restoration and reforestation of coal strip lands, and to institute a businesslike management of the Commonwealth's timber resources.

CONSERVATION

To inaugurate and carry out a state-wide conservation plan which will reclaim for posterity uprooted and ruined land areas; to restore fresh water streams to their former purity; to prohibit the cutting of virgin timber on state park areas; to rebuild the deer herd to some semblance of its former numbers; to install a small game restoration program to benefit farmers and sportsmen alike; to guarantee leaseholders on state lands their property rights and full cooperation in enjoying the recreation facilities of the out-door world; to grant proper rights-of-way on state lands to give gas well owners an even break in utilizing that great natural resource; to expand the stocking of county streams, ponds and lakes with various species of fish; to protect the sportsmen's interests in appointments to the Game and Fish Commissions and in the expenditure of the Game and Fish Funds; and to develop a state-wide program of ponds and lakes for recreational purposes.

LOBBIES

To enact a state law requiring registration of lobbyists and detailed accounts of their receipts and expenditures.

FARMERS

To eliminate politics from the Department of Agriculture and appoint a Secretary of Agriculture from the ranks of the farmers; to establish an effective program for the control of disease in cattle, poultry and plant life which emphasizes eradication rather than temporary control; to establish a promotion program for the distribution and sale of Pennsylvania's farm products; to base indemnity for herd destruction on current market values; to maintain, rehabilitate and expand the rural road improvement program; to extend rural electrification; to expand Pennsylvania State University's agricultural research and extension work, including a special study project on inoculation against brucellosis; to promote agricultural and home economics courses in rural schools; to institute a state-wide soil survey; to take the soil conservation service out of politics; to simplify the method of obtaining gas tax refunds, and to insure equitable compensation to farmers for losses inflicted by game.

MILK CONTROL

To end the dealer domination of the Milk Control Board by giving adequate representation to producers and consumers; to close the gap between the low prices paid the farmer and the high prices paid by the housewife; to establish uniform standards of inspection; to develop a more progressive program of merchandising; to defend the interests of the thousands of Pennsylvania farmers who sell their products in milk sheds under federal marketing regulations.

BUSINESS

To end the absentee control of the State Commerce Department, which has failed in its primary task of attracting new industry into our state and promoting the interests of our native industry; to give real assistance to local Chambers of Commerce, labor unions and civic groups which are striving to attract new industry into the state, with top priority to the distressed labor areas.

PHILADELPHIA

To provide adequate state support for Philadelphia in dealing with its health, highway, housing and home-rule problems; to oppose efforts at Harrisburg to weaken home rule powers; to support any legislation required to grant Philadelphia the right to complete City-County consolidation; to authorize immediately the construction of the Delaware Expressway by the state; and to grant Philadelphia a fair share of State Highway funds.

PITTSBURGH

To provide maximum state cooperation with the Pittsburgh improvement program, including completion of the Penn-Lincoln Parkway, development of the Point State Park, construction of a rail-river-truck terminal, the Ohio River Boulevard extension, and the Lower Hill redevelopment project; and to end the discrimination against Pittsburgh in the distribution of state school assistance, health and highway maintenance funds.

HOME RULE

To enact legislation to permit all cities to frame and adopt charters in accordance with their needs and desires; to oppose any legislative change in local tax structures unless the General Assembly concurrently transfers state revenues to compensate for any loss of revenue to the municipality; and to provide municipalities and school districts additional revenue by repealing the exemption of machinery from local assessments.

LIQUOR CONTROL

To examine and adjust where necessary, the policies, practices and procedures of the Liquor Control Board relative to merchandising, warehousing, licensing, enforcement and supervision of personnel to eliminate political favoritism and partiality, in administration; to administer the affairs of the Board with a full complement of Board members in accordance with the law and thereby remove the arbitrary and dictatorial atmosphere which has resulted when official business has been governed by less than a complete board.

STATE POLICE

To improve the status of the state police by providing uniformity in conditions of employment, job tenure safeguards, and increased pension benefits.

To redeem these pledges, the Democratic Party of Pennsylvania humbly asks God's help and guidance and the support of the people of this great Commonwealth.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, the Minority certainly has no objection, as we said last week, to the Majority's platform being printed in the House Journal. We will probably ask, maybe tomorrow or some day next week, that the Minority Platform also be printed in the House Journal and I hope without objection.

I would like to remind the Majority Leader though I am quite sure the Minority party will probably during the Session read this platform back to them several times when things are not accomplished.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, last week I believe I chided the Speaker on the fact that he was getting to be rather an expensive Speaker and I did not know whether the Commonwealth could afford him, particularly when he breaks two gavels in one day. That is a rather expensive Speaker. We have not been accustomed to that kind of expense, particularly when the Majority party is talking economy and I think it should start right at home in the Speaker's chair.

At that time the Speaker said, and I think he said it with disgust, as he held up a broken gavel, that if it would be possible he would prefer to work with something other than that gavel. And he said that he would like to have an old-fashioned bung-driver.

I would like to tell the Speaker that a bung-driver is just about as old-fashioned as a buggy whip. They just do not drive bungs today in beer barrels, believe me. There seem to be far newer methods, I believe that has also been based on economy, because with the newer methods you do not lose a drop.

After scouring around in several places I was able to procure something that I hoped the Speaker might like.

I have here a real bung-driver. Now, this is made for a man of brawn, not brains. I picked this one up but I just couldn't picture our Speaker handling a mammoth weapon like this and, believe me, it is heavy. The only person I can picture with this would be a man about six-feet-two with probably a Budweiser tumor in the front here, and the Speaker does not have the brawn nor does he have the Budweiser tumor that goes with this type of a bung-driver.

So I went to a little extra bother and got what we call the Liberace type. This is a little bit lighter. You can see it is far more delicate in stream-lining if you just compare the two of them. It is probably built more for the type of our Speaker who likes to get a firm hold on something like this without tiring himself out. It is more the aesthetic type and I though the Speaker might approve of that.

Before I went out I really found a pipper-doo. There she is. Look at that! Now there is one you can really get a heft on, you can take a full swing with it, and if you notice it gives the bung a more sporting chance because it is a little bit narrowish where you hit it. I did not know if the Speaker could use this. I thought I would give him a choice, because I can picture this Session being rather a long one, and I can picture a lot of long and lengthy speeches. I though maybe he might consider this, because I can see our Chief Clerk and the Secretary of the House when we need them to count votes, probably being asleep and they would probably have to count them twice anyhow to get enough votes. He might be able to lean right over and sort of tap them. Now, I suggest that the Speaker pick this type, but if he taps the Chief Clerk or the Secretary of the House I suggest he does it lightly because he might have them temporarily out of order. I have three of them here, and I thought I would give the Speaker his choice.

The gentleman who contributed these said he also was economy minded and I could have one of the three. So if the Speaker will take his choice I will return the other two. I will deliver them to the rostrum to see which one he would prefer.

The SPEAKER. Is this a gavel that I see before me it's handle toward my hand
Is this a scepter that beckons to greater power
A sturdy rod with which to tame an unruly mob
Or is it a snare—a symbol that bespeaks of liquid joys
That tells a tale of nightly wassail
Does the touch of this blunt instrument whisper caution
Beware the Smiths when bearing gifts
Is this a thing to Schlitz my throat
If perchance I wield it will I be sadder Budweiser?
Me thinks one day the giver of this gift did call me Pop
Could this perchance be Pabst Blue Ribbon?
With this in hand will one speak sternly of the Rules
Or in terms of lilting song sing of down where the Wurzberger flows.
I would not have it so. If one must needs relax
We would fain take our ease beneath the Anheuser-Busch.
The giver of this gift has spoken of the assassination of a party.
Could not one with this dire weapon plunk a party on the head.
Until we have fathomed the secrets of the plot
We accept this symbol of authority and say to him
Who is at once our friendly enemy and our dearest friend.
Lay on McDuff and damned be him who first cries: Hold, enough

Having embalmed this gift in the liquid amber of our remarks, we say to the giver that we will convert an instrument of intoxication into an instrument of sobriety.

The House will be in order and let the gentleman from Philadelphia remember that this instrument is lethal within a hurling distance of fifty feet.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, the poem was certainly unexpected. I do not know who sprang the surprise to the Speaker. I tried to keep it a surprise, but it was very worthwhile. If I had known the Speaker was going to advertise all of those out-of-state beers, I would have told him that these bung-drivers came from a Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, brewery known as the Gretz Brewing Company.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia does the Chair an injustice. I assure you that these recent inept remarks were purely extemporaneous.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. HELM asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, sitting in the Hall of the House this afternoon, I noticed an unusual glare. I tried to find out where it was coming from, thinking there might be something wrong with the lighting.

Finally I discovered on the third finger of the left hand of one of our brilliant and beautiful secretaries a gorgeous new sparkler. Mrs. Benedict has served the former Speaker, and is serving the present Speaker as one of the Secretaries in that office. I understand she is to leave soon to take up new work. If that ring means what I think it means I think this House should extend to her our best wishes, and our congratulations to the man, because he certainly is very fortunate.

The SPEAKER. The Chair greatly regrets that we will all soon cease to benefit by reason of her services, and we ask the lady to rise and take a bow.

By Mr. SARRAF. HOUSE BILL No. 31.

An Act reenacting and amending the act of May 16, 1935 (P. L. 208), entitled, as amended, "An act to provide revenue for State purposes by imposing an excise tax, for a limited period of time, on the net incomes of certain corporations, joint-stock associations, and limited partnerships; providing for the assessment, collection, settlement and resetttlement of taxes, and reviews and appeal therefrom conferring powers, and imposing duties on certain persons, corporations, joint-stock associations, limited partnerships, State and county officers, boards, and departments; making an appropriation; and providing penalties," extending its provisions for a further limited period of time.

Referred to the Committee on Ways and Means.

By Mr. SARRAF. HOUSE BILL No. 32.

An Act reenacting and amending the act of August 24, 1951 (P. L. 1417), entitled "An act to provide revenue for State purposes by imposing a property tax, for a limited period of time, on the net income derived from sources within the Commonwealth of certain corporations, joint-stock associations, and limited partnerships; excluding certain income; providing for the assessment, collection, settlement and resettlement of taxes, and reviews and appeal therefrom; conferring powers and imposing duties on certain persons, corporations, joint-stock associations, limited partnerships, State and county officers, boards and departments; making an appropriation; and providing penalties," extending its provisions for a further limited period of time.

Referred to the Committee on Ways and Means.

By Mr. SARRAF. HOUSE BILL No. 33.

An Act amending the act of May 21, 1931, (P. L. 149), entitled, as amended, "An act imposing a State tax, payable by those herein defined as distributors, on liquid fuels used or sold and delivered within the Commonwealth, which are practically, and commercially suitable for use in internal combustion engines for the generation of power; providing for the collection and lien of the tax, and the distribution and use of the proceeds thereof; requiring such distributors to secure permits, to file corporate surety bonds and reports, and to retain certain records; imposing duties on retail dealers, common carriers, county commissioners, and such distributors; providing for rewards; imposing certain costs on counties; conferring powers and imposing duties on certain State officers and departments; providing for refunds; imposing penalties; and making an appropriation," extending the provisions of the additional tax for a limited time.

Referred to the Committee on Ways and Means.

By Mr. SARRAF. HOUSE BILL No. 34.

An Act amending the act of January 14, 1952 (P. L. 1965), entitled "An act imposing a permanent and a temporary State tax on fuels used within the Commonwealth in internal combustion engines for the generation of power to propel motor vehicles using the public highways; providing for the collection and lien of the tax and the distribution and use of the proceeds thereof; requiring dealer-users to secure licenses and to file bonds as a guarantee of payment of taxes, penalties, interest, fines, uncollectible check fees and Attorney General's fees, to file reports and to compile and retain certain records; requiring registration of carriers for hire; imposing duties on such persons; requiring persons selling or delivering fuels to licensed dealer-users to furnish information; imposing certain costs on counties; conferring powers and imposing duties on State officers and departments; providing for refunds of taxes, penalties and interest illegally or erronously collected from licensees; and providing penalties," extending the provisions of the additional tax for a limited time.

Referred to the Committee on Ways and Means.

Legislative Journal.

Session 1955. 141st of the General Assembly.

Vol. 34. HARRISBURG, PA., WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 26, 1955. No. 6.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

WEDNESDAY, January 26, 1955

The House met at 10:00 a. m.

The SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Reverend Harold J. Crouse, offered the following prayer:

God of our fathers, who has inspired men of old to dream of better things and to give themselves in sacrifice and courage that their children might be blessed, give us the same faith. If at any time my country asks anything that is contrary to Thy will give me strength to stand against such wrong. Keep my love for my country from being blind. O Lord, let us never be afraid of the new. Make us receptive to new thoughts. May our minds never shut out Thy holy light and truth. May we everlastingly know that faith without works is dead. Now, O Lord, remember us and help us to accomplish our tasks without tension or strain that we may merit Thy blessing. For Jesus sake. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVAL POSTPONED

The SPEAKER. Are there any corrections to the Journal of Tuesday, January 25, 1955

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I move that the approval of the Journal for Tuesday, January 25, 1955, be postponed until the Journal is in print.

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Messrs. RIGBY and VAUGHAN.

(Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 4

In the House of Representatives, January 25, 1955.

Whereas, The financial problems of persons forty-five years of age and over have assumed striking significance due to the policy of private industry to discriminate against such persons forty-five years of age and over in the hiring of employes; and

Whereas, The problems raised by this discrimination involves intricate and basic problems of industry, and are of sufficient importance to warrant special and intensive attention by the Commonwealth; and

Whereas, The results of this discrimination presents the Commonwealth with increasingly serious financial, social and human problems; therefore be it

Resolved (the Senate concurring), That the Joint State Government Commission is hereby directed to make a comprehensive and intensive study of the employment problems in private industry of persons forty-five years of age and over, and particularly the reasons why they are invariably refused employment regardless of their qualifications and ability; and be it further

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission is hereby directed to report to the next regular session of the General Assembly its findings and recommendations, with such drafts of legislation necessary to carry its recommendations into effect.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Messrs. RIGBY and VAUGHAN.

(Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 5.

In the House of Representatives, January 25, 1955.

Whereas, A report known as the Chesterman Report has been completed and was made public sometime ago; and

Whereas, The said report sets forth the findings of an investigating committee which committee investigated the operations of the State Government for the purpose of determining what, if anything, could be done to reduce the cost of operating the State Government; and

Whereas, The said Chesterman Report makes various recommendations for reducing the cost of State Government; and

Whereas, It is the desire of every member of the General Assembly to reduce the cost of State Government, if the same can be done without destroying vital services to the people of this great Commonwealth; therefore be it

Resolved (the Senate concurring), That the Speaker of the House of Representatives appoints a committee of five Representatives and the President Pro Tempore of the Senate appoints a similar committee of five Senators to make a thorough study of the Chesterman Report to determine what practical recommendation of said Report may be adopted to reduce the cost of State Government; and be it further

Resolved, That the said joint committee make a report of their findings and recommendations to this Session of the General Assembly as soon as possible.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

RESOLUTION INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Messrs. BRETH and BANKER.

RESOLUTION No. 6.

In the House of Representatives. January 26, 1955.

In recent years there has been a tremendous increase in the use of the Commonwealth's game, fish, forest and water resources.

The resultant potential danger of the diminution of our heretofore abounding game, fish, forest and water resources is such as to demand the attention of the people of Pennsylvania; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House Committee on Conservation and Wild Life make a thorough study of our game, fish, forest and water resources and their proper use and management for the benefit of the public; and be it further

Resolved, That the committee may meet, hold hearings and take testimony. It may issue subpoenas under the hand and seal of its chairman, commanding any person to appear before it and to answer questions touching matters properly being inquired into by the committee and to produce such books, papers, records and documents as the committee deems necessary. Any person who wilfully neglects or refuses to testify before the committee or to produce any books, papers, records, or documents shall be subject to the penalties provided by the laws of the Commonwealth in such cases. Each member of the committee shall have power to administer oaths and affirmations to witnesses appearing before the commission; and be it further

Resolved, That the committee make reports of its findings, together with its recommendations for appropriate legislation to this session of the Legislature from time to time as their work progresses.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. BARNATOVICH. Mr. Speaker, I move that this House do now adjourn until Monday, January 31, 1955 at 4:30 p. m.

The motion was agreed to, and (at 10:13 a. m.) the House adjourned.

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

Legislative Journal.

Session 1955. 141st of the General Assembly.

Vol. 34. HARRISBURG, PA., MONDAY, JANUARY 31, 1955. No. 7.

SENATE

MONDAY, January 31, 1955.

The Senate met at 4:00 o'clock, p.m., Eastern Standard Time.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Roy E. Furman) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. WILLIAM M. BAYLE, Rector of St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Kittanning, offered the following prayer:

Almighty and most merciful God, Who has given us this blessed land to use for Thy purposes and to Thy glory, we ask Thee to bless and guide the Senate of this Commonwealth which is here assembled.

Enlighten these representatives of Thy people to do all things according to Thy plan and desires. May Thy grace keep them always conscious that they serve Thee and Thy people who live under their reign.

Watch over the people of this Commonwealth as they walk in Thy fear, and finally may we all have that peace and prosperity which only Thou canst give. All this we ask in Thy name, Amen

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present, the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. BERGER and Mr. SILVERT, further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR LAID ON THE TABLE

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced. presented communication in writing from His Excellency. the Governor of the Commonwealth, which was read as follows, and laid on the table:

RECALLING NOMINATION OF SAMUEL G. NEFF AS MEMBER OF THE UNEMPLOYMENT COMPENSATION BOARD OF REVIEW

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office. Harrisburg, January 31. 1955.

To the Honorable. the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

In accordance with the power and authority vested in me as Governor of the Commonwealth, I do hereby recall my nomination dated January 18, 1955, for the appointment of Samuel G. Neff. Ellwood City. Beaver County. as a member of the Unemployment Compensation Board of Review, to serve until July 1. 1955, and until his successor shall have been appointed and qualified. vice J. K. Clement, Dauphin, whose term expired.

I respectfully request the return to me of the official message of nomination in the premises.

GEORGE M. LEADER.

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES

Mr. BARR. Mr. President and Members of the Senate. today I invite the Senate Republican bloc to join with the Democratic Party in facing up to the issues now before the 1955 Legislature and resolving them on the basis of what is best for the people of Pennsylvania.

Mr. President, I, for one, am in favor of meeting the Republicans half way, so that we can get down to the solid business of evaluating all legislation before the Senate and House, and acting on it in a way that will benefit the people of this Commonwealth. I am opposed to fanatic partisanship when it militates against the public interest.

Mr. President, political responsibility is not restricted to one party, and I believe that if the Senators of both parties will sit down in a spirit of compromise and accord and dispassionately appraise the problems affecting the operation of State government, we shall find proper solutions. I do not believe that any Members of the Senate or the House would like to see this Session deteriorate into a game of political cutthroat, with the public holding the bag.

Mr. President, I am not one of those who believes that our Republican colleagues are less conscious of their public obligations than the members of my own party. I do believe that all of us should focus squarely on the gravity of matters affecting the over-all pattern of State Government.

Mr. President, Governor Leader is a sincere man. He is not the sort to experiment recklessly with the welfare of the Commonwealth. He knows, as does every Member of the Legislature, that we are in a bad hole financially. The causes for this dilemma are not the issue before us. We have got to find a remedy, and that is the issue.

Mr. President, the Democratic Party opens its doors to constructive thought and action on the part of any Republican who believes, as we do, that the interests of the State take a firm priority over political manipulation.

BILL INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Mr. FLEMING read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 30, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 19, 1913 (P. L. 534) entitled "An act relating to appointment of deputy constables," defining the jurisdiction of deputy constables.

Which was committed to the Committee on Local Government.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. McPHERSON, Jr. asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. McPHERSON, Jr. Mr. President, the year 1963 will mark the 100th Anniversary of two outstanding historical events which occurred on Pennsylvania soil, the 100th Anniversary of the Battle of Gettysburg and the 100th Anniversary of Lincoln's Gettysburg Address.

Mr. President, the Battle of Gettysburg marked, as all of you know, the high water mark of the Civil War, and the question of whether this land could exist half slave and half free was finally resolved. This land of ours went on to become the world leader it is today.

Mr. President, Lincoln's Gettysburg Address has long since become a classic in the English language. A mural depicting this event is on the wall in this Chamber.

Mr. President, much planning and preparation by State and Federal commissions will go into this celebration if it is to be commensurate with those historical events. We are hoping to focus the eyes of the world on Gettysburg and Pennsylvania in 1963, as liberty-loving people throughout the world rededicate themselves to that great cause of freedom for which those of 1863 on the Battlefield of Gettysburg gave "their last full measure of devotion."

Mr. President, so to allow ample time in which to plan for this great event, I am going to introduce a bill creating a commission and making an initial appropriation to plan for and carry out an appropriate celebration.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Mr. McPHERSON, Jr. read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 31, entitled:

Which was committed to the Committee on Judiciary General.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. LANE asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, the bill that I am about to present relates to that monstrosity which was passed at the last Session of the legislature; the legislation which exempted all industrial machinery in counties from the first to the third class, exempting second class counties, and also the legislation which exempted machinery from the fourth to the eighth class counties.

Mr. President, we on the Democratic side have felt that was quite an injustice. I think that our position at the last Session was justified by the actions which were taken by a number of the organizations representing the taxing bodies of this Commonwealth; namely, the County Commissioners' Association, the Association of Cities of the Third Class, the Burgesses' Association, the Boroughs Association, the Townships Association, the School Directors Association. These all go on record—mind you, all go on record—asking the repeal of this obnoxious legislation.

So, Mr. President, on behalf of my colleagues, Senator Yosko, Senator Holland, Senator Seyler, Senator Haluska, Senator Dent, Senator Schmidt, Senator Miller and myself, I present to the Chair the following bills, trusting that they will be committed to the Committee on Local Government.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Messrs. LANE, YOSKO, HOLLAND, SEYLER, HALUSKA, DENT, SCHMIDT and MILLER read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 47, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 22, 1933 (P. I. 853), entitled "An act relating to taxation: designating the subpects, property and persons subject to and exempt from taxation for all local purposes; providing for and regulating the assessment and valuation of persons, property and subjects of taxation for county purposes, and for the use of those municipal and quasi-municipal corporations which levy their taxes on county assessments and valuations; amending, revising and consolidating the law relating thereto; and repealing existing laws," including machinery, tools, appliances and other equipment contained in any mill, mine, manufactory or industrial establishment as part of the taxable value.

Which was committeed to the Committee on Local Government.

They also read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 48, entitled:

An Act amending the Act of May 21, 1943 (P. L. 571), entitled as amended, "An act relating to assessment for taxation in counties of the fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth classes; designating the subjects, property and persons subject to and exempt from taxation and county borough, town, township, school, except in cities and county institution district purposes; and providing for and regulating the assessment and valuation thereof for such purposes; creating in each such county a board for the assessment and revision of taxes; defining the powers and duties of such boards; providing for the acceptance of this act by cities; regulating the office of ward, borough, town and township assessors; abolishing the office of assistant triennial assessor in townships of the first class! providing for the appointment of a chief assessor, assistant assessors and other employes; providing for their compensation payable by such counties; prescribing certain duties of and certain fees to be collected by the recorder of deeds and municipal officers who issue building permits; imposing duties on taxables making improvements on land and grantees of land; prescribing penalties; and eliminating the triennial assessment," including machinery, tools, appliances and other equipment contained in any mill, mine manufactory or industrial establishment as part of the taxable value.

Which was committeed to the Committee on Local Government.

Messres. LANE and HOLLAND read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 49, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 1, 1929 (P. L. 905), entitled "An act for the protection of the public safety; regulating the use of highways, and the operation of vehicles, tractors, street cars, trackless trolley omnibuses, bicycles, pedestrians, and the riding of animals upon the highways of this Commonwealth; providing for the titling, including liens, encumbrances, and legal claims; registration of certain vehicles and licensing the operators thereof, upon payment of prescribed fees; prescribing and limiting the powers of local authorities to deal with the subject matter of this act; conferring powers and imposing duties upon the Department of Revenue, the Department of Highways, peace officers, mayors, burgesses, magistrates, aldermen, justices of the peace, the courts and the clerks thereof, owners of vehicles, and garage keepers; providing that records are admissible as evidence; imposing upon owners, counties, cities, boroughs, incorporated towns, townships, within the Commonwealth, liability for damages caused by the negligent operation of their motor vehicles; imposing penalties; imposing certain costs upon counties; providing for the disposition of fines, forfeitures, fees, and miscellaneous receipts; making an appropriation and providing for refunds," changing requirements for suspension and revocation of operators' licenses and learners' permits on first, second, third, fourth or subsequent violations of the motor vehicle laws.

Which was committed to the Committee on Highways.

Messrs. HOLLAND and LANE read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 50, entitled:

An Act providing for the regulation of lobbying; requiring registration of lobbyists, keeping accounts of contributions and of receipts and expenditures, reports and statements under oath by lobbyists and persons receiving contributions or expending money to influence legislation.

Which was committed to the Committee on State Government.

Messrs. YOSKO and VAN SANT read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 51, entitled:

An Act proposing an amendment to article two, section four of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania providing for annual sessions of the General Assembly.

Which was committed to the Committee on Constitutional Changes and Federal Relations.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE ON EXECUTIVE NOMINATIONS

Mr. WATSON. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make report from committee at this time.

To the Honorable, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

In accordance with the power and authority vested in me as Governor of the Commonwealth, I do hereby recall my nomination dated January 18, 1955, for the appointment of Samuel G. Neff, Ellwood City, Beaver County, as a member of the Unemployment Compensation Board of Review, to serve until July 1, 1955, and until his successor shall have been appointed and qualified, vice J. K. Clement, Dauphin, whose term expired.

I respectfully request the return to me the official message of nomination in the premises.

GEORGE M. LEADER.

NOMINATION BY THE GOVERNOR TAKEN FROM TABLE

Mr. WATSON. Mr. President, I call from the table the nomination of Samuel G. Neff, and ask it be read by the Clerk.

The Clerk read the nomination as follows:

MEMBER OF THE UNEMPLOYMENT COMPENSATION BOARD OF REVIEW

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, January 18, 1955.

To the Honorable, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

In conformity with law, I have the honor hereby to nominate for the advice and consent of the Senate Samuel G. Neff, Ellwood City, Lawrence County, for appointment as a member of the Unemployment Compensation Board of Review, to serve until July 1, 1955, and until his successor shall have been appointed and qualified, vice J. K. Clement, Dauphin, whose term expired.

GEORGE M. LEADER.

NOMINATION RETURNED TO THE GOVERNOR

Mr. WATSON. Mr. President, I move that the nomination just read by the Clerk be returned to His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth.

Mr. DONOLOW. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The PRESIDENT. The nomination will be returned to the Governor.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. SILVERT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, last year, LaSalle College brought prominence and honor to the State of Pennsylvania and to the city of Philadelphia when it won the National Collegiate Basketball Championship. This was done under the brilliant coaching of Mr. Ted Loeffler.

Therefore, Mr. President, on behalf of myself, as well as all of the Senators from the city of Philadelphia and Senator McMenamin, from Lackawanna County, whose county contributed a brilliant member to the team, I am presenting this resolution.

SENATE RESOLUTION

CONGRATULATING LaSALLE COLLEGE UPON HAVING CHAMPION BASKETBALL TEAM

Messrs. SILVERT, DONOLOW, CAMIEL, STIEFEL, McMENAMIN, DiSILVESTRO, WEINER and MULLIN offered the following resolution which was twice read as follows:

In the Senate, January 31, 1955.

The basketball team of LaSalle College recently won the National Collegiate Athletic Association championship. The outstanding skill, teamwork and clean sportsmanship which has been consistently displayed by the LaSalle College basketball team has brought honor and sporting fame to the State of Pennsylvania; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Senate extends its most hardy congratulations to the coach and to each of the players of the LaSalle College Basketball Team; and be it further

Resolved, That the Senate likewise extends its congratulations to LaSalle College upon its having a champion basketball team; and be it further

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Senate be directed to send a copy of this resolution to LaSalle College.

RULE 39 SUSPENDED

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Rule 39, which requires resolutions be referred to an appropriate committee, be suspended and the Senate do now proceed to the consideration of the resolution just read.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

It was agreed to.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

TIME OF NEXT MEETING

Mr. WHALLEY offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, January 31, 1955.

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That when the Senate adjourns this week, it reconvene on Monday, February 7, 1955, at four o'clock p. m., and when the House of Representatives adjourns this week, it reconvene on Monday, February 7, 1955, at four-thirty o'clock p. m.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. LANE asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, the resolution that I am about to present to this august body pertains to the problem of unemployment in western Pennsylvania and especially in my home county of Washington.

Mr. President, as far as this particular case is concerned, I might say that the President of the United States, the two United States Senators, our local Congressman, our Governor and his representatives have all visited in Muse, in Cecil Township, in my county.

Mr. President, this resolution has to do with the closing of the National Number 3 mine of the United States Steel Corporation. This particular plight and problem of this community has been highly publicized. Recently I had a conversation with a number of prominent industrialists in my county and they feel that if Congress and the office of Defense Mobilization were properly advised as to what could be done, we could alleviate to a certain extent the plight of this coal mining town where approximately 1200 to 1400 people are now unemployed.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION REFERRED TO COMMITTEE MEMORIALIZING CONGRESS REGARDING THE PLACING OF CERTAIN DEFENSE ORDERS

Mr. LANE offered the following resolution which was twice read and referred to the Committee on Constitutional Changes and Federal Relations.

In the Senate, January 31, 1955.

The closing of National No. 3 Mine of the United States Steel Corporation located in Cecil Township, Washington County, Pennsylvania, has left in its wake a great human and social problem resulting from unemployment.

Washington County has suffered widely felt repercussions from that closing.

Much of the problem so created can be alleviated and the problems of unemployment solved by giving the opportunity for the filling of contracts for the manufacture of transformers to the Pennsylvania Transformer Company, of Canonsburg, Washington County, Pennsylvania, for use by the United States Department of Defense.

Due to existing facilities and available labor, transformers can be produced as cheaply and efficiently, and perhaps more cheaply and efficiently, in this area by the Pennsylvania Transformer Company as in any other area of the Nation.

The problems of this area have received sympathetic recognition from both Federal and State officials of both major political parties; therefore be it

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania memorialize the Congress of the United States to take such steps as are necessary for the purpose of providing for placing of orders for transformers for use of the United States Depatment of Defense with the Pennsylvania Transformer Company of Canonsburg, Washington County, Pennsylvania; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be transmitted to presiding officers of each house of Congress of the United States, and to each Senator and Representative from Pennsylvania in the Congress of the United States.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. HALUSKA asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, next Monday, God willing, I expect to speak on one of the most controversial issues of the day. Next Monday, I expect to devote at length my version, the little knowledge I have, of cancer.

Mr. President, last year, back in the county of Cambria, an issue was started which was carried by practically every newspaper in the country. I serve notice now so that the medicos of the Commonwealth, the American Cancer Society, Walter Winchell, John Teeter, Executive Director of the Damon Runyon Fund, and others may be here or have someone here to hear my story.

Mr. President, I mention these names because the ones whom I have mentioned are men who contacted me and endeavored to stop my crusade in person. They are entitled to be present to hear my story.

So, Mr. President, with the consent of this Senate, my colleagues here, I expect next Monday to bring to the people of America and this Chamber the true facts in so far as the treatment in the curing of cancer is concerned.

BILL INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to introduce a bill at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Messrs. DENT and PECHAN read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 52, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 1, 1929 (P. L. 905), entitled "An act for the protection of the public safety; regulating the use of highways, and the operation of vehicles, tractors, street cars, trackless trolley omnibuses, bicycles, pedestrians, and the riding of animals upon the highways of this Commonwealth; providing for the titling, including liens, encumbrances, and legal claims; registration of certain vehicles and licensing the operators thereof upon payment of prescribed fees; prescribing and limiting the powers of local authorities to deal with the subject matter of this act; conferring powers and imposing duties upon the Department of Revenue, the Department of Highways, peace officers, mayors, burgesses, magistrates, aldermen, justices of the peace, the courts and the clerks thereof, owners of vehicles, and garage keepers; providing that records are admissible as evidence; imposing upon owners, counties, cities, boroughs, incorporated towns, townships, within the Commonwealth, liability for damages caused by the negligent operation of their motor vehicles; imposing penalties; imposing certain costs upon counties; providing for the disposition of fines, forfeitures, fees, and miscellaneous receipts; making an appropriation and providing for refunds," providing for the issuance of restricted licenses; requiring governors on vehicles operated by restricted licensees; and imposing penalties.

Which was committed to the Committee on Highways.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now adjourn until Tuesday, February 1, 1955, at 10:00 o'clock, a. m., Eastern Standard Time.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The Senate adjourned at 5:05 o'clock, p. m., Eastern Standard Time, until Tuesday, February 1, 1955, at 10:00 o'clock, a. m., Eastern Standard Time.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

MONDAY, January 31, 1955

The House met at 4:30 p. m.
The SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Reverend Harold J. Crouse, offered the following prayer:

O God, Who art the same yesterday, today and forever, it is by Thy mercy that we are permitted to live this day. Thou hast set before each of us an untravelled way, full of mystery, pathos and beauty; grant us Thy kindly light to lead us on. Let not the beauty of Thy radiance fade lest we lose our way. Let Thy light and beauty shine down the untrodden way. Hear our prayer for these Representatives. Give them courtesy, meekness of bearing, charity, sincerity of speech, and diligence in their allotted tasks. Where deed of theirs can help to make this world a better place for men to live in, where word of theirs can bring renewed hope and cheer to fellow travellers in distress, and where prayer of theirs can hasten the brotherhood of men, there let them do and speak and pray. In Jesus' name. Amen.

JOURNALS APPROVED

The SPEAKER. Are there any corrections to the Journals of Monday, January 24, Tuesday, January 25, and Wednesday, January 26, 1955? If not, and without objection, the Journals are approved.

BILL INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Mr. WORLEY HOUSE BILL No. 57

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to article eight, section one of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania giving citizens eighteen years of age the right to vote.

Referred to the Commitee on State Government.

PETITION

SCHENLEY SPORTSMAN'S ASSOCIATION—PROTESTING STREAM POLLUTION

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION—PUERTO RICO

CONDEMNING AGGRESSION AGAINST DEMOCRACY IN COSTA RICO

The SPEAKER laid before the House a Concurrent Resolution of the House of Representatives and Senate of the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico condemning the aggression against democracy in Costa Rica.

The SPEAKER. The resolution will be printed in the Legislative Journal.

COMMONWEALTH OF PUERTO RICO LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY
CAPITOL
San Juan, Puerto Rico

We, Nestor Rigual Comacho and Julio C. Torres, Secretory of the House of Representatives and the Senate of the Mommonwealth of Puerto Rico, respectively, CERTIFY:

That in sessions held by the House of Representatives and the Senate of the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico the fourteenth of January nineteen hundred and fifty-five, the following concurrent resolution was approved:

"CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

"To condemn the aggression which is being inflicted to democracy in Costa Rica, and for other purposes.

"Whereas, democracy is being attacked in one of its most prominent bastions in America, the Republic of Costa Rica;

"Whereas, the people of Costa Rica being an exemplary expression of democratic reality, the aggression which is being perpetrated against it there must be necessary put on the alert all Americans who profess the conviction that it is on the democratic realty that the foundations of the freedom and the security of the peoples of the New World are settled;

"Whereas, the people of Puerto Rico firmly believe in the great virtue of democracy as well as in friendship and peace among peoples;

"Whereas, the Costa Rican people and the Puerto Rican people are fully identified by their common belief in the principles of democracy and by their mutual earnest desire that those principles be not impaired, so that they may contribute towards guaranteeing the substances and integrity of democracy in America;

"Whereas, any attempt at destroying by violence a government established by the free will of the governed constitutes a menace which makes it imperative, for the preservation of democracy in America, to mobilize, in a militant moral force, the conscience of the free peoples of the New World;

"Whereas, we Puerto Ricans firmly believe that any aggression against the democratic institutions of this hemisphere constitutes a serious danger to the integrity of these institutions in America.

"Be it resolved by the Legislative Assembly of the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico:

"1. To condemn, as it does hereby condemn, the aggression which is being inflicted to democracy in Costa Rica;

"2. To express the respect and admiration of the Puerto Rican people for the men who in Costa Rica uphold, with a high spirit and a profound devotion, the integrity of the democratic principles against the aggression of those who pretend to destroy by force of arms a government established by the strength of the popular will;

"3. To ratify before the democratic peoples of the world its expression of solidarity with the people of Costa Rica, exhorting them to convey that same expression of solidarity, with their faith placed in the divine justice of Almighty God;

"4. To send a copy of this Resolution to the Congress of the United States, the Parliaments of all the Republics of Lation American, the Legislative Assemblies of all the States of the United States, the United Nations Organization, the Organization of American States and to the free press of America."

In order to certify this, we give this certificate signed by us in our offices at the Capitol, in San Juan, Puerto Rico, this fifteenth day of January nineteen hundred and fifty-five.

BILLS ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1, entitled

An Act providing for reorganizations of agencies and functions of the State Government by the Governor subject to disapproval by the General Assembly; and authorizing the transfer, abolition, consoldiation and coordination of agencies and functions and the authorization of State officers to delegate functions.

The first to fourth sections inclusive were separately read and agreed to.

The fifth section was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. READINGER offered the following amendment:

Amend Section 5, page 7, by inserting between lines 15 and 16 the following:

(6) Shall enumerate all acts of the General Assembly which may be suspended if the reorganization plan becomes effective

It was agreed to.

The section was agreed to as amended.

The sixth to thirteenth sections inclusive and title were separately read and agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on second reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to transcribe the bill for third reading?

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I rise first of all to interrogate the Majority Leader and then to make a brief statement.

The SPEAKER. Will the Majority Leader permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. READINGER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I would first of all like to ask the Majority Leader if he has in his possession at this time Press release No. 11 which was the Governor's Press release as to the temporary taxes?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I do not.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. I will send one over to the Majority Leader.

I wonder if the gentleman will turn to page 2 at the top of the page, where there is a statement from the Governor and I quote:

> "It will undoubtedly be necessary for the Commonwealth to issue tax anticipation notes against the receipts expected from these taxes. Accordingly, they must be enacted in the very near future to make such temporary borrowing possible."

I would like to ask the Majority Leader if that is a true statement in his estimation.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I Would say in answer to the gentleman's question that it is slightly misleading. It is not an untrue statement, because the words "very near future" could mean next May, next June, next July, next year; it is a matter of how you interpret the words.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, would we be perfectly right in interpreting the words to mean that as long as a tax program is now on the calendar, and it has been given to us in a tax message that it might mean immediately?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, it could mean that. I do not believe it was intended to mean immediately.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, let me ask the Majority Leader is there any other statement in the Governor's statement, or any other excuse that the taxes be enacted immediately

Mr. READINGER. I am not sure I understand the gentleman's question, Mr. Speaker.

I do not think there is any statement in this whole message which says that it is imperative that we enact this tax or any other tax immediately.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, perhaps I can clear the gentleman's thinking.

The Governor is coming before us with a Press release stating that he "respectfully urges that the appropriate legislation be introduced in the House of Representatives to reenact the following temporary taxes, and that such bills"—and I use these words from the Governor" —be speedily approved by the House and the Senate."

What would the Majority Leader's interpretation of the word "speedily" mean—several months from now?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, no, I think the Governor hoped when he wrote this message that we would speedily reenact these particular tax measures.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I would then like to ask the gentleman, if this is a deliberate attempt to fool the House and the people of Pennsylvania, because when he fools the House he fools the people of Pennsylvania, or has this been done because of lack of knowledge of governmental affairs?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I firmly believe, and firmly state that there was certainly no intention to deceive the House when this message was written and sent to the House.

I think the paragraph the Minority Leader first read was not too well thought out, but I say it is not a misstatement because it is a matter of how you interpret the words "in the very near future."

The Governor has every right, in my opinion, to request that we speedily enact a certain measure that he thinks is wise. And that is what he is asking us to do in this message.

The SPEAKER. Might the Chair suggest that perhaps this interrogation would be more proper when the bills are on final passage?

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. If the Chair would go along with out thinking . . .

The SPEAKER. The Chair is willing to permit the Minority Leader to show his political goods at the time he believes is most opportune, but the Chair believes that it would be more in keeping if this particular discussion were deferred until the bills are on third reading.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. For the information of the Chair, I am only trying to establish a definite policy, not so much toward the bills as toward the Governor's release that was made January 25th, and I have tried to direct some thinking as to the Governor's release.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman may proceed, but the Chair would suggest that he confine himself to the statements and interrogate the Majority Leader when the bills are on final passage.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. If the Chair will allow me, I would still like to interrogate the Majority Leader in regard to the Governor's statement.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman may proceed.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, if the Majority Leader will go down just a little bit further on page 2, he will notice these words: "These deficiencies are"—and then we have "payable" before three columns—"payable before 5-31-55," "payable after 5-31-55." There we have a figure of $600,711,967, and so on. They are listed in the Governor's statement as deficiencies.

I would like to ask the Majority Leader how we can have a deficiency for the next biennium before money is appropriated.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, it seems quite simple to me. We have deficiencies too often during a biennium.

We have, for example, an appropriation made to the Public Assistance Department during the '53 session. We estimate how much we are going to need, but if we need more than that frequently funds are transferred from other appropriations and there is a deficiency. And there will no doubt be very serious deficiencies at the end of this biennium, May 31, 1955.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I would like to call the gentleman's attention to what it says "payable after May 31, 1955". It is not occupying in this biennium.

Mr. READINGER. The item that I am looking at is designated "payments to municipal authorities".

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. On page 2, second column. The head of the column is "payable after 5-31-55."

The only reason I bring this to the Majority Leader's attention is this and again we are wondering whether this was intentional or not in the Governor's message. We are using the words "deficiency of $17 million" and it is not a deficiency. They are committed funds for the next biennium and they are not deficiencies at this stage of the game. We do not have deficiencies before we even get into a biennium wnen money has not been appropriated

I am just wondering if the Governor in his message might be trying to build up a larger deficiency by trying to put it in, or trying to infer that it is in the biennium rather than the biennium starting May 31, 1955.

Mr. READINGER. I am sure the Governor and all of his assistants have no desire to build up the deficiency for this biennium. It is going to be large enough without building it up.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I would like to say this will finish the interrogation.

I would prefer when the Governor makes these statements, tnat his experts certainly use the proper wording and not try to slide in some deficiencies that we have nothing whatever to do with in this biennium.

At this time, Mr. Speaker, I would like to make a brief statement.

Mr. READINGER. May I interrupt before he makes his statement, Mr. Speaker?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia yield?

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. I will, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Berks will proceed.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the Minority Leader if he is suggesting that I tell the Governor's office what to do in preparing messages which are to be sent over here?

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I would suggest that I know of no one better qualified, because certainly we do not have an entree there.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will put his interrogations through the Chair to the gentleman, and proceed.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. I would like to suggest, Mr. Speaker, that at the time the Majority Leader makes this suggestion to the Governor that he again remind him that tne gasoline tax and the liquid fuel tax are not taxes which go into the general fund, and if they are going to be included in the general fund taxes, I think he should be a bit more specific, because to me, this looks like a deliberate attempt to fool the public.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Today, Mr. Speaker, we are placed in a very unusual position—one without parallel in the history of this Legislature. We have a series of bills coming up on second reading to reenact a number of so-called "temporary taxes" which will bring in revenue in the 1955-57 biennium.

The Governor in his message said that we should reenact these taxes because he plans shortly to sell tax anticipation notes. We have shown, and if the Governor will refer to the law, he will find that he canot issue tax anticipation notes now against next biennium's taxes. He should know that. I believe you know it and I think we know it. If that was his plan, and he gives no other excuse in his message, then I ask why the rush? Under the law, he cannot raise a single penny of these taxes until after June 1st when the new biennium begins. If there is a need for tax revenue now, passing these taxes certainly will not provide the answer.

It is very unusual and contrary to the Administrative Code for the Governor to be asking us to pass taxes without telling us what amount of revenue he expects them to produce. There is not a single word in his message about this to the Legislature. He does not tell us in one word how much money this will produce.

And I might quote from the Administrative Code of 1929, Section 602, which provides as follows:

> "As soon as possible after the organization of the General Assembly, the Governor shall"—and I want to be emphatic, the word is "shall."
> "submit a state budget embracing therein the amounts recommended by him to be appropriated to the General Assembly, the Judiciary Department, the Governor, and the several administrative departments, boards and commissions of the state government, and to institutions within the state, and for all other public purposes."
> Kindly pay attention to these next words—
> "the estimated revenues or receipts from any and all sources and the estimated amount to be raised by taxation, or otherwise, together with such budget. The Governor shall transmit the estimate of receipts and expenditures."
> That is the law.

Less than a month ago we were promised by the present Speaker of the House that there would be no budgetary mysteries, yet here today we are confronted with an unprecedented demand that we vote for taxes, without a single estimate of the revenue involved, from the Governor.

Why are you in such a rush? And let me honestly ask you, what are you up to? Because we don't know. What are you up to? Who are you trying to fool? What are you trying to conceal? Again let me ask you, what are you up to? Is this a slick hoax to fool the people of Pennsylvania? We want to help, but for God's sake, tell us what you are up to. Tell the people of Pennsylvania what you are up to. Don't just come in here and throw these things at us. Don't just evade the Administrative Code and throw these things at us on that basis. Why are you trying to sidestep the plain provisions of the Administrative Code which states that it is the duty of the Governor to submit an estimate of revenues when he requests the legislature to enact taxes.

These taxes can wait until after the budget is ready. There is no emergency. We know it and you know it and the people of Pennsylvania know that there is no emergency at this time. These taxes are on the books now and will not expire until May 31st. That gives the Governor ample time to prepare his budget.

Only last week he told the Press and this is the Governor,—that his budget and his tax program would be ready in a month or so. A month or so will not take him past May 31st. So what's the hurry? Let us do these things in the orderly and legal way. Let us follow the advice that our Speaker gave this House so many times when he was in the minority, and I hate to always bring our Speaker back into this, but fortunately or unfortunately for him he was the voice of the minority for many years, and our Speaker said "let's refuse to be rubberstamped." Let us courteously but firmly explain to the Governor that the legislature is a separate branch of our Government and that it is entitled to know all the facts before it is asked to vote on taxes.

We should know how much money the administration is going to need in the next biennium to carry out its program. We should know how much these taxes, and our permanent taxes, and all other sources of revenue are going to provide, and how much additional revenue will be needed over and above that.

We should be given facts and figures on what will be needed in additional revenue for the rest of this biennium and how it is to be raised. Certainly the taxes we are considering here today have nothing to do with that problem, because none of them come into effect until June 1st. Some of this revenue won't fall due until the spring of 1957.

Again let me ask you what are you up to? So far the majority has been unable to give us a single valid reason for action on these taxes now.

The SPEAKER. At what point did the gentleman from Philadelphia cease quoting the Speaker.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. I would say several lines back, sir.

The SPEAKER. The Chair thanks the gentleman.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. For the Speaker's information I will be quoting him very shortly again.

So far the Majority Leader has been unable to give us a single valid reason for action on these taxes.

I am going to be very blunt again. Please tell us what you are up to. Are you trying to keep us second—guessing you? Stop trying to fool the people of Pennsylvania. The reasons so far given for this haste do not make sense. You know it and we know it. There could be several reasons though that you are not giving, why you might want to pass these taxes at this time.

Now I told you, you are going to force us to second-guess you, so we are going to try to secondguess you.

Let me ask you, first, are you trying to fool the people into believing that this will solve the Commonwealth's fiscal problems if we pass these taxes? Are you planning to take a long recess and get us out of here until late this year? Are we to be called back here to finish the job after the election in November? Will that give the Democrats a chance this fall to say to the people, "See, we didn't pass any new taxes." And that would be quite true if this is the only tax program. We give you up until January 1st, and it might be very advantageous to say that right before an election. Are you going to wait until the need for additional revenue is so desperate, and then make it impossible for the Legislature to act with wisdom and deliberation, or are you stalling for time until the annuel session amendment goes through so that you can put off the whole tax problem until next year when we elect a President? I do not know.

We are asking you, "What are you up to?" Again you are making us second-guess you, maybe these guesses are wrong, but then again maybe some of them are right. Are you deliberately trying to fool the people, or are you stalling for time because the Governor is now finding out that he cannot keep the promises he made during his campaign? Do you want to give the public more time to forget that the Governor said only last September, and I quote, "It is a fallacy to say that when you lop off one tax you have to substitute another."

We in the minority are perfectly willing to vote for every one of these taxes at the proper time. We do not deny the money will be needed. But crtainly we are on solid ground when we say that this is the wrong way to do things. We should have a budget before us just like the law requires. Let us do things in the legal way. Let us be honest with the people and honest with ourselves. Are you ready to say that the tax rates and all the other provisions in this tax bill won't be changed? I wonder if you are ready to say that at this time. Are you ready to say that the tax rates and all other provisions won't be changed at any time six months from now, a year from now, or during this biennium? Are you going to come back here a month from now, or six months from now, and ask us to do this job all over again? Are yo going to come back and say to us, "We need more money on corporate net, we need more money for gasoline, so we are only going to raise it one or two cents, we are only going to raise it two per cent more." If you plan to increase the rate of the corporate net income tax c the rates of some of these others at some future time, the taxpayers have a right to know, they have the right to know, the bad news today. Why try to keep them hanging on a hook? They should not be lulled into a belie that these rates are the rates that they are going to be expected to pay for this biennium and then suddenly find them changed in the middle of the stream. You are asking us to reenact the temporary taxes on gasoline of two cents a gallon. Are you going to come back here later this year and ask for another cent or another two cents?

How do you expect to finance the two thousand miles of farm-to-market roads Governor Leader has promised to build each year during the next four years? How do you expect to finance the half billion dollars worth of roads and highways that have been promised to Philadelphia and to Pittsburgh? How do you expect to continue the progressive road construction program that we have been operating under? Certainly you cannot do all these things without increasing the gasoline tax if you intend to keep your promises. and you owe it to the motorist of Pennsylvania to tell them so. and tell them so now instead of saying in effect, "See, we aren't going to raise taxes after all."

Let us be honest with the people, tell them what you are up to. They are entitled to know, and we are entitled to know. We represent the people. Just because we are in the minority, we still represent the people and I want to get this across to you; what are you up to? You have got us completely fooled and the people of Pennsylvania completely fooled at this point.

Four years ago when the House had a budget which listed both the revenues and the appropriations that the executive department needed, and I quote the present Speaker, who rose in this House and said, and this is the quote Mr. Speaker:

> "There is every reason why there should be no hurry. First of all, it is wrong for the Governor to send a take it or leave budget to the House. Second, it is wrong for us to swallow it because the Governor says "take it or leave it." It is wrong for us to deny the Appropriations Committees and the Ways and Means Committees, the time and the machinery necessary and the advice for them to check on the budget office."

That was in April of 1951. This is January of '55. I would like to impress on you that April is the fourth month and we had four months of study of the budget and the appropriations at that time. and then it was too much of a hurry. Then the budget was before this House for weeks. Now, we do not have any estimates to submit to the Appropriations Committee. These tax bills are put into the House one day, come out on the floor the next, and we are asked to vote for them tomorrow on third reading without even telling the people of Pennsylvania how much money will be spent.

The Governor has asked for bipartisan support on taxes. What he really wants us to vote for is his program without even asking questions. Certainly he does not want any discussion.

The minority has agreed to give bipartisan support to any legislation that is for the welfare of the people, but certainly we won't be pressured or stampeded into voting for something that nobody knows anything about and which violates all present laws.

The Governor has not told us how this revenue will be spent. We will not be fooled nor will we be a party to the deception of our citizens. If the Governor sincerely wants bipartisan support for his fiscal program, he should take us into his confidence. He should tell us if we enact these temporary taxes that he has no plan to revise them later, and if he plans to revise them, as he promised he would do in his campaign, then why cannot action on them wait until his plans in that dirction are ready? Why this great rush? Is he trying to find some excuse to accuse us of being obstructionists because we refuse to put the cart before the horse or buy a pig in a poke?

He has offered a government reorganization plan which we know is not constitutional, and is so completely antagonistic to all previous procedures. Was he guilty of double talk for the consumption of the public when he talked of cooperation and bipartisanship? If he was sincere in his offer of bipartisanship. he would have consulted with someone in the Republican leadership before he requested action on these taxes.

If this is a sample of the bipartisanship that we can expect, then I better tell this House right now, prepare for a long, long stay, because we are going to be here for a long long time. Bipartisanship calls for a meeting of the minds, for mutual understanding and trust and that will never be gained by orders handed down from on high. There will come a time when even you Members on the other side of the House will not sit still for that. It is the responsibility of the minority to point out these unorthodox procedures, and I might say, unusual procedures.

This demand that we vote for these taxes before we have a budget is unheard of, and violates all the precepts of this House and the procedure set up by law. Are we to do away with all these safeguards just to please the Governor at this time? Was that your mandate from the people? You know that is not true, and we know it. We will not be justifying the confidence of the people who elected us to this House of Representatives if we abdicate our responsibilities and turn ourselves into rubber stamps. I will suggest to the majority if they insist on carrying out this type of procedure tomorrow, before these bills come for a final vote that they have on the floor of this House the 106 votes necessary to pass these bills.

And I want to end up again by saying "we on this side of the House will not be obstructionists. Give it to us in the legal, the right manner and we will go along on these taxes." But certainly we are not going to be rubber stamps, and let me end up by saying, please tell us and tell the people of Pennsylvania what you are up to, because if it is something honest you have nothing to hide.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I would indeed be surprised if the minority did not voice legitimate objections, which they might have, to any bill, but I certainly think the minority, speaking through its Minority Leader, is unduly impatient. These bills will not be on third reading until tomorrow, and at that time I assure you we have every intention in the world to tell you very emphatically why we want these bills passed at this time.

Knowing something of the value of suspense. I am not going to tell you today. You will simply have to wait until the bills are up for final passage tomorrow and then we will give you all the reasons. Every question the gentleman has raised will be answered, if it can reasonably be done, and I am sure I do not have to assure the majority side, that nobody is going to fool the public. Nobody is trying to fool the public nor the minority membership.

As the Speaker said some time ago, there will be no budgetary mysteries. We do not intend to have mysteries about anything, but you are going to have to wait until tomorrow to get the answers.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 31, entitled:

An Act reenacting and amending the act of May sixteen one thousand nine hundred thirty-five (P. L. 208) entitled as amended "An act to provide revenue for State purposes by imposing an excise tax for a limited period of time on the net incomes of certain corporations joint-stock associations and limited partnerships providing for the assessment collection settlement and resettlement of taxes and reviews and appeal therefrom conferring powers and imposing duties on certain persons corporations joint-stock associations limited partnerships State and county officers boards and departments making an appropriation and providing penalties" extending its provisions for a further limited period of time

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to explain to the membership in just a few words before it agrees to this bill on second reading as amended, that these amendments are really technical amendments to change the phraseology of our net income tax laws to agree with those of the Federal Revenue Code of 1954. They make no substantive changes in our laws.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

They were agreed to.

The second section was read and agreed to.

The title was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the title?

The first section was read.

PERMISSION TO ADD ADDITIONAL SPONSORS

Mr. WORLEY. Mr. Speaker, I wish to offer amendments for a full refund to agriculture and ask permission to add additional sponsors to the amendments.

The SPEAKER. Without objection, additional sponsors may be added. The Speaker hopes that the practice will not become popular to add additional sponsors to amendments to bills.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Messrs. Worley, Light and Wood offered the following amendments:

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 17), page 3, line 7, by inserting brackets before and after "one-half"

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 17), page 3, line 7, by inserting after "the" full Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 17), page 4, line 19 and page 5, Line 6, by inserting brackets before "The" in line 19, page 4, and after "act" in line 6, page 5.

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 17), page 6, line 15, by inserting brackets before and after "partial."

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 17), page 6, line 19, by inserting a bracket before "and"

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 17), page 7, line 1, by striking out the bracket before "fifty-five"

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 17), page 7, lines 1 and 2, by striking out "fifty-seven" and inserting in lieu thereof "and thereafter"

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, these are very simple amendments and I would like to explain them very briefly to the House.

The only thing these amendments do is to return to the farmer 100 per cent of the gas tax, the Pennsylvania gas tax that is now collected that he is using for agricultural purposes or for off-the-highway use. That is the only thing that these amendments do.

I would ask that this side of the House—or I will ask that the entire House support these amendments because certainly with the position that the farmer is in today, with prices falling, he needs this money. He is using the money to continue his business and as long as it is being used for agricultural purposes I would ask that the House go along with these amendments.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, may I interrogate the Minority Leader?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, may I ask whether the gentleman is familiar with the fact that this particular law has been on the books for some years?

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. I am, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. READINGER. May I ask the gentleman whether any proposal such as is being made by these amendments was made during the 1953 session, when he was the Speaker of the House?

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. I would not recollect at this time. Being the Speaker I was bipartisan and I would not remember.

Mr. READINGER. Can the gentleman remember as far back as the days when he was the Majority Leader of the House?

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. I was just informed by some of my brain trust that Governor Leader made this recommendation in a bill in the Senate during that session.

Mr. READINGER. May I ask if the gentleman can remember when he was Majority Floor Leader whether or not the proposal being made in these amendments was made at that time during the 1951 session?

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. It probably was. I could not recollect exactly at this time. I would like to be sure of my statements.

Mr. READINGER. The gentleman will admit. however, that it did not pass even if it was introduced.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. I will admit that. That is right.

Mr. READINGER. Does the gentleman know what the cost of administering the reimbursement of these partilular funds might be?

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. At this particular time I am not able to answer that question.

Mr. READINGER. No further questions.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Could I reply in one respect to the Majority Leader, Mr. Speaker?

Mr. READINGER. I will yield to the Minority Leader.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. The reason we are doing this today, and the reason I say that I think all of the House should support this,—this idea did not originate entirely on this side of the House. I would likt to quote Governor Leader speaking in Scranton on April 21, 1954. Governor Leader at that time said that he favored giving the farmers of Pennsylvania a 100 per cent gasoline tax rebate for acreage in full production.

I just might remind the Majority Leader that as long as he has access to the front office, I certainly would not think at this time they would repudiate some of the Governor's statements or some of the Governor's promises, and before he asks us on this side of the House to vote "no" on this question that he go into the front office. We are perfectly willing to hold these amendments and see if it still meets with the Governor's approval since he has been elected.

I would assume that if he was honest at the time and sincerely meant what he said at the time he made the statement, he would have no reason to change his thinking now.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I have no intention of going into the Governor's office in the short time during which the gracious Minority Leader would hold up action on these amendments, and I do intend to ask the majority side of this House to vote against these amendments today. We will pick the time and we will pick the place for offering bills which will carry out promises made by the Democratic party.

These amendments may have a great deal of merit. Perhaps this is something which should have been done by the now minority party a long time ago. I cannot answer that today; but assuming that this has merit it will not be forgotten; it will not be lost, but at this time when we are in the process of re-enacting tax bills that have been on the books for years. and we are asking that they be re-enacted just as they are. We do not wish to entertain favorably an amendment of this kind. This can be done at a later date and if it has merit it will be done.

I am asking the Members on the Democratic side of this House to vote against these amendments.

Mr. WORLEY. Mr. Speaker, I have always been for a full refund to agriculture. and I hope all the Members will support these amendments so that we can do something for the farmers at this time.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker. I say this in all seriousness. and I do not intend to be facetious. but I personally, and I believe we on this side of the House. think this amendment has merit.

We feel it has merit because I can answer the Majority Leader's question now. If I remember correctly we did pass this bill last year, or, rather. in the 1949 session, and it was killed in the Senate.

As long as Governor Leader has made this statement and made this suggestion, if the Majority Leader would see fit—

The SPEAKER. A roll call having been demanded by the Majority Leader and the Minority Leader, the only matter before the House now is the calling of the roll.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. OK, Mr. Speaker.

(Following the calling of the roll and before the result was announced, Members requested to be recorded as voting)

The SPEAKER. The Chair would like to state that it appears to the Speaker that we are going to have some close votes, and there are going to be a lot of them, and the Chair would advise both Floor Leaders to marshal their forces for these tight encounters.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker—.

The SPEAKER. For what purpose does the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McCormack rise?

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, I would like to find out how I am recorded as having voted on this bill?

The SPEAKER. How did the gentleman vote?

Mr. McCORMACK. I did not vote, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. Was the gentleman in the Hall of the House?

Mr. McCORMACK. Yes, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. How does the gentleman desire to be voted?

Mr. McCORMACK. Not voting.

The SPEAKER. The Chair will refer that matter to the Majority Leader. Does the Chair understand the gentleman to say he wants to be recorded as "not voting."

Mr. McCORMACK. I want to know if that is the way I am recorded, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman is recorded as voting, "no."

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, I will leave that vote stand.

On the question recurring.

Will the House agree to the amendments?

So the question was determined in the negative and the amendments were not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the section?

It was agreed to.

The second section and title were separateely read and agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on second reading?

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I just rise to make a brief statement at this time before we agree to the bill on second reading?

I think today the people of Pennsylvania are seeing the Majority party repudiating its own Governor, repudiating the Governor's campaign pledges and his campaign promises. I am sorry to see that happen.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to point out to the membership that the Minority Leader persists in injecting into this day's session certain ideas about fooling the public, fooling the minority, not keeping promises. I have already told the Minority Leader and the Minority Members, as well as everybody in this House, that we are going to pick the time and place to determine what we want to do. We will not do it at the time he desires us to do it.

If the people want to believe that is repudiation of any promises, then I am sure the people certainly misunderstand what the gentleman has been trying to say. If any body has been trying to mislead the public or us, I am afraid the blame must fall on his doorstep.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. I hate to carry this on, but I would like to remind the Majority Leader that April 21st, 1954, was quite a while ago. I do not think there is any better time to prove that they are right than when the amendments are here for a vote. There is no better time than the present.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on second reading?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, To be transcribed for third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 36, entitled:

An Act reenacting and amending the act of December twenty-seven one thousand nine hundred fifty-one (P. L. 1742) entitled "An act to provide revenue by imposing a State tax relating to certain documents prescribing and regulating the method and manner of evidencing the payment of such tax conferring powers and imposing duties upon certain persons partnerships associations and corporations recorders of deeds and the Department of Revenue saving certain local taxes and authorizing amendments extensions and supplements to the ordinances and resolutions relating thereto and providing penalties" extending the provisions of the act for a further limited period of time

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to

ANNOUNCEMENT BY SPEAKER

The SPEAKER. All Members of the House serving their first term are requested to meet with the Parliamentarian on Tuesday morning, February 1st, at 10:00 a. m., in the New House Caucus Room, first floor of this building. This meeting will convene promptly at 10:00

The Chair might be privileged to make a remark made by a Speaker of former years.

I presume that the purpose of the Parliamentarian is to acquaint the new Members with parliamentary procedure. Quite a good many years ago that proposition was put up to one of the Speakers of this House and he said "teach them pariamentary rules? Heck, they know too much now."

I hope that all the Members, both Republican and Democrats, will attend this meeting because one of the objectives of those of us who have been serving the years has been to promote decorum on the part of the Members, and the observance of parliamentary practice.

RESOLUTION

Mr. POLASKI offered a resolution which was filed with the Clerk under the Rules.

SENATE MESSAGE

TIME OF NEXT MEETING

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced presented an extract from the Journal of the Senate, which was read as follows:

In the Senate, January 31, 1955.

Resolved, (if the House of Representatives concur), That when the Senate adjourns this week, it reconvene on Monday, February 7, 1955, at four o'clock p. m., and when the House of Representatives adjourns this week, it reconvene on Monday, February 7, 1955, at four-thirty o'clock p. m.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for its concurrence.

On the question,

Will the House concur in the resolution of the Senate?

It was concurred in.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

Legislative Journal.

Session 1955. 141st of the General Assembly.

Vol. 34. HARRISBURG, PA., TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 1, 1955. No. 8.

SENATE

TUESDAY, February 1, 1955

The Senate met at 10:00 o'clock, a. m., Eastern Standard Time.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Roy E. Furman) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. WILLIAM M. BAYLE, Rector of St. Paul's Epispocal Church, Kittanning, offered the following prayer:

Almighty God, Who does rule and govern all things that Thou hast made, we ask Thee to direct and prosper the deliberations of the Senators in this body here assembled. Keep steadfast in their minds a knowledge of Thy truth. Grant that all things may be so ordered by their endeavors that peace and happiness, religion and piety, truth and justice, and health and prosperity may be established among the people of Pennsylvania for all generations.

May Thy presence be always before these servants that they may realize at all times that their duties are to Thee and Thy people whom Thou hast created and loved.

We ask these and all other things which Thou knowest to be necessary through Thy name, Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present, the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. MAHANY and Mr. MALLERY, further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

HOUSE MESSAGE

HOUSE CONCURS IN SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced, informed the Senate that the House has concurred in resolution from the Senate as follows:

TIME OF NEXT MEETING

In the Senate, January 31, 1955.

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That when the Senate adjourns this week it reconvene on Monday, February 7, 1955, at four o'clock p. m., E.S.T.; and when the House of Representatives adjourns this week it reconvene on Monday, February 7, 1955, at four-thirty o'clock p. m., E.S.T.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Messrs. KESSLER and PROPERT read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 53, entitled:

An Act providing for the revocation of commission of notary publics issuing checks without funds on deposit.

Which was committed to the Committee on State Government.

Mr. RUTH read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 54, entitled:

An Act amending the act of March ten, one thousand nine hundred forty-nine (Pamphlet Laws 30) entitled "An act relating to the public school system, including certain provisions applicable as well to private and parochial schools; amending, revising, consolidating and changing the laws relating thereto," providing for the election of school directors in school districts of the second, third and fourth classes by nonpartisan ballots at special elections, subject to local option.

Which was committed to the Committee on Education.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. KESSLER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, the purpose of this bill that I am about to introduce is to remove the one and half times reserve basis on the Unemployment Compensation Fund, and also to remove the debt provision which requires that the unemployment compensation payments drop to $20.00 per week when the reserve fund falls below a certain figure.

Mr. President, we believe that this will relieve the emergency which everyone seems to forecast.

So, Mr. President, on behalf of my colleagues, Senator Mahany, Senator Propert and myself, I am presenting this bill.

BILL INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Messrs. KESSLER, MAHANY and PROPERT read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 55, entitled:

An Act amending the act of December five, one thousand nine hundred thirty-six (1937, Pamphlet Laws 2897), entitled "An act establishing a system of unemployment compensation to be administered by the Department of Labor and Industry and its existing and newly created agencies with personnel (with certain exceptions) selected on a civil service basis; requiring employers to keep records and make reports, and certain employers to pay contributions based on payrolls to provide moneys for the payment of compensation to certain unemployed persons; providing procedure and administrative details for the determination, payment and collection of such contributions and the payment of such compensation; providing for cooperation with the Federal Government and its agencies; creating certain special funds in the custody of the State Treasurer; and prescribing penalties," providing for modification of the manner in which contribution rates are determined, and removing certain limitations on the amount of compensation.

Which was comitted to the Committee on Labor and Industry.

RECESS

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now take a recess for twenty minutes, for the purpose of holding a Republican Caucus.

Mr. WATSON. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

AFTER RECESS

The PRESIDENT. The time of recess having elapsed, the Senate will be in order.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. CHAPMAN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make report from committee at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection. The Chair hears none.

Mr. CHAPMAN, from the Committee on Appropriations, reported as committed Senate Bil No. 20, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the General Assembly for the payment of expenses of its Inaugural Committee.

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, last Tuesday, a resolution was sponsored which, if enacted into law, would memorialize Congress to establish a public works program, something in which Pennsylvania could participate. The idea back of this resolution was to give each and every political subdivision in Pennsylvania the opportunity to bring about government improvements at a minimum cost. Last Saturday, the Jones and Laughlin Steel Corporation furloughed permanently, if you please, approximately 800 men from the Vesta No. 4, Vesta No. 5 and the Shannopin Mines, which are captive mines of the Jones and Laughlin Steel Corporation.

Mr. President, quite a number of these men who were permanently furloughed are over the age of forty-five years and, even though there is a possibility they might at some later date be absorbed into industry, these men who are over forty-five are ineligible for employment due to their advanced age.

It seems to me, Mr. President, that Pennsylvania, especially the Legislature, has a phobia for creating authorities for bringing about the improvement of our different governmental operations. Quite a number of these authorities, Mr. President, are very expensive operations. When the principal and the interest is added up, the citizens of Pennsylvania are indebted to the money changers for at least forty long years, and there is nothing they can do about it. A public works program would, in my opinion, take the place of a lot of these fictitious authorities and at the same time provide a living for those who, at this particular time, cannot be placed in industry.

Mr. President, I am quite sure that all of us will agree that all those people want is the opportunity to earn a decent living and not to receive handouts for public relief. I believe, too, that all of us will agree that the reward for a long and industrious life in our industry here in Pennsylvania should not be over the hill to the poor house.

Mr. President, when private enterprise fails to provide the necessary employment for our people, it is indeed a governmental responsibility, and I firmly believe that a public works program at this particular time would meet with the approval of the majority of the good citizens of this great State. I say, to, Mr. President, that it would keep quite a number of men who want to work off the relief rolls. It would protect those who have worked all their lives in order to acquire a little real estate, a home which would provide them with some security. It would also renew the confidence of a startled and disillusioned population as far as government is concerned. It would show the United States, I think it would show the world, that Pennsylvania is marching forward, taking care of its citizens. It would demonstrate to the people that we feel that we are our brother's keeper. We must remember, too, Mr. President, that we govern with the consent of those who are being governed, and that is clearly set forth in our Constitution. We must assure ourselves that as duly elected representatives of the population of this great State, our thinking is along the lines of sending our citizens to work so that they can earn a decent livelihood. We must assure them that they will not, within the next few months, be selling apples on street corners.

Mr. President, I say to the committee to which this resolution was referred—I just cannot find it in the Journal now—I say to you that if there is anything wrong with it, let us know because I for one, and I believe that all of you will agree with me, believe that we have a number of advantages in establishing a public works program. First and foremost, it would be elective. Those districts that do not care to participate would not have to. However, those which are hurt economically could participate and provide this employment. All of us need a lot of improvements. The Sanitary Water Board has issued quite a number of mandates to the political subdivisions in regard to sewage disposal plants, and most of the political subdivisions really do not have the money to do the job. But it is a necessity, too, and we should do it. It should be done. It could be done this way and the people would be employed. Otherwise, they will go on public relief. When a man goes on public relief, something happens to his character. He loses his dignity. He loses his honor in a way, because no man wants to go on relief. He wants to work.

Mr. President, Pennsylvania, especially western Pennsylvania, is hard hit today. My particular district of Washington and Greene is hard hit with thousands upon thousands of men who want to work for a living and cannot secure jobs. It is our responsibility to do the job and I, for one, will stick my neck straight out. They may call it New Dealism; I do not care what they call it. Our people must be employed.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I agree with my colleague, Senator Lane, in part. There are areas in Pennsylvania which are distressed and instead of having works projects for the entire State, I would recommend to my colleague, Senator Lane, that in the consideration of his resolution it be restricted to areas which are distressed.

Mr. President, Pennsylvania is not the only State that has a financial problem. I have in my pocket a clipping, which I took from one of the newspapers of national circulation, and it cited that the State of California exceeded its budget by about the same amount that we here in Pennsylvania did. What concerned me most, or what attracted my attention, was that the article went on to state that the State of California uses fifty-eight per cent of its entire budget for public assistance, welfare and education. We know that here in Pennsylvania, almost fifty per cent of our budget goes to education.

Mr. President, to have a works project cover the entire State of Pennsylvania, and have it apply to areas which are not distressed, would simply add to our problem. I agree with the Senator that we should ask for a works project based on necessity.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, as a co-sponsor of the resolution which Senator Lane spoke about, I want to agree in toto with his remarks. I appreciate the kind remarks made by my colleague from Blair County, because he also finds himself in the same position that Senator Lane, Senator Bane, myself and other Senators are in, where unemployment is rising daily.

Mr. President, certainly I agree when the good Senator from Blair County stated that it should apply to certain districts and, as one of the sponsors, I would be happy to have that amendment made. We have nothing to lose and everything to gain. We are faced with the fact that people are walking the streets pleading for work. So much good can be done and right now, while we are in a lull, doing very little here, would be the proper time, I think, to call a committee meeting and discuss this matter, and make any amendment that the Members on either side wish to make.

Mr. President, we should forward this resolution to Congress. I say that because my Congressman, Congressman Saylor, a Republican and a good Congressman, has already introduced in Congress such a bill. He told me personally that President Eisenhower is in deep sympathy with such a movement. However, they are watching carefully as to the reaction back in the States. So, we may be first, second or third—we do not care about that—but I think, gentlemen, we should call a meeting. It is not a political issue; it is not a partisan issue. We are all interested alike in our constituency. Right now, when we are practically at ease, we should call a meeting, and make the proper amendments and pass the resolution on to those who have the final decision to make.

Mr. McMENAMIN. Mr. President, I want to concur in the remarks of the Senators who have just spoken.

Mr. President, the problem of unemployment in Pennsylvania is a real one, and it is one of the things which demands action first. The people in the distressed areas of Pennsylvania have had a lot of promises for a good many years about governmental relief of one form or another. One of the things that can be done is to use better judgment, it seems to me, in the placing of defense orders by the administration in Washington.

The people of northeastern Pennsylvania are meeting, through a committee, this week with the defense officials to try to get assurance that the distressed areas and their factories will receive proper recognition in the awarding of government defense contracts. However, it is a problem that should be attacked on all fronts. We here on the State level can do a great deal to help. It is one of the most vital problems to come before this Session of the Legislature, and I think it is a problem that demands prompt action.

Mr. President, I agree with Senator Haluska that the sooner we get at this problem, the better off the people are going to be in these areas.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I certainly do appreciate the concurring remarks that have been made here today by Members of both sides.

Mr. President, in order to clarify the air just a little bit, the resolution sets forth that it shall be purely elective on the part of political subdivisions to participate. I thought that would be the appropriate way to handle it. Senator Mallery brought out that point, and I want to assure him that it would be purely elective on the part of the local officials to participate in the public works program.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. LANE asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, the resolution that I am about to present has to do with unemployment. I am happy to say that it is co-sponsored and it is not controversial. All we are trying to do here is to ask the Jones and Laughlin Steel Corporation, with offices in Pittsburgh, to go along with the unions and try to work out a share-the-work program.

Mr. President, it so happens that in my particular Senatorial District, the other day there were 800 men permanently furloughed from their employment. It was not because of a cut back in production. It was because the men were replaced by modern mining machinery. It seems to me, from information received from the International Organization, that they would like to work something out temporarily, at least, whereby those 800 men who were furloughed could work part time until such time as our economic conditions improve or until such time as we get a public works program started here in Pennsylvania.

So, Mr. President, on behalf of Senator Fleming, Senator Bane, Senator Dent and myself, I am offering this resolution.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

URGING THE JONES AND LAUGHLIN STEEL CORPORATION TO RECONSIDER THE FURLOUGHING OF CERTAIN EMPLOYES

Messrs. LANE, FLEMING, BANE and DENT offered the following resolution which was twice read as follows:

In the Senate, February 1, 1955.

The furloughing of eight hundred men by the Jones and Laughlin Steel Corporation at Vesta Mines, Numbers 4 and 5, and Shannopin Mine, has left these men and their families in an economic and financial position which is so acute that they cannot maintain the minimum standards of healthful living.

The placing of these men on an economic and financial plane comparable to that of their neighbors is a just and honorable act which deserves the attention of their employer, their union, and of all right thinking members of their community.

The sharing of employment in times of duress on a just and equitable basis is an act which should be performed in the American tradition of fair play and equal opportunity for all; therefore be it

Resolved, (if the House of Representatives concur), That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania urges the Jones and Laughlin Steel corporation to determine upon and adopt, with the cooperation and approval of the United Mine Workers of America, representing their employees in these mines, on equitable and just share the work plan involving presently employed and furloughed employees at Vesta Mines, Numbers 4 and 5, and Shannopin Mines; and be it further

Resolved, that copies of this resolution shall be forwarded to the President and Board of Directors of the Jones and Laughlin Steel Corporation and to the President of the local union of the United Mine Workers of America, representing workers at the mines referred to by this resolution.

RULE 39 SUSPENDED

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Rule 39, which requires resolutions be referred to an appropriate committee, be suspended and the Senate do now proceed to the consideration of the resolution just read.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, I am voting "no," because it seems to me that sharing the work plan is not a solution to this problem. It is simply going to make more people unhappy.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. MAHANY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, yesterday the Republican Caucus of the Senate decided that they would not consider any nominations submitted by the Governor for any board or commission until such time as actual vacancies existed on such Board or Commission, and instructed me to so notify the Governor. Pursuant to this, I did so notify the Governor, but last evening the Attorney General telephoned certain incumbent Board Members that they could either resign by next Monday or they would be discharged; the inference being drawn that the Republican Caucus dictated this policy.

We feel that many of the present Board Members are satisfactorily performing their duties in a very efficient manner, for the benefit of the people, and any move to discharge them or obtain their resignations is purely political and contrary to some of the promises made by Governor Leader to the people when he was a candidate for office.

Mr. President, we wish to emphatically state to these various Board Members that if they resign, the decision will be entirely theirs, and the Republican Caucus is not advising them to do so. The Republican Members of the Senate wish to emphatically state to these Board Members and to the people of Pennsylvania that we shall have no part in ousting any of them or in asking for their resignations. If, as, and when any vacancy occurs, we will carefully consider a nomination by the Governor to fill such vacancy, but we are now in no way committing ourselves to confirmation of these nominees.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. DENT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Dr. DENT. Mr. President, I thank the gentleman for clearing the air on the question of confirmation of the Governor's appointments to the various Boards and Commissions. There have been many rumors going around as to the attitude of the Republican Caucus, and I am glad to see that it has finally been put out in a statement by the Majority Leader, which all of us can understand.

Mr. President, there is only one point which I cannot understand. May I read to the members of the Senate from the very statement just made, and I quote:

"Yesterday the Republican Caucus of the Senate decided that they would not consider any nominations submitted by the Governor for any Board or Commission until such time as actual vacancies existed on such Board or Commission." Then he said to the Governor, following the advice given him under that ultimatum handed to him by the Republican Caucus, that no Democrat would be placed in any position on Capitol Hill unless there was a vacancy. The Governor then decided to create the vacancies, as dictated by the people on November 2.

It would seem to me, Mr. President, that the following statement, also contained in the release just given us by the Republican Majority Leader stating that, "the inference being drawn that the Republican Caucus dictated this policy," is also one which cannot be understood.

Mr. President, if the Republican Caucus says to the Governor, "We will not consider any of your nominations until you create the vacancies," how, under God's great heavens, can there be any vacancies unless the Governor either fires them or they, on their own part, resign their positions? The Governor did not ask these people to resign, nor did he send them any notices of dismissal. In the usual procedure that has been followed since time immemorial, the Governor sent to the Senate the names of various persons to take certain jobs in the administration, and in so doing, he automatically discharged those who held the jobs. That has not been only the custom, but it has been the rule on Capitol Hill ever since I can remember, and my memory is pretty good. We have always had the names sent to us, and when the name was sent over to the Senate of Mr. Joe Bloak to take the job of John Bloak, John Bloak was automatically out of a job.

Now, Mr. President, we arrive at a technical situation in which the Republican Caucus has forced the Governor of the State of Pennsylvania to do that which he had no desire to do, and that is pinpoint each individual by a direct dismissal from the Governor's Office in order that his legal nominations would be considered.

Mr. President, I was present with the Majority Leader at the Governor's Office, and I would like to just quote here exactly the words of the Governor, as I remember them. The Governor said, "I do not like to be put into a position of dismissing people. I believe that they ought to have the right to resign. However, your attitude and your dictate to me leaves me no other choice. I want to ask you only one thing, gentlemen," he said to the Republican leaders, "and that is that you give consideration to the nominations I send over. If, in your wisdom and judgment, you feel that the men and women are not qualified for the positions, then you ought to exercise your duties as Senators and not confirm them. However, they are entitled, and I am entitled, to the courtesy of at least having the names I send over considered."

Now, Mr. President, let us see what the Republican Caucus said about this consideration. They said, and I quote: "that they"—the Republican Caucus—"would not consider any nominations submitted by the Governor for any Board or Commission until such time as actual vacancies existed." We all know that they are not going to quit if you, by some maneuver, can freeze them into their positions.

Mr. President and Members of this Senate, there are many problems facing the people of Pennsylvania. There are grave problems of taxation, unemployment, the movement and scare of industry, all problems that ordinarily should be taking up the time of this General Assembly, but for three weeks the matter which has been taking up the time of this General Assembly has been whether or not the Governor shall exercise those rights and prerogatives contained in the office of Governor of appointing his official family to serve this administration which was elected by the people. Remember that the people not only elected a Governor, but they elected a new administration, and in so doing, those positions of policy-making and determination of the road upon which this administration must travel come within the term of administrative policy. Therefore, the Governor has a right to at least have the names of the citizens of Pennsylvania, which are sent over to this Senate, considered without the embarrassment, if you please, of having to act as a hatchet man upon citizens of Pennsylvania who, because of their political preference, now hold political jobs and key jobs in this government of ours.

Mr. President, it is not the question of whether one man is more qualified than another. May I state, at this time, that you say that the Governor is now acting purely political and contrary to some of the promises made by Governor Leader to the people when he was a candidate for Governor. Ladies and gentlemen, I never heard the Governor of the State of Pennsylvania say that he would keep any administrative jobs on Capitol Hill in the hands of those who have been in those offices, some of them for many years, without benefit of reappointment. We have a man who is now serving, in so far as personalities go I have the utmost respect for him. I consider myself a personal friend of his, but he has been serving twelve years on one four year appointment. There is no person today serving on the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board who has not run out of time in so far as his original commission is concerned.

Mr. President, the former Governor had the legal right, and the political right and the administrative right to reappoint these men, if he so desired, or to reappoint others if he so desired. However, he failed to do this. Why he failed to do it is a matter which only he can tell or explain, but we know that he failed to make the appointments. The Governor now finds himself in a position where, out of necessity, he must hand a pink slip to a great many office holders, who, originally, Mr. President, were appointed to their jobs because they were of a certain political faith; not because they were outstanding in their abilities to perform the duties, but because they were properly sponsored There is no other basic reason, and no person here can show me where any one of the names which are now in controversy, or the men who are now in controversy, had any outstanding attributes which make them selections above political consideration for the jobs they now hold.

Mr. President, we do not believe that the Leader Administration intends to be diverted from its program of reorganization and administration as dictated by the people on November 2, by the dog-in-the-manger attitude of any person or group of persons in Pennsylvania. You say that, and I want to quote, "the present Board Members are satisfactory performing their duties in a very efficient manner."

Mr. President, why is it that the Labor Relations Board has cases which are over four years old, upon which no decision has been rendered? Why is it that the State of Ohio, which has a monopoly liquor state, with a smaller population, outsells the State of Pennsylvania through its monopoly system of stores? Why is it that there is as much as eighteen dollars difference in a low grade type of whisky on a case in Ohio and Maryland compared to the State of Pennsylvania, and yet they have greater sales and greater volumes?

There is a vacancy on the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board, Mr. President, because of the death of a late Member of that Board, yet you have not even had the political courage to at least name a person to that vacancy. In one breath you say, "We will not consider unless there are vacancies," and in the other breath you say, "If a vacancy exists we will not consider either."

I do not believe, Mr. President, that this administration is going to lock horns over the question of whether a person stays in a political job or not with a Republican majority. We have graver problems confronting us. We have the question just brought before us so ably by Senator Bill Lane; the question of people in want, people in need, the question of our great communities drying up, unable to continue their schools, unable to progress along the lines of health, transportation, communication and civic enterprise. They are drying up at the root while we stay here in session, discussing whether or not the Governor of Pennsylvania has the right to have an administration of the peoples' own choosing.

Mr. President, I do not believe that the great Republican Party of so many years of power in Pennsylvania is willing, outside of the Membership of this Senate, to cast its future welfare on the question of whether or not political jobholders will stay in through a technicality.

You had all of the jobs in Pennsylvania and you did not win, so how are thirteen or fourteen going to help you win? Are you assuming that men and women of the Democratic Party are not sufficiently trained, are not sufficiently honest, are not of good enough character to hold jobs on Capitol Hill? Are we then to go before the people of Pennsylvania this coming election and say to them that you missed a couple in the last election, and that in order to have the kind of government which you voted for, which you wanted, you will have to swing the jawbone of an ass again and catch a couple more on the next swing? Do you want us to go to the people with the issue of jobholders, or do you want us to go to the people on the issue of principle of political party, philosophies of government, and attainment by the new administration or failure by the new administration?

Mr. President, let us lock horns on those questions which are fundamental to the people, and not upon the question as to whether or not a certain friend of a certain Senator keeps his job another week or so.

As far as I am concerned, and I mean this sincerely, the Governor has already demonstrated to the people of this great Commonwealth that he is interested in good government. He has openly and courageously, above the level of partisan politics, named to his official family men and women of great stature in this Commonwealth in order to enable this administration to give the people the fulfillment of a hope that they expressed on November 2, to the tune of a 289,000 majority. He has even gone so far as to name a member of the minority party in Pennsylvania, the Republican Party, to a membership on the Liquor Control Board, something that no preceding Governor had the courage to do because he believes fundamentally that the best kind of politics is good government.

I say to you Members of the Senate, do not drag the great prestige of the Republican Party through the mud of political jobholders. Stand up as members of your party and fight for those principles that you believe to be basic fundamental philosophy of your party, just as we have for sixteen years on the minority on this side. We stood upon the floor of this Senate and, although we were in an abject minority so far as the vote when the roll was counted, we never lost sight of the principles of our party and the fundamntal philosophy of our party. Although it took a grat many years to do so, I sincerely believe that the great record established by the Members of the Minority in the House and Senate over the years laid the groundwork for the Democratic victory November 2nd of this year. Couple that with the selection of an outstanding young man in this State, one who believes in what he says and says what he believes, and coupled with the record of this minority over the past twelve years, the abject failure on the front of political administration in Harrisburg, a creeping paralysis in the various departments that have failed to perform the functions of office as dictated by the commissions. and we have the ingredients of a political uprising.

Mr. President, if you fail to heed the counsel given you on November 2 by the great voices of the people of Pennsylvania, you as individuals, yes, may hold on to a penny-bit of pride and say, "I kept Joe Bloak in his job eight days longer," but believe me when I say to you on the floor of this Senate, you are not functioning as the great Republican Party ought to function in Pennsylvania.

Mr. President, it is good for a State and good for the people to have a strong militant opposition party. However, to waste the opportunity that you have to help guide us administratively and legislatively down the path of success for this great Commonwealth, to waste that because you want to hold some political jobholder in office, does not become the stature of your party. It does not add to your stature. It does not give any glory to you as individuals, or to your party as a whole. You are refusing to admit—and it is a difficult thing. I once lost an election by two hundred and, I think, eight votes. I recounted that ballot in my mind for six months. It was often tempting to me to go up and take office, because I thought surely I must have won. I couldn't have lost.

Gentlemen, you did lose. Sooner or later, during the next four years, you must face up to that. You must admit to yourselves that the people have given you a new administration and regardless of the fact that you have twenty-six votes, that does not give you the privilege nor the right to stymie the projects of the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. It gives you the right to be the loyal and powerful opposition, yes. It gives you the right to point up the various mistakes as you may see them in the Governor's projects, but it does not give you the right to stifle everything in committee or to caucus it out of existence.

Mr. President, this Governor is entitled to the same considerations as any Governor in the past has received. It is the poorest show of sportsmanship that has ever been emblazoned upon the public mind in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. You say in a sense—I just get the greatest thrill out of this contradiction in the first paragraph—that they would not consider any nominations submitted by the Governor until such time as actual vacancies existed. Then they say, "the inference being drawn that the Republican Caucus dictated this policy."

Gentlemen, you realize that your ground is weak under you, so you go into contradictions to salve your own conscience. You cannot salve the conscience of the people of Pennsylvania and if you keep all the jobs on Capitol Hill, and if Governor Leader and this Democratic group in the House and Senate continue to fight for those principles and things that the people of Pennsylvania need, that the people of Pennsylvania want, it will not help you politically now or at any time in the future. We do not intend, as a political party, to place before the people our record as job-seekers, asking for a continuance in office. We expect to go to the people high up on the ladder of achievement of this administration. We will say to the people, "This is what we have accomplished in your name and for your good. It is now your prerogative to decide whether the job has been well done or whether the job has been a failure." It will not depend upon how many confirmations we get out of the Republican twenty-six votes.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. MAHANY asked and obtained unanimous consent to addres the Senate.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, that was a very nice speech in reply to a very short statement of mine. However, Mr. President, the Governor yesterday did not take the same attitude as Senator Dent when I conveyed the message to him. I remember the conversation with the Governor, in front of Senator Dent and myself. He said, "Well, I think the Republican Caucus has a point there. I should have the onus of discharging these people or creating the vacancies. Either the benefit or the criticism of this should be on me, and I am willing to assume that responsibility."

Mr. President, if we had then come back, if Senator Dent and I at that point had come back to the Senate to listen to Senator Barr's olive branch speech, we would probably have been spared all this and now we would be on our way back home.

Then, the Attorney General, Mr. Cohen, came in, in response to a call from the Governor and he made some suggestion about resigning.

Mr. President, the whole trouble here today in connection with this is not about shaking the political plum tree. If the Governor wants to shake the political plum tree, that is up to him. As I said in my statement, I think a lot of the people in Pennsylvania who voted for Governor Leader did so under the thinking that he would rise above partisan politics, and where people were doing a good job in the various offices which they were holding, he would continue them on in that position.

Mr. President, there is certainly no controversy nor inconsistency in the first paragraph of my statement. What I said was that the Attorney General telephoned these members and stated that they could either resign by next Monday or they would be discharged, the inference being drawn that the Republican Caucus said this. We did not suggest to the Attorney General that he ask these people to resign. It is certainly up to the Governor to decide whether he wants to keep them on, or wants to fire them or if they want to resign, that is up to them. We are stating that this entire obligation is on the Governor.

Mr. President, we feel, in connection with the Liquor Control Board, to pick out one where they are doing a pretty good job, that they have made a lot of money for the State of Pennsylvania. We have continually heard some of the Democratic Senators compare the price of liquor in Pennsylvania with the price of liquor in some other States. Probably the reason we are getting quite a bit of our revenue to run the State Government is because of the high price of liquor in the State of Pennsylvania. Perhaps some of the other commodities that are on the shelves in other States get a higher price than we do here in Pennsylvania, particularly wine. I am not a great buyer of liquor and wines and so forth, but over in Ohio, I noticed that the price of wine seemed to be higher than the price of wine in Pennsylvania. So, if you are going to compare the whole thing, you should compare all the commodities that they have for sale.

Mr. President, I want to close by stating this. This is not any attempt on our part to retaliate for what the Democrats did when Governor James took over. As I understand it, Governor James was unable to get confirmations for his board nominations for many months after he took office. I mean to check the Legislative Journal between now and next Monday to find out whether or not that is true. I mean to find out when these various board member nominations that were sent over by Governor James were acted upon here in the Senate. I will let you know next Monday as to dates on them.

What I do want to state now, clearly and emphatically, to these various board members is that if they want to resign, that is up to them. If they do not resign, then it is up to the Governor as to weather he wants to discharge them. We, in the Republican Caucus, are certainly taking no part in this shaking the political plum tree, and that job is entirely up to the Governor.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. DENT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I do not know exactly what the Senator has been told about the James Administration, but as a Member of the Senate at that time, in order that we clarify the situation and clear the air, the problem under the James Administration and the question of confirmation was entirely in the hands of the Republican Majority in the Senate. Although we had elected twenty-six Members to the Senate, by deflection and—I won't use the word—two Democratic Members voted with the Republican Minority, they took over the control of the Senate and elected their President pro tempore. Other witnesses here, if you so want the story, can better inform you as to what happened to the two Democratic Members who joined the Republican Minority.

Mr. President, I may say at this time that although the vote was exactly the same, twenty-six Republicans and twenty-four Democrats, no attempt was made by myself, as the recognized leader of the Minority, nor by anyone else that I know of, to try to take from the Republicans their control of the Senate. We felt then, and we feel now, that if they have the twenty-six elected votes, it is their responsibility. The fight in the James Administration was not to keep Democrats on their jobs, because they all resigned. The fight was among the Republican leaders, themselves, as to who would get the plums. At any time that the Republicans wanted, they could have put before the Senate the confirmations of Governor James. We had no control of the Committee on Executive Nominations. If they did not come out, it was not because we were keeping them in. It was because you could not make up your minds.

Mr. President, if you get down to details, I will be glad to go over the past sixteen years and take every example of the holding up of any confirmation and lay the blame exactly where it belongs, because I know the answers.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. MAHANY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I do not expect to get the last word, but I would say this to the Senator, that if by some maneuver or other the Republicans back in those days got a couple of Democrats to go along with them to elect a President pro tempore, that had nothing to do with the confirmation of these appointees or these nominations. If they had to vote along with them, that would be all the more reason why it would seem that they would be able to get these nominations out and get them through.

Mr. President, Senator Dent well knows that you usually do not bring out those nominations until you get the two-thirds majority to confirm them. The President pro tempore only needs twenty-six votes to get elected, whereas these nominees need to obtain thirty-four votes in the Senate in order to be confirmed. So, you do not bring them out and have them voted down. You usually find out, if you have twenty-five Democrats and twenty-five Republican Senators, how many votes over on the other side will go along to vote for the confirmations, so that you will not bring up a man and have him voted down and not confirmed. Perhaps that was the reason, back in that time, that they did not bring out these names because they could not obtain the necessary additional votes on the part of the Democratic side to go along with the Republican votes, in order to get the thirty-four votes which would be necessary for their confirmation. However, the Senator from Westmoreland was here at that time and I was not. I intend to look at the Journal to find out when these nominations were confirmed by the Senate at that particular time.

BILL ON FIRST READING

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now proceed to the first reading of the bill reported from committee for the first time at today's session.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the first reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 20, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the General Assembly for the payment of expenses of its Inaugural Committee.

And said bill having been read at length the first time,

Ordered, To be laid aside for second reading.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now adjourn until Monday, February 7, 1955, at 4:00 o'clock, p. m., Eastern Standard Time.

Mr. WHALLEY. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The Senate adjourned at 12:49 o'clock, p. m., Eastern Standard Time, until Monday, February 7, 1955, at 4:00 o'clock, p. m., Eastern Standard Time.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

TUESDAY, February 1, 1955.

The House met at 1:00 p. m.

The SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Reverend Harold J. Crouse, offered the following prayer:

O Spirit of God, Who art ever putting good thoughts into our minds, forbid that we should let Thy whisperings go unheeded. Fill us with all joy and peace in believing that Thou wilt never leave us or forsake us. Help us to be true to our own accepted standards; to be strong in the face of temptation; to choose the better rather than the worse; to apply to ourselves the standard of conduct we demand of others; to be sensitive toward wrongs that do not touch our own case; to see the good in others, and, to see our own faults rather than our neighbors' faults. Create in us clean hearts; renew a right spirit within us and cast us not away from Thy presence, and grant each one of us the strength of a willing spirit, for Jesus' sake. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVAL POSTPONED

The SPEAKER. Are there any corrections to the Journal of Monday, January 31, 1955?

The SPEAKER. There being no objection approval of the Journal for Monday, January 31 will be postponed until the Journal is in print.

The SPEAKER. Without objection the Chair will declare a recess until 3:00 o'clock.

We ask the Members to report promptly to their respective caucus rooms and we ask them to return to the hall of the House promptly at 3:00 o'clock.

The Chair hears no objection, and declares a recess until 3:00 o'clock.

AFTER RECESS

The time of recess having expired, the House was called to order.

The SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) IN THE CHAIR.

BILL INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Messrs. EWING and THOMAS. HOUSE BILL No. 89.

SENATE RESOLUTION REFERRED

Senate Resolution relative to furloughing of employes of Jones and Laughlin Steel Corporation.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

PERMISSION TO ADD ADDITIONAL SPONSORS

Mr. THOMAS H. W. JONES asked and obtained unanimous consent to add additional sponsors to a bill to be introduced by him.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1 as follows:

An Act providing for reorganization of agencies and functions of the State Government by the Governor subject to disapproval by the General Assembly and authorizing the transfer abolition consolidation and coordination of agencies and functions and the authorization of State officers to delegate functions

he General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 Short Title This act shall be known as and may be cited as the "Reorganization Act of 1955"

Section 2 Definitions As used in this act

(1) "Agency" means any executive or administrative department coumission council board bureau division service office offiler administration or other establishment in the executive or administrative branch of the State Government The term does not include the Auditor General State Treasurer or Secretary of Internal Affairs or the departments of which they are the heads or any agencf within any of those departments nor does the term include any independent administrative board or commission

Section 3 Declaration of Objectives and Purposes of Reorganization Plans

(a) The Governor shall examine and from time to time reexamine the organization of all agencies of the State Government and shall determine what changes therein are necessary to accomplish the following purposes

(1) To promote the better execution of the laws the more effective management of the executive and administrative branch of the Government and of its agencies and functions and the expeditious administration of the public business

(2) To reduce expenditures and promote economy to the fullest extent consistent with the efficient operation of the Government

(3) To increase the efficiency of the operations of the Government to the fullest extent practicable

(4) To group coordinate and consolidate agencies and functions of the Government as nearly as may be according to major purposes

(5) To reduce the number of agencies by consilidating those having similar functions under a single head and to abolish such agencies or functions thereof as may not be necessary for the efficient conduct of the Government and

(6) To eliminate overlapping and duplication of effort

(b) The General Assembly declares that the public interest demands the carrying out of the purposes herein specified and that these purposes may be accomplished in great measure by proceeding under the provisions of this act and can be accomplished more speedily thereby than by the enactment of specific legislation

Section 4 Powers and Duties of Governor Preparation and Contents of Reorganization Plan Submission to General Assembly

When the Governor after investigation finds that

(1) the transfer of the whole or any part of any agency or of the whole or any part of the functions thereof to the jurisdiction and control of any other agency or

(2) the abolition of all or any part of the functions of any agency or

(3) the consolidation or coordination of the whole or any part of any agency or of the whole or any part of the functions thereof with the whole or any part of any other agency or the functions thereof or

(4) the consolidation or coordination of any part of any agency or the functions thereof with any other part of the same agency or the functions thereof or

(5) the authorization of any officer to delegate any of his functions or

(6) the abolition of the whole or any part of any agency which agency or part does not have or upon the taking effect of the reorganization plan will not have any functions is necessary to accomplish one or more of the purposes of this act he shall prepare a reorganization plan for the making of the reorganizations as to which he has made findings and which he includes in the plan and transmit the plan (bearing an identifying number) to the General Assembly together with a declaration that with respect to each reorganization included in the plan he has found that the reorganization is necessary to accomplish one or more of the purposes of this act The delivery to both Houses shall be on the same day and shall be made to each House while it is in session The Governor in his message transmitting a reorganization plan shall specify with respect to each abolition of a function included in the plan the statutory authority for the exercise of the function and shall specify the reduction of expenditures (itemized so far as practicable) which it is probable will be brought about by the taking effect of the reorganizations included in the plan

Section 5 Additional Contents of Plans

Any reorganization plan transmitted by the Governor under this act

(1) Shall change in case he deems necessary the name of any agency affected by a reorganization and the title of its head and shall designate the name of any agency resulting from a reorganization and the title of its head

(2) May include provisions for the appointment and compensation of the head and one or more other officers of any agency (including an agency resulting from a consolidation or other type of reorganization) if the Governor finds and in his message transmitting the plan declares that by reason of a reorganization made by the plan such provisions are necessary The head so provided for may be an individual or may be a commission or board with two or more members The term of office of any appointee shall not be fixed at more than four years

The compensation shall not be at a rate in excess of that found by the Governor to prevail in respect of comparable officers in the executive and administrative branch If the appointment is not under the classified civil service it shall be by the Governor by and with the advice and consent of the Senate

(3) Shall make provision for the transfer or other disposition of the records property and personnel affected by any reorganization

(4) Shall make provision for the transfer of such unexpended galances of appropriations and of other funds available for use in connection with any function or agency affected by a reorganization as he deems necessary by reason of the reorganization for use in connection with the functions affected by the reorganization or for the use of the agency which has such functions after the reorganization plan is ecective Unexpended balances so transferred shall be used only for the purposes for which the appropriation was originally made

(5) Shall make provision for terminating the affairs of any agency abolished

(6) Shall enumerate all acts of the General Assembly which may be suspended if the reorganization plan becomes effective

Section 6 Limitations on Powers Respecting Reorganizations

No reorganization plan shall provide for and no reorganization under this act shall have the effect of

(1) Abolishing or transferring an executive or administrative department or all the functions thereof or consolidating any two or more executive or administrative departments or all the functions thereof or

(2) Continuing any agency beyond the period authorized by law for its existence or beyond the time when it would have terminated if the reorganization had not been made or

(3) Continuing any function beyond the period authorized by law for its exercise or beyond the time when it would have terminated if the reorganization had not been made or

(4) Authorizing any agency to exercise any function which is not expressly authorizer by law at the time the plan is transmitted to the General Assembly or

(5) Increasing the term of any office beyond that provided by law for the office

Section 7 Effective Date of Reorganizations Specified in Plan

(a) Except as may be otherwise provided pursuant to subsection (i) of this section the provisions of the reorganization plan shall take effect upon the expiration of the first period of thirty calendar days of continuous session of the General Assembly following the date on which the plan is transmitted to it bot only if between the date of transmittal and the expiration of the thirty-day period there has not been passed by either of the two Houses by the affirmative vote of a majority of the aothorized membership of the House a resolution stating in substance that the House does not favor the reorganization plan No resolution shall be effective (1) unless it designates the number of the reorganization plan and the date on which it was transmitted to the General Assembly or (2) if it specifies more than one reorganization plan

(b) For the purposes of subsection (a) of this section

(1) Continuity of session shall be considered as broken only by an adjournment of the General Assembly sine die but

(2) In the computation of the thirty-day period there shall be excluded the days on which either Hoise is not in session because of an adjournment of more than ten days to a day certain

(c) Any provision of the plan may under provisions contained in the plan be made operative at a time later than the date on which the plan otherwise takes effect

Section 8 Effect of Reorganization on Statutes and Regulations or Other Actions

Any statute enacted and any regulation or other aition made presrribed issued granted or performed in respect of or by any agency or function affected by a reorganization under the provisions of this act before the effective date of the reorganization shall except to the extent rescinded modified superseded or made inapplicable by or under authority of law or by the abolition of a function have the same effect as if the reorganization had not been made If any such statute regulation or other action has vested the function in the agency from which it is removed under the plan the function shall insofar as it is to be exercised after the plan becomes effective be considered as vested in the agency under which the function is placed by the plan

As used in this section "regulation or other action' means any regulation rule order policy determination directive authorization permit privilege requirement designation or other action

Section 9 Effect of Reorganization on Pending Legal Proceedings

No suit action or other proceeding lawfully commenced by or against the head of any agency or other officer of the Commonwealth in his official capacity or in relation to the discharge of his official duties shall abate by reason of the taking effect of any reorganization plan under the provisions of this act The court may on motion or supplemental petition filed at any time within twelve months after the reorganization plan takes effect showing a necessity for a survival of the suit action or other proceeding to obtain a settlement of the questions involved allow the same to be maintained by or against the successor of such head or officer under the reorganization effected by the plan or if there is no successor against such agency or officer as the Governor shall designate

Section 10 Effect on Unexpended Appropriations

The appropriations or portions of appropriations unexpended by reason of the operation of this act shall not be used for any purpose but shall be lapsed into the General Fund of the State Treasury or into any special fund from which it was made

Section 11 Laws Suspended

From the effective date of a reorganization plan and as long as it is in effect the operation of any act of Assembly inconsistent therewith shall be suspended insofar as it is inconsistent with the reorganization plan

Section 12 Publication of Reorganization Plans

Each reorganization plan which takes effect shall be printed in the Pamphlet Laws in the same volume as the acts of Assembly

Section 13 This act shall take effect immediately

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. KENT. Mr. Speaker, in reading over House Bill No. 1, I find myself in a considerable amount of confusion. There is one thing in the bill which I cannot reconcile, two different sections.

I would like to interrogate the sponsor of the bill and see if he can interpret it or reconcile what appears to me to be a flat contradiction in the bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Berks permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. READINGER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. KENT. Mr. Speaker, if the gentleman has a copy of the bill and will turn to page 2, Section 2, Subsection 1, that is on line 2, starting there and follow me for a moment, then I think he will readily see where my confusion arises.

In that section "agency" is defined, and it is defined in this way, agency means any executive or administrative department, commission, council, board, etc. We do not have to bother about the latter part but merely with the executive or administrative department. I believe the gentleman will agree that an executive or administrative department is an agency under that section. Is not that right?

Mr. READINGER. That is right.

Mr. KENT. Now if the gentleman will look on line 10, reorganization is defined as follows: "Reorganization means, 1, the transfer of all or any part of any agency of the whole or any part of the functions thereof to the jurisdiction and control of any other agency or 2," and this is the important one, "the abolition of all or any part of the functions of any agency."

Now, will the gentleman agree that that section gives the power to abolish the functions of any executive or administrative department?

Mr. READINGER. Except as precluded by a later section of the bill.

Mr. KENT. Possibly the gentleman has the answer.

If he will then turn to page 8, beginning with line 1. This is the limitation section in the bill and reads,

> "No reorganization plan shall provide for and no reorganization under this act shall have the effect of
> (1) Abolishing or transferring an executive or administrative department or all the functions thereof . . ."

My difficulty is, Mr. Speaker, that in the Section I first read from, it appears that the power is given to abolish all or any part of the functions of an executive or administrative department. Then in the following section, Section 6, subsection 1, that power is taken away. That is a contradiction as it appears to me.

My question is ,whether the gentleman can reconcile those two sections.

Mr. READINGER. I think I can. The definition of agency which you have read in part on page 2, includes many things other than executive or administrative departments. It includes commissions, councils, boards, bureaus, divisions, service officers, administration, or other establishment in the executive or administrative branch of the government.

The clause below which you have read in Section 2, subsection 2, part 2, which reads "the abolition of all or any part of the functions of any agency" as being included in the definition of reorganization, is not inconsistent in my opinion with section 6 of this bill, subsection 1, on page 8 for the reason that the abolition or transferring of entire executive departments is forbidden under this bill.

But when you construe the word "agency" on page 2, you must remember that it includes things other than administrative departments.

As I understood the bill and your question, the thing that is forbidden on page 8, Subsection 1, is the abolishing of an entire administrative department. For example if two departments were consolidated you would be abolishing one of them. That cannot be done.

Mr. KENT. I understand, Mr. Speaker, that under that section, the limitation section, that cannot be done. But all of the functions of an executive or administrative department can be abolished under that section, whereas, under the definition section, while the agency does include other things other than executive and administrative, still it does include executive and administrative departments and it gives the power to abolish all or any of the functions of those departments.

Mr. READINGER. It does not. The bill specifically provides that the departments or all the functions of the department cannot be abolished. That is the very meaning of Subsection 1 of Section 6 of this bill.

The reason, I say, that they seem inconsistent but are not is because the definition of "agency" is broader than simply executive or administrative departments. It includes other things.

Mr. KENT. Why then, Mr. Speaker, was the executive and administrative department included in the definition of "agency"?

Mr. READINGER. Because things which are not forbidden to be done under a plan or reorganization by Section 6, can still be done, in agencies which include departments. In other words, changes can be made within departments but the limitations written in the bill prohibit the abolition of a department or its functions.

Mr. KENT. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman agree that under the limitation section, an executive or administrative department in itself cannot be abolished.

Mr. READINGER. That is right.

Mr. KENT. But some of its functions under the other section can, is that the way I understand the gentleman?

Mr. READINGER. Very definitely, even under the limitation clause, some of the functions of an administrative department may be abolished.

If you will look at Subsection 1 of Section 6, on page 8, you will note it says no plan shall have the effect "of abolishing or transferring an executive or administrative department or all the functions thereof."

Mr. KENT. That is correct. I understand that, but I still cannot reconcile it with the other section where it gives the power to abolish all or any part of the functions of an agency, and an administrative or executive department is an agency.

Mr. READINGER. If the gentleman will read Subsection 2, of Section 2, on page 2, which he has just read, together with the limitation set forth on page 8, then he will know that it cannot be done.

I go back to the same thought expressed a while ago that the definition of "agency" which is referred to on page 2, is broader than the executive or administrative department mentioned on page 8.

Mr. KENT. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman.

I am frank to say that the confusion and the cloud is not lifted in my thinking and I have read the bill, and those particular sections many, many times, in the past few hours, and I still cannot reconcile them. They certainly seem to me to be opposed to each other and certainly in contradiction of each other, which would result, if this bill is passed and becomes law, in somebody being hailed immediately into court. I do not think that we should pass the type of legislation which will present the courts with a situation where a law is so indefinite and so vague that it would have to be declared invalid.

I have several other questions, Mr. Speaker, but I have some comments to go along with them.

Mr. Speaker, I personally and I can speak, I am sure, for the Republican party of Pennsylvania, that we have no objection and certainly will not oppose any reorganization plan which will effect economy, and a more efficient operation of our state government. But the thing I cannot understand and one of the questions that I would like to ask someone from the majority to answer is, what there is about this reorganization plan of the majority and what there is about this particular bill that requires a different procedure in its passage and in the method of becoming a law than is provided for in our Constitution, a different procedure than has ever been followed in this Legislature.

> I would like to read from Article 3, Section 1, of the Constitution of Pennsylvania. I am quoting "no laws shall be passed except by bill and no bill shall be so altered or amended on its passage through either house as to change its original purpose."

The first part is the important part. No laws shall be passed except by bill. If I understand the method that is being set up by House Bill No. 1, some type,—I do not know what it will be, I do not have the vaguest idea,—some type of a reorganization plan will be presented to this House and to the Senate at some time. If this House or if the Senate says nothing about that plan they do not have the opportunity to approve it, we only have the opportunity and the right to disprove it, but if we do nothing it becomes law. It is recorded in the Pamphlet Laws of Pennsylvania and it is a law. Certainly that is in complete contradiction with the provision that I have just read from the Constitution, where no laws shall be passed except by bills.

Then in Subsection 4, it goes on to tell the procedure to be followed in the passage of the bill. It it certainly interesting to note in that connection that we as Members of this House have a right to vote "yes" or "no" on any particular type of legislation which may eventually become a law.

Under House Bill No. 1 that right is taken away from us and we are delegating our powers to the Governor of the Commonmealth, which is unprecedented in the history of the Commonwealth.

I say again, what is there about this procedure, this program, that requires a different method and a different procedure than has ever before been followed in the history of Pennsylvania.

There is another question that I would be interested in having an answer to from someone. I think we will all agree that this bill and the procedure it sets up is a most far-reaching program. And it does give the Governor of the Commonwealth unprecedented powers that we as Members of this Legislature have by virtue of the Constitution, and certainly should keep. It would be a violation of our Constitution if those powers are taken away from us.

If this bill is as far-reaching as I say it is and I am sure we will all agree, what is the hurry in setting up this program without giving us more than a week or a few days to study it.

What is wrong with letting the people of Pennsylvania have an opportunity to know what the program and what the plan of reorganization is going to be.

As I said, Mr. Speaker, I do not have the vaguest idea of what changes the Governor of the Commonwealth has in mind and I think as a Representative of the people of my county and of Pennsylvania, I have the right to know what that program is, and what the plan is before I give up and part with my rights as a Representative in this House of Representatives.

It is not impossible for me to picture or to realize a situation where the Members of this Legislature will not even have the opportunity to disapprove of a reorganization plan that is submitted by the Governor. Because under House Bill 1 the procedure is that a resolution would be presented in this House disapproving of the plan. I presume, Mr. Speaker, that the resolution would be referred to the Rules Committee,—

The SPEAKER. And reported out.

Mr. KENT. Mr. Speaker, of that I am not sure. I trust the integrity of this Speaker and of the Majority Leader of this House, but I do not know who future Speakers or future Majority Leaders are going to be. And I certainly am not one who would go along and grant power such as that without having some assurance that what the Speaker has just now said would be binding on future leaderships and future Speakers in this House.

There is no way that that particular resolution could be brought forth to the floor of this House for a vote. I think that legislation such as this which takes away our very power and our rights to have something to say about the structure of our government is the worst type of legislation, and it certainly is a complete violation of our Constitution.

I think the people in Pennsylvania certainly want to live and exist under this Constitution, because we had an example last year when they said that very thing, they did not want our Constitution tampered with, and they said so at the polls. I say, Mr. Speaker, that this type of legislation and the program which can be set up under it is a complete attempt to circumvent the Constitution of Pennsylvania.

What would be wrong with having public hearings, for instance, and let the people of Pennsylvania who are interested, have an opportunity to know what the plan of His Excellency the Governor is and let them express their wishes in that manner? What would be wrong with giving us an opportunity as their representatives to know where we are going—what changes are going to be made? I certainly think I can say that if that plan will effect economy and efficiency in government the minority in this House would go along with it, but I think we are, and I feel that I am entitled to know what that plan is.

Now, Mr. Speaker, I have pointed these things out, I have asked these questions, and in closing I would like to have and would appreciate an answer from someone on the majority side of these questions, of why the procedure here is different, and why does it have to be done in this manner. I will agree that if we can effect economy and efficiency it should be done quickly, but I still think that we should know what that plan is before we part with the very powers and the rights that we have as a legislative group under the Constitution, and why we cannot open it to public hearings and let the people of Pennsylvania in on this program or plan which is to me nothing but a subterfuge to circumvent the Constitution of Pennsylvania.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, in order to expedite the debate on this bill I would like to tell the gentleman that I will answer the questions which he has raised, but

I would prefer to do so after others on his side, who I understand wish to speak, have done so, and then perhaps I can answer them all at that time.

Mr. ZIEGLER. Mr. Speaker, I should like to interrogate the Majority Leader.

The SPEAKER. Will the Majority Leader give consent to be interrogated?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I shall.

Mr. ZIEGLER. Mr. Speaker, I should first like to ask if the Majority Leader can tell me at this time what is to be reorganized.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I cannot tell you at this time what part of the executive branch of the government is to be reorganized.

Mr. ZIEGLER. Mr. Speaker, could the gentleman tell me when he may be able to tell me?

Mr. READINGER, Mr. Speaker, I would say to the gentleman, as soon as the Governor's office informs me of what changes it has in mind and when its reorganization plan will be ready to be submitted to the House, I will be glad to give him that information as soon as I have it available.

Mr. ZIEGLER. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman has no idea as to when that may be.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I have no idea except I would say that it would be during this session.

Mr. ZIEGLER. Mr. Speaker, and that may be any time this year or perhaps next year. Then, Mr. Speaker, I presume that the plan is not ready now, is that correct?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I think that is a good assumption.

Mr. ZIEGLER. Mr. Speaker, and by this bill the administration is taking for blanket authority to effect a reorganization, and at this time it does not know what the plan of reorganization is.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, it is asking for authority to submit a plan of reorganization to this House and to the Senate for its approval or disapproval.

Mr. ZIEGLER. Mr. Speaker, I am wondering whether or not a bill could not be submitted for a plan of reorganization for any one agency or any group of agencies.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, it certainly could.

Mr. ZIEGLER. Mr. Speaker, we could do that, I believe, without first passing House Bill No. 1, could we not?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, that is right, we could.

Mr. ZIEGLER. I am wondering, Mr. Speaker, whether or not the Majority Leader is in a position to tell us whether or not in his own opinion, or whether or not he has sought an opinion as to the constitutionality of this proposed bill?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I have and I believe it is constitutional.

Mr. ZIEGLER. Mr. Speaker, in your opinion,—I am directing that question to the Majority Leader, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. READINGER. I believe I did answer the gentleman's question.

Mr. ZIEGLER. No, Mr. Speaker, I do not think he did. My question is, is it his opinion that it is constitutional or did he seek the opinion of someone as to the constitutionality of the bill?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I have tried to explain to the gentleman—I have been told. I have sought an opinion and I have formed an opinion and I think it is constitutional.

Mr. ZIEGLER. Mr. Speaker, does the Majority Leader have any ideas as to how much would be saved if the bill should pass the House, pass the Senate and be signed by His Excellency, the Governor?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, nothing would be saved by that procedure. The only savings would come from the submission by the Governor of a reorganization plan which we approve by not disapproving, which might consolidate or might eliminate certain positions.

I assume that a reorganization plan when it is submitted to us will point out what savings can be effected by it, or what greater efficiency might be brought about in the executive branch of the government by the reorganization. I am assuming that when we get such a report we will consider it thoroughly and decide whether we like it or whether we do not like it. If we do not like it, or do not think the savings warrant making the changes we will disapprove it.

Mr. ZIEGLER. Mr. Speaker, could not those plans be submitted to us for our scrutiny, perhaps hearings and further sub-committee studies without passing House Bill No. 1?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I have said so before. It can be done in that manner.

Mr. ZIEGLER. Mr. Speaker, you do agree then that it could be done in that manner?

Mr. Speaker, if you will turn to page 8 of the bill—as I understand the bill an agency could be headed by an individual or it could be headed by a commission or a board of a number of persons. I am wondering whether or not if the agency is headed by a commission or a board it would not be possible under this bill to have the entire personnel of that commission or that board receive a salary in line with the provisions of this bill. And it is not entirely inconceivable that perhaps instead of having one head of an agency or a department you may have the head of that be a commission or a board and several persons receiving large salaries. Is that not possible?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I assume that could be done. I am also assuming that no silly reorganization plan is going to be sent to either house under this bill.

Mr. ZIEGLER. But, Mr. Speaker, I think he is just assuming. But the gentleman will admit that it can be done under the terms of this bill?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I am not prepared at the moment to say it could or could not, but assuming that it could I still am not willing to believe that any useless or more costly plan would be submitted to this House by way of reorganization.

Mr. ZIEGLER. Mr. Speaker, I think that is perfectly true as far as the Majority Leader is concerned, but unfortunately the Majority Leader cannot speak for anyone else.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, is the gentleman interrogating me?

Mr. ZIEGLER. That was an interrogation, Mr. Speaker. I thank the Majority Floor Leader.

Mr. DAVIS. Mr. Speaker, we of the minority have nothing but praise for the goal of bringing improvements into the fabric of our state government. That is progress and the Republican party has always been on the side of progress. But there is a right way and a wrong way to do things and in this matter, the Democrats, in their eagerness to make Republicans look bad, have chosen the wrong way.

Sometimes the cure can be worse than the disease and this, I submit, is one of those times.

It is wrong to cut corners at the expense of our state Constitution and to demolish by ill-concieved legislation, the edifice of freedom that it has taken centuries of suffering and sacrifice to build.

House Bill No. 1, whatever its sponsors think it will do, Mr. Speaker is certainly a violation of both the philosophy and the letter of our Constitution.

The founding fathers of our Federal Constitution set up our government upon the basis of a division of the parts, legislative, executive and judicial. These three departments were to function each one equal to the others, operating on a scheme of checks and balances, to insure that no single division grew powerful at the expense of the other.

As that great Democrat Madison stated it in one of the Federalist papers:

> "It will not be denied that power is of an encroaching nature, and that it ought to be effectually restrained from passing the limits assigned to it."

In a later Federalist paper, Hamilton gave the solution:

> ". . . by so contriving the interior structure of the government as that its several constituent parts, by their mutual relations, be the means of keeping each other in their proper places."
> Hamilton wrote in another paper that without the power of veto, "he (the executive) might gradually be stripped of his authorities by successive resolutions, or annihilated by a single vote. And in one mode or the other, the legislative and executive powers might speedily come to be blended in the same hands."

But it is not the stripping of the executive that we are dealing with here, Mr. Speaker.

It is the legislative which will suffer from an overweening reaching for power by the executive.

In short the Governor proposes to put the cart before the horse; he is asking for blanket powers to remake our state government along lines he sees best, and is saying to the legislature, "you must accept or reject what I propose; there can be no compromise."

All he would give the legislature would be the power of veto and even this yould be uncertain and depend upon the whims of one or two committee chairmen.

This certainly will upset the balance of power between the legislative and executive branches, a trend toward what Hamilton said would be a blending of legislative and executive powers in the same hands.

This would inflict upon the legislature a task which by its very nature of plural membership, it cannot well and competently perform.

Madison himself in 1788 in a Federalist paper cited the then governmental structure of Pennsylvania as an illustration of how ineffectual is the power of veto when exercised by a group of persons in contrast to the performance by a single individual.

Madison wrote:

> "The executive department of Pennsylvania is distinguished from that of the other states by the number of members composing it. In this respect, it has as much affinity to a legislative assembly as to an executive council. And being at once exempt from the restraint of an individual responsibility for the acts of the body, and deriving confidence from mutual example and joint influence, unauthorized measures would, of course, be more freely hazarded than where the executive department is administered by a single hand, or by a few hands."

Under this bill Mr. Speaker, the veto power would be given not to ten hands or twenty hands but to 260 hands, the combined membership of the House and Senate, to be exercised or not exercised, as they thought fit.

It would be a question of letting George do it on a grand scale and every legislator saying, "it wasn't up to me," if some unworkable and outrageous reorganization plan became law.

The cards will always be stacked in the Governor's favor when one of these reorganization plans comes before us. First, the expert opinion will be on his side; he will have the money to pay for it, we will not; second, he will tell us that his ideas will save the taxpayers untold dollars, and how can we say with assurance that he is right or wrong. Obviously the result will be nothing done, and when the chickens come home to roost, who will bear the responsibility? The legislature, of course Mr. Speaker.

If we are going to bear the responsibility we should also have more to say what shall be in the plans. We should have a chance to vote on these reorganization plans in the same manner as on all other legislation, Mr. Speaker. We should have a chance to amend and prove. We should never be asked to take it or leave it.

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I want to say to Members of this House that I was amazed when I read the Governor's message, and when this bill was finally introduced into this Legislature. I was amazed because of the drastic nature of the bill. I too, am in favor of reorganizing our state government in any way that will save money. I personally voted for all of the Chesterman bills here last session when they were up for vote on the floor of this House. If there is any way that we can cut down on the zooming costs of government, we should all be for it, and I am for it. I am for it, however, in a good, constitutional, orderly way. I am willing to vote for the things that my people back in my county sent me down here to do, that is, to vote for things within the realm of my legislative authority and to preserve unto the Legislature those things that are peculiarly legislative in character. They can and have no reason to be vested in the chief executive of this Commonwealth.

I was given the duty by the gentlemen on this side of the House to draft amendments to this bill, to make it what we thought would be a constitutional bill. We thought we owed it to the people of Pennsylvania to offer amendments to this bill to make it a constitutional bill so that we could say to the people, "we are not against this reorganization bill, but we are for it, providing you make it a good bill that we can all vote for within the oath of office that we took when we stood up here on the first day of the session."

Well, I prepared the amendments. The amendments reminded me of the amendments to House Bill No. 1 last session, the Constitutional Revision Bill. When we got through, as you recall, amending that bill the only thing that was left was the title. and that was true of the amendments that I had drafted. My amendments would have said in substance this: we favor this bill down to where it says that the Governor will submit his plans and then the veto power is vested in us. We would have stricken everything out from then on and said, "Sure, Governor Leader, we want you to reorganize. Bring your plan in here and let us look it over, and with the plan attach a bill to it." The bill could just say something like this, 'Be it enacted by this General Assembly that plan number so and so submitted by Governor Leader is hereby made the law of Pennsylvania and all acts of the General Assembly inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed by this bill."

That would have been the gist of my amendments had I offered them here today. But, as I say, when we got through with the bill someone said, "Why the bill as amended is the power that the chief has right now." There is nothing right now, with the staff of men that he has surrounded himself with, that would stop them from, in an orderly manner, preparing their reorganization plan and the Governor giving us a message saying, "Here is plan number one drafted by my board of experts and here is the bill which embodies the plan. It is House Bill No. so and so and was referred to the Committee on Rules." They, we trust, would put that bill on the floor, and we would give it three readings, as we should do on all bills. It would go over to the Senate, and they would do likewise, and then the Governor would sign the bill and it would become the law of Pennsylvania.

So we are not offering the amendments today, because we can see no necessity for doing a vain thing, that is, passing legislation here which is already the power of the executive. We have the machinery, in six days' time you could pass a bill and put through a reorganization of any department that you would care to within the framework of our Administrative Code right here, now. You do not need this elaborate thing that has been put in front of us. It is a complete reversal of our legislative and constitutional way of life in this state.

Our Constitution calls for a bill to be passed by us and signed or vetoed by the Governor. The effect of this act of Assembly is giving the Governor legislative power and giving us the veto power. That is an unheard of thing, I am sure, in any branch of government today. However, in reading the Governor's message he says that this bill was copied from the Federal plan. I think he is substantially correct. If you will take United States Code Annotation and read the government reorganization plan in Washington, I think the bill does follow with much particularly the federal plan, but there are certain eliminations, certain things about this bill, that are not in the federal law.

For instance, as Mr. Kent pointed out, this bill will last forever. Any Governor that comes along can reorganize, and reorganize, because there is no time limit in this bill when, the Governor, or successive governors, must cease doing this very thing.

The federal act, however, the first one passed, I believe, under President Truman expired in 1953, and I believe the present reorganization bill in Washington expires now in 1955. Another thing, under the federal law there are sixty days to veto a proposition.

Now, in looking at our Federal Government you must remember they are in session practically all the time. Their committees are standing committeees with staffs of experts, and they hold hearings on a measure and investigate it and give all kinds of figures and facts which we do not have the machinery here to put in front of the General Assembly. I say, comparing our government with the federal government is certainly no comparison. Everybody agrees that the federal government is a sprawling government. Most of the departments have have been set up by executive order, and the idea back of the Hoover Commission was to consolidate and reduce things that have been set up by executive order in our national government.

Here in Pennsylvania we have the Administrative Code. Everything that we do here is set up with particularly in the Administrative Code. Every worker, every department head, every officer on Capitol Hill, knows what his duties are. They are set out in the Administrative Code. The minute we pass this bill the Administrative Code will be in a state of inanimate suspension. Nobody will know where he stands, whether he is in power or out of power. They will not know but that next week they will have the props knocked right out from under them.

And this bill, unlike the federal bill, has no protection for those in civil service. I understand the federal act protects those in the classified service, but there is no protection here to anybody in this state of ours who is presently under a merit system or in classified service. So, as I say, in Washington where they are continually in session and the bill is of limited duration, there is no comparison with Pennsylvania.

And another thing, in Washington before this bill was passed they had the Hoover Commission report in front of them. It was the result of four or five years of study on a bipartisan basis in Washington, and it was in front of them and on the desks of the Members of Congress. But here we have no plan. It is true that we have the Chesterman Report from last session, but there is no one who can say here today that the Governor intends to use the Chesterman Report. As a matter of fact, under this bill the Chesterman Report will be of very little aid to him because in this bill, as admitted by the Majority Leader, there is no provision for doing away with any department. Of course, I grant you the Governor could leave a department with one-tenth of one per cent of its functions and consolidate it into another department, but the department would have to remain under this bill.

Under this bill, for instance, the Governor could not do away with the Department of Commerce; he could not do away with the Department of Health, or the Department of Welfare, or the Department of Public Assistance, and that was one of the big items, one of the big aims of the Chesterman Report, to consolidate those functions which were of such a light character into one huge department with the intention of saving money. Now, then, as this plan of the Governor is put in front of us, this bill is so drafted that it does not fit into our machinery operating our state government.

There is no provision, for instance, to amend the plan. Suppose the plan has merit. When the Governor gives it to us, it is a "take it or leave it" deal. We have to say "no" to it. If by mere inaction it becomes the law of Pennsylvania, it is put in the Pamphlet Laws just like any act of the General Assembly. I have never heard of anything so preposterous as a thing like that wherein the Governor will dictate, you might say, by decree, would be able to hand us something and, if by reason of being here one or two days a week, we just do not get around to giving a negative vote to something which is not good, it becomes the law of the land and it is put in our statute books, just as if we had passed it in an orderly, constitutional way. And nothing would stop the Governor—I am not saying he is going to do it, but future Governors might give us sixty reorganization plans at once that we must look into within the thirty day period. It certainly would be impossible to do a tremendous task like that within the short time that is being alloted to us to do this very job.

Now, I want to ask you before I sit down just what they have in mind here as far as this bill is concerned. The Governor says in his message that he has already reorganized the executive department. Well, I read the newspapers just like the rest of you do. He has added a lot of men over there at ten and twelve thousand dollars a year. You fellows on the other side know more about that than we do, but if you read the newspapers there are some high-priced men over there. I am wondering how much saving he has made by reorganizing his executive department. You will be amazed when you see the executive department budget when we get it here in six weeks or so, as the Governor has promised.

If this passes, it will be a very, very far-reaching bill as far as this state is concerned; it will reach into the life of practically every human being in this state.

Let us take the Board of Public Assistance. He really could abolish the functions of that particular department; he could abolish the Boards of Public Assistance in all counties, for instance, change completely the system of giving relief and old age assistance under this bill. He could, I suppose, do away with one-half of the teachers' colleges, if he wanted to under this bill, consolidate them with other colleges and fire the boards of these different colleges. I am wondering whether the Governor will do that, that is part of the Chesterman report. He could abolish the Workmen's Compensation Board, if he wanted to. I believe under this bill he could abolish the Liquor Control Board and that entire setup, that merit system that we have over there in the Liquor Control Board that is an agency under the executive department, as near as I can find out from reading this bill. There is nothing could stop him, for instance, from doing away with the board of trustees of the medical and surgical hospitals of this state, or give them back to the communities, which is one of the aims of the Chesterman report. Think of the chaos that will result if that is done.

I am just wondering whether he could not transfer the Game Commission to the Department of Forests and Waters, or transfer the Department of Forests and Waters to the Game Commission and enlarge on its functions. That is something for the sportsmen of Pennsylvania to think about, because I know the sportsmen consider that an unthinkable thing to do, to tamper with the Game Commission.

There are many other changes that could be made. For instance, I believe under this bill he could do away with the Secretary of Highways and put in a commission system of running our Department of Highways, or do away with the Department almost in its entirety and leave only a skeleton force over there under this bill. I am not saying that the Governor is going to do that, but I am just telling you that that is the power we are asked to vest in the Governor of Pennsylvania. We are being asked to abdicate here in this House today the powers that are vested in us as legislators. We are close to the people, we are elected every two years by the people, we must face the people every two years, and they expect us to legislate within the realm of the powers that are reserved to us by the constitution. I say that as one legislator I am not going to surrenderd any of the powers that I have here today as a Member of the Legislature from the County of McKean.

In my opinion, this bill is one of the most drastic, one of the most far reaching, one of the most chaos producing, one of the most dictatorial, most illusory, most confusing, most "New Dealish" bill that I have ever been in this Legislature. It reminds me of the first hundred days of the "New Deal" administration in 1933. There was a great emergency in those days. (Applause from Democrats.) I knew that would engender applause from the other side. I am sure you gentlemen are proud of NRA that the Supreme Court knocked down. It was a bill just like this where Congress surrendered all its rights and they were known as the "rubber stamp" Congress of 1933. (Applause by Democrats.) The AAA was passed, the Agricultural Adjustment Act, which the Supreme Court knocked down and I believe one of the judges said it was one of the most far-reaching pieces of legislation wherein the legislature abdicated its powers to the executive in the history of the United States.

This bill is the beginning of dictatorship in Pennsylvania, and I want to tell you I do not like it. If we pass this bill today and give the Governor this power, where are we going to end? Where are things going to cease? He will gradually gnaw away at our legislative power, and the first thing you know we will have a dictatorship in this state of ours and it will spread. I am telling you people now is the opportune time to stand up and be counted and stick for constitutional government in Pennsylvania.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, the Minority Leader, Mr. Smith.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I yield to the gentleman from Allegheny, if it is the pleasure of the Chair.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Goldstein.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, I quote as follows "I do not suggest that the legislature as proposed is not subject to review, modification and improvement by the Legislature. The substance I do regard as vital and the methods and procedures certainly are not rigidly fixed."

This is the language of the Governor of the State of Pennsylvania, George M. Leader. When we have legislation so revolutionary in character, and whose purpose may be of the finest, it seems to me we move too rapidly when we have a bill introduced on January 24th and reported out of Committee on the following day.

I would be remiss in my duties to my constituency which fortunately happens to be equally divided between Republicans and Democrats. And many of the Democrats saw fit to elect me because they have the majority in my district.

I have before me the United States Code annotated. This piece of legislation is copied almost word for word from the USCA.

The previous speakers have analyzed certain features and they have told you in a certain degree where in this legislation does not follow up the protective features of the United States Reorganization Act. The most important protective feature of hte United States Reorganization Act which was passed in 1949 is this: that no individual speaker, no committee chairman can pickle the bill. That is provided for with a great deal of particularity and detail in the Act of Congress. Why, I ask you, was this most sacred feature of the Congressional Act omitted?

I do not wish to recite in detail the Act of Congress because the Act of congress specified the procedure where the bill must come out in ten days. It makes it impossible for any Governor or any group of men to prevent the House or the Senate from voting upon the bill. Any two members who are for the affirmative or rejecting the bill can bring it out. Why was this important feature eliminated? I am for economy, in fact, I have advocated a bi-partisan measure for the elimination of a Commission which will save the state of Pennsylvania thousands of dollars and I wish the opposite side to join with me on that. If we are going to pass this legislation, if it is Constitutional perfectly O.K. but I am not doing it from a Constitutional standpoint, I am doing it from the standpoint of protecting the rights of the people of Pennsylvania. I believe in a government of laws and not a government of men, and when you omit this particular feature, part and parcel of the USCA you are destroying the protective features.

And why, I ask the Majority Leader, was this not restricted to a limited time? When Mr. Truman was President of the United States it was limited to 1953 and when Mr. Eisenhower became President of the United States, it was limited to 1955. If we have an emergency in the state of Pennsylvania perhaps we may need it on a limited basis. There is nothing in this bill, in my opinion, which protects the rights of civil service. It should rave been spelled out.

I also call the attenton of the Members of the House, that this particular bill differs from the United States bill, in this very important respect. As to the United States bill with relation to the colloquy which took place between the Majority Leader and the first gentleman on our side, he stated certain inconsistencies in the bill. Why, I ask was this particular bill drawn up to eliminate, or to contain the administrative departments and not be confined to the executive departments? The United States Congressional bill is confined strictly to the executive departments which means the Cabinet members. But our bill also takes in the administrative departments. I can read you dozens and dozens of sections relating to the administrative department. Is it the intention of the Governor to make this a naked shell and leave dozens and dozens of heads of Administrative Department who would do nothing but draw salaries? What is the purpose of including administrative departments in there? I think we will have to protect those under civil service and the merit system. I say, Members of the House and Mr. Speaker, that this particular legislation should be considered carefully.

We are faced today with tax upon tax, and we agree with the Governor that everything must be done to save the taxpayers the burden of additional impositions upon them. We feel that if this legislation is examined and studied and reviewed, and if the precept and guidance of the Governor is followed and if we only do as he suggested that we may arrive at some legislation which is effective in purpose, constitutional in aspect and for the best interest of the people of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

So, I say to you in conclusion, let us listen to what the Governor said and do this, I suggest that the legislation as proposed should be reviewed, should be modified, and approved by the Legislature. We regard the substances as vital. The method of procedure should be changed so that everybody is protected, no matter whether it is a Republican Governor of a Democratic Governor, Republican Senate, Democratic Senate, Republican House, or Democratic House.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the Minority Leader, Mr. Smith.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, the Minority Leader yields to the gentleman from Bedford, Mr. Stroup.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Bedford, Mr. Stroup.

Mr. STROUP. Mr. Speaker, I am a freshman in a minority party. Back in the mountains of Bedford County from whence I come, we have a very free, independent type of people. My ancestors settled back in those mountains and helped to wrest civilization out of the wilderness. If you travel up that way, my friends, you will still hear ringing from the mountain crags and echoing down in our valley, that cry which is imperishable, "the price of liberty is enternal vigilance."

Here today I submit to you, if you think thoroughly and carefully, you have a bill presented to you to pass which can result in the camel's nose getting under the tent, which can result in the perversion of the rights of this House, the rights of the Legislature, and the rights of the grass roots who look to us to protect those rights, against any thought that comes from an administrative body. I did not come before you on this matter without giving through consideration to this bill in its merits, I have consulted with various attorneys and with students of Government and it is my considered though humble opinion that this bill is probably unconstitutional.

In the first place, it is a complete reversal of Governmental procedure as set forth in the Constitution of this Commonwealth. In fact, this vests in the executive branch of the Government the power to make legislation and transfer to the legislative branch the power of veto.

There is contained in this bill no provision by which the reorganization act, as handed to the Legislature by the Governor shall be read at length on each of three separate legislative days in the House of Representatives. There is no provision for the recording of the ayes or nays of the Members of the House or Senate as to their attitude on the bill on final passage. There is no provision for amendment by the Legislature, or for recall by the Governor for corrections and deletions. It must be accepted, I submit to you, by the Legislature on an all or nothing basis; indeed it may not even get to the Legislature on that basis at all. We must remember that though we are anxious to meet the so called needs of this particular time, that we hereby set a precedent in passing a bill of this nature that goes on forever and permits future Legislators and future Governors to demand that type of power from this House.

I submit to you further that on page 11, line 18, it provides as follows, and I quote, "each reorganization plan which takes effect shall be printed in the Pamphlet Laws in the same volume as the acts of Assembly.

This clearly shows that even in the minds of the writers of this bill each of the plans to be set forth thereunder shall have the same force and effect as a law passed in a constitutional manner by the two houses of the Legislature.

It further provides for the delegation of power by the two houses of the Legislature. It provides for the delegation of power to be placed in the hands of a specific officer by act of the Legislature or by the Constitution of his functions thereunder to any other officer.

It seems to me it would clearly deprive the Legislature of all of its constitutional authority over the functions to be performed by any branch of the administrative or the executive department of the Government so far as that control is not inconsistent with the Constitution.

I do not intend Mr. Speaker to belabor this Assembly with an analysis of the very apparent inconsistencies and poor legislation that is set forth in this bill that has been presented to you by my colleague who has spoken so excellently to you here this afternoon.

However, I do want to call your attention in concluding that before we can in good conscience, and I not only speak to my colleagues of the minority but also to my colleagues on the majority side of this House, before we can in good conscience agree to a surgical operation such as this on a patient who may or may not be a sick patient in his senses, that is, in this instance the government of Pennsylvania, we as Members of the House are entitled to know the nature of the malady specifically that is proposed to be cured and reserve the right to inquire into the competency of those who face that diagnosis.

The Legislature of Pennsylvania and particularly the Republican members of that body, all of us, are anxious to have greater economy and efficiency in the administration of the affairs of Pennsylvania. But we are not willing to give a blank check to the Governor of Pennsylvania to permit the amount to be written therein to be determined by people without any experience in governmental affairs.

They believe that they are entitled, and the people of Pennsylvania are entitled to know in exactly what manner and by what means Governor Leader proposes to change the Government of the Commonwealth. Whenever the Governor comes forward with a specific recommendation, Mr. Speaker, for a plan of reorganization founded upon facts previously ascertained and proven, which will accomplish the desired objectives of economy and efficiency, the Republican party and its representatives in the House, and I am sure in the Senate of Pennsylvania, pledge themselves to a fair and patriotic examination of such a plan. If after such an examination and proper deliberation they find the plan to be good for Pennsylvania it will undoubtedly be supported.

We do not propose to abjectly surrender to the executive branch of this Commonwealth the duty which we were elected to perform and for the faithful performance of which we have taken our solemn oath.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I do not intend to be too long. I think we have proven our point to the Members of this House; I think we have proven our point to the press; I think we have proven our point to the people of Pennsylvania, and they are the ones we are interested in because they are the ones who sent us here as Representatives to represent them.

There is certainly a great deal of merit in Governor Leader's plan to reorganize the state government in order to save money and to insure efficiency. We agree with his aims. It is something that everyone wants, but certainly the method of House Bill No. 1 in accomplishing these aims, in our opinion, is unconstitutional, as we have tried to show you today.

Is it constitutional for the General Assembly in one act of the Legislature, without going to the people, or any other means, to repeal whole sections of our state Constitution? We question this. The Governor knows, and we know, and every person in this House knows, that this is not the way to amend the Constitution.

If to accomplish these aims of reorganization the Governor feels the Constitution should be changed, he should go about it by the legal methods and procedures now set up by law, by passing a constitutional amendment in two successive terms of the Legislature and going to the people for a vote, or by the constitutional convention method whcih would be much shorter, if time happens to be of the essence.

I know this is being repetitious, because we have heard it here three times today, but it is plain, simple, ordinary language; listen to it, there is no debate on it.

Our present Constitution, Article III, states:

> "Every bill shall be read at length on three different days in each House, . . . and no bill shall become a law, unless on its final passage the vote be taken by yeas and nays, the names of persons voting for and against the same be entered on the journal, and a majority of the members elected to each House be recorded thereon as voting in its favor."

Mr. Speaker, they are plain, simple, ordinary words that every layman in this House can understand. I am not a lawyer, I did not read any of the legal parts of the bill and I do not intend to, but they are words that every Member in this House can understand. Think about them.

This is the very heart of representative government; our type of government. Under it each lawmaker is responsible to the people that he represents, and every man and woman on the floor of this House—and think about this—has taken an oath to uphold the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. Remember that. You took that oath only a short month ago.

Under this bill a reorganization plan sent by the Governor could become law even without a Member of the House or Senate voting for it.

Now, Mr. Speaker, there are provisions in this bill that we feel are unconstitutional, that we know are unconstitutional, and I might go further than the Majority Leader when he "thinks" it is constitutional, we "know" that it is not because it is in plain, simple language.

I implore you, ladies and gentlemen on the other side of the House, for the sake of the people of Pennsylvania, not only today but for the future generations that are to come in this State, let us not rip out our Constitution for any Governor, whether he be a Democrat or a Republican.

There is a wrong way and a right way to go about these things and why the present administration sees fit continually to take the wrong way, we do not understand.

This bill is a constitution ripper bill from top to bottom and no economy justifies tearing down our Constitution when there are other legal methods of reaching the same goal. We believe in your hearts you know that the Republican party, which has always upheld the Constitution of Pennsylvania, would not and could not supply votes for this type of legislation.

Again let me ask you what I asked you yesterday, what are you up to? Is this a red herring? And I mean that very seriously. You are up to something and your own members do not know what you are up to. Your Governor is up to something and you do not know what he is up to. He is trying to fool the people of Pennsylvania, and I still say that.

Is this a red herring to allow you to stall for more time because of having no program, and in the meantime accuse us, the Republicans, of not cooperating with the Governor and not trying to save the taxpayers money. It will be very interesting within the next three or four months to listen to the Governor's speeches, and, believe me, I will remind you of them.

If the Majority passes this legislation, knowing full well in their hearts what it does, and I believe the Members on that side of the House know, we, the Republican party charge them with non-support of the Pennsylvania Constitution.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, may I interrogate the Minority Leader?

The SPEAKER. Will the Minority Leader consent to be interrogated?

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman stated just a moment ago that he knows that parts of this bill are unconstitutional. I request that he point out the specific provisions of the bill which he knows are unconstitutional.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. I believe I just pointed them out when I said that our Constitution states that a bill shall be read three times on three successive days and the yeas and nays of each House be taken and recorded.

Mr. READINGER. Will the gentleman agree that House Bill No. 1, which I hold in my hand, is a bill, and that it has been in Committee and reported out, and has been read on three different days?

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, again I remember our present Speaker about going back into lawyers' questions.

The Majority Leader knows full well what I mean when I say that this bill is setting up an illegal constitutional procedure. Certainly, when the Governor comes in with a reorganization plan in the form for a resolution and not taking votes in this House or the Senate, as our Constitution says we shall do, it is unconstitutional.

Mr. READINGER. Is that what the gentleman meant when he said he knows there are provisions in this bill which are unconstitutional? Is that what the gentleman meant by that statement?

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. I meant that it sets up an unconstitutional procedure.

Mr. READINGER. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. Speaker, as I listened to the arguments made by the very able Members of the minority I was reminded of a phrase which is heard so often, everybody talks about the weather, but nobody does anything about it.

The Members who have spoken want us to know that they are in favor of governmental efficiency and economy, and also reorganization, if it can be accomplished to save any money, but they object most strenuously to the method which we have decided to adopt in order to do something about this matter.

This bill, House Bill No. 1, is an administration bill. We want to see it passed, because we want to see the Governor of this Commonwealth do something about governmental economy, and not have us sit here a whole session and talk about it, but not get anything done.

There has been so much said about the constitutionality of the bill that I would like to read to you parts of an opinion which the Attorney General of this state has given to the present Governor relative to its constitutionality.

In this opinion it is stated that

House Bill No. 1 would authorize you to perform certain acts which, if approved under the conditions set forth, would operate as a suspension of certain laws for certain time. Many limitations and conditions are provided in the bill, the most important of which are:

1. The bill does not apply to the:

Auditor General,
State Treasurer,
Secretary of Internal Affairs,
Pennsylvania Game Commission,
Pennsylvania Fish Commission,
State Civil Commission,
Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission,
Pennsylvania Historical and Museum Commission,
Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board,
Milk Control Commission,
State Tax Equalization Board.

2. Additional limitations are set forth in Section 6 of the bill which prohibits you from:

1. Abolishing or transferring an executive or administrative department or all the functions thereof, or consolidating any two or more executive or administration departments or all of the functions thereof.

He then continues with four other prohibitions which are set forth in the bill, and I am sure you have read them.

It goes on to say that,

You are given no control over the appropriations or portions of appropriations unexpended by reason of the operation of the bill, but these appropriations must lapse into the General Fund or any special fund from which they were appropiated.

The bill is operative, insofar as you are concerned, with the submission of plans only during the time when the General Assembly is in session.

The bill, like all bills, is limited by the provisions of the Constitution of Pennsylvania. For instance, the bill authorizes you to change the title of the head of an agency. This, of course, could not apply to the titles of the Secretary of the Commonwealth or the Superintendent of Public Instruction.

Under the bill you are charged with the responsibility of examining from time to time all agencies of the state government and determining what changes are necessary to accomplish better execution of the laws, more effective management of the Executive Branch, expediting all public business, reduction of expenditures, and promotion of economy and the elimination of the overlapping and duplication of effort.

When your investigations reveal that any or all of these objectives might be accomplished, it is your duty to prepare a reorganization plan and transmit it to the General Assembly with full details of the plan, its purpose, and the results expected if the plan is placed into operation. The reorganization plan becomes effective thirty days after its transmittal to the General Assembly, provided a resolution by a majority of the membership of either branch of the Legislature is not passed stating its disapproval of the reorganization plan.

Turning to the constitutionality of the bill, I call your attention to Article I, Section 12, of the Constitution which reads:

No power of suspending laws shall be exercised unless by the Legislature or by its authority.

The suspension of laws by the Legislature or by its authority is not a new concept in the constitutions of the various states, since ten states have constitutional provisions similar to that of Pennsylvania, while the constitutions of several other states have constitutional provisions substantially similar to that of Pennsylvania. Nor is the concept of the suspension of laws novel as to the Federal government.

Furthermore, the passage of legislation similar to House Bill No. 1 has occurred previously in Pennsylvania. The Act of May 21, 1943, P. L. 439, was entitled:

"An Act authorizing the governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania with the advice of the Attorney-General and the approval of certain members of the General Assembly for a limited period of time to suspend or modify laws, either in whole or in part under certain circumstances, during the existence of the present war."

This act was even broader in its concepts since it permitted the suspension of laws even if the General Assembly was not in session.

An earlier act was that passed by the General Assembly and approved June 21, 1937, P. L. 1982, and amended on March 30, 1939, P. L. 14. This act provided for the prescribing of rules of practice and procedure in civil actions at law and in equity in certain courts of this Commonwealth and for the suspension of any Act of Assembly relating to practice or procedure in such courts inconsistent with such rule.

This act was attacked as an unconstitutional delegation of legislative power in the case of Blair Motor Car Company, Inc., etc., vs. Morbine, et al., No. 148D & C 351 (1943), but the court held the act constitutional in the following language on page 353.

I do not want to burden you with a lot of detail, ladies and gentlemen, but this matter of the constitutionality has been so thoroughly explored by your speakers this afternoon that it is important that we do know what it is about.

The Court said in that opinion as follows:

"* * * It is argued that this language contains a delegation of lawmaking power, as the Supreme Court is thereby given the right to suspend the operation of statutes. We hold that the act is not unconstitutional. Section 12 of Article I of our state Constitution expressly recognizes that laws may be suspended by the authority of the Legislature. The making of laws is purely a legislative act, but the determination by some agency when, if ever, their operation shall be suspended has never been so considered":

The court then cites another case.

"Acting under the authority of the Legislature, the Supreme Court by promulgating a rule of practice which may be inconsistent with some statutes is merely declaring the event upon which the expressed will of the Legislature is to take effect. The actual suspension is the action of the Legislature." In the frequently quoted language of Justice Agnew: "The Legislature cannot delegate its power to make a law; but it can make a law to delegate a power to determine some fact or state of things upon which the law makes, or intends to make, its own action depend. To deny this would be to stop the wheels of government. * * *"

The same constitutional question as to whether there was an unlawful delegation of legislative power by the General Assembly was raised in the case of Young et al. vs. Fetterolf et al., 320 Pennsylvania 289, (1936), where the act of April 25, 1933, P. L. 74, made it unlawful to conduct a baseball or football game between certain hours on Sunday, and which further provided that the operation of the act may be suspended by the majority of the electors in each municipality.

The Supreme Court in that case, and I am not going to read the entire thing, upheld the power of the Legislature to pass such an act in which a determination made by a municipality as to whether a certain law could allow the playing of baseball or football should be suspended was upheld by the courts. This opinion is very lengthy, and I do not intend to read any more of it.

It is the opinion of the Attorney General of this State, it is my opinion, and I know it is the opinion of the Members on this side, that this bill if it becomes enacted into law is constitutional.

Very much has been said about depriving the Members of this House and the Members of the Senate of their constitutional right to vote on such matters as reorganization of the executive branch of the Government.

I would like to comment at this time on some of the statements made by the gentleman on the other side.

Starting with Mr. Kent, he charges that this is a delegation of powers to the Governor. And he asks, why not let the people know what the reorganization plan is going to be? Why should any Member give up his right to vote on a plan? He asks many questions and I hope that during my remarks I can cover and answer the arguments that have been made by Mr. Kent and the others.

This is not a delegation of powers to the Governor which belong to us. This is a method of moving the burden of really effecting a reorganization of government, executive branch of government, from the Legislature to the executive branch. I say it is moving the burden of going ahead with it, producing a plan, studying the matter, getting expert advice, and then coming back to us with a well studied plan and saying to us in effect will you accept this.

Why we should be so terribly upset about something new or which apparently is new, and from what I have just read from the Attorney General's opinion it is not new at all in Pennsylvania.

But assuming that to most of you this is an astounding departure from the type of legislative practice that we have followed and which you say is the only kind that is allowed by the Constitution; assuming that it is a great departure, I ask you just what is wrong with it?

The way it will operate, the Governor will prepare a reorganized plan, and I assume any Governor who is worthy of the confidence that the people have shown in him in electing him Governor, will not come over here with any silly or ridiculous plans. They will be plans that have been thoroughly studied and thought out before they are ever given to us. We then have thirty days while we are in session to study them ourselves and take some action. The bill provides for vetoing by resolution on any plan that is submitted if we do not like it.

You say next, well then, there are rules. The resolution if introduced by some minority Member would go to the Rules Committee, and that is right, it would. Under the present Rules of the House you need 106 votes to discharge that Rules Committee from the custody of such a veto resolution.

I want to say to you today that with the consent of the Democratic Caucus, if this bill passes and becomes law in Pennsylvania, the Rules of this House will be changed to provide that any 85 Members of the House can compel or force that resolution from any Committee to which it was referred, for a vote on the floor of this House. With a vote of 106, any reorganization plan which is submitted to us can be vetoed by action of this House alone.

You say that is not sufficient to insure us that the Governor will not do some of the things mentioned by Mr. Johnson and some of the others. That he will not abolish this, abolish that, abolish something else. I say to you that it is as much protection as you have now. Because if the majority side of this House decided to introduce and pass a bill which would make radical changes in the executive branch of the Government you would be paralyzed to stop us from doing so. This is in reverse and therefore it is apparently astounding to you and is the cause of great concern and anguish.

You say we are only trying to fool, we trying to keep something from our people, the Governor trying to do so and so. I say in all seriousness we are not trying to hide anything, and we are not hiding anything. This is the reserve of the procedure we now have in order to effect reorganization.

One of your speakers has asked why do we not do it in the normal manner—the manner that he law now provides for? If you want to reorganize something, put in a bill. You say, can we do that? Why, of course you can do that. That could have been done any time since the Constitution of 1874 or even before that. It has always been the method by which it can be done, but I ask you whether you think we have really done a good job of reorganizing the executive branch of the state with a view to real economy?

During the debate the Chesterman bills were mentioned. I believe Mr. Johnson mentioned the fact that he had voted for all or most of the Chesterman bills relating to reorganization in the executive branch of the government. But I would remind you that everyone of those bills with the exception of a very few failed to pass either the Senate or the House. In fact many of them did not even reach the House. And that I am afraid would be the result of any large number of reorganization plans which any Member or group of Members tried to get through this House and this Senate.

So you say, all right what are you doing then, writing a blank check for the Governor so that he can effect a vast reorganization plan and because some of us are not here sometimes or we are too lazy or we are too indifferent, it will become law without our saying anything about it? Is that what I am to understand from the arguments I have heard today? Because if that is the way things are going to be in this state then we are not going to be in a very safe position as citizens or as Members of the House.

We must assume, and I do assume, that any plan that would come over from the Governor's office under this bill would be given serious study by the membership of this House, and I know by the membership of the Senate. If we do not like a plan or if we are in doubt as to whether the executive branch of the government is telling us the truth about what the plan will do, or what it will not do we have a very easy way of killing the whole thing by voting for the resolution which would be before us. As I say, under the amended rules of this House, eighty-five, any eighty-five Members, could compel that resolution to be brought on the floor here for debate and for a roll call.

Mr. Kent has said that Members are entitled to know what the plan is. I say he will know. He will have every possible bit of information about a reorganization plan if one is submitted under the terms of this bill.

When the Hon. Mr. Davis spoke he stated that it is wrong to cut corners at the expense of the Constitution. He says House Bill No. 1 is a violation of the spirit of the Constitution, that the three branches of the government have equal powers and are to remain inviolate and so forth. He says the Governor proposes to put the cart before the horse where there can be no compromise. He indicates that the Governor's reorganization plan would be given to us on a take it or leave it basis. I say that is not so.

The way this would operate, if we did not like the plan we could reject it. We could tell the Governor we will take this, and this and this—put this in a reorganization plan and we will take it. If that is not a comproomise I do not know what it is. Furthermore, if the Governor did not like what we had in mind, we could put a bill in and we could pass a bill and if the Senate were so minded, they could pass it. It would go to the Governor's desk and he could not afford to veto such a bill and if he did, assuming we had enough votes we could pass it over his veto. I say no Governor would lightly veto a reorganization bill that was passed by the House and the Senate unless there was something very, very wrong with it.

The gentleman, Mr. Davis, said that this was a matter of letting George do it. That the Governor will have power to spend money to get experts to help him—to help him devise and support such a plan—that we do not have that authority. I think the gentleman will find that he is in error. We will have the authority. We do have the authority now to bring in our own experts to study plans if we feel it is necessary. In other words, we are not a helpless body of this government and have to take something at its face value because we do not have anyone we can talk to or go to for advice on such a plan. That just is not so.

We are not being asked to take these things on a take it or leave it basis. It could be treated that way if you want to do it because under the bill the Governor is charged with submitting a plan. But, Members, if a plan is submitted no Governor would be silly or foolish enough to say, "This is it, if you do not take this, you will get nothing."

I think any Governor worthy of his salt would take part of a program, half of it, a quarter of it, all of it if he could get it, if he felt that it would save money for the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and its citizens.

Something was said this afternoon which indicates that we are not much concerned about taxes and so forth. Certainly nobody is going to take such a statement seriously. You are concerned about them and we are,too. It was part of the campaign on both sides to effect governmental economy and efficiency wherever it could be done. We are making this as our concrete proposal of a sensible, sound way to do it. We think that it will work well if it is enacted into law. And it should be enacted into law so that something can be started and done about this matter.

Mr. Johnson in his remarks said that he was given the job of drafting amendments to make this constitutional and that after he had drawn some amendments or considered them, he found that he was right back where we are now—that there would be nothing left to do to keep this constitutional except to now introduce a reorganization bill or something during the session, have it read three times, passed here, pass the Senate and sent to the Governor's office.

He also stated that this bill gives the Governor the power to legislate. I say this bill does not give the Governor the power to legislate. I say this bill does not give the Governor any power to legislate. If we pass this and the Governor sends a reorganization plan over here we in this House alone have the power to say that it shall not have any effect at all, we are legislating. If we do not say that, if we accept the plan, we are then saying we adopt that as our plan of reorganization. We want it. We like it. But the Governor is not legislating. We are doing it. And we are doing it because of that power to veto.

The charge of this being a blank check would be entirely right if we did not have the power of veto and with that power in the bill, that charge of this being a blank check with the amount left open and the date and everything else is not tenable. It is just not a sensible statement to make because it is not a blank check to anybody.

The Federal plan was discussed today. I believe Mr. Johnson mentioned that under that plan sixty days are allowed to the Congress to disapprove. He spoke about the sprawling nature of the Federal government and so forth. I will grant him that the Federal government is a rather sprawling structure and necessarily so. So a matter of fact, the Pennsylvania government is too. Things have grown so much in the last thirty-five or forty years in Pennsylvania that I suppose someone who lived in the older day would hardly recognize the vast system of governmental functions that take place in Pennsylvania. But that is not a valid criticism of this bill. I think thirty days is an adequate length of time for us to consider a reorganization plan. And furthermore, if it is not adequate, all we need to do is pass a resolution saying we disapprove it and we can have another month. We can have a third month. We can have any length of time we want because if the reason we give to the Governor for turning thumbs down on a plan is because we are not satisfied with the length of time we have had to study it, it is a very simple thing to get more time.

Mr. Johnson also stated that no one in the state government under the Administrative Code would know where he stood or what he was to do if this bill were to pass. I ask you gentlemen whether you believe that is so. Perhaps I misunderstood the gentleman and that he did not say what I thought he said. This will not have any such effect. There will be no change under the Administrative Code until the reorganization plan is sent over here and not disapproved within 30 days and until that time everybody would know where he stood, what he was to do and everything that pertained to his job under the present Administrative Code.

He spoke of civil service protection. I say that there is nothing in this bill which would allow the removal of anyone from under civil service by an administrative order made by the Governor or under a reorganization plan. And if there were such a proposal made it could definitely be knocked out by us at any time. I am not familiar enough with the bill at the moment to point out any particular section of it, but I am sure there is nothing in the bill that will allow civil service to be disrupted by any reorganization plan sent over by the Governor.

Mr. Johnson also says that the Governor could not under this bill do away with the Public Assistance Department, and that is not right. This bill specifically forbids the abolishing of the Public Assistance Department or any other department. But then the hobgoblin is raised that perhaps 99.44 per cent of the functions of a department could be removed and would leave only a head with a few high paid officers. I ask can you imagine anybody, any Governor, sending to us a reorganization plan that would do something of that kind? You cannot; I cannot.

He also mentioned that some future Governor might send over to us sixty reorganization plans at one time, giving us no time to consider. I ask you again, do you not think that the membership of this House or the Senate are sensible enough to recognize something of that nature for what it is and summarily reject it? I do not think this element is very important to you or to me as far as the merits of this bill are concerned. You will agree and must agree that we will have adequate time to pass on any plan that comes over here and if we do not, the plan will not pass either.

I have already mentioned in the Attorney General's opinion the fact that the Liquor Control Board, the Fish and Game Commissions could not be eliminated under this bill.

To comment on one further statement made by Mr. Johnson, he says this bill is the beginning of dictatorship in Pennsylvania. If that is so, gentlemen, then I guess we are headed for a dictatorship in the United States because they have had an act similar to this—the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Goldstein, spoke of it at great length—it has ben on the Federal Statute for sometime.

On January 29th, just the other day, there was an item in the York Gazette indicating that the House of Representatives on that day passed a bill to extend for three years the President's power to reorganize the government under a similar bill that they have. So, gentlemen, if this thing is going to lead to a dictatorship in Pennsylvania, then we may as well expect to have a dictatorship in the United States. I do not think any of us are worried about there being a dictatorship in Pennsylvania now or in any future time, nor will this bill lead to it.

When you consider how difficult it is to get through this House or the Senate or both any reorganization plan of any consequence, then I think you will begin to appreciate why this thing should be done in this manner and not as we could now do it under the present law.

Members of the House have friends in various departments, they might have relatives in those departments, and any plan that is really going to save the Commonwealth money and give us greater efficiency must not necessarily reduce the number of people involved but it very likely would reduce the number of people needed to run any given function. The moment you run into that situation then you run into trouble in trying to get a real reorganization plan through this House. If you reverse this process as we want to do under this bill you tell the Governor's office you have the burden of bringing to us a real reorganization plan. You have to designate exactly what you are doing. You have to point out what you intend to save. You have to give us enough facts to show us that this really will do some good for the Commonwealth.

We say that to him in this bill, and I have no doubt that this present Governor and any future Governor will take action and will give us what we badly need in this state, and that is reorganization which is designed to give us more economy and efficiency.

One of the gentlemen on the other side has spoken about whether the public knows anything about this, or whether the public has approved or disapproved, and what the public would do if it knew. I believe the gentleman from Philadelphia, the Minority Leader, stated that the point they were trying to make to the Press and to the people was that this move on our part is not good, it is unconstitutional, it is detrimental and so forth.

May I take just a moment to read from an editorial that appeared in the Pittsburgh Post Gazette under date of January 26th. It is headed: "Let Leader Reorganize."

> As the foundation of an attempt to pull Pennsylvania out of what he has called "bankruptcy,.. Governor Leader has asked the General Assembly for an opportunity to determine where the State stands financially and to effect government economies. He wants legislative authority to reorganize the executive agencies of the State Government in the interest of greater efficiency and unestimated savings.
> This is nothing new. Similar proposals have been made in the past, by the Joint State Government Commission and, in 1953, by the Chesterman (Little Hoover) Commission which studied Pennsylvania's governmental structure and made recommendations for its improvement. The Chesterman Commission received the "Little Hoover" tag because its work was patterned after that of the Hoover Commission on reorganization of the executive branch of the Federal Government. Unhappily, little came of its efforts.
> Governor Leader's proposals are a fresh attempt to achieve something of the same sort. His plans for reorganization of agencies at below departmental level would be subject to veto by either house, which would have 30 days in which to reject a proposal by a simple majority vote. That is a departure from the Hoover plan, under which either house of Congress has 60 days in which to veto a presidential proposal by a majority of the full membership.
> It may be argued that 30 days does not allow sufficient time for a legislative body to examine an executive proposal. As Governor Leader pointed out, however, many experts, including legislators, have gone over reorganization proposals repeatedly and "I now suggest that we have been surveyed enough. The time for action is at hand."

We fully agree. Early action is most desirable, and especially in the field of accounting. It is very difficult for Governor Leader, or anyone else, to make sound fiscal proposals because under the State's present archaic accounting system it is virtually impossible to obtain an accurate picture of the State's financial condition.

Consequently, the Chesterman Commission found, "the Governor, the Legislature, and the people are deprived of adequate means by which to manage, to control, and to judge the cost or effectiveness of the conduct of the State's affairs."

Governor Leader proposes, if given authority, to install modern accounting methods before the beginning of the next fiscal year June 1, "which will protect the State against fraud and which will provide everyone with a truthful statement of the State's finances."

That would be a good, in fact essential, start toward bringing Pennsylvania's fiscal affairs, if not out of "bankruptcy," at least out of chaos. The reorganization authority should be granted.

I have on my desk at least six or seven other editorials. I will not read them but I will mention one in the Evening News of Harrisburg under date of January 25th. Another in the Evening Bulletin of January 26th.

I do have available to me all of the editorial comments, and I am not proposing to have you believe that I think the editorial comment which I have read represents the thinking of all people. I simply mention the matter and read some of them into the record to show that the people are not unware of what we are doing in Harrisburg or why we are doing it.

We are not afraid of what the public is going to think of our proposal in this matter. I think the people are going to believe that we are sincere and conscientious and want to make a real effort to put some law on the books which will bring about governmental economy.

I said at the beginning of my remarks, everybody talks about the weather but nobody does anything about it. We want to do something about this matter. We want your help. We have asked for your help, your bipartisan support. But if you do not have it we are going to do our best to carry out the promises we made to the people of Pennsylvania and we are going to do it in the way we believe is best.

Thank you very much for being so quiet and so attentive. I know I have been long in discussing this matter, but it is very important and I think we should cover every angle of it before we vote on the matter.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, will the Majority Leader permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. READINGER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. The Majority Leader has just been quoting from what he said was an opinion of the Attorney General. Could I ask the Majority Leader if this is a formal or an informal opinion?

Mr. READINGER. I would consider it an informal opinion.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, do we quote from informal opinions or are formal opinions legal opinions?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I am afraid I did not understand the gentleman's question.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. When we quote or when we ask for opinions should it not be a formal opinion if we are going to use it for a quote? An informal opinion is not binding, am I right, on the Attorney General?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I would say that an informal opinion is not binding on the Attorney General.

Let me remind the gentleman though that the Attorney General is not the legal advisor of the Legislature. If I recall the law correctly, he is not even allowed to give the Legislature a formal opinion. I was quoting from his opinion to the Governor to make the point that we believe this bill is constitutional.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. I wonder if the gentleman would have any objection to filing the informal opinion of the Attorney General in the records in toto.

Mr. READINGER. I would not have the slightest objection, I will do so.

DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE
Harrisburg, Pa.

January 31, 1955.

Honorable George M. Leader,
Governor,
Harrisburg, Pennsylvania.

Dear Governor Leader:

In view of some misconceptions concerning House Bill No. 1 and questinos relative to its constitutionality, I trust this letter will be helpful in clarifying the situation.

House Bill No. 1 would authorize you to perform certain acts which, if approved under the conditions set forth, would operate as a suspension of certain laws for a certain time. Many limitations and conditions are provided in the bill, the most important of which are:

1. The bill does not apply to the:

Auditor General,
State Treasurer,
Secretary of Internal Affairs,
Pennsylvania Game Commission,
Pennsylvania Fish Commission,
State Civil Service Commisison,
Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission,
Pennsylvania Historical and Museum Commission,
Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board,
Milk Control Commission,
State Tax Equalization Board.

2. Additional limitations are set forth in Section 6 of the bill which prohibits you from:

(1) Abolishing or transferring an executive or administrative department or all the functions thereof or consolidating any two or more executive or administrative departments or all the functions thereof; or

(2) Continuing any agency beyond the period authorized by law for its existence or beyond the time when it would have terminated if the reorganization had not been made; or

(3) Continuing any function beyond the period authorized by law for its exercise or beyond the time when it would have terminated if the reorganization had not been made; or

(4) Authorizing any agency to exercise any function which is not expressly authorized by law at the time the plan is transmitted to the General Assembly; or

(5) Increasing the term of any office beyond that provided by law for the office.

3. You are given no control over the appropriations or portions of appropriations unexpended by reason of the operation of the bill, but these appropriations must lapse into the General Fund or any special fund from which they were appropriated.

4. The bill is operative in so far as you are concerned with the submission of plans only during the time when the General Assembly is in session.

5. The bill, like all bills, is limited by the provisions of the Constitution of Pennsylvania. For instance, the bill authorizes you to change the title of the head of an agency. This, of course, could not apply to the titles of the Secretary of the Commonwealth or the Superintendent of Public Instruction.

Under the bill, you are charged with the responsibility of examining, from time to time, all agencies of the State government and determining what changes are necessary to accomplish better execution of the laws, more effective management of the Executive Branch, expediting all public business, reduction of expenditures and promotion of economy and the elimination of the overlapping and duplication of effort. When your investigations reveal that any or all of these objectives might be accomplished, it is your duty to prepare a reorganization plan and transmit it to the General Assembly with full details of the plan, its purpose and the results expected if the plan is placed into operation. The reorganization plan becomes effective thirty days after its transmittal to the General Assembly provided a resolution by a majority of the membership of either branch of the Legislature is not passed stating its disapproval of the reorganization plan.

The effectiveness of any act of the General Assembly inconsistent with the reorganization plan placed before the General Assembly is suspended in so far as the act is inconsistent with the reorganization plan and as long as the reorganization plan is in effect.

Turning to the question of the constitutionality of the bill, I call your attention to Article I, Section 12 of the Constitution, which reads:

"No power of suspending laws shall be exercised unless by the Legislature or by its authority."

The suspension of laws by the Legislature or by its authority is not a new concept in the constitutions of the various states since ten states have constitutional provisions similar to that of Pennsylvania, while the constitutions of several other states have constitutional provisions substantially similar to that of Pennsylvania. Nor is the concept of the suspension of laws novel as to the Federal government.

Furthermore, the passage of legislation similar to House Bill No. 1 has occurred previously in Pennsylvania. The Act of May 21, 1943, P. L. 439, was entitled:

"An Act

"Authorizing the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, with the advice of the Attorney General and the approval of certain members of the approval of certain members of the General Assembly, for a limited period of time, to suspend or modify laws, either in whole or in part under certain circumstances, during the existence of the present war."

This act was even broader in its concept since it permitted the suspension of laws even if the General Assembly was not in session.

An earlier act was that passed by the General Assembly and approved June 21, 1937, P. L. 1982, and amended March 30, 1939, P. L. 14. This act provided for the prescribing of rules of practice and procedure in civil actions at law and in equity in certain courts of this Commonwealth and for the suspension of any Act of Assembly relating to practice or procedure in such courts inconsistent with such rule.

This act was attacked as an unconstitutional delegation of legislative power in the case of Blair Motor Car Co., Inc., etc., v. Mervine et al., No. 1, 48 D. & C. 351 (1943), but the court held the act constitutional in the following language on page 353:

"* * * It is argued that this language contains a delegation of law-making power, as the Supreme Court is thereby given the right to suspend the operation of statutes. We hold that the act is not unconstitutional. Section 12 of article I of our State Constitution expressly recognizes that laws may be suspended by the authority of the legislature. The making of laws is purely a legislative act, but the determination by some agency when, if ever, their operation shall be suspended, has never been so considered: Young et al. v. Fetterolf et al., 320 Pa. 289, 296. Acting under the authority of the legislature, the Supreme Court, by promulgating a rule of practice which may be inconsistent with some statute, is merely declaring the event upon which the expressed will of the legislature is to take effect. The actual suspension is the action of the legislature. In the frequently quoted language of Justice Agnew: 'The legislature cannot delegate its power to make a law; but it can make a law to delegate a power to determine some fact or state of things upon which the law makes, or intends to make, its own action depend. To deny this would be to stop the wheels of government': Locke's Appeal, 72 Pa. 491, 498."

The same constitutional question as to whether there was an unlawful delegation of legislative power by the General Assembly was raised in case of Young et al. v. Fetterolf et al., 320 Pa. 289 (1936), where the Act of April 25, 1933, P. L. 74, which made it unlawful to conduct a baseball or football game between certain hours on Sunday, and which further provided that the operation of the act may be suspended by the majority of the electors of each municipality. The Supreme Court of Pennsylvania in its opinion, at page 296, said:

"Our national and state courts have never hesitated to strike down statutes which attempt to confer on non-legislative agencies the power to make laws. Laws are rules of civil conduct, and the making of them in a purely legislative act. The determination by some agency when and where those rules shall become operative and when, if ever, their operation shall be suspended, has never been considered a legislative act. For example, when the President suspends the writ of habeas corpus his act in so doing is not looked upon as an act of legislation though it does make inoperative for the time being and in certain localities a law immemorially used for the protection of citizens. Our own state Constitution recognizes that laws may be suspended by the authority of the legislature, for section 12 of the Bill of Rights provides: 'No power of suspending laws shall be exercised unless by the legislature or by its authority.' In the act here in question the legislature authorized the voters of the respective municipalities of the Commonwealth to suspend the prohibition of that act."

At page 298, the Court continued:

"The vesting in certain officials or persons by the legislative branch of the government, of the power to suspend the operation of laws, has more than once received unequivocal judicial sanction. In Field v. Clark, 143 U. S. 649, the Supreme Court of the United States held that 'the authority conferred upon the President by section 3 of the Act of October 1, 1890, to reduce the revenue and equalize duties on imports, and for other purposes, (26 Stat. c. 1244, pages 567, 612), to suspend by proclamation the free introduction of sugar, molasses, coffee, tea and hides, when he is satisfied that any country producing such articles imposes duties or other exactions upon the agricultural or other products of the United States, which he may deem to be reciprocally unequal or unreasonable, is not open to the objection that it unconstitutionally transfers legislative power to the President.' Justice Harlan in his opinion in that case said: 'The authority conferred upon the President' by the act questioned, 'is not an entirely new feature in the legislation of Congress, but has the sanction of many precedents.' The President was described in respect to that act as not making the law. 'He was the mere agent of the law-making department to ascertain and declare the event upon which its expressed will was to take effect.' * * *"

The Supreme Court of Pennsylvania held the act constitutional.

It is our opinion that the powers given to the Governor are not as far-reaching as the powers given to the Governor in the Act of 1943, supra, nor as far-reaching as the power given the voters in the act before the Supreme Court in the case of Young v. Fetterolf, supra. The General Assembly is actually not delegating any power to the Governor other than the power to form a plan which it may kill if it does not meet with its approval. The suspension of any law results from the failure of the General Assembly to veto the plan and not by the act of the Governor. A delegation of power to make a plan subject to a veto power over the plan is quite different than the delegation of the power to make a law.

In other words, the Governor is given the right to initiate a plan and the General Assembly retains its control over the State government and permits the suspension of the laws only if it feels such suspension is proper. Certainly, there is no violation of Article I, Section 12 which prohibits the suspension of the laws by the Legislature or by its authority because any laws suspended, by virtue of House Bill No. 1 would be by the authority of the Legislature. There would be no delegation of the law making power since the Legislature delegates only the power to form a plan.

It is my opinion, therefore, that House Bill No. 1 is constitutional.

Respectfully yours,

HERBERT B. COHEN. Attorney General.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. I wonder if the gentleman before the passage of this bill would ask the Governor who has the right to ask for a formal opinion from his Attorney General—before I get to that I would ask the gentleman if in this informal opinion which we are basing so much on at this time—does the Attorney General spell out in any way whatsoever anything in regard to Article III which I quoted just very recently, as to the votes? I did not notice any quote as to Article III of the Constitution.

Mr. READINGER. Would the gentleman remind me to which part of the Constitution he is referring?

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. The part where it says all bills shall be read on three days in succession or three successive times, and the yeas and nays taken.

Mr. READINGER. That is not mentioned in the Attorney General's opinion.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. I think if the gentleman is trying to build a case, particularly in view of the fact that it is our main objection he should have had the Attorney General give him an informal opinion on that one subject. That is our mainstay, that it is tearing down the Constitution.

I am finished with the interrogation, Mr. Speaker. Thank you, Mr. Majority Leader.

I also would like to say to the Majority Leader that what he states about cutting corners to hurry up legislation might be all right, but I would like to remind him of one thing, and whether or not it is right, at least experience has proven it is right, that the democratic type of government is a slow and cumbersome type of government, but I am proud to be in it, it is the best type of government in this world. It has been successful and every other type of government that has started to cut corners and to do things in reverse, to hurry things up has gone into a dictatorship, a fascist type of government, and none of them have lasted.

Unfortunately I can not explain why, it is beyond my power, but I can say that as slow and cumbersome as the democratic type of government is, it seems to be the successful type of government and I say that I am proud, and I know the people in this House are proud and the people of Pennsylvania are proud even though it is slow and cumbersome. I think if they give a little thought to it, that maybe doing things in reverse and cutting corners, as the gentleman has practically admitted they did, might be given some serious consideration.

The gentleman also said, and I wish I had been able to take it down verbatim, that independent commissions are mentioned in the Attorney General's informal opinion. I think the Governor should list what he means by independent commissions. Some independent commissions have not been established as independent commissions by law. There has never been a court case so, therefore, they are only independent commissions because they have been mentioned as that as of now.

When the gentleman says we have given the Governor powers in the past, he is perfectly right, but by his own statement he admitted that was during a war, and he knows, and I know that it was an emergency in government, that there were limitations and that those emergency powers with the signing of a declaration of peace ended. There is not one thing in this bill to end this. This goes on forever.

Again the gentleman was very kind in saying that the Majority party would be very gracious to us on the Minority side and allow 85 members to discharge a committee. I would like to remind him that neither he, I, nor anyone else in this House can speak for the future. We are talking about today. Today isn't the main thing. We are trying to think, and probably some of you Members will get a laugh out of this, we are trying to think in a statesmanlike manner for the future generations of Pennsylvania. This is a foot in the door, as I said, the tearing down of the Constitution. While we have no doubt that the Governor of this state today would not do anything radically wrong, I have no reason to believe, nor can anyone prove, that we might not in the future have a Governor in office that would have all kinds of dictatorial powers and take advantage of them and thrust it down our throat. We do not want to take that kind of a chance, and, believe me, you are taking a calculated risk the minute you vote on this bill and pass it and give any man, as I said in my talk, whether he be a Republican or Democrat, a free hand and a blank check.

The gentleman says this bill is doing things in reverse. Perhaps it would cut corners. Perhaps it would work this time, but I am still convinced that there is a right and a wrong way of doing things and that there is no method that I have ever seen, and I am sure if you are honest with yourselves, no method justifies tearing down our Constitution. The gentleman has still not answered and will be unable to answer, nor will the Attorney General, how any statement can get around Article III of the Constitution. Whether we tear out one word, or whether we tear a paragraph out, we are tearing down our Constition. You know it and I know it and the sooner we get a decent answer in regard to Article III, giving us, the representatives of the people, the right to vote for the people that sent us here, we will still have to take the attitude, economy or no economy, the Constitution comes first.

The SPEAKER. Is the Minority Leader endeavoring to establish the precedent that the Minority closes the debate? Has the Minority finished the presentation of its case?

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. I personally have finished my presentation.

The SPEAKER. Can the Minority Leader speak for the Minority? Has the Minority concluded the presentation of its case so the Majority may conclude the debate.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. The Minority will not close its case if the Minority Leader insists on keeping it open or opening it. I think the Minority has a perfect right to answer the gentleman.

The SPEAKER. The Chair has a right to know when this debate is terminated. The Chair would ask the Majority and Minority Leaders to come to the desk and arrange a division of time, and a manner of closing this debate.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. The Minority is perfectly willing at this time to work out an agreement with the Majority Leader, but he will not close the debate—

The SPEAKER. The Chair asks the Majority Leader and the Minority Leader to come to the desk.

The SPEAKER. Peace has been restored. Before recognizing the Majority Leader, the Chair would like to say that in order to expedite roll calls on controversial questions, when a Member does not answer to name when first called, the Clerk will call his name again very clearly so that we may reduce to a minimum the time required after the roll call has been completed.

The Chair also requests Members on both sides of the aisle to remain in their seats until the result of the vote is announced on questions which are controversial and which may result in a verified roll. If the Members will remain in their seats verifying a roll is very simple, and leads to no controversies.

The Members are asked to remain in their seats after the debate and the roll call on the pending bill because the Chair understands that other bills on the calendar are also regarded as controversial.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I will be very very brief in my concluding remarks.

The Minority Leader has used the words several times "cutting corners" and indicated that I was of the opinion that we are cutting corners in this matter. If my understanding of what he said is correct then I must have misstated something I intended to say because we do not believe in any way shape or form that we are cutting corners, as far as the Constitution of Pennsylvania is concerned, by proposing this bill.

It is true this is a different procedure, but that does not necessarily mean and is not intended to mean, as far as we are concerned, cutting corners. We respect the Constitution of this state as much as anybody does. We love the type of government we have. I do not think any one of us wants to change our style or type of government in Pennsylvania. We differ as to how things should be done, true, but that certainly does not mean that we have any less respect, or you have any less respect for the Constitution than anybody else.

When you say that this legislation goes on forever, are you not forgetting the fact that at any session this Legislature can repeal this bill as well as enact it. If it is discovered that it does not work well, we will get rid of the bill, we will get rid of the law just as we have gotten rid of many other bills and laws which have become obsolete or are no longer desirable.

I did not mention in my remarks a while ago that years ago the Federal Congress found that it simply could not cope with the matter of tariffs. There were so many thousands and thousands of items which at one time had been the subject of Congressional decision, and then of course, as we started dealing more and more with other countries and they raised their tariffs and lowered their tariffs, it simply became impossible for Congress to take up each item separately and legislate on it. So they passed a law giving to the President, under certain circumstances and they prescribed the limitations, the right to raise a tariff, the right to lower a tariff. Nobody thought that was unusual or thought it lacked good sense, at least they do not think so now. I do not know what the debate might have been at the time it was first done, but none of us would ever think of going back to the old system they once followed. And just like the Federal Government, Pennsylvania has been growing too. This reorganization plan comes about because of our growth and because of the complexity of our state government.

You know we employ many thousands of people, the executive branch does, and there are many, many bureaus. departments, commissions and what not. I doubt if there is a man or woman in this House that could name even half of them from memory.

We think this is a sensible plan and I do not think that future generations of Pennsylvania will have to worry about whether or not the minority party, however small it might be, will have the right to vote on a resolution to veto any plan that might come over from the Governor's office.

We suggest to you now the figure of eighty-five Members to discharge a Committee. Maybe two years from now the minority will have only 35 or 40, but I say to you that the people of Pennsylvania will remain in favor of any party that is in power here just so long as it gives to a minority of any size the right to vote on a subject. If the day comes when we are in the minority and have only 25 or 30 votes, I hope it never comes, but if it should, I assure you that we will take our appeal to the people of Pennsylvania if the majority party at that time would tell us, you don't even have the right to have that resolution brought out here for a vote.

I say you are in the same position and the people of Pennsylvania are going to support or withdraw support from the people in this Legislature, depending upon the way they view this in the future.

I do not think we should worry about the future generations in Pennsylvania.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 31 as follows:

An Act reenacting and amending the act of May sixteen one thousand nine hundred thirty-five (P. L. 208) entitled as amended "An act to provide revenue for State purposes by imposing an excise tax for a limited period of time on the net incomes of certain corporations joint-stock associations and limited partnerships providing for the assessment collection settlement and resettlement of taxes and reviews and appeal therefrom conferring powers and imposing duties on certain persons corporations joint-stock associations limited partnerships State and county officers boards and departments making an appropriation and providing penalties" extending its provisions for a further limited period of time changing the definition of net income in certain cases and changing the rate of tax applicable to stock life insurance companies.

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

2 In case the entire business of any corporation other than a corporation engaged in doing business as an insurance or surety company is not transacted within this Commonwealth the tax imposed by this act shall be based upon such portion of the net income of such corporation for the fiscal or calendar year as defined in clause one hereof as may be determined by allocations and apportionmets made as follows

(a) Gains realized and losses sustained from the sale or exchange of capital assets if such assets consist of real estate or tangible personal property situated in the Commonwealth shall be allocated to this Commonwealth

(b) Gains realized and losses sustained from the sale or exchange of capital assets if such assets consist of real estate or tangible personal property situated outside of the Commonwealth shall not be allocated in any part to this Commonwealth

(c) The remainder of such net income shall be divided into three equal parts

(1) Of one-third such portion shall be attributed to business carried on within this Commonwealth as shall be found by multiplying said one-third by a fraction whose numerator is the value of the corporation's tangible property situated within this Commonwealth and whose denominator is the value of all the corporation's tangible property wherever situated

(2) Of one-third such portion shall be attributed to business carried on within the Commonwealth as shall be found by multiplying said one-third by a fraction whose numerator is the expenditures of the corporation for wages salaries commissions and other compensation to its employes and assignable to this Commonwealth as hereinafter provided and whose denominator is the total expenditures of the corporation for wages salaries commissions and other compensation to all its employes

(3) Of the remaining third such portion shall be attributed to business carried on within the Commonwealth as shall be found by multiplying said third by a fraction whose numerator is the amount of the taxpayer's gross receipts from business assignable to this Commonwealth as hereinafter provided and whose denominator is the amount of the taxpayer's gross receipts from all its business

In cases where only two of the foregoing three rules are applicable the remainder of the net income of the corporation shall be divided into two equal parts only each of which shall be apportioned in accordance with one of the remaining two rules If only one of the three rules is applicable the part of the net income received from business iarried on within the Commonwealth shall be determined solely by that rule

The amount assignable to this Commonwealth of expenditures of the corporation for wages salaries commissions or other compensation to its employes shall be such expenditures for the taxable year as represent the wages salaries commissions or other compensation of employes not chiefly situated at connected with or sent out from premises for the transaction of business maintained by the corporation outside the Commonwealth

The amount of the corporation's gross receipts from business assignable to this Commonwealth shall be (1) the amount of its gross receipts for the taxable year except those negotiated or affected in behalf of the corporation by agents or agencies chiefly situated at connected with or sent out from premises for the transaction of business maintained by the taxpayer outside of the Commonwealth and except rentals and royalties and interest and dividends (2) rentals or royalties from property situated or from the use of patents within this Commonwealth and (3) dividends and interest except such dividends and interest attributable to the business conducted on premises maintained by the taxpayer outside the Commonwealth If a corporation maintains an office warehouse or other place of business in a state other than this Commonwealth for the purpose of reducing its tax under this subsection the department shall in determining the amount of its gross receipts from business assignable to this Commonwealth include therein the gross receipts attributed by the corporation to the business conduced at such place of business in another state In the case of construction contracts negotiated or affected at an office in the state of Pennsylvania but performed outside the state the gross receipts under such contracts shall be assignable outside the state except that if the activities under any such contract to which the gross receipts are attributable shall occur partly within the state and partly outside the state such proportion of the gross receipts under said contract shall be assignable to Pennsylvania as the direct and indirect costs incurred in Pennsylvania under the contract for the taxable year bear to the total incurred thereunder for the taxable year In the case of construction contracts negotiated or affected at an office outside the state but performed in the state the gross receipts under such contracts shall be assignable to the state except that if the activities under any such contract to which the gross receipts are attributable shall occur partly within the state and partly outside the state such proportion of the gross receipts under said contract shall be assignable to Pennsylvania as the direct and indirect costs incurred in the state under the contract for the taxable year bear to the total costs incurred thereunder for the taxable year

A rule shall not be deemed to be inapplicable merely because all the tangible property or the expenditures of a corporation for wages salaries commissions or other compensation or the gross receipts of the corporation are found to be situated incurred or received without the Commonwealth

3 In the case the entire business of any corporation engaged in doing business as an insurance or surety company is not transacted within this Commonwealth the tax imposed by this act shall be based upon such portion of the net income of such corporation for the fiscal or calendar as defined in clause one hereof as shall be attributed to business transacted within this Commonwealth by multiplying such net income by a fraction of which the numerator is the gross premiums received from business transacted within the Commonwealth as hereinafter defined and of which the denominator is the amount of the gross premiums received from all its business "Gross Premiums" shall mean the amount of dues fees and premiums stated in the policy contracts and shall include gross premiums of every character and description received during the taxable year from all underwriting activities whether said premiums were received in money or in the form of notes credits or any other substitute for money less the following deductions

(a) All premiums returned on policies cancelled or not taken

(b) In the case of stock companies with participating features an additional deduction for that portion of the premiums returned to the policyholders

(c) In the case of life insurance companies an additional deduction for dividends declared and actually used by policyholders in payment of renewal premiums

"Gross premiums received from business transacted in the Commonwealth" shall mean gross premiums received from policies and annuities written on property or risks located or resident in this Commonwealth whether such premiums were collected in this Commonwealth or elsewhere

"Person" Every natural person association or corporation Whenever used in any clause prescribing and imposing a fine or imprisonment or both the term "person" as applied to associations shall mean the partners or members thereof and as applied to corporations the officers thereof

The singular shall include the plural and the masculine shall include the feminine and neuter

Section 3 Imposition of Tax Every corporation shall be subject to and shall pay for the privilege of doing business in this Commonwealth or having capital or property employed or used in this Commonwealth by or in the name of itself or any person partnership association limited partnership joint-stock association or corporation a State excise tax at the rate of six per centum per annum upon each dollar of net income of such corporation received by and accruing to such corporation during the calendar year one thousand nine hundred thirty-five except where a corporation reports to the Federal Government on the basis of a fiscal year and has certified such fact to the department as required by section four of this act in which case such tax at the rate of six per centum shall be levied collected and paid upon all net income received by and accruing to such corporation during the fiscal year commencing in the calendar year one thousand nine hundred thirty-five and ending in the calendar year one thousand nine hundred thirty-six a similar tax at the rate of ten per centum per annum upon each dollar of the net income of such corporation received by and accruing to such corporation during the calendar year one thousand nine hundred thirty-six except where a corporation reports to the Federal Government on the basis of a fiscal year and has certified such fact to the department as required by section four of this act in which case such tax at the rate of ten per centum shall be levied collected and paid upon all net income received by and accruing to such corporation during the fiscal year commencing in the calendar year one thousand nine hundred thirty-six and ending in the calendar year one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven and a similar tax at the rate of seven per centum per annum upon each dollar of the net income of such corporation during the calendar years one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven one thousand nine hundred thirty-eight one thousand nine hundred thirty-nine one thousand nine hundred forty one thousand nine hundred forty-one and one thousand nine hundred forty-two except when a corporation reports to the Federal Government on the basis of a fiscal year and has certified such fact to the department as required by section four of this act in which case such tax at the rate of seven per centum shall be levied collected and paid upon all net income received by and accruing to such corporation during the fiscal years commencing in the calendar years one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven one thousand nine hundred thirty-eight one thousand nine hundred thirty-nine one thousand nine hundred forty one thousand nine hundred forty-one and one thousand nine hundred forty-two and a similar tax at the rate of four per centum per annum upon each dollar of the net income of such corporation received by and accruing to such corporation during the calendar years one thousand nine hundred forty-three one thousand nine hundred forty-four one thousand nine hundred forty-five one thousand nine hundred forty-six one thousand nine hundred forty-seven one thousand nine hundred forty-eight one thousand nine hundred forty-nine and one thousand nine hundred fifty except where a corporation reports to the Federal Government on the basis of a fiscal year and has certified such fact to the department as required by section four of this act in which case such tax at the rate of four per centum shall be levied collected and paid upon all net income received by and accruing to such corporation during the fiscal years commencing in the calendar years one thousand nine hundred forty-three one thousand nine hundred forty-four one thousand nine hundred forty-five one thousand nine hundred forty-six one thousand nine hundred forty-nine and one thousand nine hundred fifty and a similar tax at the rate of five per centum per annum upon each dollar of the net income of such corporation received by and accruing to such corporation during the calendar years one thousand nine hundred fifty-one one thousand nine hundred fifty-two and one thousand nine hudred fifty-three except where a corporation reports to the Federal Government on the basis of a fiscal year and has certified such fact to the department as required by section four of this act in which case such tax at the rate of five per centum shall be levied collected and paid upon all net income received by and accruing to such corporation during the fiscal years commencing in the calendar years one thousand nine hundred fifty-one one thousand nine hundred fifty-two and one thousand nine hundred fifty-three and a similar tax at the rate of five per centum per annum upon each dollar of the net income of such corporation received by and accruing to such corporation during the calendar years one thousand nine hundred fifty-four [and] one thousand nine hundred fifty-five one thousand nine hundred fifty-six and one thousand nine hundred fifty-seven except where a corporation reports to the Federal Government on the basis of a fiscal year and has certified such fact to the department as required by section four of this act in which case such tax at the rate of five per centum shall be levied collected and paid upon all net income received by and accruing to such corporation during the fiscal years commencing in the calendar years one thousand nine hundred fifty-four [and] one thousand nine hundred fifty-five one thousand nine hundred fifty-six and one thousand nine hundred fifty-seven And provided further That in the case of stock life insurance companies the rate shall be one-half of one per centum per annum on each dollar of the net income of such corporations received by and accruing to such corporations during the calendar years one thousand nine hundred fifty-three and one thousand nine hundred fifty-four and one thousand nine hundred fifty-five except where such a corporation reports to the Federal Government on the basis of a fiscal year and has certified such fact to the department as required by section four of this act in which case the rate shall be one-half of one per centum per annum on net income received by and accruing to such corporations during the fiscal years commencing in the calendar years one thousand nine hundred fifty-three and one thousand nine hundred fifty-four [and one thousand nine hundred fifty-five]

The tax hereby imposed shall be in addition to all taxes now imposed on any corporation under the provisions of existing laws

Section 4 Reports and Payment of Tax (a) For the purpose of ascertaining the amount of tax payable under this act it shall be the duty of every corporation liable to pay tax under this act on or before the fifteenth day of April one thousand nine hundred thirty-six one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven one thousand nine hundred thirty-eight one thousand nine hundred thirty-nine one thousand nine hundred forty one thousand nine hundred forty-one one thousand nine hundred forty-two one thousand nine hundred forty-three one thousand nine hundred forty-four one thousand nine hundred forty-five one thousand nine hundred forty-six one thousand nine hundred forty-seven one thousand nine hundred forty-eight one thousand nine hundred forty-nine one thousand nine hundred fifty one thousand nine hundred fifty-one one thousand nine hundred fifty-two one thousand nine hundred fifty-three one thousand nine hundred fifty-four one thousand nine hundred fifty-five [and] one thousand nine hundred fifty-six one thousand nine hundred fifty-seven and one thousand nine hundred fifty-eight to transmit to the department upon a form prescribed prepared and furnished by the department an annual report under oath or affirmation of its president vice-president or other principal officer and of its treasurer or assistant treasurer of net income taxable under the provisions of this act Such report shall set forth

(1) A true copy of its return to the Federal Government of the annual net income arising or accruing in the calendar or fiscal year next preceding or such part or portions of said return as the department may designate

(2) If no return was filed with the Federal Government the report made to the department shall show such information as would have been contained in a return to the Federal Government had one been made and

(3) Such other information as the department may require

(b) For the purpose of ascertaining the amount of tax payable under this act for the taxable years one thousand nine hundred fifty-three one thousand nine hundred fifty-four [and] one thousand nine hundred fifty-five one thousand nine hundred fifty-six and one thousand nine hundred fifty-seven it shall be the duty of every corporation liable to pay tax under this act on or before the thirtieth day of April one thousand nine hundred fifty-three one thousand nine hundred fifty-four [and] one thousand nine hundred fifty-five one thousand nine hundred fifty-six and one thousand nine hundred fifty-seven to transmit in like form and manner an additional tentative report Such report shall set forth

(1) The annual net income received or accruing in the calendar or fiscal year next preceding and reported to the department under the provisions of this act or

(2) The net income received or accruing in the first three months of the current calendar or fiscal year together with such information as would have been contained in a return to the Federal Government had one been required or made

(3) Such other information as the department may require

(c) The failure of any corporation liable to pay tax under this act to procure or receive any report form shall not excuse it from making a report

(d) For the taxable years up to and including the year one thousand nine hundred fifty-two every corporation upon the date its report is required herein to be made shall pay to the department not less than one-half of the tax due to the Commonwealth by it for such preceding year and the remaining one-half of such tax shall be paid within the thirty days next succeeding and except as otherwise provided by law no extension of time for the filing of any report granted by the department shall extend the date any tax imposed by this act shall be due and payable For the taxable years one thousand nine hundred fifty-three one thousand nine hundred fifty-four [and] one thousand nine hundred fifty-five one thousand nine hundred fifty-six and one thousand nine hundred fifty-seven every corporation upon the date its tentative report is required herein to be made shall pay an account of the tax due for the current year at its election (1) not less than two and one-half per centum upon each dollar of net income of such corporation last reported as received or accrued during an entire preceding year or of such multiple of the net income last reported for a portion of such year as the entire year bears to the portion of the year for which the net income had been reported or (2) not less than ten per centum upon each dollar of net income of such corporation received or accrued during the first three months of the current calendar or fiscal year whichever is applicable The remaining portion of the tax due shall be paid upon the date the corporation's annual report is required herein to be made

(e) The amount of all taxes imposed under the provisions of this act not paid on or before the times as above provided shall bear interest at the rate of six (6) centum per annum from the date they are due and payable until paid except that if the taxable income has been or is increased by the Commissioner of Internal Revenue or by any other agency or court of the United States interest shall be computed on the additional tax due from thirty days after the corporation receives notice of the change of income until paid Provided however That any corporation may pay the full amount of tax or any part thereof together with interest due to the date of payment without prejudice to its right to present and prosecute a petition for resettlement a petition for review or an appeal to court If it be thereafter determined that such taxes were overpaid the department shall enter a credit to the account of such corporation which may be used by it in the manner prescribed by law

(f) If the officers of any corporation shall neglect or refuse to make any report as herein required or shall knowingly make any false report an additional ten per centum of the amount of the tax shall be added by the department to the tax determined to be due

(g) If any corporation closes its fiscal year not upon the thirty-first day of December but upon some other date and reports to the Federal Government as of such other date or would so report were it to make a return to the Federal Government such corporation shall certify such fact to the Department of Revenue and shall make the annual report herein required within thirty (30) days after the return to the Federal Government is due or would be due were it to be required of such corporation subject in all other respects to the provisions of this act The tentative report required of such corporation shall be due not later than four months after the end of the next preceding fiscal year

(h) If the corporation shall claim in its report that the return made to the Federal Government was inaccurate the amount claimed by it to be the net income taxable under this act and the basis of such claim of inaccuracy shall be fully specified

Section 5 Consolidated Reports The department shall not permit any corporation owning or controlling directly or indirectly any of the voting capital stock of another corporation or of other corporations subject to the provisions of this act to make a consolidated report showing the combined net income

Section 6 Extension of Time to File Reports The department may upon application made to it in such form as it shall prescribe on or prior to the last day for filing any annual report and upon proper cause shown grant to the corporation required to file such report an extension of not more than sixty (60) days within which such report may be filed and in case the Federal income tax authorities at any time grant a longer extension of time for filing such reports with the Federal Government the department may grant an additional extension of time for filing the annual report under this act of not more than thirty (30) days after the termination of the Federal extension but the amount of tax due shall in such cases nevertheless be subject to interest from the due dates and at the rates fixed by this act

Section 7 Changes Made by Federal Government (a) If the amount of the net income as returned by any corporation to the Federal Government is finally changed or corrected by the Commissioner of Internal Revenue or by any other agency or court of the United States such corporation within thirty (30) days after the receipt of such final change or correction shall make a corrected report under oath or affirmation to the department showing such finally changed or corrected net income upon which the tax is required to be paid to the United States In case a corporation fails to file a report of such correction which results in an increase in net income within the time prescribed there shall be added to the tax a penalty of five dollars ($5.00) for every day during which such corporation is in default but the department may abate any such penalty in whole or in part

(b) If as a result of such final change or correction there should be any change made in the amount of the net income of any corporation upon which tax is imposed by this act the department shall have the power and its duty shall be to resettle such taxes Whenever a resettlement shall have been made hereunder the department shall resettle the account according to law and shall credit or charge as the case may be the amount resulting from such resettlement upon the current accounts of the corporation with which it is made The resettlement shall be subject to audit and approval by the Department of the Auditor General as in the case of original settlements and in case of the failure of the two departments to agree the resettlement shall be submitted to the Board of Finance and Revenue as in the case of original settlements

(c) Where a report of change correction or redetermination of Federal income or Federal tax has been filed after a petition for review or an appeal has been taken such report shall be deemed a part of the original annual report upon petition of the taxpayers at any subsequent proceeding as though it had been filed with such original report and no separate petition for review or appeal from the resettlement resulting from such report of change correction or redetermination shall be necessary

(d) The provisions of this section shall not be constructed so as to permit a resettlement based upon the allowance of any deduction on account of net operating losses sustained in other fiscal or calendar years that are not allowed as deductions under the definition of "Net Income" as contained in section two of this act

Section 8 Settlement and Resettlement (a) All taxes due under this act shall be settled by the department and such settlement shall be subject to audit and approval by the Department of the Auditor General and shall so far as possible be made so that notice thereof may reach the taxpayer before the end of a year after the tax report was required to be made

(b) Promptly after the date of any such settlement the department shall send by mail or otherwise a copy thereof to such corporation The tax imposed by this act shall be settled resettled and otherwise imposed and adjusted in the same manner within the same periods of time and right of resettlement review appeal and refund as provided by law in the case of capital stock and franchise taxes imposed upon corporations

(c) If within a period of two years after the date of any settlement the department is not satisfied with such settlement or if at any time the net income as returned by any corporation to the Federal Government is finally changed or corrected by the Commissioner of Internal Revenue or by any other agency or court of the United States with the result that tax in addition to the amount paid is due under this act the department is hereby authorized and empowered to make a resettlement of the tax due by such corporation based upon the facts contained in the report or upon any information within its possession or that shall come into its possession

Whenever a resettlement shall have been made hereunder the department shall resettle the account according to law and shall crdit or charge as the case may be the amount resulting from such resettlement upon the current accounts of the corporation with which it is made

The resettlement shall be subject to audit and approval by the Department of the Auditor General as in the case of original settlement and in case of the failure of the two departments to agree the resettlement shall be submitted to the Board of Finance and Revenue as in the case of original settlements

(d) If any corporation shall neglect or refuse to make any report and payment of tax required by this act the department shall estimate the tax due by such corporation and subject to audit and approval by the Department of the Auditor General settle the amount due by it for taxes penalties and interest thereon as prescribed herein from which settlement there shall be no right of review or appeal but the department with the approval of the Department of the Auditor General may require a report to be filed and thereupon make a settlement based upon such report and cancel the estimated settlement

Section 9 Enforcement Rules and Regulations Inquisitorial Powers of the Department (a) The department is hereby charged with the enforcement of the provisions of this act and is hereby authorized and empowered to prescribe adopt promulgate and enforce rules and regulations not inconsistent with this act relating to any matter or thing pertaining to the administration and enforcement of the provisions of this act and the collection of taxes penalties and interest imposed by this act The department is hereby required to have such rules and regulations promulgated and adopted printed and shall distribute the same to any person upon request

(b) The department or any agent authorized in writing by it is hereby authorized to examine the books papers and rerords and to investigate the character of the business of any corporation in order to verify the accuracy of any report made or if no report was made by such corporation to ascertain and settle the tax imposed by this act Every such corporation is hereby directed and required to give to the department or its duly authorized agent the means facilities and opportunity for such examinations and investigations as are hereby provided and authorized Any information gained by the department as a result of any returns investigations or verifications required to be made by this act shall be confidential except for official purposes and any person divulging such information shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be sentenced to pay a fine of not less than one hundred dollars ($100.00) or more than one thousand dollars ($1000.00) and costs of prosecution or to undergo imprisonment for not more than six (6) months or both in the discretion of the court

Section 12 Constitutional Construction The provisions of this act are severable and if any of its provisions shall be held unconstitutional the decision of the court shall not affect or impair any of the remaining provisions of this act It is hereby declared to be the legislative intent that this act would have been adopted has such unconstitutional provisions not been included herein

Section 13 Effective Date This act shall become effective immediately upon its final enactment and shall remain in force only for the imposition and collection of taxes on net income of corporations for the calendar years one thousand nine hundred thirty-five one thousand nine hundred thirty-six one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven one thousand nine hundred thirty-eight one thousand nine hundred thirty-nine one thousand nine hundred forty one thousand nine hundred forty-one one thousand nine hundred forty-two one thousand nine hundred forty-three one thousand nine hundred forty-four one thousand nine hundred forty-five one thousand nine hundred forty-six one thousand nine hundred forty-seven one thousand nine hundred forty-eight one thousand nine hundred forty-nine one thousand nine hundred fifty one thousand nine hundred fifty-one one thousand nine hundred fifty-two one thousand nine hundred fifty-three one thousand nine hundred fifty-four [and] one thousand nine hundred fifty-five one thousand nine hundred fifty-six and one thousand nine hundred fifty-seven or for the fiscal years ending in the calendar years one thousand nine hundred thirty-six one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven one thousand nine hundred thirty-eight one thousand nine hundred thirty-nine one thousand nine hundred forty one thousand nine hundred forty-one one thousand nine hundred forty-two one thousand nine hundred forty-three one thousand nine hundred forty-four one thousand nine hundred forty-five one thousand nine hundred forty-six one thousand nine hundred forty-seven one thousand nine hundred forty-eight one thousand nine hundred forty-nine one thousand nine hundred fifty one thousand nine hundred fifty-one one thousand nine hundred fifty-two one thousand nine hundred fifty-three one thousand nine hundred fifty-four one thousand nine hundred fifty-five [and] one thousand nine hundred fifty-six one thousand nine hundred fifty-seven and one thousand nine hundred fifty-eight

Section 2 This reenacting and amending act shall take effect immediately

On the question,
Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?
It was agreed to.
On the question,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. READINGER. Is my understanding correct that the minority membership does not wish to debate this bill?

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, we do not wish to debate this bill.

We could ask a few questions on all of the bills at the proper time.

Mr. READINGER, Mr. Speaker, I do not wish to appear to be coaxing the Minority Leader to ask me any questions. I had been under the impression that he, or somebody on his side, wished to discuss this particular bill. Am I incorrect?

The SPEAKER. The gentleman is probably incorrect. I have marked on my calendar that there was a Member of the House who desired to discuss House Bill No. 32 on page 2 in particular. The Chair has not been informed of a desire upon the part of either Leader to discuss House Bill 31, and the Chair would suggest that if there is to be debate upon these bills, or statements as to the package as a whole, that the two Floor Leaders arrange it. Whatever arrangements they make will be entirely acceptable to the Chair, but in deference to the patience to the House the Chair believes that the Floor Leaders should arrange a schedule of discussion and, so far as possible, confine themselves within the range of that discussion.

The Chair has received a welcome statement that the minority will only discuss this particular bill if the majority discusses it. If the majority dicusses it, the minority will discuss it fully and at great length.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I decline at this time to discuss this bill in any way, shape or form.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

Government for the current and prior taxable years subject to however to any correction thereof for fraud evasion or error as finally ascertained by the Federal Government provided That additional deductions shall be allowed from net income on account of any dividends received from any other corporation And provided further That no deduction shall be allowed for any Federal income or excess profits taxes whatsoever except the declared value excess profits tax And provided further That no deduction shall be allowed for net operating losses sustained by the corporation during any other fiscal or calendar year And provided further That in the case of stock life fire casualty and indemnity insurance companies operating on the mutual or participating plan the term "net income" shall not include the dividends paid to policyholders out of net income

(b) For any taxable year beginning after the thirty-first day of December one thousand nine hundred fifthy-three and ending after the fifteenth day of August one thousand nine hundred fifty-four taxable income for the calendar year fiscal year as returned to and ascertained by the Federal Government or in the case of a corporation participating in the filing of consolidated returns to the Federal Government the taxable income which would have been returned to and ascertained by the Federal Government if separate returns had been made to the Federal Government for the current and prior taxable years subject however to any corrections thereof for fraud evasion or error as finally ascertained by the Federal Government provided that additional deductions shall be allowed from taxable income on account of dividends received from any other corporation but only to the extent that such dividends are included in taxable income as returned to and ascertained by the Federal Government and provided further that no deduction shall be allowed for net operating losses sustained by the corporation during any other fiscal or calendar year and provided further that in the case of stock life fire casualty and indemnity insurance companies doing business on the mutual or participating plan the term "net income" shall not include the dividends paid to policy holders out of net income

2 In the case of corporations owning property or carrying on activities within and without this Commonwealth other than corporations carrying on activities as insurance or surety companies the net income of such corporations derived from sources within this Commonwealth for the fiscal or calendar year shall be determined by allocations and apportionments of net income as defined in clause one hereof made as follows

(a) Gains realized and losses sustained from the sale or exchange of capital assets if such assets consist of real estate on tangible personal property situated in the Commonwealth shall be allocated to this Commonwealth

(b) Gains realized and losses sustained from the sale or exchange of capital assets if such assets consist of real estate or tangible personal property situated outside of the Commonwealth shall not be allocated in any part of this Commonwealth

(c) The resultant net income if any after allocations shall be divided into three equal parts

(1) Of one-third such portion shall be attributed to the Commonwealth as shall be found by multiplying said one-third by a fraction whose numerator is the value of the corporation's tangible property situated within this Commonwealth and whose denominator is the value of all the corporation's tangible property wherever situated

(2) Of one-third such portion shall be attributed to the Commonwealth as shall be found by multiplying said one-third by a fraction whose numerator is the expenditures of the corporation for wages salaries commissions and other compensation to its employes and assignable to this Commonwealth as hereinafter provided and whose denominator is the total expenditures of the corporation for wages salaries commissions and other compensation to all its employes

(3) Of the remaining third such portion shall be attributed to the Commonwealth as shall be found by multiplying said third by a fraction whose numerator is the amount of the taxpayer's gross receipts from property and activities assignable to this Commonwealth as hereinafter provided and whose denominator is the amount of the taxpayer's gross receipts from all its property and activities

In cases where only two of the foregoing three rules are applicable the remainder of the net income of the corporation shall be divided into two equal parts only each of which shall be apportioned in accordance with one of the remaining two rules If only one of the three rules is applicable the part of the net income received from property and activities carried on within the Commonwealth shall be determined solely by that rule

The amount assignable to this Commonwealth of expenditures of the corporation for wages salaries commissions or other compensation to its employes shall be such expenditures for the taxable year as represent the wages salaries commissions or other compensation of employes to the extent of services rendered or work performed in the Commonwealth and similar expenditures to employes not chiefly situated at connected with or sent out from premises for the transaction of business maintained by the corporation outside the Commonwealth

The amount of the corporation's gross receipts from property and activities assignable to the Commonwealth shall be (1) the amount of its gross receipts for the taxable year from services rendered work and contracts performed and sales made in the Commonwealth and all other gross receipts except those negotiated or affected in behalf of the corporation by agents or agencies chiefly situated at connected with or sent out from premises for the transaction of business maintained by the taxpayer outside of the Commonwealth and except rentals and royalties and interest and dividends (2) rentals or royalties from property situated or from the use of patents within this Commonwealth and (3) dividends and interests except such dividends and interest attributable to the business conducted on premises maintained by the taxpayer outside the Commonwealth If a corporation maintains an office warehouse or other place of business in a state other than this Commonwealth for the purpose of reducing its tax under this subsection the department shall in determining the amount of its gross receipts from property and activities assignable to this Commonwealth include therein the gross receipts attributed by the corporation to the business conducted at such place of business in another state In the case of construction contracts negotiated or effected at an office in the State of Pennsylvania but performed outside the State the gross receipts under such contracts shall be assignable outside the State except that if the activities under any such contract to which the gross receipts are attributable shall occur partly within the State and partly outside the State such proportion of the gross receipts under said contract shall be assignable to Pennsylvania as the direct and indirect costs incurred in Pennsylvania under the contract for the taxable year bear to the total costs incurred thereunder for the taxable year In the case of construction contracts negotiated or effected at an office outside the State but performed in the State the gross receipts under such contracts shall be assignable to the State except that if the activities under any such contract to which the gross receipts are attributable shall occur partly within the State and partly outside the State such proportion of the gross receipts under said contract shall be assignable to Pennsylvania as the direct and indirect costs incurred in the State under the contract for the taxable year bear to the total costs incurred thereunder for the taxable year

A rule shall not be deemed to be inapplicable merely because all the tangible property or the expenditures of a corporation for wages salaries commissions or other compensation or the gross receipts of the corporation are found to be situated incurred or received without the Commonwealth

3 In the case of corporations carrying on activities as insurance or surety companies within and without this Commonwealth the net income of such corporations derived from sources within this Commonwealth for the fiscal or calendar year shall be determined by multiplying net income as defined in clause one hereof by a fraction of which the numerator is the gross premiums received from activities carried on within the Commonwealth as hereinafter defined and of which the denominator is the amount of the gross premiums received from all its activities everywhere

"Gross Premiums" shall mean the amount of dues fees and premiums stated in the policy contracts and shall include gross premiums of every character and dsecription received during the taxable year from all underwriting activities whether said premiums were received in money or in the form of notes credits or any other substitute for money less the following deductions

(a) All premiums returned on policies cancelled or not taken

(b) In the case of stock companies with participating features an additional deduction for that portion of the premium returned to the policyholders

(c) In the case of life insurance companies an additional deduction for dividends declared and actually used by policyholders in payment of renewal premiums

"Gross premiums received from activities carried on in the Commonwealth" shall mean gross premiums received from policies and annuities written on property or risks located or resident in this Commonwealth whether such premiums were collected in this Commonwealth or elsewhere

"Sources within this Commonwealth" includes tangible or intangible property located or having a situs in this Commonwealth and any activities carried on in this Commonwealth regardless of whether carried on in intrastate interstate or foreign commerce

"Carrying on activities' shall include every pact power or privilege exercised or enjoyed in this Commonwealth as an incident to or by virtue of the powers and priveleges acquired by the nature of the corporate organization

"Person" Every natural person association or corporation Whenever used in any clause prescribing and imposing a fine or imprisonment or both the term "person" as applied to associations shall mean the partners or members thereof and as applied to corporations the officers thereof

The singular shall include the plural and the masculine shall include the feminine and neuter

Section 3 Imposition of Tax Every corporation carrying on activities in this Commonwealth or owning property in this Commonwealth by or in the name of itself or any person partnership joint-stock association or corporation shall be subject to and shall pay a State property tax on net income derived from sources within this Commonwealth at the rate of five per centum per annum upon each dollar of such net income received by and accruing to such corporation during the calendar years one thousand nine hundred fifty-one one thousand nine hundred fifty-two and one thousand nine hudred fifty-three except where a corporation reports to the Federal Government on the basis of a fiscal year and has certified such fact to the department as required by section four of this act in which case such tax at the rate of five per centum shall be levied collected and paid upon each dollar of such net income received by and accruing to such corporation during the fiscal years commencing in the calendar years one thousand nine hundred fifty-one one thousand nine hundred fifty-two and one thousand nine hundred fifty-three and ending in the calendar years one thousand nine hundred fifty-two one thousand nine hundred fifty-three and one thousand nine hundred fifty four and a similar tax at the rate of five per centum per annum upon each dollar of such net income received by and accruing to such corporation during the calendar years one thousand nine hundred fifty-four [and] one thousand nine hundred fifty-five one thousand nine hundred fifty-six and one thousand nine hundred fifty-seven except where a corporation reports to the Federal Government on the basis of a fiscal year and has certified such fact to the department as required by section four of this act in which case such tax at the rate of five per centum per annum shall be levied collected and paid upon each dollar of such net income received by and accruing to such corporation during the fiscal years commencing in the calendar years one thousand nine hundred fifty-four [and] one thousand nine hundred fifty-five one thousand nine hundred fifty-six and one thousand nine hundred fifty-seven and ending in the calendar years one thousand nine hundred fifty-five [and] one thousand nine hundred fifty-six one thousand nine hundred fifty-seven and one thousand nine hundred fifty-eight Provided however That such net income shall not include income for any period for which the corporation is subject to taxation under the Corporate Net Income Tax Act approved the sixteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred thirty-five (P. L. 208) as reenacted and amended according to or measured by net income

Except as otherwise provided in this section the tax hereby imposed shall be in addition to all taxes now imposed on any corporation under the provisions of existing laws

Section 4 Reports and Payment of Tax (a) For the purpose of ascertaining the amount of tax payable under this act it shall be the duty of every corporation liable to pay tax under this act on or before the fifteenth day of April one thousand nine hundred fifty-two one thousand nine hundred fifty-three one thousand nine hundred fifty-four one thousand nine hundred fifty-five [and] one thousand nine hundred fifty-six one thousand nine hundred fifty-seven and one thousand nine hundred fifty-eight to transmit to the department upon a form prescribed prepared and furnished by the department an annual report under oath or affirmation of its president vice-president or other principal officer and of its treasurer or assistant treasurer of net income taxable under the provisions of this act Such report shall set forth

(1) A true copy of its return to the Federal Government of the annual net income arising or accruing in the calendar or fiscal year next preceding or such part or portion of said terms as the department may designate

(2) If no return was filed with the Federal Government the report made to the department shall show such information as would have been contained in a return to the Federal Government had one been made and

(3) Such other information as the department may require

(b) For the purpose of ascertaining the amount of tax payable under this act for the taxable years one thousand nine hundred fifty-three one thousand nine hundred fifty-four [and] one thousand nine hundred fifty-five one thousand nine hundred fifty-six and one thousand nine hundred fifty-seven it shall be the duty of every corporation liable to pay tax under this act on or before the thirteenth day of April one thousand nine hundred fifty-three one thousand nine hundred fifty-four [and] one thousand nine hundred fifty-five one thousand nine hundred fifty-six and one thousand nine hundred fifty-seven to transmit in like form and manner an additional tentative report Such report shall set forth

(1) The annual net income received or accruing in the calendar or fiscal year next preceeding and reported to the department under the provisions of this act or

(2) The net income received or accruing in the first three months of the current calendar or fiscal year together with such information as would have been contained in a return to the Federal Government had one been required or made

(3) Such other information as the department may require

(c) The failure of any corporation liable to pay tax under this act to procure or receive any report form shall not excuse it from making a report

(d) For the taxable years up to and including the year one thousand nine hundred fifty-two every corporation upon the date its report is required herein to be made shall pay to the department not less than one-half of the tax due to the Commonwealth by it for such preceding year and the remaining one-half of such tax shall be paid within the thirty days next succeeding and except as otherwise provided by law no extension of time for the filing of any report granted by the department shall extend the date any tax imposed by this act shall be due and payable For the taxable years one thousand nine hundred fifty-three one thousand nine hundred fifty-four [and] one thousand nine hundred fifty-five one thousand nine hundred fifty-six and one thousand nine hundred fifty-seven every corporation upon the date its tentative report is required herein to be made shall pay on account of the tax due for the current year at its election (1) not less than two and one-half per centum upon each dollar of net income of such corporation last reported as received or accrued during an entire preceding year or of such multiple of the net income last reported for a portion of such year as the entire year bears to the portion of the year for which the net income had been reported or (2) not less than ten per centum upon each dollar of net income of such corporation received or accrued during the first three months of the current calendar or fiscal year whichever is applicable The remaining portion of the tax due shall be paid upon the date the corporation's annual report is required herein to be made

(e) The amount of all taxes imposed under the provisions of this act not paid on or before the times as above provided shall bear interest at the rate of six (6) per centum per annum from the date they are due and payable until paid except that if the taxable income has been or is increased by the Commissioner of Internal Revenue or by any other agency or court of the United States interest shall be computed on the additional tax due from thirty days after the corporation receives notice of the change of income until paid Provided however That any corporation may pay the full amount of such tax or any part thereof together with interest due to the date of payment without prejudice to its right to present and prosecute a petition for resettlement a petition for review or an appeal to court If it be thereafter determined that such taxes were overpaid the department shall enter a credit to the account of such corporation which may be used by it in the manner prescribed by law

(f) If the officers of any corporation shall neglect or refuse to make any report as herein required or shall knowingly make any false report an additional ten per centum of the amount of the tax shall be added by the department to the tax determined to be due

(g) If any corporation closes its fiscal year not upon the thirty-first day of December but upon some other date and reports to the Federal Government as of such other date or would so report were it to make a return to the Federal Government such corporation shall certify such fact to the Department of Revenue and shall make the annual report herein required within thirty (30) days after the return to the Federal Government is due or would be due were it to be required of such corporation subject in all other respects to the provisions of this act The tentative report required of such corporations shall be due not later than four months after the end of the next preceding fiscal year

(h) If the corporation shall claim in its report that the return made to the Federal Government was inaccurate the amount claimed by it to be the net income taxable under this act and the basis of such claim of inaccuracy shall be fully specified

Section 5 Consolidated Reports The department shall not permit any corporation owning or controlling directly or indirectly any of the voting capital stock of another corporation or of other corporations subject to the provisions of this act to make a consolidated report showing the combined net income

Section 6 Extension of Time to File Reports The department may upon application made to it in such form as it shall prescribe on or prior to the last day for filing any annual report and upon proper cause shown grant to the corporation required to file such report an extension of not more than sixty (60) days within which such report may be filed and in case the Federal income tax authorities at any time grant a longer extension of time for filing such reports with the Federal Government the department may grant an additional extension of time for filing the annual report under this act of not more than thirty (30) days after the termination of the Federal extension but the amount of tax due shall in such cases nevertheless be subject to interest from the due dates and at the rates fixed by this act

Section 7 Changes Made by Federal Government (a) If the amount of the net income as returned by any corporation to the Federal Government is finally changed or corrected by the Commissioner of Internal Revenue or by any other agency or court of the United States such corporation within thirty (30) days after the receipt of such final change or correction shall make a corrected report under oath or affirmation to the department showing such finally changed or corrected net income upon which the tax is required to be paid to the United States In case a corporation fails to file a report of such correction which results in an increase in net income within the time prescribed there shall be added to the tax a penalty of five dollars ($5.00) for every day during which such corporation is in default but the department may abate any such penalty in whole or in part

(b) If as a result of such final change or correction there should be any change made in the amount of the net income of any corporation upon which tax is imposed by this act the department shall have the power and its duty shall be to resettle such taxes Whenever a resettlement shall have been made hereunder the department shall resettle the account according to law and shall credit or charge as the case may be the amount resulting from such resettlement upon the current accounts of the corporation with which it is made The resettlement shall be subject to audit and approval by the Department of the Auditor General as in the case of original settlements and in case of the failure of the two departments to agree the resettlement shall be submitted to the Board of Finance and Revenue as in the case of original settlements

(c) Where a report of change correction or redetermination of Federal income or Federal tax has been filed after a petition for review or an appeal has been taken such report shall be deemed a part of the original annual report upon petition of the taxpayer at any subsequent proceedings as though it had been filed with such original report and no separate petition for review or appeal from the resettlement resulting from such report of change correction or redetermination shall be necessary

Section 8 Settlement and Resettlement (a) All taxes due under this act shall be settled by the department and such settlement shall be subject to audit and approval by the Department of the Auditor General and shall so far as possible be made so that notice thereof may reach the taxpayer before the end of the year after the tax report was required to be made

(b) Promptly after the date of any such settlement the department shall send by mail or otherwise a copy thereof to such corporation The tax imposed by this act shall be settled resettled and otherwise imposed and adjusted in the same manner within the same periods of time and right of resettlement review appeal and refund as provided by law in the case of capital stock and franchise taxes imposed upon corporations

(c) If within a period of two years after the date of any settlement the department is not satisfied with such settlement or if at any time the net income as returned by any corporation to the Federal Government is finally changed or corrected by the Commissioner of Internal Revenue or by any other agency or court of the United States with the result that tax in addition to the amount paid is due under this act the department is hereby authorized and empowered to make a resettlement of the tax due by such corporation based upon the facts contained in the report or upon any information within its possession or that shall come into its possession

Whenever a resettlement shall have been made hereunder the department shall resettle the account according to law and shall crdit or charge as the case may be the amount resulting from such resettlement upon the current accounts of the corporation with which it is made

The resettlement shall be subject to audit and approval by the Department of the Auditor General as in the case of original settlement and in case of the failure of the two departments to agree the resettlement shall be submitted to the Board of Finance and Revenue as in the case of original settlements

(d) If any corporation shall neglect or refuse to make any report and payment of tax required by this act the department shall estimate the tax due by such corporation and subject to audit and approval by the Department of the Auditor General settle the amount due by it for taxes penalties and interest thereon as prescribed herein from which settlement there shall be no right of review or appeal but the department with the approval of the Department of the Auditor General may require a report to be filed and thereupon make a settlement based upon such report and cancel the estimated settlement

Section 9 Enforcement Rules and Regulations Inquisitorial Powers of the Department (a) The department is hereby charged with the enforcement of the provisions of this act and is hereby authorized and empowered to prescribe adopt promulgate and enforce rules and regulations not inconsistent with this act relating to any matter or thing pertaining to the administration and enforcement of the provisions of this act and the collection of taxes penalties and interest imposed by this act The department is hereby required to have such rules and regulations promulgated and adopted printed and shall distribute the same to any person upon request

(b) The department or any agent authorized in writing by it is hereby authorized to examine the books papers and records and to investigate the character of the business of any corporation in order to verify the accuracy of any report made or if no report was made by such corporation to ascertain and settle the tax imposed by this act Every such corporation is hereby directed and required to give to the department or its duly authorized agent the means facilities and opportunity for such examinations and investigations as are hereby provided and authorized Any information gained by the department as a result of any returns investigations or verifications required to be made by this act shall be confidential except for official purposes and any person divulging such information shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be sentenced to pay a fine of not less than one hundred dollars ($100.00) or more than one thousand dollars ($1000.00) and costs of prosecution or to undergo imprisonment for not more than six (6) months or both in the discretion of the court

(c) Whenever any person acting for or on behalf of the department shall in good faith institute legal proceedings for any violations of the provisions of this act and for any reason shall fail to recover costs of record such costs shall be a charge upon the proper county as shall such costs in the event defendant is imprisoned for failure to pay fine or costs or both and shall be audited and paid as are costs of like character in said county

(d) The powers conferred by this act upon the department relating to the administration or enforcement of this act shall be in addition to but not exclusive of any other powers heretofore or hereafter conferred upon the department by law

Section 10 Retention of Records by Corporations Penalty Each corporation shall maintain and keep for a period of three (3) years after any report is filed under this act such record or records of its business within this Commonwealth for the period covered by such report and other pertinent papers as may be required by the department

Any person violating any of the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall upon conviction thereof be sentenced to pay a fine not exceeding one thousand dollars ($1000.00) and costs of prosecution or to undergo imprisonment for not more than six (6) months or both in the discretion of the court

Section 11 Penalties (a) Any person who shall wilfully make a false and fraudulent return of net income made taxable by this act shall be guilty of wilful and corrupt perjury and upon conviction thereof shall be subject to punishment as provided by law Such penalty shall be in addition to any other penalties imposed by this act

(b) Any person who wilfully fails neglects or refuses to make a report or to pay the tax as herein prescribed or who shall refuse to permit the department to examine the books papers and records of any corporation liable to pay tax under this act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be sentenced to pay a fine not exceeding one thousand dollars ($1000.00) and costs of prosecution or undergo imprisonment not exceeding six (6) months or both in the discretion of the court Such penalty shall be in addition to any other penalties imposed by this act

Section 12 Constitutional Construction The provisions of this act are severable and if any of its provisions shall be held unconstitutional the decision of the court shall not affect or impair any of the remaining provisions of this act It is hereby declared to be the legislative intent that this act would have been adopted had such unconstitutional provisions not been included herein

Section 13 Effective Date This act shall become effective immediately upon its final enactment and shall remain in force only for the imposition and collection of taxes on net income of corporations derived from sources within the Commonwealth for the calendar years one thousand nine hundred fifty-one one thousand nine hundred fifty-two one thousand nine hundred fifty-three one thousand nine hundred fifty-four [and] one thousand nine hundred fifty-five one thousand nine hundred fifty-six and one thousand nine hundred fifty-seven or for the fiscal years ending in the calendar years one thousand nine hundred fifty-two one thousand nine hundred fifty-three one thousand nine hundred fifty-four one thousand nine hundred fifty-five [and] one thousand nine hundred fifty six one thousand nine hundred fifty-seven and one thousand nine hundred fifty-eight

An Act amending the act of May twenty-one one thousand nine hundred thirty-one (P. L. 149) entitled as amended "An act imposing a State tax payable by those herein defined as distributors on liquid fuels used or sold and delivered within the Commonwealth which are practically and commercially suitable for use in internal combustion engines for the generation of power providing for the collection and lien of the tax and the distribution and use of the proceeds thereof requiring such distributors to secure permits to file corporate surety bonds and reports and to retain certain records imposing duties on retail dealers common carriers county commissioners and such distributors providing for rewards imposing certain costs on counties conferring powers and imposing duties on certain State officers and departments providing for refunds imposing penalties and making an appropriation" extending the provisions of the additional tax for a limited time

Section 1 Section 4 act of May twenty-one one thousand nine hundred thirty-one (P. L. 149) known as "The Liquid Fuels Tax Act" amended May twenty-seven one thousand nine hundred fifty-three (P. L. 252) is amended to read

Section 4 Imposition of Tax Exemptions and Deductions A permanent State tax of three cents a gallon or fractional part thereof is hereby imposed and assessed upon all liquid fuels used or sold and delivered by distributors within this Commonwealth excepting liquid fuels delivered to the United States Government on presentation of a duly authorized United States Government exemption certificate or other evidence satisfactory to the department and such liquid fuels used or sold and delivered as are not within the taxing power of this Commonwtalth under the Commerce Clause of the Constitution of the United States [Proviled That the] The tax herein imposed and assessed shall be collected by and paid to the Commonwealth but once in respect to any liquid fuels

In addition to such tax an additional State tax of two cents a gallon or fractional part thereof is hereby imposed and assessed upon all liquid fuels used or sold and delivered by distributors within this Commonwealth for the period beginning the first day of July one thousand nine hundred thirty-five and ending on the thirty-first day of May one thousand nine hundred [fifty-five] fifty-seven

Distributors shall be liable to the Commonwealth for the collection and payment of the tax imposed by this act The tax imposed by this act shall be collected by the distributor at the time the liquid fuels are used or sold and delivered by the distributor and shall be borne by the consumer

The tax shall be payable upon liquid fuels sold and delivered to or used by the Commonwealth and every political subdivision thereof

The department shall allow such handling and storage losses of liquid fuels as are substantiated to its satisfaction

Section 2 This act shall take effect June one one thousand nine hundred fifty-five

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. I would like to make just a brief statement on House Bills Nos. 33, 34 and 35 at this time. I believe these are the gasoline tax bills. These bills do not come under the Administrative Code and do not carry a budgetary estimate, nor do they carry appropriations. Whether it is right or wrong, in the past we have done this and we are doing exactly the same thing again, We are giving the Highway Department a blank check. Nevertheless, these do not come under our stipulations of yesterday where the Governor must submit a budget. Because of that and because of the fact that the Highway Department needs to plan in advance and sometimes will probably issue contracts in advance, even prior to money coming in, we feel that it would be an injustice at this time not to vote or not to give you some support for these bills. Because of that fact and also the fact that it is not by law necessary to appropriate this money, the Members on this side of the House will support this legislation.

Mr. READINGER. The Majority leader would like to thank the Minority Leader for that display of partisan—or bipartisanship.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. I see that the Majority Leader still can't get away from that partisanship.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

Section 2 This reenacting and amending act shall take effect June one one thousand nine hundred fifty-five

On the question,
Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?
It was agreed to.
On the question,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, I am not going to attack this particular bill on the same ground that it was attacked yesterday in regard to all of these bills by our Minority Floor Leader, on the ground that he can see no necessity at this time for passing any of these revenue measures, and that to my mind includes, also, the bills affecting the Highway Department upon which we just voted. Certainly the State Highway Department of this Commonwealth is not a sacrosanct department that they should be treated differently than any other department. That is the reason for my "no" vote on these three bills when the rest of my colleagues seemed to go ahead and say they were sacrosanct. That means, of course, beyond all criticism, or right to have any criticism directed at them. I think the Highway Department has a right to be criticized very severly for a lot of the practices they have followed in the past, not only under the Republican administrations but also under the Earle administration.

I am attacking this Bill because I think this is one of the most vicious tax bills that we have on the statute books of Pennsylvania. The Governor in his message to us as recently as January 25th stated, "While these taxes are still called temporary, the fact is that they have become a basic part of the fiscal pattern of the Commonwealth and their renewal at this time is an automatic necessity." That certainly does not prove any point to me.

This bill has been on the statute books of Pennsylvania only since 1951, it was put on at that time because the Legislature would not pass an income tax and resort was had then to passing a hodgepodge of taxes. Certainly many of them were very unfair and very unjust. As a matter of fact, in 1953 when the sales tax was finally enacted in July this bill was one which I understood was to be dropped from the statute books of Pennsylvania inasmuch as a broad base tax would do away, and has done away in some cases, with some very inequitable, unjust and unfair taxes that were put upon the statute books in 1951. Unfortunately, through a misunderstanding on my part, and I will say in every effort to be fair to my own leaders at that time, to bend over backwards in that attempt, possibly a misunderstanding on their part, the bill was not dropped from the statute books of Pennsylvania after the sales tax was enacted.

This bill, as you know, puts a one per cent tax on all realty transfers in the state of Pennsylvania. It creates a hardship on those who are least able to bear it. I am surprised, and I say this sincerely because I said it against my own party in 1953 and so I feel I have the right to say it against the majority party today, I am surprised that this bill has been brought up by the Democratic party for passage inasmuch as it does contain hardships and taxes people in this Commonwealth who certainly are least able to bear that burden. When you put a one per cent tax on properties which they transfer and which in many cases are the only estate that widows and orphans have left to them, the only estate that aged people have to assist them to live in their old age, yet they have to pay one per cent of the proceeds into the State Treasury.

As a matter of fact, it has very seriously endangered many housing developments in this state, inasmuch as the people who have organized to develop those housing developments have found in very many instances that it is a hardship, and practically impossible in some cases, to raise the necessary extra money to pay the taxes on those developments. We talk about hardship of certain taxes that we put on the statute books in 1953. Certainly they cannot compare in any way, shape or form, and I say this including the sales tax, it cannot compare in any way, shape or form with the hardships that the Democratic party today is putting upon the people of Pennsylvania in the form of this very unfair, unjust, discriminative and penalizing taxation.

On the question recurring,
Shall the bill pass finally?

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 38, as follows:

An Act amending the act of June first one thousand eight hundred eighty-nine (P. L. 420) entitled "A further supplement to an act entitled 'An act to provide revenue by taxation' approved the seventh day of June Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and seventy-nine" postponing the manufacturing exemption with regard to capital stock tax and the franchise tax on domestic and foreign corporations joint-stock associations limited partnerships and companies for a further limited period of time

Section 1 Section twenty-one of act of June first one thousand eight hundred eighty-nine (P. L. 420) entitled "A further supplement to an act entitled 'An act to provide revenue by taxation' approved the seventh day of June Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and seventy-nine" amended July seventeenth one thousand nine hundred fifty-three (P. L. 495) is amended to read

Section 21 (a) That every domestic corporation other than corporations of the first class non-profit corporations and cooperative agricultural associations not having capital stock and not conducted for profit and every joint-stock association limited partnership and company whatsoever from which a report is required under the twentieth section hereof shall be subject to and pay into the treasury of the Commonwealth annually through the Department of Revenue a tax at the rate of five mills upon each dollar of the actual value of its whole capital stock of all kinds including common special and preferred as ascertained in the manner prescribed in said twentieth section Provided That the tax of five mills imposed by this subsection on reports filed for the calendar years one thousand nine hundred forty-seven one thousand nine hundred forty-eight one thousand nine hundred forty-nine one thousand nine hundred fifty one thousand nine hundred fifty-one one thousand nine hundred fifty-two one thousand nine hundred fifty-three [and] one thousand nine hundred fifty-four one thousand nine hundred fifty-five and one thousand nine hundred fifty-six or for the fiscal years beginning in the calendar years one thousand nine hundred forty-seven one thousand nine hundred forty-eight one thousand nine hundred forty-nine one thousand nine hundred fifty one thousand nine hundred fifty-one one thousand nine hundred fifty-two one thousand nine hundred fifty-three [and] one thousand nine hundred fifty-four one thousand nine hundred fifty-five and one thousand nine hundred fifty-six shall apply to the taxation of capital stock of corporations limited partnerships and joint-stock associations organized for manufacturing purposes excepting companies engaged in the distilling of liquors Provided further That after said [eight] ten year period the provisions of this section shall not apply to the taxation of the capital stock of corporations limited partnerships and joint-stock associations organized for manufacturing purposes which is invested in and actually and exclusively employed in carrying on manufacturing within the State excepting companies engaged in the distilling of liquors and such as enjoy and exercise the right of eminent domain but every corporation limited partnership or joint-stock association organized for the purpose of manufacturing shall pay the State tax of five mills herein provided upon such proportion of its capital stock if any as may be invested in any property or business not strictly incident or appurtenant to the manufacturing business in addition to the local taxes assessed upon its property in the district where located it being the object of this proviso to relieve from State taxation only so much of the capital stock as is invested purely in the manufacturing plant and business

(b) Every foreign corporation joint-stock association limited partnership and company whatsoever from which a report is required under the twentieth section hereof shall be subject to and pay into the treasury of the Commonwealth annually through the Department of Revenue a franchise tax at the rate of five mills upon a taxable value to be determined in the following manner The actual value of its whole capital stock of all kinds including common special and preferred shall be ascertained in the manner prescribed in the twentieth section of this act and shall then be divided into three equal parts

(1) Of one third such portion shall be attributed to business carried on within the Commonwealth as shall be found by multiplying said third by a fraction whose numerator is the value of the taxpayer's tangible property not actually and exclusively used in manufacturing situated within the Commonwealth and whose denominator is the value of all the taxpayer's tangible property wherever situated

(2) Of another third such portion shall be attributed to business carried on within the Commonwealth as shall be found by multiplying said third by a fraction whose numerator is the expenditures of the taxpayer for wages salaries commissions or other compensation to its employes not exclusively engaged in manufacturing in this Commonwealth and assignable to this Commonwealth as hereinafter provided and whose denominator is the total expenditures of the taxpayer for wages salaries commissions or other compensation to all its employes

(3) Of the remaining third such portion shall be attributed to business carried on within the Commonwealth as shall be found by multiplying said third by a fraction whose numerator is the amount of the taxpayer's gross receipts from business not strictly incident or appurtenant to manufacturing in this Commonwealth assignable to this Commonwealth as hereinafter provided and whose denominator is the amount of the taxpayer's gross receipts from all its business

The sum of the amounts determined in accordance with the foregoing three rules shall be the taxable value In a case where only two of the forgoing three rules are applicable the remaining third equal part of the value of the entire capital stock shall be divided into two equal parts each of which shall be apportioned in accordance with one of the remaining two rules If only one of the three rules is applicable that part of the entire capital stock attributed to business carried on within the Commonwealth shall be determined solely by that rule

The amount assignable to this Commonwealth of expenditures of the taxpayers for wages salaries commissions or other compensation to its employes shall be such expenditures for the taxable year as represent the wages salaries commissions or other compensation of employes not chiefly situated at connected with or sent out from premises for the transaction of business maintained by the taxpayer outside the Commonwealth

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. READINGER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. SPEAKER. I might state that while I am going to ask permission of the House to address the House briefly on the matter relating to these various tax bills, I will not be offended if any of the Members who must catch a train would like to leave before I start.

The SPEAKER. It is much more important that they hear the Majority Leader than that they catch a train.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, yesterday during the session the Minority Leader raised many questions concerning the need for the passage of the tax bills which have just been passed by this House.

It is my intention at this time to discuss various matters relating to these tax bills, the reasons why they were brought before you for a vote today, and the reasons why we wanted them passed at this time rather than at a later date.

The administration and the majority party decided that they wanted these bills passed at this time in order that we may have accomplished the passage of the tax base which has been our tax base for some years, upon which to build our plans for the additional revenue which we knew is going to be needed in the 1955-1957 biennium.

As the Minority Leader pointed out yesterday these emergencies taxes do not go into effect until June 1st of this year, therefore there was no actual necessity to pass them at this time. But we of the majority party felt that it was not only desirable but was quite necessary that they do pass at this time in order that we may know upon which base to proceed in the determination of additional and other revenues.

In connection with the determination that we made I would like to remind you of certain facts concerning the budgetary life of this Commonwealth. I am speaking only of the general fund budget and not the highway fund. I am excluding from all of my remarks at the present time the highway fund bills, of which there were three and which you so graciously joined in passing.

During the 1953-1955 biennium, the one we are in now, the Governor approved appropriations made by this Legislature in the sum of $1,014, million for general fund purposes. The original estimate of revenue for this biennium made by the administration then in power was $997,870,000 and to that was added a surplus of $17 million through lapsed appropriations and so forth from the prior biennium, which balanced your budget so you thought.

We now find according to the estimates of the budget office as of December 1954, which was not our budget office but yours, that there probably will be a deficiency in this present biennium of approximately $75 million.

Your budget office prior to the change of administration sent to the Senate and to the House a list of the departmental budget requests for the 1955-1957 biennium. Those requests total $1,260 million, which incidentally included a request by the Department of Public Instruction of $655,999,167 and that did not include the deficiency appropriation which was requested for this biennium of $21,414,847.

In Governor Fine's budget message of January 26, 1953, the beginning of this biennium, he set forth figures indicating that the general fund revenues, including liquor store profits, were estimated to be $836,870,000. If you recall, and I am sure you do, that group of figures were submitted to us at a time when the sales tax was not in effect. The estimate of revenue to be derived from that tax was $135 million. That of course was added to your budget figures to bring your total figure up to the one I mentioned at the beginning of $1,014,370,000.

I mention the estimated revenues of the present biennium of $836,870,000 to tie in with the fact that these bills which we have passed today are a part of that, and I would like to show you how large and how small a part.

In the estimate back in January of 1953 the corporate net income tax of five percent was estimated to yield $250 million and the corporation income tax to yield $500,000. The capital stock tax, domestic capital stock tax of which the emergency tax relating to manufacturers exemption is a part, was estimated to yield $82 million.

The foreign capital stock tax $33,750,000. The real estate tax $29 million. The gross receipts tax $10 million. A total of $405,250,000 of the $836,870,000. I reiterate this did not include the sales tax.

The present budget office under the new administration is estimating that for the 1955-1957 biennium the corporate net income tax will yield $225,400,000. The corporation income tax $3 million. The manufacturers exemption $28 million, the realty tax $31,300,000, and the gross receipts tax $11 million, or a total of $298,700,000.

The 1953-1955 estimate of these particular five years, assuming that the manufacturers exemption could be based at $28 million, the same figure we are now using, and I could not get the figure on that because it is included in the capital stock taxes, both foreign and domestic, but assuming for the moment, the estimates for the present biennium are $250 million for the corporate net income, $500,000 for the corporation income tax, $28 million for the manufacturers exemption, $29 million for the realty tax and $10 million the gross receipts tax, a total estimated revenues of $317,500,000.

I am using all these figures to show that even adopting the estimated yields for the years 1953-55 on these emergency taxes, they would still total about $300 million and some odd dollars. That added to the revenues from other sources, not including the sales tax, would, if the yield was as great as expected, bring in $836 million during the 1955-1957 biennium.

I have already mentioned that the budget for this present biennium was over a billion dollars and with that budget we are still apparently faced with a deficit of somewhere in the vicinity of $75 million.

The Minority Leader yesterday asked why we are in a hurry to put these on the statute books now when they do not become effective until June 1st. He wanted to know why we do not wait until we get the budget message from the Governor so we know how much money we are going to have to spend in the next biennium. Why didn't we wait until we got his estimates of what they would yield and so forth? He had every right to ask what yield might be expected of these taxes and that is why I am giving the figures now which we have available to us.

We said yesterday we do not intend to have any budget mysteries during this session, and I assure you that I meant it then and I mean it now, that when we have information which is pertinent to the deliberations of this House we are going to give it to you. We do not want anything concealed by our people in the executive branch or any other part of this government from us or from you.

But as you well know the Democratic party has taken a firm position on various things relating to the function of this Government. We have taken the position in our platform, and I know the Governor has in his campaign speeches, that we do not intend to cut back the educational program of Pennsylvania. We do not intend to squeeze the people who are on public assistance. We do not intend to cut back on the program for the welfare of the people of this state upon which we have embarked.

We do not intend either to shift the burden of education back to our local districts. With those thoughts in mind it must become quite obvious to everybody in this Commonwealth that we are going to need every dollar that these particular taxes will raise, in addition to the money that will be raised by the regular taxes which do not expire every two years, and in addition we are going to need a substantial additional amount of money.

I do not think anybody in this House need be concerned by the fact that the bills are passed today before a budget message has arrived in this House. At this moment I do not know what the administrations tax program will be. I do not know whether they have completed the study that they wanted to make, or whether they have determined what type or types of taxes, if any, they will propose. That will come along in due time and will be submitted to you for your consideration, and if you do not like the taxes that we feel we will have to propose, I expect you to say so. We have been doing it for a long time. We felt that we were giving you the correct reasons for opposing certain taxes from time to time. We know that the responsibility is on this side. If you vote against every new tax that we propose we will not be surprised. We hope that you do not do that. We hope that whatever the tax program is you can be persuaded that it is an adequate and a proper tax program. But if you decide it is not, you have every right to get up and say why you do not like it and to vote against it.

I just want this House to know why the Majority side feels that these taxes should now, as far as we can go, be passed, so that we do not have to wrestle later on with one great big tax package; with whether or not we are going to have a one per cent real estate tax or whether or not we are going to have a further deferment of the manufacturers exemption and so forth.

Mr. Smith, the Minority Leader, in his ramarks yesterday asked among other things why we do not give them the answer at this time as to whether these taxes will be amended, revised or eliminated. The only answer I can give him at this time is that we just do not know at this time whether these particular taxes will be amended or eliminated.

I canont begin to tell you today whether the additional two cents fuel tax is going to be raised or lowered. Those are things that must be determined on the basis of facts which will be presented to this House as they become available to us.

We are now estimating deficits for this biennium, because the biennium will not end for several more months or until May 31st. If by any happy chance the revenues yield more than they are now expected to we will be verry happy to report that the deficit is less and the need for revenue less. But we just do not know whether any of these particular taxes will be eliminated, we do not know at this time whether they will be increased or whether they will be lowered.

The Minority Leader would like us to tell the people who are involved in the payment of these taxes, the people who pay the gasoline tax, the people who pay corporation taxes and so forth, whether they can expect these to be the end solution, but we cannot tell them that now. I think they will understand why we cannot tell them that. We do expect to have a very complete picture of the financial condition of this Commonwealth before May 31st, and if not by that time within a short time thereafter. It is our job to propose taxes to meet our burdens and we are going to do it.

I do not want to hold you up a long time by going through the questions of the Minority Leader, but if you recall yesterday I promised I would answer them, and I intend to do so to the best of my ability.

I have already answered his question when he said: "Why are you in such a rush?" and "Let me honestly ask you, what are you up to?" speaking about the passage of these tax bills. I think I have answered that.

He suggested that since the law required the Governor to submit a budget message to us, showing estimated revenues and expenditures, that we should do these things in an orderly and legal way. Let me assure you that we are doing this in an entirely legal way. There is no law which says that we cannot pass all the tax bills we want to pass prior to the time we get a Governor's budget message. It is usually not done because we want to get the figures from the Governor's office, from the executive branch so we have a better idea of how much we must appropriate—how much we must raise and how much he thinks we should appropriate.

But where you have such an obvious gap between the present yield of taxes in Pennsylvania and the present need for money for Pennsylvania's functions, there I say we need not and we should not worry about doing this thing in a different way. The Minority Leader asks if we are planning to take a long recess and get us out of here late this year. We have no such plans. We would be just as happy as you if we could get out of here by June 1st. I am sure that nobody on this side would want to stay beyond that day if we could possibly do the job we must do between now and June 1st. I think the determination of how long we are going to be in this session is going to rest with your colleagues in the state Senate. We might be here all year. We might even run into next year as somebody suggested a little earlier. But it is not going to be our fault if we are here that long.

One or two other comments of the Minority Leader should be answered. He asked whether we are trying to fool the people into believing that this passing of these bills would solve the Commonwealth's fiscal problems. Definitely not. If my remarks do not do any other thing today they will inform the public that this is by no means a fiscal program. It is not intended so to be.

He also asked whether we are going to wait until the need for additional revenue is so desperate as to make it impossible for the Legislature to act with wisdom and deliberation on a tax program. I assure you there is no intention to delay any tax program to the point where the Members cannot give proper consideration to it.

We are just as anxious as anybody in this Commonwealth to produce our tax program as soon as we can and to try to pass it and adjourn this session.

The Minority Leader stated yesterday that four years ago, "When the House had a budget which listed both the revenues and the appropriations that the executive department needed"—and I am now quoting the Minority Floor Leader, and he is quoting the Speaker—he rose in this House and said, and this is the quote, Mr. Speaker, "There is every good reason why there should be no hurry. First of all, it is wrong for the Governor to say 'take it or leave it,' or rather, "first, it is wrong for the Governor (there are so many quotes in here that I can not follow them) "to send a take it or leave it budget to the House. Second, it is wrong for us to swallow it because the Governor said 'take it or leave it.' It is wrong for us to deny the Appropriations Committee, the Ways and Means Committee, the time and the machinery necessary and the advice necessary for them to check on the budget." That is the end of the quotation made by the now Speaker.

Returning now to the remarks of the Minority Floor Leader of yesterday, that was in April of 1951, this is January of 1955, and I would like to impress on you that April is the fourth month, and we had four months of study of the budget and appropriations at that time, and then it was too much of a hurry. "Then the budget was before this House for weeks. Now we do not have any estimates to submit to the Appropriations Committee. The tax bills are put in the House one day, come out on the floor the next, and we are asked to vote on them tomorrow on third reading without even telling the people of Pennsylvania how much money will be spent. I only mention this to make the point that I think the present Speaker, the then Minority Floor Leader was right in what he said. Unless there is a reason for doing what we have done today, it would certainly be the best practice to wait until the budget message is here and then pass on the matter of taxes to be raised.

The Minority Leader has also said that the Governor has asked, "for bipartisanship support on taxes; what he really wants us to vote for is his program without even asking questions; certainly he does not want any discussion." That I will venture to say just is not so.

I do not think the Governor had any intention when he asked us to re-enact these taxes of having no discussion. I think the Governor likes discussion. I know we do, and we are having it, even though it is stopping the passage of the bills. We will certainly in the future on the additional taxes have many and many a discussion.

His statement made yesterday also set forth that the Governor has not told us how this revenue will be spent. I say as a part of this whole program at the present time there is no need for the Governor at this time to tell us how this money will be spent. We know how it will be spent; we know from experience what we are spending on education this biennium over $500 million. We know that the Public Assistance Department needs 150 or 120 millions of dollars, and we know what the Welfare Department is costing us during this biennium. We do not have to be told by the Governor how these funds represented by these taxes will be spent. I think we pretty well know it now.

That about concludes the questions raised yesterday which I have had an opportunity to examine. The last page might contain some that I have not answered, but I was not able to get to that page for lack of time.

I regret that I had to take so much of the time of the House. I know it is late and you are hungry, but it is important that we have these things in the record so that the people of Pennsylvania and you Members of the Minority side know exactly why we have done what we did.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, the Majority Leader certainly gave us a statement, to say the least. I must say that a good part of it went over my head. He was kicking figures around pretty recklessly there.

I do not know if he gave us any specific reason, and. if he did give us a specific reason, somebody is not telling the truth. Who that somebody is, you can make your own decision.

If the reasons the Majority Leader gave today are the honest reasons, why did the Governor give us this trash in his message? Why wasn't he honest? Somebody is giving us different reasons. We have two different sets of reasons before us at this time. We have the reasons that the Majority Leader is giving us, and we have this reason that the Governor gave us. Now let us stop trying to kid each other. At least, get together on your reasons for these things. That is the only thing we are asking. We asked for reasons, now we have two sets of reasons and I do not want to put the Majority Leader in an embarrassing position because I know he has an entree to the front office, but certainly that is not the reason that the Governor gave us.

The Governor said it will be undoubtedly necessary for the Commonwealth to issue tax anticipation notes against the receipts expected from these taxes. Accordingly, they must be enacted in the very near future to make such temporary borrowing possible. If that is the reason, that is the reason. If what the Majority Leader says is the reason, we will abide by that, but certainly somebody around here had better make a decision as to what the reason is. At least, the Governor or the Majority Leader is wrong, and I will leave you to make that decision. I will not make it.

Now, the Majority Leader was kicking a lot of figures around here and he did make a little statement that I do not want to be facetious about, that this is "an unusual time to talk about taxes—after they are passed," but of course I can see, too, that it is the majority's usual process of putting the cart before the horse. The Majority Leader must know and the Governor must know, and I would for his information like to remind him that we have at this time, if my figures are correct, about $540 million of permanent taxes. Now just on some real rough figuring they are the permanent taxes. I could not get all the figures down that the Majority Leader quoted and I do not expect him to come back on this today. Nor do I expect to come back at his figures, we will end it.

I would like to just give him these figures for his information, $540 million, roughly, of permanent taxes. If he will take our billion-dollar budget he will see that that is pretty near half of our billion-dollar budget. If he adds to those the temporary taxes that will be coming in in June, I do not think that they are going to have too much trouble operating our government for this year. Fifty per cent of our taxes go to education, and the fifty per cent that we supply are $540 million, and the only taxes that they are short, regardless of all the words they say, they do not have to be short. If they have not gone out on a limb too far—they have certainly crawled out there but they have ways of crawling back, the only taxes that they are short at this moment are approximately $100 million, and that would be the sales tax. They are not short too much money.

I would like to remind the majority, and I can assure them that we will not support this, but, if they do not want to raise or put new taxes on the people of Pennsylvania, a few amendments to the bills that are now law would prevent them from doing that. That I can assure them. The Majority Leader says that he does not know what they are going to need, does not know what taxes they are going to have, and I can assure him I think that is a position a good many of us are in. Certainly, if he does not know, we do not know on this side. He says that he does not know if these taxes are going to be cut or any of them revoked. I am not a betting man, and certainly for the sake of the record I would not want this to go over the state, but any time I will take his odds that not one of them will be cut, and he can name his odds.

I can assure him that before this session is finished he will raise the gasoline tax, he will probably try to raise the corporate net, he will probably try to raise all the other taxes because they will have to do that. He knows it and I know it, so let us not say that he does not know what will happen to them. He knows they will go up, I know they will go up, and the people of Pennsylvania know they will go up. All we asked for, and still ask for is, when the Governor issues a statement, let him not try to kid the public, let him issue an honest statement so that we know what he is talking about, and so that the poor Majority Leader, with whom I am in sympathy, does not have to flounder around trying to cover the front office's mistakes.

The SPEAKER. For what purpose does the gentleman from Berks rise?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, for a very short rebuttal.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Berks for a very short rebuttal.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, not being a betting man myself, I will not quote any odds to the Minority Leader, but I was sincere when I said that I do not know what will happen, if anything, to the taxes that we have passed today. If I knew what the tax program would be for the next biennium, I could pretty well predict whether they will be left alone, whether they will be lowered, or eliminated, or raised. But I simply do not know.

Speaking about putting the cart before the horse, I would like to remind the Minority Leader that his men were just as anxious to catch the train they wanted to get without having to listen to the remarks which have been made during the last three-quarters of an hour. I know that all absent Members will read them when they come back here next week to find out what they have missed. And I hope they can understand the figures that I have used and that he has used.

Speaking about the Governor's message, I make no apology whatsoever for anything contained in that message.

As the gentleman from Philadelphia well knows, it takes perhaps two or three months to set up the machinery for the issuance of tax anticipation notes. If these bills become law during this session or in the very near future, the machinery can be put into operation, if necessary—and I do not know whether it is set up but I assume the Governor's office will do so—to borrow money on tax anticipation notes on the first day of June of this year. It is not a new thing to have tax anticipation notes issued during the period of time when the taxes are coming in because we know that mony of these tax bills will not bring in the yield until late in the next biennium.

What the need for issuing tax anticipation notes might be as of June 1st of this year I do not know. But I say that it is certainly reasonable to have two reasons given for the speedy enactment of these bills just as well as one reason. I have chosen to give you what I consider the fundamental basic reasons for wanting these bills passed at this time. But the Governor's office has every right to give whatever reasons the Governor wants for the passage of these bills. I say there was no deception. I know there was no intention to deceive anyone. If the gentleman has misconstrued something the Governor has said, that is his own tough luck.

The SPEAKER. Does the Minority Leader desire to be heard in brief rebuttal?

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Only to repeat what I know the Speaker would say.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the Minority Leader.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Only to repeat what I know the present Speaker would say: "Piffle!"

The SPEAKER. Does the Majority Leader desire to reply to the Minority Leader?

Mr. READINGER. I missed that last crack, your Honor. Will the gentleman repeat that last remark

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. I said that I would only like to repeat in rebuttal what I know the Speaker has said many times on the floor of this House: "Piffle!"

Mr. READINGER. Double Piffle!

The SPEAKER. The Chair desires to thank the Floor Leaders and the Members of this House for the type and character of debate and for the decorum in the House during a trying afternoon.

I have had the opportunity to observe this House in action for many, many years and this was a trying afternoon. The membership of this House on both sides performed magnificently. You have a right to be proud of your conduct today, and I hope it is an evidence of the way we are going to conduct things through the remainder of the session.

RESOLUTION NO. 3

Mr. WORLEY. Mr. Speaker, I call up Resolution No. 3.

The resolution was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives. January 24, 1955.

The President of the United States and his gracious wife Mr and Mrs Dwight D Eisenhower have purchased a farm in scenic Adams County and have expressed the desire of making it their home in the near future therefore be it

Resolved (the Senate concurring) That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania welcome President and Mrs Eisenhower to become voting residents of Adams County and be it further

Resolved That a copy of this resolution be transmitted to the President of the United States.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. FILO asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, regarding this resolution I just want to state that two years ago I had offered a resolution into the House asking the President to come to Pennsylvania to play golf on the beautiful courses that we have here. As you know, he does play golf somewhere out in the midwest. Now, since that time I learned of his scores in golf I am thankful that he did not come to Pennsylvania to tear up the turf on the golf courses of Pennsylvania, and if he is going to be a farmer in York county, God help the farmers!

Mr. WORLEY. Mr. Speaker, the county is Adams, not York.

RESOLUTION NO. 6

Mr. BRETH. Mr. Speaker, I call up Resolution No. 6.

The resolution was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives. January 26, 1955.

In recent years there has been a tremendous increase in the use of the Commonwealth's game, fish, forest and water resources.

The resultant potential danger of the diminution of our heretofore abounding game, fish, forest and water resources is such as to demand the attention of the people of Pennsylvania; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House Committee on Conservation and Wild Life make a thorough study of our game, fish forest and water resources and their proper use and management for the benefit of the public; and be it further

Resolved, That the committee may meet, hold hearings and take testimony. It may issue subpoenas under the hand and seal of its chairman, commanding any person to appear before it and to answer questions touching matters properly being inquired into by the committee and to produce such books, papers, records and documents as the committee deems necessary. Any person who wilfully neglects or refuses to testify before the committee or to produce any books, papers, records, or documents shall be subject to the penalties provided by the laws of the Commonwealth in such cases. Each member of the committee shall have power to administer oaths and affirmations to witnesses appearing before the commission; and be it further

Resolved, That the committee make reports of its findings, together with its recommendations for appropriate legislation to this session of the Legislature from time to time as their work progresses.

PERMISSION GRANTED COMMITTEE TO MEET DURING SESSION

Mr. READINGER asked and obtained permission for the Committee on Rules to meet during the session of the House.

WEATHER REPORTS

The SPEAKER. The Secretary of the House desires to inform the Members concerning the conditions of the roads. The Secretary will proceed.

The SECRETARY. I have a weather report from the state police.

In the Butler area, there is a light snow and the roads are slippery in spots. The same applies in the area of Washington.

In the Punxsutawney area there is 1" inch of new snow.

Kane, Warren and Erie, 2" to 6" new snow and the temperature 24 to 32.

Hazleton, Wilkes-Barre, Scranton area, temperature 27 to 32, all roads slippery in spots, especially in the high areas.

The Turnpike, the Gateway to New Stanton roads are wet. New Stanton to Allegheny Tunnel, roads are wet with icy spots. Allegheny Tunnel to Blue Mountain, wet roads. Blue Mountain Tunnel to the Eastern End of the Turnpike and Delaware Valley roads partly snow-covered and icy in spots.

Williamsport, Lock Haven, Sunbury area light traces of snow, the road slippery in spots but well cindered. Same applies in the Indiantown area.

Bedford, Blair and Cambria area, roads slushy, slippery in spots. Same applies to Harrisburg and the southern central part of the state.

PERMISSION TO ADD ADDITIONAL SPONSORS

Mr. GAFFNEY asked and obtained unanimous consent to add additional sponsors to a bill to be introduced by him.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. READINGER from the Committee on Rules reported as committed Senate Resolution relative to furloughing employes of Jones and Laughlin Steel Corporation.

The resolution was read as follows:

SENATE MESSAGE

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced presented an extract from the Journal of the Senate, which was read as follows:

In the Senate, February 1, 1955.

The furloughling of eight hundred men by the Jones and Laughlin Steel Corporation at Vesta Mines, Numbers 4 and 5, and Shannopin Mine, has left these men and their families in an economic and financial position which is so acute that they cannot maintain the minimum standards of healthful living.

The placing of these men on an economic and financial plane comparable to that of their neighbors is a just and honorable act which deserves the attention of their employer, their union, and of all right thinking members of their community.

The sharing of employment in times of duress on a just and equitable basis is an act which should be performed in the American tradition of fair play and equal opportunity for all; therefore be it

Resolved (the House concurring), That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania urges the Jones and Laughlin Steel corporation to determine upon and adopt, with the cooperation and approval of the United Mine Workers of America, representing their employes in these mines, on equitable and just share the work plan involving presently employed and furloughed employes at Vesta Mines, Numbers 4 and 5, and Shannopin Mine; and be it further

Resolved That copies of this resolution shall be forwarded to the President and Board of Directors of the Jones and Laughlin Steel Corporation and to the President of the local union of the United Mine Workers of America, representing workers at the mines referred to by this resolution.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for its concurrence.

On the question,

Will the House concur in the resolution of the Senate?

Mr. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker. I feel that everybody in the House on both sides are very much interested in conditions that exist concerning this particular resolution.

We have in our district what we would commonly call a one-industry area. Last Friday we had a layoff of 850 men, 600 of them coming from the area of the borough in which I live. It is going to cause chaos in our economic system unless we are able to correct this condition.

It is an unusual condition because of the fact that the men who are laid off in this particular area are men who have worked for the Jones and Laughlin Steel Corporation all their lives. They opened and closed, you might say, their No. 7 mine, opened and closed their No. 6 mine, and they are practically all men between the ages of 45 and 56 years of age. They have worked for as many as 35 years for this company, but due to the fact that their seniority was curtailed because of the transfer to Vesta 4 and 5 mines. They were caught in what we commonly call this layoff which has come about, not through the reduction of the production of coal, but because of the fact that machinery is displacing these men. Their seniority was not great enough to protect them.

All we are doing in this resolution is petitioning the Jones and Laughlin Steel Corporation and the United Mines Workers jointly to share work in order that these men will not become a burden upon the Unemployment Insurance Fund, and later upon Public Assistance to which they are entitled, because they are too old to get work with any other corporation and they are too young to receive a pension.

Therefore, we ask the House to unanimously endorse this resolution so that we might be able to present it as early as possible to the Redevelopment Program that is being established in our Upper Monongahela Valley. We feel we can salvage these jobs with this company. Therefore, if we can get new industry in, we can take care of these people with this work and give the new jobs to our younger people.

On the question recurring,

Will the House concur in the resolution of the Senate?

It was concurred in.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. BONNER. Mr. Speaker, I move that this House do now adjourn until Monday, February 7, 1955 at 4:30 p. m.

The motion was agreed to, and (at 7:08 p. m.) the House adjourned.

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

Legislative Journal.

Session 1955. 141st of the General Assembly.

Vol. 34. HARRISBURG, PA., MONDAY, FEBRUARY 7, 1955. No. 9.

SENATE

MONDAY, February 7, 1955.

The Senate met at 4:00 o'clock, p. m., Eastern Standard Time.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Roy E. Furman) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. WILLIAM M. BAYLE, Rector of St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Kittanning, offered the following prayer:

O Eternal God, through Whose power our fathers won their liberties of old, grant we beseech Thee that we and all the people in this State may have grace to maintain these liberties in righteousness and peace.

Guide these Senators here assembled in all their deliberations and decisions. Keep them always mindful of their duties toward Thy people. Protect them from any thoughts and temptations of selfishness, and may Thy presence always be with them as they seek to lead Thy people.

We ask this in Thy name, Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present, the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. MAHANY and Mr. McCREESH, further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

LEAVES OF ABSENCE

Mr. MAHANY asked and obtained leave of absence for Mr. VAN SANT, due to illness.

He also asked and obtained leave of absence for Mr. PROPERT, due to illness.

COMMUNICATION FROM GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented communication in writing from His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth, which was read as follows:

GOVERNOR'S MESSAGE

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, February 7, 1955.

To the Honorable, the Members of the General Assembly:

It is now accepted generally that society has an obligation to provide an economy that aims at full employment of all persons able and willing to work, and that society owes a measure of protection to those among us who are out of work through no fault of their own.

The Congress of the United States has by law declared that full employment is the national policy of the United States, and provided that the vast influence of the Federal government on our economic affairs should be so directed as to promote the full employment of our working force.

As long ago as 1936, the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania enacted legislation establishing a system of unemployment compensation under which payments are made to men and women who are out of work. The theory of this system was analogous to the Biblical story of the seven fat and seven lean years—in effect, it provided that in times of prosperity, sufficient funds would be collected, as a percentage of total wages paid, to provide for a reserve against demands for unemployment compensation in times of distress.

Unfortunately, we have not achieved full employment in the national economy. Pennsylvania in particular has all too many areas in which employment declined drastically in 1954.

At the same time, we have failed to protect adequately our funds for the payment of unemployment compensation claims.

As a result, we are close to what is aptly described as a point of peril.

I most earnestly request the General Assembly to act promptly to remove from our system of compensation the "peril point" provisions which are now both a threat to the unemployed who so desperately need their unemployment compensation payments and a threat to employers who are faced with a sudden and very heavy increase in their payments to the fund.

It is idle now to lament the past, except that our memories of error may insure better future performance. Successive acts of the Legislature reduced contributions to the Unemployment Compensation Fund to a point where in 1953, a year of high employment, only $84,400,000 was collected in contributions against $102,400,000 paid out in claims.

As a result, in 1954—a year of difficulty—only $87,900,000 was paid in to the fund in employer contributions while $260,800,000 was paid out of it in claims.

I am sure we are now convinced that we should never again be so improvident.

Prompt action is now necessary to prevent the weekly unemployment compensation payments from falling from $30.00 to $20.00. That is what existing law will soon require. All of us are aware that $20.00 weekly does not put much food on the table in these times.

Prompt action is equally necessary to prevent the payments by employers from rising to a flat 2.7 per cent of the taxable wages of their employes. This too is what existing law will soon require. I believe we are agreed that it is presently too heavy a burden for industry in this state to absorb, without jeopardizing our common efforts to add to employment opportunities in Pennsylvania.

Amendments to the law have been prepared by the Department of Labor and Industry and the Attorney General, approved by me, and will be introduced in the Legislature. The analysis of these amendments prepared by Secretary of Labor and Industry Torquato is appended to this message.

They will have the full support of this Administration, and I trust, the hearty acceptance of both parties in the General Assembly.

Their primary purpose is to wipe out the "peril point" provision of the existing law, and thereby protect the persons drawing unemployment compensation from a hardship reduction in their weekly payments while they likewise protect the employer from a hardship increase in his payments to the fund.

They also will include some other changes in the law which we regard as necessary and proper. The principal changes to be suggested are:

1. The present maximum unemployment compensation payment will be increased from the present $30 weekly to $35.00 weekly.

2. The benefit duration period will be extended from the present 26 weeks to 30 weeks.

3. All claimants, once declared eligible for benefits, will be entitled to the maximum benefit period of 30 weeks.

4. A contribution table for employers will be provided that will, according to present estimates, bring to the fund a contribution of $140,000,000 during 1955. The average rate of contribution will be 1.65 per cent of payroll, as against the 2.7 per cent which would be enforced under the provisions of the present law.

5. A provision for assistance to new employers in Pennsylvania by permitting them eligibility for lower contribution rates, based on experience, in one year plus, instead of the present four years.

There are other amendments, more specialized and technical in nature, that will liberalize certain benefit aspects of the law, and tighten it in regard to fraudulent claims.

In my judgment, the increase in benefits and the extension of the time period on which they are paid is necessary in order to recognize today's living costs and to restore a reasonable ratio between earnings and benefits.

The increase in employer payments is as moderate as it can be under our circumstances, in which we are forced to make amends for the errors of past years. It does not fully put the fund on a basis where the annual contributions will balance expected benefit payments during 1955. Admittedly, we are taking some degree of calculated risk against the future, so that we may avoid an increase in the rate of contribution which might prove of diminishing return when the whole economy of Pennsylvania is considered.

It is my belief that the proposed amendments will give Pennsylvania a revised system of unemployment compensation which will compare favorably with that of any progressive state. It is my hope that the members of the Legislature will consider them fully, approve them in substance, and send them to me for my approval and enactment into law.

In a sense, of course, it is tragic in terms of human lives, of homes and families, and in terms of our society, that unemployment compensation should be a major issue.

We should be acting to reduce unemployment itself; to stop this wastage of our best resource, human energy and skill.

I am sure that each of you will join with this Administration to use all of the powers of State Government to expand job opportunities in our Commonwealth. The success of our effort will determine the stress that the future will put upon our system of unemployment compensation.

GEORGE M. LEADER

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA
GOVERNOR'S OFFICE
HARRISBURG

ANALYSIS OF PROPOSED AMENDMENTS TO UNEMPLOYMENT COMPENSATION LAW ELIMINATING THE "PERIL POINT" FOR CLAIMANT BENEFITS—(Section 404 (d) and (e))

Under the present Statute, as of April 1, 1955, the maximum weekly benefit rate will be reduced from $30 to $20. The maximum duration of benefit payments will be cut from 26 weeks to 20 weeks, and the total amount of compensation payable to an unemployed worker will be reduced from $780.00 to $400.00. Apart from the great unfairness of this measure from the viewpoint of the unemployed and their families, the imposition of these cuts in benefit disbursements will adversely affect the State's economy and blunt the recovery objectives of the whole wage insurance program. No other State has a similar provision of equal harshness. The bill submitted eliminates this unrealistic standard.

ELIMINATING THE "PERIL POINT" FOR EMPLOYER CONTRIBUTIONS—(Section 301 (c))

Under the present Statute, employer contribution rates will be increased slightly for the first calendar quarter (January, February and March, 1955), but commencing with the second quarter, will all be raised to a flat 2.7%. The 2.7% rate would bring in an estimated $230,000,000 for 1955, less several millions of dollars for the lower rate during the first quarter. To avoid inflicting this heavy burden on Pennsylvania industry, this bill contains a contribution table which, it is estimated, will provide $140,000,000 for 1955. The average contribution rate for 1955 would thus be 1.65%, a rate which desipte the rise over last year, still compares favorably with those in other nearby and similar industrial States.

During the prosperous post-war years, when the Pennsylvania Unemployment Compensation Fund should have been built up for possible periods of protracted unemployment, the policy instead was to keep the contribution rate low and even to reduce it to a point that has proved to be unsafe and unsound. The attached tables, marked "Exhibit A" and "Exhibit B" reflect the story and the developing predicament of Pennsylvania's Unemployment Compensation Fund during the post-war years. The tables show that other States, through action taken, have maintained a sounder financial status for their funds, despite the stress of the last sixteen months of unemployment.

It is not possible, nevertheless, to repair the damage of these years in one year. Therefore, the Administration is requesting the enactment of a contribution table which, while it will bring an estimated $140,000,000 will still be substantially less than estimated expenditures for the year. This is being done in the belief and hope that 1955 and 1956 will show improvement in employment, raise a larger sum of money in contributions and, more important, decrease in unemployment, thus reducing the drain on the Fund. It is felt, too, that a higher contribution rate might discourage expansion of long-established Pennsylvania industries and tend to deter new industries from locating in the Commonwealth. For all of these reasons, therefore, the submitted contribution table is presented to the Legislature for approval and enactment.

There is provision also for placing the computation of contribution rates on an annual, instead of quarterly, basis. Quarterly redeterminations are not feasible administratively and unsettling to employers planning annual expenditures.

RAISING BENEFIT MAXIMUM TO $35 PER WEEK—(Section 404)

It is recommended that the present maximum of $30 per week be raised to $35 per week (a) to keep pace with the increased cost-of-living which unemployment benefits are intended to meet and (b) to restore a proper ratio between average earnings and benefit rates. There have been no increases in benefits in this area in Pennsylvania since 1951. Recent developments in these fields have left the Pennsylvania Law behind in this matter.

EXTENSION OF DURATION OF BENEFITS TO A UNIFORM 30 WEEKS—(Section 404)

The Pennsylvania Law presently provides for a minimum of 13 weeks and a maximum of 26 weeks. The recommendation of the Administration is that this be changed to uniform duration of 30 weeks for all eligible claimants. Many of the States have enacted uniform duration of benefits provisions and Pennsylvania has been lagging behind in this particular. The extension to 30 weeks will affect a minority of claimants but benefit those hardest hit. Throughout large areas of Pennsylvania, we now see claimants who have exhausted their benefit rights and are turning to the Department of Public Assistance. Covered workers should be able to obtain more help from the insurance fund and the program which is designed to protect them.

FULL-TIME WEEKLY WAGE—(Section 404)

During the recent spells of short-time employment, a small but increasingly substantial number of claimants have found themselves measured for unemployment benefits in accordance with their short-time earnings. The Bill proposes that the weekly benefits rate for such claimants be measured instead by their full-time weekly wage or earnings in high quarter, whichever is the greater. In effect, this will place the Unemployment Compensation Law within the purview of the Romig decision, well known in Pennsylvania Workmen's Compensation Law and characteristic of the early years of the Pennsylvania Unemployment Compensation Law.

PROVISIONS REGARDING ELIGIBILITY OF PREGNANT CLAIMANTS—(Section 401 (d))

Until the last Session of the Legislature, female claimants who were pregnant remained eligible so long as they established their ability to work in their usual or similar occupations. In 1953, the Legislature established an arbitrary rule denying benefits to claimants after the sixth month of pregnancy and for 30 days after confinement, irrespective of ability to work. This provision will eliminate the 1953 enactment inequity and return such claimants to eligibility if they are able and available to work.

PERSONAL GOOD CAUSE—(Section 402 (b))

For many years the Pennsylvania Law allowed benefits to be paid to claimants who found it necessary to leave employment voluntarily for reasons of good personal cause. These usually involved health or family circumstances. Several years ago, the Legislature changed this provision by limiting personal good cause to that good cause which was attributable to employment. The mother with children to care for who had been able to work but due t a family problem now needed to suspend employment was indefinitely disqualified. This type of harshness is eliminated in the draft Bill and allows such a person to become eligible for benefits so long as she is able and available for work and can meet the other tests of eligibility. No cost will accrue to her employer for benefits paid to her since the Act provides for relief of charges to an employer for workers who voluntarily leave employment for personal cause.

VACATION SHUT-DOWN—(Section 4 (u))

Under the present Law and judicial opinions, claimants who are unemployed by reason of a plant shut-down, and who did not receive vacation money from their employers because of lack of seniority, are nevertheless denied benefits if such plant's shut-down was pursuant to a union-management agreement. This is an inequity which is not logical. The submitted Bill proposes the restoration of eligibility to such claimants who meet the other tests of the Law provided they are uncompensated by their employer. This amendment will bring Pennsylvania's Law into line with judicial opinions set forth in other industrial States.

AMENDMENT TO SECTION 4 (w) OF THE LAW TO INCLUDE THE $6 EXEMPTION ON EARNINGS

This provision is necessary to correct a typographical error in the 1953 amendments.

EQUITABLE DISTRIBUTION OF COVERED WAGES IN COMPUTING ELIGIBILITY—(Section 4 (x))

Under the present provisions of the Law, claimants' wages, as soon as earned, are credited to applicable quarter. This has created many situations wherein a claimant who earned $5,000 in a base year was nevertheless credited only with $3,000 during the first 6 or 9 months of that base year. In a succeeding benefit year, the inability to consider wages earned in the latter part of the year deprived many such claimants of eligibility status or reduced their benefits substantially. This provision of the Act will eliminate that inequity.

STRENGTHENING FRAUD PROVISIONS—(Sections 201, 801 and 804)

The penal provisions for fraudulent claims against the Unemployment Compensation Fund are both extended and increased in severity as part of the Administration's program to keep the Fund available only for those truly eligible. Stepped-up action against fraudulent claimants is being initiated by the Administration and these provisions will assist in that objective.

REDUCED PERIOD REQUIRED FOR NEW EMPLOYERS IN DETERMINING ELIGIBILITY FOR REDUCED RATES—(Section 301)

Under the present Law it is legally impossible for a new employer to receive a reduced rate during the first four years of his operations. This requirement is unnecessarily harsh and tends to discourage the starting of new enterprises. In recognition of this fact, the 83rd Congress modified the Federal requirement of three years employment experience by authorizing the States to extend experience rating tax reductions to new employers after they have had at least one year of such experience under the State Law.

It should be noted that the new Federal Law does not oblige but merely permits a State to lower its rate eligibility requirements. We would be remiss in discharging our responsibilities to the employers in the Commonwealth if we failed to take advantage of this Federal Amendment. Accordingly, we recommend the easing of time requirements which a new employer must meet to establish an employment experience entitling him to a reduced contribution rate commensurate with the risk incident to his operations.

Proposed liberalization of eligibility requirements in our present Law would result in the following advantages:

1. Encourage new industry by reducing contribution rates after one year of employment experience.

2. Place Pennsylvania employers in a more favorable competitive situation with employers in other States, and

3. Promote fuller employment for the citizens of the Commonwealth.

HOUSE MESSAGES

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION REFERRED TO COMMITTEE

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced, presented extract from the Journal of the House of Representatives which was twice read as follows, and referred to the Committee on Constitutional Changes and Federal Relations:

PRESIDENT AND MRS. EISENHOWER WELCOMED AS VOTING RESIDENTS OF ADAMS COUNTY

In the House of Representatives, January 24, 1955.

The President of the United States and his gracious wife, Mr. and Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower, have purchased a farm in scenic Adams County and have expressed the desire of making it their home in the near future; therefore be it

Resolved (the Senate concurring), That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania welcome President and Mrs. Eisenhower to become voting residents of Adams County; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted to the President of the United States.

HOUSE CONCURS IN SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

He also informed the Senate that the House has concurred in resolution from the Senate as follows:

URGING THE JONES AND LAUGHLIN STEEL COMPANY TO RECONSIDER THE FURLOUGHING OF CERTAIN EMPLOYES

In the Senate, February 1, 1955.

The furloughing of eight hundred men by the Jones and Laughlin Steel Corporation at Vesta Mines, Numbers 4 and 5, and Shannopin Mine, has left these men and their families in an economic and financial position which is so acute that they cannot maintain the minimum standards of healthful living.

The placing of these men on an economic and financial plane comparable to that of their neighbors is a just and honorable act which deserves the attention of their employer, their union, and of all right thinking members of their community.

The sharing of employment in times of duress on a just and equitable basis is an act which should be performed in the American tradition of fair play and equal opportunity for all; therefore be it

Resolved, (the House concurring), That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania urges the Jones and Laughlin Steel Corporation to determine upon and adopt, with the cooperation and approval of the United Mine Workers of America, representing their employes in these mines, on equitable and just share the work plan involving presently employed and furloughed employes at Vesta Mines, Numbers 4 and 5, and Shannopin Mine; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution shall be forwarded to the President and Board of Directors of the Jones and Laughlin Steel Corporation and to the President of the local union of the United Mine Workers of America, representing workers at the mines referred to by this resolution.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. SILVERT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, the bill I am about to present relates to juvenile delinquency. It is a matter of common knowledge that juvenile crime has been on the increase in the State of Pennsylvania, in the Country and I am more familiar with it in Philadelphia.

Mr. President, juvenile crimes extend from willful destruction, and unlawful destruction of property and petty thefts, to highway robbery, holdup by force of arms and even murder. We know that there is no single measure that can be taken that will decrease the present rise in juvenile crime.

In the city of Philadelphia, there was recently enacted a curfew law. The Mayor, in signing the curfew law; stated that he signed it with reservations because he fully realized that the curfew law, prohibiting youngsters under the age of seventeen to be out on the streets after ten-thirty, p m., would harrass and punish a great many youngsters who are law-abiding and who are greatly in excess of those who commit juvenile delinquencies.

Nevertheless, Mr. President, the Mayor signed the bill. There are a great many people who feel that our State laws might be amended so as to help in this problem. To the average person, it does not make sense that a juvenile, sixteen or seventeen years of age who has committed and has a record of commission of holdups and highway robberies, even up to murder, should be given the same treatment as a juvenile coming in on his first offense.

Mr. President, the bill I am about to propose reduces the juvenile age from eighteen to seventeen and in cases where a juvenile, sixteen years of age, has a record of commission of crime after the age of fourteen, then even at the age of sixteen—between 16 and 17—he is no longer to be classified as a juvenile offender.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Messrs. SILVERT, WEINER and DONOLOW read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 72, entitled:

GEORGE M. LEADER.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. HALUSKA asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President and gentlemen of the Senate, I have appeared on the floor of the Senate here now for twenty-one years and have taken an active part in many pieces of legislation. However, I have never appeared in a more important role and never have I had a more difficult task to put forth my story to my colleagues, to the people of Pennsylvania and, in fact, to the people of the entire Universe.

Mr. President, being a lay person, I realize that there are two strikes on me before I start, because people are prone not to pay much attention to a person unless he has a degree, especially on the subject that I am going to discuss. Believe me, gentlemen, I am going to endeavor to give you a true picture, and what I say will come right from my heart. The mistakes that I may make this afternoon will come from my mind not from my heart, I assure you.

Mr. President, I am going to discuss the Nation's most controversial issue; that is, cancer. I shall endeavor to tell my colleagues and the people of this entire Commonwealth that an answer to cancer has been found. I shall endeavor to show the conspiracy that has been in full bloom in the American Medical Association against the Hoxsey Cancer Clinic at Dallas, Texas. I shall endeavor to show the thunder of groups who have an interest only in themselves. They are not interested in finding an answer to this great problem.

Mr. President, according to the figures released to the United States Government today, one out of every four persons that dies, dies of cancer. Every two minutes, one life is snuffed out by this dreadful killer. Despite that, the American Medical Association, the American Cancer Society, and the Damon Runyon Fund have stood still for a quarter of a century, trodding upon anyone who may come forth with a cure, a thought or an idea, if not approved by them.

Mr. President, I have a deep interest in this subject. I have devoted the best years of my life—I doubt if any layman has devoted so much time and research to obtain some knowledge of this dreadful killer. Gentlemen, I have suffered the agony and pain. It is not a matter of standing here and pretending that I know something about cancer or making a speech. I have suffered the heartaches that I hope no man will suffer. I have seen my mother go to an early grave because medical science had no answer when she was afflicted with cancer. That was bad enough. Then, I prayed with my wife and family that some day the Lord may give us a boy. In 1936, on Christmas morning, that little child came. Mr. President, he was born with a cancer growth upon his neck. While he lived only eight years, it was a short time, but a mighty mighty long eight years to a father and mother to watch their little child come up and have cancer growing daily, weekly, monthly.

Mr. President, after consulting the best doctors in the land, taking every precaution known to medical science, I followed their suggestions. I took him down to a great hospital in Philadelphia and that little boy told me, he said, "Daddy, if they cut me, I'll die." The minute the knife struck that cancer, gentlemen, he was dead. That is enough for any one man to endure in life, but to stop here, as most of you know, I have been the administrator of an A. M. A. approved hospital. During that time, I watched case after case and saw many of my schoolmates go to the great beyond because cancer could not be cured. So, several years ago my family physician, and a good physician, walked into my office at the hospital, choked up with tears in his eyes, and said, "John, the lightning has struck again." I said, "What do you mean?" He said, "Your sister, your baby sister, is doomed to die because she has cancer. It started in her cervix, and carried on throughout her entire body. We have taken biopsy after biopsy to make certain we were right because we know how close it is to you. We have no answer. But, her husband is a United Mine Worker, what you would call the area officer, and maybe the United Mine Workers may be able to have at their command someone who may know more than we know, although I don't think, and my colleagues don't think, that any living person can help your sister."

Mr. President, at that time, Doctor Sterling Brinkley, an outstanding young man, was in charge of the Johnstown Area Office. I called him. He said, "Senator, because of your position in the hospital, your public position, your interest in cancer and what you have gone through, I shall endeavor to get the best man possible in the Country. Would you be willing to bring her to Pittsburgh, from the Miners' Hospital at Spangler?" I said, "I will try anything."

Mr. President, we sent this young girl down to Pittsburgh in an ambulance, and prepared her for the operation. Experts came in and they made an incision, and sewed her up and said, "Nothing can be done." They used the vulgar words, "She is rotten inside." They said, "We will give her morphine and let her die a painless death." Well, that was sad because she had four kiddies and, as I have said, I have gone through that agony and pain for years.

In the meantime, I have been watching every move, those made by Senator Elmer Thomas back in 1946 in the United States Congress, when he endeavored to have an investigation made of the Hoxsey Cancer Clinic. I read the stories about Doctor Hoxsey; I read the opposition by the American Medical Association and, like many another American, I was skeptical. However, when I knew my sister had to die, I did just what you would do. I grasped for that last straw, Mr. President. I picked up the telephone and called Dallas, Texas. I asked for Doctor Hoxsey. I told my story. I read the pathological report. The first words he said were, "Senator, I am not a God. I cannot do the impossible. I am only human, but I have cured thousands of people. Unfortunately, they come here when they are ready to take their last breath. I figure you will save yourself money to follow the doctor's advice and let her die a natural death." I said, "Doctor Hoxsey, I am only asking if you have an ambulance at the airport. Do what you can. If she does not survive the trip, we cannot hold it against you. If you prolong her life for a month or two months, it will be a miracle. But, please, take her as a patient."

Mr. President, I have here the pathological reports, signed by Doctor Brumbaugh, who was the Pathologist for the Miners' Hospital at Spangler, Pennsylvania, and Mercy Hospital, in Altoona, an outstanding pathologist. They show her case definitely, and my sister went down to Texas and, Mr. President, while it may be somewhat unusual, but with your permission and the permission of my colleagues, I want to point out that my sister, the girl who had to die, who had no chance to live, for whom medical science said that there was no help is here today. I ask her to rise so that you can look at her today after the Hoxsey treatment. I thank God every day that I read the Legislative Journal from Congress, where I learned that someone else is interested.

(Mrs. Verne Haluska Kielbowick arose.)

Mr. HALUSKA. Throughout that time, Mr. President, I was writing articles and I will admit in small weekly papers, trying to keep my constituents back home informed of what goes on in Harrisburg and giving them my opinions on life, as any public-minded citizen would do. This happens to be my twenty-first year. I edited the column entitled, "As I See It."

So, Mr. President, after I saw my sister recovering and, working in a hospital which was approved by the A.M.A., I came to the climax of my life. Should I tell the world about this and lose my job and be persecuted and prosecuted? Or, should I lack that courage and hold this job? I talked with members of my family and friends, and most of them said, "John, you were not brought up to be a crusader or a reformer You cannot fight a monopoly They will persecute you" I took their advice, but day after day I was haunted I was going back to the hospital and seeing people dying every day. So, I made up my mind that I would tell the people through my column just what I had discovered.

That was the beginning, Mr. President. However, fortunately, when I wrote that, the Cambria County Medical Association—and I hold here a copy of the headline, "Cambria Medical Society Backs Sen. Haluska's Stand." I was the happiest man in the world because a group of over 200 good doctors called a meeting and they wrote to Senator Langer—the contents are here and he gave it to every newspaper—stating that a great discovery was apparently found, asking him, as Chairman of the Judiciary Committee, to have an investigation of this treatment and if what I have found back home has really taken place, this treatment should be placed in every hospital in the Nation. That was a stand that made my heart feel good.

Within three days time, the big arm from Chicago reached into Cambria County. The A.M.A. came in and called a meeting, called our boards in and asked them, "Who gave you permission to call a meeting? Why did you fellows go on record as asking for an investigation? Don't you men know that Hoxsey is the greatest enemy we have? We have been in court now for a quarter of a century, time in and time out. He is a charlatan; he is a quack. Give that man a chance and he will spread throughout the Country. He will do us harm. Now, we know you cannot back down politely, but from now on, keep quiet."

Mr. President, I kept on prodding the Cambria County Medical Society, and then I came out in my article and I asked that the Society be fair to humanity by picking three of the best doctors at their command, be they from Cambria County, or from the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in its entirety or the Nation. I offered in my column to have them drive down to Texas with me, and I would pay their expenses in toto. I asked the newspaper reporters and I offered to pay their expenses to go down with me and we would investigate. We shall seek pathological reports, not made up by Doctor Hoxsey, but reports made out by Mayo Brothers, Cleveland Clinic, John Hopkins, Gotham Hospital, a report by Terrell's

Laboratories, Scott and White, all America's famous laboratories and institutions. I said, "let's call the patients in. Doctor Hoxsey has agreed to do that. Gentlemen, I will pay your expenses." They said, "We would like to go down, but we are not allowed. We don't believe he has anything."

Mr. President, one day I got a letter from a doctor in Cleveland. To be specific, I shall give you his name, Doctor H. B. Mueller, Cleveland, Ohio, M. D.; University of Gottingen, in Germany; Instructor of Internal Medicine, University of Michigan. He said, "We have taken all the abuse we are going to take from you cheap politicians back there in Pennsylvania. We are reading your articles and people elect you into offices who condemn our therapy. You pretend to know something about cancer. Seven of us are going down to Dallas, Texas, and we want you to be there and be sure you are there." This was April 8th, 9th, 10th, 11th and 12th of last year.

Mr. President, I went down with my wife and, lo and behold, the Cambria County Medical Society said, "We shall send an M. D. down with you, a chief surgeon, Doctor Benjamin F. Bowers, of Ebensburg, Pennsylvania, and a newspaper reporter by the name of McDevitt. We shall see what this man, Hoxsey, has."

When I arrived, Mr. President, the seven M. D.'s were in the clinic and refused to shake hands with me. I was not in their category. I was that cheap politician who was calling their hand. But, Mr. President, Doctor Hoxsey, in the meantime, when these men asked for the investigation, asked them how long they would stay and how many patients they would see. They said they would see fifteen or twenty cases that had been diagnosed by some outstanding institution. Doctor Hoxsey said that he would give them thirty-five of the Nation's outstanding cases, internal and external, men and women who were told that they would have to die. They were not told that by Doctor Hoxsey, but by medical science, men of great authority.

So, Mr. President, we sent this telegram to the following people, hoping they would take part once and for all in either closing this man down if he is a quack or, for God's sake, let him benefit the people of this Country. He was not hiding; he was not moving. He sent this telegram to Doctor J. R. Heller, National Cancer Institute, Maryland; John Teeter, Damon Runyon Cancer Fund, New York; Doctor Cameron, Medical Director, American Cancer Society; Doctor Leonard Sheelee, United States Surgeon General; and Oliver Fields, Attorney for the American Medical Association. The telegram reads as follows:

"Thirty-five pathological proven cases of cures, internal and external, of cancer will be presented before a jury of seven M. D.'s from all over the Nation at Hoxsey Cancer Clinic, Dallas, Texas, April 10, 11, 12, 1954. You are invited to attend or send representatives. (s) Dr. Harry M. Hoxsey."

There, my friends, for the first time since this controversy has been in existence, we had seven outstanding doctors who took it upon themselves to persecute me because of my radical stories and Doctor Hoxsey, in addition thereto, invited these outstanding people. Doctor Hoxsey said, "Let's find out the truth. Let's see what it is all about. If I am aquack, you men will know it. Go back home and tell the world." What could be more fair?

Well, Mr. President, they refused. However, three other doctors came into the picture. As a matter of record, I want to read their names. You may know some of them, and you may know where they graduated and where they live. Doctor Hans Kalm, Aiken, South Carolina, graduated from State University of Helsinki, Finland, and finished State University with a Ph.D.; Doctor H. B. Mueller, Cleveland, Ohio, University of Gottingen, Germany, Instructor of Internal Medicine, University of Michigan, Specialist, Internal Medicine and Cancer Research; Doctor R. C. Bowie, Fort Morgan, Colorado, M. D., University of Michigan, President, American Institute Homeopathy and President of Pan-American Homeopathic Congress, Specialist in Homeopathy; Doctor E. E. Loffler, Spokane, Washington, M. D., University of Nashville, Specialist in Internal Medicine and Surgery; Doctor S. Edgar Bond, Richmond, Indiana, B. L., College Earlham, Richmond, Indiana, M. D., Physio Medical School, Fellow of the Royal Academy of Spain, and Specialist in Internal Medicine; Doctor Willard G. Palmer, Seattle, Washington, M. D., Hahneman Medical College, Philadelphia; Doctor Benjamin F. Bowers, Ebensburg, Cambria County, Pennsylvania, M. D., Temple University, Philadelphia; Doctor A. C. Timbs, Knoxville, Tennessee, graduate of Memphis Hospital Medical College (now called University of of Tennessee); Doctor Frederick H. Thurston, Boise, Idaho, Pacific Medical School, Los Angeles, Osteopathic Physician and Surgeon, Post-graduate work, Chicago College of Osteopathy; and Doctor Roy O. Yeatts, Hardin, Montana, M. D., College of Medical Evangelists (Loma Linda and Los Angeles, California).

Mr. President and Members of the Senate, these were ten of the outstanding doctors in the country who wanted to know the truth, despite the fact that the American Cancer Society, the Damon Runyon Fund and the A.M.A. refused to attend. These are the men who refused to talk to me.

After three days, Mr. President, of checking patient after patient, checking their pathological reports at Mayo and other institutions, talking to the patients, making examinations, they issued a statement, which I placed on each Senator's desk just the other day, approving the Hoxsey method, and stating that they were amazed at the discovery and now are ready to practice the Hoxsey method, and thanking me from the bottom of their hearts for those radical statements I wrote. Today I received mail from all of them, and every one of them wishing me well, offering me their help and offering to testify in any court, any place, to tell the American people that the Hoxsey method for treating cancer, in their opinion, is the most advanced in this world. Who else agrees with these people and who disagrees?

Mr. President, I think we all fear the word "cancer." I have taken the position definitely, and I defy any contradiction regardless of what the A.M.A. may say, that the method they call approved, which is medical surgery, deep therapy treatment and radium, has never cured a case of cancer in the history of man.

This carnage should be stopped. They have burned holes in human bodies, a burning hell and the feeling of an electric chair. They know down in their hearts that they never have cured a case of cancer with the so-called approved method. Mr. President, I will debate the question sincerely with any person, any pathologist, with any doctor. Results speak for themselves.

Mr. President, do I stand alone? I have for a great many months. Do I stand alone, today, in making another statement, Mr. President? Permit me to read a statement by one of America's outstanding cancer specialists. Now please understand, I am not opposed to doctors. Lord knows, we need doctors and more of them. With as many complications as are found in the human body, gentlemen, I am not one to say that I am against M. D.'s. We need M. D.'s and D. O.'s and other forms of treatment, and we need many, many more. However, when it comes to treating cancer, I tell them right on this spot here, they are ruining the lives of the American public and sending cancer patients to an early grave, suffering agony and pain.

Mr. President, let me read a report which has been hidden for some time. It is very interesting, gentlemen. It has been hidden in the records of Washington. Under Senator Pepper's Committee, in 1946, one hundred million dollars was spent to determine the truth of the therapy used by the American Medical Association in surgery, deep therapy and radium. Doctor George Miley, of Chicago, and Doctor Stanley Reimann, of Philadelphia, were given the task of going back to Congress and telling them, partially, what they had found. I will give you a little of Doctor Miley's background.

Doctor Miley was born in Chicago, 1907; graduated from the Chicago Latin School, 1923; graduated with B.A. from Yale University in 1927; from Northwestern Medical School, 1932; interned at Chicago Memorial Hospital in 1932 and 1933; University of Vienna Postgraduate Medical School, 1933, 1934, following which he visited hospitals in India, China and Japan He is a Fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science. He holds a National Board Certificate, and since 1945 he has been Medical Director of the Gotham Hospital, New York.

The report of Doctor Miley and Doctor Stanley Reimann to Congress on Senate Bill 1875, 79th Congress, on July 1, 2, 3, 1946, read as follows. This is a bona fide report by two of the Nation's outstanding cancer specialists.

"Dr. Reimann's report on cancer cases in Pennsylvania over a long period of time showed that those who received no treatment lived a longer period than those who received surgery, radium or X-ray." The report further states: "The survey also showed that following the use of radium and X-ray, much more harm than good was done to the average cancer patient."

Do you believe them, Mr. President? They are renown specialists, and yet they continue burning holes in humanity.

Mr. President, who else comes out now and takes the position that the American Medical Association is wrong? Dr. Warren H. Lewis, former professor at Johns Hopkins Medical School, said:

"We might as well face the fact that as yet we know little of the cause of cancer. Radium has been a great disappointment." Radium is a big name in medicine. When I said it in my articles why, naturally, the people had no right to believe me.

Mr. President, Dr. C. Everett Field, Director of the Radium Institute of New York, said:

"Blindly, we have been attacking cancer in its advanced stage with surgical effort, only to find prompt recurrence after removal." This is another big name in medicine.

Mr. President, Dr. W. A. Dewey, former professor of medicine at the University of Michigan, observed:

"In a practice of nearly 45 years, I have yet to see a single case of cancer, save a few semi-malignant epitheliomata, cured by surgery, X-ray or radium."

Mr. President, we have close to our great Commonwealth the Cleveland Clinic, a place many of us look forward to at a time of illness, to be diagnosed and examined. At that clinic we have an outstanding doctor in charge, Dr. George Crile, Jr. Most all of us know of Dr. George Crile, Jr., and he certainly is no quack. What did he say recently at a convention? I quote an article from the Cleveland Press, by Don Dunham, Medical Writer:

"CRILE HITS PROMISCUOUS CANCER OPERATIONS

"Dr. George Crile, Jr., noted Cleveland Clinic surgeon, charged today that:

"OPERATIONS on certain kinds of highly malignant tumors do more harm than good.

"A HANDFUL of top American surgeons are mutilating some cancer patients in attempting the impossible. They should be called to account by their fellow surgeons.

"EVEN BIOPSY (the taking of a small section of a tumor for laboratory testing for malignancy) when not carefully planned, may turn a low-grade cancer into an incurable one. Mild thyroid cancers with which a patient may live in comfort for 30 years may be made devastatingly deadly if cut into.

"He made these charges before the select group of physicians and surgeons at the Inter-State Post Graduate Medical Assn. of North America, convening today at Minneapolis.

"OFTEN LIKE INFECTION

"Dr. Crile said that cancer sometimes acts like a strep infection. It may remain hemmed in and quiet or it may be let loose into the blood stream by operation with terrible results.

"Dr. Crile asserted that even early diagnosis and early operation on 'a few highly malignant cancers' are of questionable value.

"He emphasized that 'these remarks on an early diagnosis do not imply that there is no advantage in early treatment of cancers of low malignancy.' He added that these can be cured by simple operations and without deformity.

" 'Great progress has been made in treatment of certain cancers of the neck and head and cervix,' Dr. Crile said, explaining that these cancers are responsive to radical surgery.

"Despite statistical evidence that extending the field of operation will not help, some surgeons now are urging and doing a supra-radical operation for breast cancer, removing more and more tissue, Dr. Crile said.

"These supra-radical surgical attempts to do the impossible, Dr. Crile said, may be performed in specialized hospitals by masters of surgery, in a philosophy of 'anything is justified.' Some of these surgeons, he said, resort to such surgery even when the cancers have been documented as incurable.

" 'The lives of these patients are shortened. They succumb in pain, X' Dr. Crile declared. 'Fear of cancer should not be exploited and surgeons should not subject their patients to useless operations in cancer's name.'

"Dr. Crile told the speaker of the evening, Dr. Cornelius P. Rhoads, scientific director of Memorial Hospital for Cancer and Allied Diseases and noted researcher at Sloan-Kettering Institute, New York, that one noted surgeon at Memorial Hospital practices this type of surgery."

Gentleman, those are fighting words by a doctor.

Again referring to the same article, it goes on to state:

"Dr. Rhoads said he had heard such charges. Other physicians said they understood the charge had been put before the hospital trustees.

"In his formal talk, Dr. Rhoads agreed that 'the limits of radical cancer surgery probably have been reached.' "

You might say, gentlemen, why bring this up here? No doubt that is what is running through your minds, and, believe me, I certainly appreciate the kindness you have shown me by listening to me. No doubt, by this time, you are saying, "Well, what have we to do with this?" Because of my interest, Mr. President, believe me, in suffering humanity, I have asked Dr. Hoxsey to try to establish a clinic in Pennsylvania. When I was down in Texas, time in and time out, at Dr. Hoxsey's clinic, I thought I was at a county fair because you cannot get near the place. Planes from Brazil, Germany, Australia, and from all over the Nation are flown here. One day we counted thirty-seven different license plates from this great United States of ours. People were lined up on the porch and out on the lawn, hoping to be waited upon. I know it is impossible to treat them all.

Mr. President, through being a previous hospital administrator, I know that many, many people in Pennsylvania are dying of cancer. So, I said, "I suppose you realize by now that I have taken a terrible beating from the press, radio, television and the public, because I believe in a principle. I do not care a bit what they say about me. I am only interested in one thing. Could you, and would you, consider establishing a cancer clinic in Pennsylvania?" He said, "Senator, for what you have gone through, you tell me where you want it, when you want it and your wish will be fulfilled. If any man is so interested in humanity, how could I say no?"

Fortunately for Dr. Hoxsey, Mr. President, and he is in this Chamber and I shall introduce him, which may embarrass him, and I know what I am talking about, he is a multi-multi-millionaire, out of my category entirely. Money is no object to him. Dr. Hoxsey is one of these red-blooded Indians, Indian blood running through his veins, who inherited his treatment from his father and grandfather, and because he made a promise to his dying father that he would continue treating humanity at any cost, he is doing so today. He made no money in the clinic, but the Lord has been very good to him as a manufacturer and drug store operator, with oil wells throughout the country. He has made millions and millions, and he is pouring it back in for the sake of people like myself and yourself.

So, he said, "Senator, if you want the clinic in Pennsylvania, name it." While I live in Patton, Pennsylvania, I decided to put it on the main line of train service, and we are setting up the Hoxsey Cancer Clinic at Portage, Cambria County, Pennsylvania, a little way between Altoona and Johnstown, to take care of the people of the eastern seaboard.

Already, Mr. President, the State Board of Nurse Examiners of this great Commonwealth has issued notice that if a registered nurse should dare to work in that clinic, she shall have her degree removed. You gentlemen have a cause to fight for when a group of men back there are told by someone what to do when we are trying to treat suffering humanity. No one is trying to make any money, and yet a registered nurse dare not take a job in this clinic because your four years will be wasted and they will strip you of your degree. Mr. President, for that cause, I shall fight forever, and I think you will, too.

Mr. President, a doctor went on a Pittsburgh radio station and said, "We shall introduce legislation in the 1955 Session of the Legislature to stop this man from operating in Pennsylvania." Gentlemen, you will have that type of legislation, and that is why I am trying to tell you what I know, in all fairness to you gentlemen. I know you are fair, I know you are sympatheic, but without some knowledge, some preview of what has taken place, you might blindly stop this man from operating in Pennsylvania.

I could stand here, Mr. President, for hours and hours and hours and show you pathological reports, until your heart would bleed, of people who have been saved. I have here a gentleman from Erie, Pennsylvania—would my good friend, the Senator from Erie, listen to this—a Mr. Metzger. Mr. Metzger, would you kindly rise?

(Mr. Norman Metzger arose.)

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, Mr. Metzger, from Erie, Pennsylvania, had a son—talk to him, get his own story, gentlemen—who in 1945 had Hodgkin's Disease which is incurable, so said the American Medical Society, incurable! Everything that could be done for Mr. Metzger, Richard, was done by medical science. Every cent this gentleman had, he poured into the life of that son. He became limp and helpless. A young man seventeen years of age; everybody was called in. Think of a boy seventeen years of age, dying by the moment. The last recourse—this was in 1946, it started in 1945—was when the doctors told Mr. Metzger, "Nothing else can be done for your son; we have exhausted everything." Mr. Metzger said, "Well, I am going to try this man Hoxsey." The doctors frowned upon him and told him not to go there. Gentlemen, you would think they would be happy if somebody could save a boy who is dying on your doorsteps.

Mr. Metzger took that boy down to Texas, and since that time, Mr. President, he graduated from the University of Florida, and today he is a Staff Sergeant in the United States Army. I would like to have had him here, but we were unable to do so; positively cancer-free, a boy who was to die, for whom there was no hope.

Mr. President, one of the saddest stories in American History took place last August when papers throughout the Nation and throughout the world carried this picture of a little angel, a little girl five years old who had to die. There was no hope for her; the bleeding hearts of the parents trying everything. Some interested citizens of South Bend, Indiana thought the poor little girl should have an early Christmas and a birthday party, for she had only thirty days to live. All this little child wanted was a baby doll before she died. Thousands of dolls came in from sympathetic American people.

I wish you could read this story, Mr. President. With the permission of the Senate, I would like to insert it into the Legislative Journal, in order not to take up the time of my good colleagues here today by reading this article. It is the saddest story on earth. I should just like to read one portion of it, if you do not mind. When Kathy Allison was told by medical science that she had to die, the South Bend Tribune came out with this headline, "Little Kathy Anxious to 'Meet Jesus and His Angels'." Those were the headlines through the country. So the parents, with bitter hearts, talked to little Kathy and made her understand that she had to go to meet Jesus. I would like to read one other small paragraph. When the doctors talked to the Allison family, they said, "There is nothing more science can do to stop the malignancy. The child must die."

The article continues, Mr. President, as follows: Not that Kathy does not know what is happening. Her parents have told her that some day soon she will be meeting Jesus and she is anxious to see Him. But five year old girls forget easily and it often slips Kathy's mind that she won't have time to do all the things she talks about.

"But when you witness the faith with which Harry and Mabel Allison have accepted the approach of Kathy's death; when you consider the spirit of the whole family and of most of their neighbors, a spirit of resignation to God's will; when you hear Kathy proudly say, 'I'm going to meet Jesus and all His angels,' the beauty of the little girl and of her little life changes the pain and heartache, changes it into something like compassion, or something more like love."

Witness those parents, Mr. President. What would you do if that were your little Kathy, or your Kathy or my Kathy, when medical science said she must go in thirty days, so light this Christmas tree and celebrate her birthday for she will never see another one? Her father was a poor man, a plasterer. He made a living by the sweat of his brow. He was interested in his neighbors, who started a fund and bought tickets to send them down to Dallas, Texas.

Mr. President, may I have permission to show you little Kathy Allison? Kathy, come here please.

(Kathy Allison came forward.)

Mr. HALUSKA. Here, Mr. President, is that little angel who, according to medical science, had to meet the angels soon. Today, she is going to school; was X-rayed last week and was found to be cancer-free and is playing like any other normal child.

Would you sit back, gentlemen, and not do what I am doing? Here is the father weeping. Mr. Allison, will you kindly stand up? He is just a young man, the proud father of this child whom God spared.

(Mr. Harry Allison arose.)

Mr. HALUSKA. Here is a living witness to what he has gone through.

Mr. President, they still call this man a quack.

I would now like to present Doctor Drew. Doctor Drew, would you rise?

(Doctor Ira Walton Drew arose.)

Mr. HALUSKA. Doctor Drew is a former Congressman from Philadelphia, Mr. President, who has lived in Philadelphia, and is a personal friend of Doctor Hoxsey, and who will take part in the Hoxsey treatment to save humanity, but the State Board says they will not give nurses. This concerns a man who is licensed in Pennsylvania under the law.

Mr. President, pemit me now to introduce to you that great humanitarian, a man who needs a critic like I need a hole in my head; a man devoted to suffering humanity; one of the wealthiest men in our Nation;—thank God for that, he spends it for suffering humanity—the man who wants to extend himself; the man who wants to give this treatment to America; the man who, himself, has been put in jail and his beautiful wife has been put in jail because the A.M.A. said he was practicing unorthodox methods, Doctor Hoxsey. Doctor Hoxsey, will you stand up? This is Doctor Hoxsey, ladies and gentlemen, from Dallas, Texas.

(Doctor Harry M. Hoxsey arose.)

Mr. HALUSKA. I think we will be on a radio or television program tonight, Mr. Presdent. If it is still on, you will see Dr. Hoxsey and hear more about it.

Mr. President, I would like to read just a little bit from an article written by that great Methodist Minister, the man who has given all that he has to Dr. Hoxsey, the well known Dr. Gerald B. Winrod, of Kansas, who publishes The Defender Magazine. I asked Dr. Winrod, "As a minister of the gospel, why are you so interested in putting yourself out on the limb?" He wrote his own story briefly and he states, "The Hoxsey treatment, as administered by the father of the present Doctor Hoxsey, was used in the providence of God, to save my life at the age of nine." You can see why Dr. Winrod would be interested. He is no quack. Dr. Winrod today is one of the nation's outstanding ministers.

Mr. President, I will not take up your time reading the story he wrote, but he states, "In the book of Hosea, chapter 4 and verse 6, we read a statement which certainly applies here. 'My people are destroyed for lack of knowledge.'"

Now, Mr. President, I shall soon come to a close. Every known method at my command, every known method at the command of Doctor Hoxsey, has been used in asking the United States Public Health Department, the American Cancer Society, the Damon Runyon Fund and seven of the Nation's outstanding pathologists to come down to Dallas, Texas, where Doctor Hoxsey will have before them the type of patients they want to see; carcinomas, brain cancer, tongue cancer, external, internal, in people from all parts of the Country. If they want five, ten, twenty, thirty, fifty, they can see them, depending upon the time.

Time Magazine carried our story; Men's Magazine carried our story, pleading for these groups to pick seven pathologists, not Doctor Hoxsey's friends, but their friends. If Doctor Hoxsey cannot prove to them, without the shadow of a doubt, that he has found the answer to this dreadful killer, he said, "I have placed in the Hillcrest Bank of Dallas, Texas, the sum of $100,000, gentlemen; you pick your charities. You take this $100,000 and give it to your favorite charities. My clinic here is now worth one million dollars, and I shall give it to the Crippled Children's Society of America. I shall close my doors forever, but please come down and see for yourselves. Do not condemn; we do not want to pity them."

Mr. President, what is the answer? In our opinion, it is worth it. Mr. President, I have studied the Hoxsey treatment, and it has some values. I have been in close contact with that great international pathologist, Von Bremmer in Germany, and I have spent time with this great renown pathologist in America, and I say he is renown, Dr. Rhoads, from the Sloan-Kettering Clinic, and I have the highest respect for him. I have talked with these men and listened to their versions and gave them mine. They listened to my versions of this dread disease, and of all the men to whom I have talked, I publicly pay my respect to the Sloan-Kettering Foundation and their great pathologist and director, Dr. Rhoads, when he said, "Senator, I cannot approve the Hoxsey method, but neither can I condemn it. I do not know what is in it." At least he was fair. However, he said, "We are not convinced that we are on the wrong track, but when the ultimate answer comes, it will be on chemco-therapy. Incidently," he said, "that is what your friend Hoxsey believes in."

That is the treatment, gentlemen, chemco-therapy, a chemical compound that you take orally. Cancer is a disease of the blood. You may cut all the cancers you want. Go down the list of your neighbors, and they are all alike. Take a woman's breast and cut the cancer off. You have the object, but you do not have the cause. It is still there. What happens? In another month or two it is in the other breast, then her spine and her hips, and then in her lungs. Cancer has favorite spots. In the male body it has three; lungs, rectum and prostate glands. In the female, it is the cervix and breasts. Cancer, like a grass fire, goes everywhere from there.

Mr. President, they know they are not curing cancer. I am only asking you gentlemen to consider the bill that I am about to introduce dealing with this subject.

Mr. President, before I come to that, briefly, I want to warn you a little bit. I am a bit like the politician who once made a speech, and along came the wind and blew his speech away. However, I have no prepared notes, but have only referred to them for evidence. Bear with me for a minute, please. This happens to be most interesting.

Mr. President, I want to show how sympathetic the American people are when these cancer drives come on. I am sure each and every one of us has sometimes given our last dollar. I have seen piggy banks opened by men and women who wanted to give. Now you would think, Mr. President, that you give for a cause. Permit me to read for one year, a bad year, official figures of fund-raising groups and how they dispensed with their moneys. When I wrote my article, they wanted to know where I got my pipe line. These are the official figures.

In the year of 1948, we broke down seven agencies who were out knocking at our doors. The figures of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis that year, Mr. President, by subscription, by solicitation, show that they took from the American public $18,669,299, and in checking their books they account that they expended for research purposes, $2,479,617. The National Tuberculosis Association had taken in $18,665,524, and refused to report what their expenditures were for research work; American Cancer Society, $13,221,069 and spent $3,300,000; Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation had taken in $222,606 and spent nothing; American Heart Association took in $2,502,176 and spent $250,000. Down the line, these seven agencies took in $54,000,000, in round figures, and spent $5,000,000. They cannot account for $49,000,000. Yet, you and I will cheerfully sit back and help these funds and then say that we don't have time to go to Dallas, Texas, and investigate the Hoxsey Cancer Clinic.

Mr. President, I spoke of Erie and now I would like to speak of my favorite adjoining county of Blair. When I wrote the articles about my sister, newspapers from all over the State, weeklies and dailies, called and sent me letters, asking for my permission to reprint my articles. Permit me to read one from my neighboring county of Blair, The Times Tribune Company:

"Dear Sir:

"Your story in the 'Patton Courier' entitled 'As I See It,' featuring a true to life story of your sister being cured of cancer at the Hoxsey Clinic, Dallas, Texas, has interested me as a reporter.

"Our paper would like to run the story, that was printed in the Courier with your permission.

"We feel that if the Clinic can do as it has shown it can do, more people of this area and the country as a whole should be informed and especially those people that have cancer and have never heard of this Clinic should be at least given a chance for life.

"This paper is willing to print the facts and we wish you would cooperate by allowing us to use your article."

Mr. President, when I dictated my stories, I started making additional copies for the various papers, and this is one of them and the Altoona Tribune carried my stories. I did not read the name of the man who signed it. I do not want to see him fired. One day he called me and said, "Senator, could I meet you some place? I want to talk to you about your articles." We met midway between Patton and Altoona. He said, "I am sorry, but we cannot use your articles any longer." I said, "Why?" He said, "The A. M. A. called my boss and said that if we dare print one more of these stories, our national advertising, toothpaste, Listerine, and so on, would be taken out of our paper." Mr. President, that was the last of the articles.

Now, Mr. President, that is only one of them. It sounds fantastic, yet there are many many more of them.

Mr. President, what are we coming to? I would like to read a report from that great American attorney, Benedict F. Fitzgerald, Jr., who was a former prosecutor in the Department of Justice. This report was directed to Senator John W. Bricker and Members of the Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee of the United States Senate, and is a progress report on a study on the need for investigation of cancer research organizations, requested by the late Senator Charles W. Tobey. What did he say, after spending thousands and thousands of dollars with the committee? He said that the American Medical Association would rock its foundation if the American people learned the truth. After Senator Tobey died, Senator Bricker stopped the investigation.

Another phase has come into the picture, Mr. President. Here is what he writes:

"Immediately following my father's death, powerful forces in organized medicine brought pressure to bear in Washington and this important investigation was stopped, and Mr. Fitzgerald was summarily discharged. The only hope of present and prospective victims of cancer lies in a full Senate Investigation. If you will write me, I will advise of steps you can take to help accomplish such an investigation. In the meantime, I suggest that you write to your two United States Senators, quoting from portions of this report."

This was signed, "Charles W. Tobey, Jr."

Is Charles W. Tobey a quack? He was told that he had to die, but he was saved by chemo-therapy methods.

Mr. President, if it was not for embarrassment and harassment, I could name important names of Pennsylvanians, important names, who have gone to the Hoxsey Cancer Clinic. If it weren't for violating a trust, I could cite names of M. D.'s, outstanding medical doctors of Pennsylvania, who have gone down to the Hoxsey Cancer Clinic and said, "Harry, could I use a fictitious name? They will ostracize and take away most of my privileges if I do not do this." I could quote names of movie stars that we see on the screen today who were told they had to die and who were saved by the Hoxsey treatment. That should be sufficient.

Mr. President, there will be a Hoxsey Cancer Clinic open its doors in Portage, Cambria County, Pennsylvania, on March 7. It will open to treat suffering humanity. There will be an open house from the first to the seventh, and I am inviting anyone who may be interested, M. D.'s or otherwise, to check the facilities, what we have there, and what we hope to do for the people of the eastern seaboard.

Mr. President, I am only asking that this body do their part to make certain that if this man is a quack, we do not want him in Pennsylvania. Let Texas have him. If this man is doing what I told you he is doing, as I have my God to meet with outstretched arms, he should be welcomed into Pennsylvania. How can the State Board of Nurse Examiners in Public Instruction, be ready now to serve notice that we are not going to open that clinic; that you will lose your degrees? Mr. President, if there is any American blood flowing through our veins, we will stand up and be counted.

Mr. President, I could name you seventy-five doctors right off the cuff righ now who have said that they hope and pray that something is done so that they can join us. They say, "We know we are on the wrong track. We have to hide to get the Hoxsey treatment. We know we could save lives, but the A.M.A. says it has not been approved by them. If we say one word, we will lose hospital privileges." I cannot do much about that. I will talk about hospital privileges in a week or two. That is another bill I have in mind.

However, Mr. President, I certainly hope that the Members of this Senate will not sit by blindly and permit any young girl who has given the best part of her life to be a graduate nurse, and because she feels and believes and has seen members of her own family being cured, if she wants to help humanity, and see that girl's life ruined because of a few quacks down here in the State Board. I said, "quacks." It goes without saying that what I do not know about cancer will fill a thousand books. However, believe me, Mr. President, what some M. D.'s do not know will fill a library. It is time we call a halt. We should call a halt to this butchery and burning people up.

I am introducing a bill, Mr. President, asking for this body to send down to Dallas, Texas five Senators with an open mind and five House Members. Doctor Hoxsey has agreed that they should go down there at his expense. They will meet people from all parts of the world. There they can check pathological reports. No one has a monopoly on brains. Surely these men would be intelligent enough to read and check these pathological reports with Mayo, Johns Hopkins, Terrell Laboratories and so on, and talk with these patients and get their whole story, get their affidavits, interrogate them, have them examined, and take with us medical doctors who agree to go at their own expense this time. Let them take part.

Mr. President, this group of courageous men will come back then, and can just tell their own story. Just tell this Senate and tell this Commonwealth what you found. We want no gratuities; we want no favors. We only want to treat suffering humanity so that your sisters, like mine, can live; so your Kathy, like Harry's, can live; so that your son, like Mr. Metzger's, can go to college and graduate and spill his blood for American youth now, and many many others. I could give you case after case.

I have here pathological reports. I do not talk off the cuff, but I think you have heard enough. I am praying and hoping, gentlemen, that you consider this sincerely, give it your thought and kind consideration and then make sure that the Hoxsey Cancer Clinic, which will serve humanity in Pennsylvania, will have no obstacles in its path if you feel that the treatment has some therapeutic value. If you think that it has not, give your reasons for it and let America know what you found out. I want to thank you all sincerely.

In conclusion, Mr. President, I ask that the following excerpt from the Union Press-Courier be spread upon the Legislative Journal:

"Urge That Complete Investigation Be Made . . .

"Cambria Medical Society Backs Sen. Haluska's Stand.

"February 20, 1954

"Thomas A. Owens, Sr., "Editor
"Union Press-Courier,
"Patton, Pa.

"Dear Sir:

"Because of the interest and comment caused by the articles on the Hoxsey Cancer Clinic written by Senator Haluska and published in recent editions of your paper, we, of the Cambria County Medical Society, feel that, in all justice to the public whom we serve, the position of our organization, speaking for the physicians of this area, should be made known to the public. Therefore, we are requesting you to publish in your paper the enclosed copy of a letter sent by us to Senator Langer, the same correspondence to whom Senator Haluska addressed his open letter, and in which our position is stated.

"Sincerely yours,

"Cambria County
"Medical Society,
"Joseph W. Raymond M.D.
"President."

"(The Cambria County Medical Society's letter to Senator William E. Langer, follows):

"February 20, 1954

"Honorable William E. Langer,
"U. S. Senate Office Building,
"Washington, D. C.

"Dear Sir:

"During the past several weeks, there have appeared in some of this district's weekly newspapers articles written by State Senator John J. Haluska of Cambria County, Pennsylvania, in which he has made claims that the Hoxsey Clinic of Texas has successfully treated cancer. The Senator also has asked, in a letter to you, that an investigation of the 'conspiracy' by the American Medical Association against the Hoxsey Clinic be made, and that facts concerning the methods of treatment be made available to the public. Since Senator Haluska is the administrator of an accredited hospital to which several of our members are attached, and since one of the 'cures' claimed for the Hoxsey Clinic directly affects some of our members, we, of the Cambria County Medical Society, wish to make our position clear so that there can be no misunderstanding.

"The Cambria County Medical Society has gone on record as wholeheartedly endorsing Senator Haluska's proposal for an investigation of the American Medical Associations' 'conspiracy' against the Hoxsey Clinic. We have gone even further and are now asking you to make public the results of any such investigation for we are of the opinion that the question involved is of such vital importance to mankind that the public should be given a full disclosure of all the facts. If the method of treatment used by the Hoxsey Clinic is successful, as has been claimed, it is the duty of any investigating body to make available to suffering humanity the diagnostic and clinical methods used by the Hoxsey staff. Further, we believe that the method of operation of the Hoxsey Clinic should be disclosed so that, if the Hoxsey method of treatment is successful, other clinics may be set-up in other parts of the country to remove the threat of the dread killer, cancer.

"To remove the possibility that any investigation would be subjected to the charge of bias or partisanship, we would suggest, in accordance with the views of Senator Haluska, that an impartial body be assigned the task of investigating the matter fully and of making a full disclosure of the results of that investigation. We are of the opinion that, on the basis of impartiality and of qualifications, the investigation should be conducted by the U. S. Department of Public Health as soon as the necessary arrangements can be made.

"We sincerely hope that this matter will receive your prompt attention and we wish to assure you that we will render any assistance we can possibly give, not only to you, but also to any investigating body involved. We are on record as being willing to personally appear, either individually or by committee, before any investigating group, and to cooperate in every way possible in bringing out the true facts for the benefit of mankind.

"Sincerely yours,

"Cambria County
"Medical Society,
"Joseph W. Raymond M.D.
"President."

BILL INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Mr. HALUSKA read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 89, entitled:

An Act creating a committee to investigate the facilities offered and the claims for cures of cancer effected by the Hoxsey Cancer Clinic at Dallas, Texas; making an appropriation.

Which was committed to the Committee on Public Health and Welfare.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. CHAPMAN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make report from committee at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. CHAPMAN, from the Committee on Appropriations, reported as committed Senate Bill No. 28, entitled:

An Act making a deficiency appropriation to the Department of Public Assistance and providing for certain allocations therefrom for the purpose of carrying out the Public Assistance Law for the two fiscal years beginning June first, one thousand nine hundred fifty-three, and for the payment of assistance and expenses accrued or incurred prior to and remaining unpaid on May thirty-first, one thousand nine hundred fifty-three.

SENATE RESOLUTION

SENATE RULE No. 2 AMENDED

Messrs. MAHANY and DENT offered the following resolution which was twice read as follows:

In the Senate, February 7, 1955.

RULE 39 SUSPENDED

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Rule 39, which requires resolutions be referred to an appropriate committee, be suspended and the Senate do now proceed to the consideration of the resolution just read.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

It was agreed to.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

TIME OF NEXT MEETING

Mr. WHALLEY offered the following resolution, which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, February 7, 1955.

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That when the Senate adjourns this week it reconvene on Monday, February 14, 1955, at four o'clock p. m., E. S. T.; and when the House of Representatives adjourns this week it reconvene on Monday, February 14, 1955, at four-thirty o'clock p. m., E. S. T.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION REFERRED TO COMMITTEE TO INVESTIGATE BOXING

Messrs. DONOLOW, YOSKO, SILVERT, CAMIEL and HOLLAND offered the following resolution which was twice read and referred to the Committee on Law and Order:

In the Senate, February 7, 1955.

The boxing profession in Pennsylvania today is subject to a great deal of criticism by the public, and there is evidence that racketeers and crooked gamblers possess a strangle hold on the profession. Boxing is no longer limited to the few who attend the fights but is now transmitted into nearly every American household by way of television and has a strong influence upon our youth. Many fights held in Pennsylvania in the past few years are clouded with an air of suspicion. There is evidence of fraud and fixed fiights, and many of the decisions of fights recently held show the incompetence of some referees and judges. The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania is greatly in need of a code of laws to properly regulate and supervise the boxing profession; therefore be it

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur) That the President Pro Tempore of the Senate appoint three members of the Senate, the Speaker of the House of Representatives appoint three members of the House, and the Governor appoint three citizens, who together shall constitute a Boxing Investigation Committee to make a complete and thorough investigation and examination of the boxing profession; and be it further

Resolved, That the committee shall elect a chairman who shall preside over all the hearings, and a secretary who shall be in charge of notices and minutes of records pertaining to the committee. Five fembers of the committee shall constitute a quorum for the purpose of holding meetings and hearings. The three citizens appointed by the Governor shall be the only paid members of the committee itself, and their salary shall be fixed by the Governor, as he shall deem sufficient; and be it further

Resolved, That a special Deputy Attorney General shall be assigned to the committee for the purpose of taking charge of its assignment. He shall be selected by the Attorney General and be approved by the majority of the members of the committee before assuming his duties. The committee shall hire whatever further personnel is necessary, including trained investigators to carry out its assignment; and be it further

Resolved, That the committee may meet, hold hearings, take testimony and make its investigation whether the General Assembly is in session or in adjournment. It may issue subpoenas under the hand and seal of its chairman, commending any person to appear before it and to answer questions touching matters properly being inquired into by the committee and to produce such books, papers, records and documents as the committee deems necessary. Any person who wilfully neglects or refuses to testify before this committee or to produce any books, papers, records or documents shall be subject to the penalties provided by the laws of the Commonwealth in such cases. Each member of the committee shall have power to administer oaths and affirmations to witnesses appearing before the committee; and be it further

Resolved, That this committee shall be in effect for a maximum of one year from the date of appointment and may dissolve sooner if its mission is completed; and be it further

Resolved, That the committee make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations for appropriate legislation from time to time as the work progresses or to the Governor and the next session of the General Assembly

CONSIDERATION OF EXECUTIVE NOMINATIONS

Mr. WATSON asked and obtained unanimous consent for immediate consideration of the nominations reported at today's Session.

EXECUTIVE SESSION

A motion was made by Mr. WATSON and Mr. WADE.

That the Senate do now resolve itself into Executive Session, for the purpose of acting upon the nominations reported at today's Session.

Which was agreed to.

The nominations were read as follows:

Office of the Secretary of the Commonwealth,

Harrisburg, February 7, 1955.

Honorable Hiram Andrews,
Speaker of the House of Representatives
Harrisburg, Pennsylvania

Dear Mr. Speaker:

As provided by Article XVII, Section 1746, of the Election Code of Pennsylvania, I have the honor to transmit to you herewith photostatic copy of the decision of the Court of Common Pleas in the County of Luzerne, as received from the Prothonotary of said Court, in the contested election for the office of Representative in the General Assembly from the Second District of the County of Luzerne.

Very truly yours,

/s/ James A. Finnegan
Secretary of the Commonwealth

IN RE: Contest of Election for the Office of Representative in the General Assembly from the Second Legislative District of Luzerne County	)))))	IN THE COURT OF COMMON PLEAS OF LUZERNE COUNTY NO. 1379 DECEMBER TERM, 1954

Received from Olin W. Evans, Prothonotary, Luzerne County, Decision in the above entitled case.

IN RE: Contest of Election for the Office of Representative in the General Assembly from the Second Legislative District of Luzerne County	)))))	IN THE COURT OF COMMON PLEAS OF LUZERNE COUNTY NO. 1379 DECEMBER TERM, 1954

DECISION

On November 2, 1954, an election was held for the Office of Representative in the General Assembly from the Second Legislative District of Luzerne County.

The computation made by the Board of Election accredited the Republican candidate, Harry "Jerry" Butler, with 8,802 votes and his Democratic opponent, Stanley Meholchick, with 8,796 votes and, accordingly, Butler was returned the winner by a margin of six (6) votes.

On November 20, 1954, the petitioners here instituted a contest. Among various allegations of conspiracy, fraud, etc., it was charged that twenty-six (26) specific votes cast for Butler were illegal and void and should be rejected. Twenty-three (23) of these were cast in the Borough of Warrior Run and were said to be tainted by illegal assistance; three (3) were cast in Hanover Township and the complaint here goes to faulty registration. We shall consider the twenty-six (26) as in two categories and in due course will treat them in detail.

The matter came on for hearing before the undersigned. We limited contestants to the specific allegations involving the twenty-six (26) ballots and proceeded to take testimony. At the conclusion of contestants' evidence counsel for the respondent objected as to the procedure. By a decision for the Court by Valentine, P. J., handed down December 27, 1954, the hearing was continued to completion and the entire record submitted to the Court en Banc before which argument was held and briefs submitted.

The basic facts are not, it seems, in controversy.

Many of the violations charged are freely admitted but counsel for respondent contend that these are technical violations, the onus of which is primarily on the election officers. It is their position that to invalidate the votes arising out of these violations would deprive the respective electors of their franchise. This they maintain we may not do.

Counsel for contestants contend the violations are shared by both the election officers and the voters; that they go to the very foundations of honest elections; that the respective votes must be rejected.

We shall consider first the twenty-three (23) votes in Warrior Run.

In each instance here the voter was assisted by Stanley Nadwodny. Stanley Nadwodny is a political leader in the municipality; he was one of the sponsors of Butler's candidacy; on election day he worked in his behalf, and throughout the contest hearing the two were present together in Court and maintained close co-operation. There may be criticism of Nadwodny's zeal but his loyalty is above question and we have no hesitancy in concluding that these twenty-three (23) votes were cast for Butler.

What of their legality and validity?
The Constitution, Article 8, Section 4, provides:

"All elections by the citizens shall be by ballot or by such other method as may be prescribed by law: Provided That secrecy in voting be preserved."
(Underscoring supplied)

It must be conceded that the cornerstone of honest elections is secrecy in voting. A citizen voting in secret is a free man; otherwise, he is subject to pressure and, perhaps, control.

One method by which his guarantee of freedom can be defeated is the device of illegal assistance. To prevent this the Legislature has thrown safeguards around the right to assistance which are designed to aid those genuinely handicapped, protect those who are vulnerable to pressure, and deter those who would exploit the electorate.

Assistance may be had only after the voter has stated, under oath, his need for assistance and why he requires it. (1937, June 3, P. L. 1333, Art. XII, Sec. 1218; 25 P. S. Sec. 3058). An election officer who permits a voter to be accompanied into the voting machine booth when such voter has not made, under oath, the statement required, is guilty of a misdemeanor. (1937, June 3, P. L. 1333, Art. XVIII, Sec. 1831; 25 P. S. (Sec. 3531).

Not one of the twenty-three (23) voters whose votes are under consideratiton was given or took that oath. Yet each received the forbidden assistance.

The statute further provides that any person who shall go into the voting machine booth with another while voting or be present therein while another is voting, except in strict accordance with the provisions of the law shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. (1937, June 3, P. L. 1333, Art. XVIII, Sec. 1830; 25 P. S. 3530).
(Underscoring supplied)

The offending poll worker, in this case Stanley Nadwodny, did go into the machine booth with each of the twenty-three (23) voters in violation of this section of the Act.

In this connection there is a specific duty laid on the voter also. It is provided that any elector who shall allow the face of the voting machine voted by him to be seen with the apparent intention of letting it be known how he is about to vote, or does so without having made the required declaration of his disability, under oath, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. (1937, June 3, P. L. 1333, Art. XVIII, Sec. 1830; 25 P. S. Sec. 3530).

Each of the twenty-three (23) electors whose votes are under consideration ignored that duty and permitted the face of the voting machine to be seen by another in violation of this section of the Act.

It has been suggested that the provisions of the statute to which we have referred are directory only and not mandatory. With this we cannot agree. The language is clear, explicity and imperative. It admits of no qualification. It carries a penalty for failure to observe it. Such is the established rule of construction that where a legislative provision is accompanied by a penalty for the failure to observe it, the provision is mandatory. (Contested Election of Owen Cusick, 136 Pa. 459).

It has been suggested by way of extenuation of the charges made that no wilfulness has been shown, no intent to violate the Election Code. Without conceding either the truth or the materiality of that contention we must challenge its validity. The purpose to be achieved by the legislation seeking to protect the ballot is so paramount that neither wilfulness or intent is material. As the Superior Court recently said:

"The definition of illegal assistance in voting is set forth in Section 1830 of the Election Code, 25 PS 3530, which provides in part as folows: ' * any person who shall go into the voting compartment or voting machine booth with another while voting or be present therein while another is voting, or mark the ballot of another or prepare the voting machine for voting with another, except in strict accordance with the provisions of this act * shall be guilty of a misdemeanor * ' Defendant's contention raises the question: Does section 1830 make guilty knowledge an essential element of the crime of rendering illegal assistance to a voter?

"The reasons for sustaining legislation which makes certain acts crimes and punishable as such without regard to defendant's motive, intent, reasonableness or good faith, are stated to be: (1) To require a degree of diligence for the protection of the public and (2) convenience of enforcement. Both of these reasons are applicable to the question before us. As stated by the learned court below: 'Secrecy of the ballot is so ingrained in our democratic process that anyone should know he has no right inside the voting booth with another voter without express legal authority. * The restrictions upon giving assistance are in furtherance of the secrecy of the ballot. * We conclude, therefore, that it was the legislative intention not to require a guilty knowledge that the assisted voters were not qualified for assistance as a condition precedent to guilt under section 1830. ****

Commonwealth Vs. Fine, 166 Pa. Superior Ct. 109, at Pages 113 and 114).

We have then, mandatory provisions of law which were criminally violated in getting these twenty-three (23) voters into the machine. How can such votes have validity?

An outstanding legal authority in discussing these principles has answered that question in the following language:

"The purpose of statutory provisions requiring oath or declaration of the voter as to his disability or other ground for assistance as a condition precedent to the rendering of assistance is to prevent fraud at elections, and such statutory provisions have been construed as mandatory in character. Where the statute requires an oath or declaration of the voter as a mandatory condition precedent to assistance in the preparation of his ballot, ballots cast with assistance but without the prior showing by oath or declaration are invalid, and the ballot should be rejected although the election official was innocent of wrong intent in rendering the unauthorized assistance, **** "

Vol. 29 CJS, Pages 294 and 295.

There are jurisdictions which have sought to qualify this principle of interpretation or to soften its impact by holding the violation a crime but the vote valid. These represent a minority view. Pennsylvania holds to the majority view, the interpretation as quoted from the text, and this Court, by Fuller, P.J., in Re: Contested Election of Tinner, 17 Luz. Leg. Reg. 259, has adopted it:

"We cannot subscribe to the doctrine * that falsehood can create the right (i. e. assistance) or that a vote cast by the direct instrumentality of a crime can possibly preserve its virtue." (Page 260).

(Parenthesis supplied)

In formulating his conclusion the Jurist referred to, and relied on, an opinion of the Lackawanna County Courts which discusses in detail not only the principle but the policy and reason on which it is founded. That authority holds:

"It is too plain for argument that where an act is forbidden under a penalty or is made a misdemeanor punishable by fine and imprisonment, not only the act itself but whatever is dependent upon it, so far as the person who does it is concerned, is illegal. The purpose of the punishment is to deter if possible from the commission of the act, and the very fact that it is considered necessary to go this far in the attempt to prevent it, shows how subversive it is regarded of the provisions of the law which it is desired to protect. To allow the forbidden act to stand would, therefore, be to fly in the face of the law which condemns it, the person who does the act being liable to punishment and yet the act itself remaining unaggected. But it is the act that is the guilty thing, and it is this which the statute seeks to eradicate, and the law would be weak and despicable indeed if in utter disregard of it, the act, or that into which it enters, it held good notwithstanding its concededly illegal character. The two things involve such a contradiction of terms as to amount to a plain absurdity.

"The application of this to the case in hand is evident. Every voter who falsely declares that he is under a disability which requires assistance in the preparation of his ballot, violates the statute and lays ground for his own prosecution and punishment, and thereby of necessity disqualified himself as a voter, because he votes illegally. As part of the act of voting he does that which the law declares in its most positive terms he shall not do, and how with any regard for its provisions can this illegal act be accepted as of any legal force or validity? *** "

In Re Contested Election M. F. Fadden, 3 Lackawanna Legal News, 74, at pages 76 and 77.

And there are analogous decisions in our appellate courts. Under previous legislation a voter whose name was not on the registry could vote upon affidavits. In the case of In re Contested Election of Martin McDonough, 105 Pa. 488, votes were received from electors otherwise qualified but without the necessary affidavits. The Supreme Court held:

" * the election officers have no power to waive the production of the essential proofs. And the vote of such person, offered and received without the requisite affidavits, is illegal and cannot be made legal at a subsequent investigation in the courts. ****

" * He cannot lawfully vote without the proofs; they commit a crime if they receive his vote without. The law deprives no elector of his right to suffrage. If his vote be thrown out of the count because it was offered and received in violation of law, the deprivation results from his own wrongful act. * " (At Page 495).

The Pennsylvania courts have not departed from the ancient way of Biblical times. It is still the essence of wisdom that an evil tree can not bring forth good fruit.

The conclusion which flows from these discussions is inescapable. The twenty-three (23) votes specified in the petition as cast for Candidate Butler with the assistance of Nadwodny are illegal and void and we so find. They will be rejected and his total vote will be reduced by that number.

We cannot leave this phase of the matter without calling attention to the cavalier indifference with which the regulations governing assistance were generally disregarded. The Judge of Election, Soboleski, made no distinction between parties or persons. The requirements of the law were blithely ignored and all were treated alike. As a result there are an additional thirteen (13) illegal votes, (N. T. Page 89), in the tabulation - some Democratic, some Republican - but since their validity was not challenged nor their recipient identified, they are beyond the purview of this decision.

However, speaking for the entire Court, we take this occassion to condemn any and all violations of the election Code whether they be technical violations of the letter of the law or material violations of the spirit of the law. We affirm our determination to stamp them out whenever and wherever they may be brought to light.

It is appropriate in this connection to avert briefly to some other omissions that appear in the evidence and were argued extensively by counsel.

The Election Code, 1937, P. L. 1333, Art. XII, Sec. 1210; 25 P. S. 3050, provides: (a) that each elector who desires to vote shall first sign a voter's certificate for comparison with his permanent registration, or, (b) if he is unable to do so, under conditions there set out, the same shall be prepared by one of the election officers and attested by the signature of such election officers.

Of the twenty three (23) electors whose votes are under discussion one signed such certificate. The names of the other twenty-two (22) were written in their behalf by the assistor, Stanley Nadwodny, and an "X" added. These electors were said to have signed by mark. The law, however is explicit as to how the voter's certificate shall be prepared and the method adopted here is outside the statute. It is simply another violation of the Code. And it is a violation of the spirit as well as the letter of the law in view of the face there is in the testimony evidence that sixteen (16) of the twenty-three were able to sign their own names.

The Code, Art. XII, Sec. 1218, Sub Section (c); 25 P. S. Sec. 3058, provides that the judge of elections shall personally keep a record of the assisted voters, the facts which entitle them to assistance, the assistor, etc., in a book to be furnished by the County Board of Elections. This task the judge of elections in the instant case assigned to another contenting himself with signing the result.

The violation here would appear more technical in its nature. Nevertheless the purpose of the provision is important. It is one detail in the broad picture. If kept in good faith the record will correspond to the voter's certificate and the registration and by strict observance of the statutory requirements fraud will be deterred.

As a warning to election officers who might be lax observing the statute we point out that Section 1850 of the Code (1937, June 3, P. L. 1333; 25 P. S. Sec. 3550), provides a penalty for the violation of any requirement for which a penalty is not specifically set out in the particular section violated.

We have not considered each vote on its merits. Such is unnecessary to our conclusions. It would appear from the record that one attempted vote, that of a mentally retarded youth, was clearly void. The exploitation of this young man is to be deplored. It would appear that some of these electors would have been entitled to assistance upon compliance with the law. It would appear that others were physically and intellectually able to vote on their own.

Likewise as to the registrations. There are discrepancies on many of the permanent registration records of these twenty-three (23) such as unexplained alterations, amendments to provide for after acquired illiteracy, and the absence of supporting affidavits necessary for legal assistance. Much testimony was taken and argument heard. But since the invalidity of the these votes, as we have found them to be invalid, does not depend on the registration, these discrepancies are no part of this decision.

We come now to the three electors in Hanover Township. The votes of two of these, Carl Keiser and Florence Keiser, his wife, are attacked on the basis of residence. It appears that in the previous Spring the Keisers moved to a new address within the same ward and although no change was made on the registration books, they voted not only at the Primary but also at the General Election which is the subject of the present litigation.

The Code, as amended, provides, that an elector who removes his residence from one place to another within the same election district and who has not yet filed a removal notice with the Commission may be permitted to vote at the Primary or Election next following such removal, if at the time he files with the judge of election a signed removal notice. (1937, P. L. 487, Sec. 26, as amended; 25 P. S. 951-26). But there is no provision for subsequent voting unless the Act is complied with. The Keisers voted at the Primary without filing the required removal notice and it is argued that the right to vote again was extinguished until compliance with the Act. The contestants maintain, therefore, that the vote at the General Election was improper, illegal and void.

We are back to our first principle. Is the statute directory or mandatory? For the reasons advanced above, that is, the absence of specific language and a penalty for its violation, we are constrained to conclude that the Act is directory only. We are fortified in this reasoning by the constitutional proviso which reads, Art. VIII, Sec. 1, Sub Section 3, as amended November 7, 1933

> "He or she shall have resided in the election district where he or she shall offer to vote at least two months immediately preceding the election."

Accordingly, the challenge made to these votes is overruled.

There remains then the ballot cast by Mary Surovitz. This elector was duly registered as Mary Surovitz. Subsequently she married one Barnoff and continued to vote without changing her registration. Two years ago her husband died. The registration remained as originally entered and Mrs. Barnoff voted as Mary Surovitz.

We are satisfied that this was irregular and contrary to the instructions given election officers generally by Mr. Harry Williams. Blank affidavits were furnished the election boards to be filled out by women who marry subsequent to their registration so that the records will reflect the correct status of the elector.

But we find no mandatory provision of the Code requiring compliance and none has been pointed out to us. And while the Superior Court touched on the matter in Castle Shannon Borough Annexation Case, 160 Pa. Superior Ct. 475, it is to be noted that it refrained from deciding the elector there to be incompetent. We shall refrain here also. There is no question of identity. This was the same voter. Her vote was regular in every other way. The oversight was apparently innocent and in the absence of a statutory prohibition, mandatory in character, we are loath to penalize this citizen.

Accordingly, the challenge as to her is overruled and the vote stands.

One final question must be decided. Respondent contends the record fails to show petitioners voted for this office at the election, which he argues is a jurisdictional requirement. He does not deny their qualifications as electors nor, as we view the record does he deny that they voted but he contends this is not enough.

Contestants' petition avers that they voted in this election and voted for this particular office. They averred more than was necessary. It is sufficient in law that they voted in the election. Wylie's Appeal, 239 Pa. 510. The rest will be treated as surplusage.

Perhaps more to the point is the ruling by Justice Sadler in a situation analogous to our own:

> " * In the answer filed, * it was averred generally that the signers of the petition were not duly qualified, but no specification of the persons alleged to be improperly joined appeared, nor was it stated, or any attempt subsequently made to prove, that those objected to were sufficient in number to reduce the petitioners to less than the twenty-five required by the act of assembly. Complaint now made on this ground is, therefore, without merit."
> HAVERFORD TOWNSHIP ELECTION, 282 Pa. 504, at Pages 506 and 507.

In the instant case not only was there no denial of the qualifications of contestants but a request for a bill of particulars by respondent omitted any reference to this aspect of the matter. Further, a representative of the Election Board was present in Court under supoena with proper proof of the contestants' qualifications. Since the averment of petitioners was not controverted we considered formal proof unnecessary then; under the authorities cited and the facts we consider it unnecessary now. It has been satisfactory established both by the pleadings which were placed in the record and by the conduct of the parties.

We then decide which of the candidates received the greatest number of legal votes and is entitled to the election.

The vote of Harry, "Jerry" Butler computed as 8,802 is reduced twenty-three (23) in number by subtracting those votes found to be invalid. His number of legal votes is, therefore, 8,779.

The vote of Stanley Meholchick remains as originally returned. His number of legal votes is, therefore, 8,796.

THEREFORE, NOW, JANUARY 31st, 1955, at 3:30 P. M., we conclude that Stanley Meholchick is entitled to election for the Office of Representative in the General Assembly from the Second Legislative District of Luzerne County for the term beginning January, 1955.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I understand that you are deciding at this time whether to seat the gentleman from Luzerne.

The SPEAKER. That is right.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, the only thing that we as a minority would ask is exactly the same as the majority asked us in seating of Mr. Sigman from Philadelphia, that we reserve the right of appeal. We also would like to say that we would seat him without prejudice, and that this would not prejudice the case in any way whatsoever with the Elections Committee who will make the final decision.

OATH OF OFFICE ADMINISTERED

The SPEAKER. Member-elect, Stanley Meholchick, Second Legislative District, Luzerne County, will present himself to the Bar of the Housee where the oath of office will be administered by the Honorable William H. Neely, a Judge of the Court of Common Pleas of Dauphin County.

The Oath of Office was then administered to Stanley Meholchick by Honorable William H. Neely.

The SPEAKER. The Chief Clerk will escort the gentleman to his seat.

The Chair extends the thanks of the House to Judge Neely for his services in administering the oath.

REPORT OF DOLLAR SAVINGS BANK

The SPEAKER laid before the House the 199th Semi-Annual Statement, December 1, 1954, of The Dollar Savings Bank, Pittsburgh.

(For report see Appendix.)

COMMUNICATION FROM GOVERNOR

The SPEAKER. The Chair laid before the House a communication from His Excellency the Governor of the Commonwealth, Honorable George M. Leader, which was read by the Clerk as follows:

February 7, 1955.

To the Honorable, the Members of the General Assembly:

It is now accepted generally that society has an obligation to provide an economy that aims at full employment of all persons able and willing to work, and that society owes a measure of protection to those among us who are out of work through no fault of their own.

The Congress of the United States has by law declared that full employment is the national policy of the United States, and provided that the vast influence of the Federal government on our economic affairs should be so directed as to promote the full employment of our working force.

As long ago as 1936, the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania enacted legislation establishing a system of unemployment compensation under which payments are made to men and women who are out of work. The theory of this system was analogous to the Biblical story of the seven fat and seven lean years—in effect, it provided that in times of prosperity, sufficient funds would be collected, as a percentage of total wages paid, to provide for a reserve against demands for unemployment compensation in times of distress.

Unfortunately, we have not achieved full employment in the national economy. Pennsylvania in particular has all too many areas in which employment declined drastically in 1954.

At the same time, we have failed to protect adequately our funds for the payment of unemployment compensation claims.

As a result, we are close to what is aptly described as a point of peril.

I most earnestly request the General Assembly to act promptly to remove from our system of compensation the "peril point" provisions which are now both a threat to the unemployed who so desperately need their unemplyment compensation payments and a threat to employers who are faced with a sudden and very heavy increase in their payments to the fund.

It is idle now to lament the past, except that our memories of error may insure better future performance. Successive acts of the Legislature reduced contributions to the Unemployment Compensation Fund to a point where in 1953, a year of high employment, only $84,400,000 was collected in contributions against $102,400,000 paid out in claims.

As a result, in 1954—a year of difficulty—only $87,900,000 was paid into the fund in employer contributions while $260,800,000 was paid out of it in claims.

I am sure we are now convinced that we should never again be so improvident.

Prompt action is now necessary to prevent the weekly unemployment compensation payment from falling from $30.00 to $20.00. That is what existing law will soon require. All of us are aware that $20.00 weekly does not put much food on the table in these times.

Prompt action is equally necessary to prevent the payments by employers from rising to a flat 2.7 per cent of the taxable wages of their employes. This too is what existing law will soon require. I believe we are agreed that it is presently too heavy a burden for industry in this state to absorb, without jeopardizing our common efforts to add to employment opportunities in Pennsylvania.

Amendments to the law have been prepared by the Department of Labor and Industry and the Attorney General, approved by me, and will be introduced in the Legislature. The analysis of these amendments prepared by Secretary of Labor and Industry Torquato is appended to this message.

They will have the full support of this Administration, and I trust, the hearty acceptance of both parties in the General Assembly.

Their primary purpose is to wipe out the "peril point" provision of the existing law, and thereby protect the persons drawing unemployment compensation from a hardship reduction in their weekly payments while they likewise protect the employer from a hardship increase in his payments to the fund.

They also will include some other changes in the law which we regard as necessary and proper. The principal changes to be suggested are:

1. The present maximum unemployment compensation payment will be increased from the present $30 weekly to $35.00 weekly.

2. The benefit duration period will be extended from the present 26 weeks to 30 weeks.

3. All claimants, once declared eligible for benefits, will be entitled to the maximum benefit period of 30 weeks.

4. A contribution table for employers will be provided that will, according to present estimates, bring to the fund a contribution of $140,000,000 during 1955. The average rate of contribution will be 1.65 per cent of payroll, as against the 2.7 per cent which would be enforced under the provisions of the present law.

5. A provision for assistance to new employers in Pennsylvania by permitting them eligibility for lower contribution rates, based on experience, in one year plus, instead of the present four years.

There are other amendments, more specialized and technical in nature, that will liberalize certain benefit aspects of the law, and tighten it in regard to fraudulent claims.

In my judgment, the increase in benefits and the extension of the time period on which they are paid is necessary in order to recognize today's living costs and to restore a reasonable ratio between earnings and benefits.

The increase in employer payments is as moderate as it can be under our circumstances, in which we are forced to make amends for the errors of past years. It does not fully put the fund on a basis where the annual contributions will balance expected benefit payments during 1955. Admittedly, we are taking some degree of calculated risk against the future, so that we may avoid an increase in the rate of contribution which might prove of diminishing return when the whole economy of Pennsylvania is considered.

It is my belief that the proposed amendments will give Pennsylvania a revised system of unemployment compensation which will compare favorably with that of any progressive state. It is my hope that the members of the Legislature will consider them fully, approve them in substance, and send them to me for my approval and enactment into law.

In a sense, of course, it is tragic in terms of human lives, of homes and families, and in terms of our society, that unemployment compensation should be a major issue.

We should be acting to reduce unemployment itself; to stop this wastage of our best resource, human energy and skill.

I am sure that each of you will join with this Administration to use all of the powers of State Government to expand job opportunities in our Commonwealth. The success of our effort will determine the stress that the future will put upon our system of unemployment compensation.

GEORGE M. LEADER.

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA
GOVERNOR'S OFFICE
HARRISBURG

ANALYSIS OF PROPOSED AMENDMENTS TO UNEMPLOYMENT COMPENSATION LAW

ELIMINATING THE "PERIL POINT" FOR CLAIMANT BENEFITS—(Section 404 (d) and (e)

Under the present Statute, as of April 1, 1955, the maximum weekly benefit rate will be reduced from $30 to $20. The maximum duration of benefit payments will be cut from 26 weeks to 20 weeks, and the total amount of compensation payable to an unemployed worker will be reduced from $780.00 to $400.00. Apart from the great unfairness of this measure from the viewpoint of the unemployed and their families, the imposition of these cuts in benefit disbursements will adversely affect the State's economy and blunt the recovery objectives of the whole wage insurance program. No other State has a similar provision of equal harshness. The bill submitted eliminates this unrealistic standard.

ELIMINATING THE "PERIL POINT" FOR EMPLOYER CONTRIBUTIONS—(Section 301 (c))

Under the present Statute, employer contribution rates will be increased slightly for the first calendar quarter (January, February and March, 1955), but commencing with the second quarter, will all be raised to a flat 2.7%. The 2.7% rate would bring in an estimated $230,000,000 for 1955, less several millions of dollars for the lower rate during the first quarter. To avoid inflicting this heavy burden on Pennsylvania industry, this bill contains a contribution table which, it is estimated, will provide $140,000,000 for 1955. The average contribution rate for 1955 would thus be 1.65% a rate which despite the rise over last year, still compares favorably with those in other nearby and similar industrial States.

During the prosperous post-war years, when the Pennsylvania Unemployment Compensation Fund should have been built up for possible periods of protracted unemployment, the policy instead was to keep the contribution rate low and even to reduce it to a point that has proved to be unsafe and unsound. The attached tables, marked "Exhibit A" and "Exhibit B" reflect the story and the developing predicament of Pennsylvania's Unemployment Compensation Fund during the Postwar years. The tables show that other States, through action taken, have maintained a sounder financial status for their funds, despite the stress of the last sixteen months of unemployment.

It is not possible, nevertheless, to repair the damage of these years in one year. Therefore, the Administration is requesting the enactment of a contribution table which, while it will bring an estimated $140,000,000, will still be substantially less than estimated expenditures for the year. This is being done in the belief and hope that 1955 and 1956 will show improvement in employment, raise a larger sum of money in contributions and, more important, decrease in unemployment, thus reducing the drain on the Fund. It is felt, too, that a higher contribution rate might discourage expansion of long-established Pennsylvania industries and tend to deter new industries from locating in the Commonwealth. For all of these reasons, therefore, the submitted contribution table is presented to the Legislature for approval and enactment.

There is provision also for placing the computation of contribution rates on an annual,, instead of quarterly, basis. Quarterly redeterminations are not feasible administratively and unsettling to employers planning annual expenditures.

RAISING BENEFIT MAXIMUM TO $35 PER WEEK—(Section 404)

It is recommended that the present maximum of $30 per week be raised to $35 per week (a) to keep pace with the increased cost-of-living which unemployment benefits are intended to meet and

(b) to restore a proper ratio between average earnings and benefit rates. There have been no increase in benefits in this area in Pennsylvania since 1951. Recent developments in these fields have left the Pennsylvania Law behind in this matter.

EXTENSION OF DURATION OF BENEFITS TO A UNIFORM 30 WEEKS—(Section 404)

The Pennsylvania Law presently provides for a minimum of 13 weeks and a maximum of 26 weeks. The recommendation of the Administation is that this be changed to uniform duration of 30 weeks for all eligible claimants. Many of the States have enacted uniform duration of benefits provisions and Pennsylvania has been lagging behind in this particular. The extension to 30 weeks will affect a minority of claimants but benefit those hardest hit. Throughout large areas of Pennsylvania, we now see claimants who have exhausted their benefit rights and are turning to the Department of Public Assistance. Covered workers should be able to obtain more help from the insurance fund and the program which is designed to protect them.

FULL-TIME WEEKLY WAGE—(Section 404)

During the recent spells of short-time employment, a small but increasingly substantial number of claimants have found themselves measured for unemployment benefits in accordance with their short-time earnings. The Bill proposes that the weekly benefits rate for such claimants be measured instead by their full-time weekly wage or earnings in high quarter, whichever is the greater. In effect, this will place the Unemployment Compensation Law within the purview of the Romig decision, well known in Pennsylvania Workmen's Compensation Law and characteristic of the early years of the Pennsylvania Unemployment Compensation Law.

PROVISIONS REGARDING ELIGIBILITY OF PREGNANT CLAIMANTS—(Section 401 (d))

Until the last Session of the Legislature, female claimants who were pregnant remained eligible so long as they established their ability to work in their usual or similar occupations. In 1953, the Legislature established an arbitrary rule denying benefits to claimants after the sixth month of pregnancy and for 30 days after confinement, irrespective of ability to work. This provision will eliminate the 1953 enactment inequity and return such claimants to eligibility if they are able and available to work.

PERSONAL GOOD CAUSE—(Section 402 (b))

For many years the Pennsylvania Law allowed benefits to be paid to claimants who found it necessary to leave employment voluntarily for reasons of good personal cause.. These usually involved health or family circumstances. Several years ago, the Legislature changed this provision by limiting personal good cause to that good cause which was attributable to employment. The mother with children to care for who had been able to work but due to a family problem now needed to suspend employment was indefinitely disqualified. This type of harshness is eliminated in the draft Bill and allows such a person to become eligible for benefits so long as she is able and available for work and can meet the other tests of eligibility. No cost will accrue to her employer for benefits paid to her since the Act provides for relief of charges to an employer for workers who voluntarily leave employment for personal cause.

VACATION SHUT-DOWNS—(Section 4 (u))

Under the present Law and judicial opinions, claimants who are unemployed by reason of a plant shut down, and who did not receive vacation money from their employers because of lack of seniority, are nevertheless denied benefits if such plant's shut-down was pursuant to a union-management agreement. This is an inequity which is not logical. The submitted Bill proposes the restoration of eligibility to such claimants who meet the other tests of the Law provided they are uncompensated by their employer. This amendment will bring Pennsylvania's Law into line with judicial opinions set forth in other industrial States.

AMENDMENT TO SECTION 4 (w) OF THE LAW TO INCLUDE THE $6 EXEMPTION ON EARNINGS

This provision is necessary to correct a typographical error in the 1953 amendments.

EQUITABLE DISTRIBUTION OF COVERED WAGES IN COMPUTING ELIGIBILITY—(Section 4 (x))

Under the present provisions of the law, claimants' wages, as soon as earned, are credited to applicable quarter. This has created many situations wherein a claimant who earned $5,000 in a base year was nevertheless credited only with $3,000 during the first 6 or 9 months of that base year. In a succeeding benefit year, the inability to consider wages earned in the latter part of the year deprived many such claimants of eligibility status or reduced their benefits substantially. This provision of the Act will eliminate that inequity.

STRENGTHENING FRAUD PROVISIONS—(Sections 201, 801 and 804)

The penal provisions for fraudulent claims against the Unemployment Compensation Fund are both extended and increased in severity as part of the Administration's program to keep the Fund available only for those truly eligible. Stepped-up action against fraudulent claimants is being initiated by the Administration and these provisions will assist in that objective.

REDUCED PERIOD REQUIRED FOR NEW EMPLOYERS IN DETERMINING ELIGIBLITY FOR REDUCED RATES—(Section 301)

Under the present Law it is legally impossible for a new employer to receive a reduced rate during the first four years of his operations. This requirement is unnecessarily harsh and tends to discourage the starting of new enterprises. In recognition of this fact, the 83rd Congress modified the Federal requirement of three years employment experience by authorizing the States to extend experience rating tax reductions to new employers after they have had at least one year of such experience under the State Law.

It should be noted that the new Federal Law does not oblige but merely permits a State to lower its rate eligibility requirements. We would be remiss in discharging our responsibilities to the employers in the Commonwealth if we failed to take advantage of this Federal Amendment. Accordingly, we recommend the easing of time requirements which a new employer must meet to establish an employment experience entitling him to a reduced contribution rate commensurate with the risk incident to his operations.

Proposed liberalization of eligibility requirements in our present Law would result in the following advantages:

1. Encourage new industry by reducing contribution rates after one year of employment experience.
2. Place Pennsylvania employers in a more favorable competitive situation with employers in other States, and
3. Promote fuller employment for the citizens of the Commonwealth.

BILL INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Mr. LOPRESTI. HOUSE BILL No. 120.

An Act amending the Act of December 5, 1936 (1937, P. L. 2897), entitled "An act establishing a system of unemployment compensation to be administered by the Department of Labor and Industry and its existing and newly created agencies with personnel (with certain exceptions) selected on a civil service basis; requiring employers to keep records and make reports, and certain employers to pay contributions based on payrolls to provide moneys for the payment of compensation to certain unemployed persons; providing procedure and administrative details for the determination, payment and collection of such contributions and the payment of such compensation providing for cooperation with the Federal Government and its agencies creating certain special funds in the custody of the State Treasurer and prescribing penalties" by redefining certain terms increasing minimum contributions providing for modification of the manner in which contribution rates are determined and redetermined shortening the period necessary to obtain a reduced contribution rate providing for modification of the manner in which eligiblity for compensation is determined increasing the amounts and duration of compensation payments removing certain limitations on the amount and duration of compensation and extending the penal and related provisions of the act.

Referred to the Committee on Workmen's Compensation.

PERMISSION TO ADD ADDITIONAL SPONSORS

Mr. KENT asked and obtained unanimous consent to add additional sponsors to bills to be introduced by him.

Mr. WHEELER asked and obtained unanimous consent to add additional sponsors to bills to be introduced by him.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I just wanted to bring to the attention of the Members of this House that today, I think I am correct in my statement, we are in session for five weeks. At least, in my experience in this House, and I probably would have to check this with more experienced hands, such as the Speaker, and some of the gentlemen on the Minority side, I would like to ask them if they would go back in their distant memories and find out if ever they had sat in this House after five weeks of session and not had a calendar on their desks.

We have seen a lot of unusual things this year. We have seen tax programs brought in without budgets. We have seen the cart before the horse. Now we see all of the Members of this House being brought in, costing them money, and being asked to sit here for a Governor's message without even a calendar.

I think it is rather unusual. I do not say that the Governor's message was not worth listening to. We are going to read it later on and find out if any more bloopers have been made, because he is surely making them.

I think it is rather unusual to be brought in five weeks after a session has started and not have a calendar. I am very serious about that. I do not think it is quite proper. I understand we are to be here for three days this week. I understand that there is to be an important piece of legislation brought out today for first reading, which is the Unemployment Compensation bill.

But I do believe the Governor, according to his statements, made mention of unemployment compensation probably months and months ago. At least he mentioned a program months and months ago.

I would like to know when we are going to get around to seeing his program as a whole. I mean that in this way, certainly not one on this side of the House is going to shirk his duties or shirk his work. We want some work. We would like a calendar. The sooner we accomplish it the better.

I would just like to call to the attention of the majority if they continue to bring us in, I do think they should have some bills on the calendar so that we men and women of the House could go to work.

I do not think anybody even on the majority side enjoys coming in here and spending three days in Harrisburg, driving through bad weather, to sit here without a calendar.

I just call it to the attention of the majority at this time and would suggest that in the future they either have a program, or have some bills on our desks, or a calendar on our desks, so that we can accomplish some of the work that the people of Pennsylvaia have elected us to do and that we come here every week to do.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. READINGER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. READINGER. I can remember when the present majority Members of this House sat here, and sat here, and sat here, waiting and hoping that the now Minority could make up its mind what program it wanted to follow so that we could vote for or against it and go home.

My memory is long enough to remember a Session when we were here until December 23rd. I do not know whether the gentleman is suffering from a lapse of memory, he has been here quite a few years, but I am quite sure that many of us on this side can remember doing a lot of dilly-dallying around waiting for bills to be presented to us for our consideration.

I am sure the gentleman who spoke a moment ago for the minority is enjoying the great privilege of sitting on the sideline and critcizing and filing complaints. Probably he feels that if he files enough complaints perhaps it will become a theme song and everybody will start to complain.

But I assure him, as well as the rest of the Members on the minority and the majority side, that before long you will be crying that you have too much work to do. We will expedite things all we can. but we intend to proceed carefully and cautiously and with due deliberation, and we hope that you will have the patience to wait until we fill up the calendars.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I would just like to remind the Majority Leader that I am quite willing to agree with him that probably we did dilly-dally in some cases. But while we were dilly-dallying, as the gentleman states, we were working on Members' bills.

I do not think even the Majority Leader's memory even goes back so far as to remember a fifth week of the session without a calendar, without a single bill.

That was our only statement, that we do think we should have a calendar. We would even like to go so far as to ask the majority to release some of their Members' bills. I am sure they must have some bills that are in Committee that are worthwhile. We have not seen them as yet. But I am sure they must have some that they would like to bring out on the floor of this House and discuss.

While we are wasting time or waiting for His Excellency the Governor's program, bring out some of your Members' bills and let us look them over and give those fellows a chance to put some legislation through. We are perfectly willing to support some of them. But certainly, again let me reiterate it has never been my experience that we have ever had the fifth week of a session without a calendar.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. LOVETT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker and Members of the House, I just wanted to ask the Minority Leader to please be fair; it has been sixteen years since we had a change of administration. I think at least the gentleman should be fair and give us a chance. We will try to do our best.

PERMISSION TO ADD ADDITIONAL SPONSORS

Mr. BELL asked and obtained unanimous consent to add additional sponsors to a bill to be introduced by him.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. WORLEY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Tonight we are sponsoring a bill in this House to let the farmers of Pennsylvania fish in their dug farm ponds without paying a fee, where such farmers furnish the fish for the pond.

Last Monday night this House should have adopted my amendments for a full refund for a gas tax for agricultural purposes, together with my request to abolish the $1.50 filing fee contained in the same amendments. But since that was refused adoption let us now bring this bill on to the floor and pass it.

In order to take all partisanship controversy out of this agriculture bill we have both a Democratic and a Republican sponsor.

PERMISSION TO ADD ADDITIONAL SPONSORS

Mr. MUSTO asked and obtained unanimous consent to add additional sponsors to a bill to be introduced by him.

PERMISSION GRANTED COMMITTEE TO MEET DURING SESSION

Mr. CAPANO asked and obtained permission for the Committee on Workmen's Compensation to meet during the session of the House.

PERMISSION TO ADD ADDITIONAL SPONSORS

Mr. JOHN J. MURRAY asked and obtained unanimous consent to add additional sponsors to a bill to be introduced by him.

QUESTION OF INFORMATION

Mr. JUMP. I rise to a question of information.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. JUMP. Mr. Speaker, during the 1953 Session of this House I introduced a joint resolution amending the Constitution. From the information that I have received this particular resolution must pass two Sessions of the Legislature and must go to the people for a vote.

That joint resolution passed this House and passed the Senate of 1953. Would I be in order if I were to introduce now that same Joint Resolution for the second time?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman restate his question—he wishes to introduce a constitutional amendment for the second time?

Mr. JUMP. Mr. Speaker, that is correct. It passed the House in 1953 and passed the Senate in 1953.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman is in order to introduce his resolution at this time.

Mr. JUMP. Mr. Speaker, for the information of the newer Members may I read the amendment which is only three lines?

The SPEAKER. Without objection, the gentleman will proceed.

Mr. JUMP. ". . . and may exempt all persons on relief, all persons over sixty years of age receiving social security or pension benefits, and all persons over sixty-five years of age, from per capita taxes and any taxes on persons or occupations."

The SPEAKER. The Chair does not desire to create a precedent of introducing bills from the floor. We have made an exception in permitting the gentleman from Luzerne to do so at this time.

PERMISSION TO ADD ADDITIONAL SPONSORS

Mr. BOWER asked and obtained unanimous consent to add additional sponsors to a bill to be introduced by him.

Mr. OGILVIE asked and obtained unanimous consent to add additional sponsors to a bill to be introduced by him.

Mr. ZIEGLER asked and obtained unanimous consent to add additional sponsors to a bill to be introduced by him.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. CAPANO from the Committee on Workmen's Compensation, reported as committed, House Bill No. 120, entitled:

An Act amending the Act of December five one thousand nine hundred thirty-six (one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven P. L. 2897) entitled "An act establishing a system of unemployment compensation to be administered by the Department of Labor and Industry and its existing and newly created agencies with personnel (with certain exceptions) selected on a civil service basis requiring employers to keep records and make reports and certain employers to pay contributions based on payrolls to provide moneys for the payment of compensation to certain unemployed persons providing procedure and administrative details for the determination payment and collection of such contributions and the payment of such compensation providing for cooperation with the Federal Government and its agencies creating certain special funds in the custody of the State Treasurer and prescribing penalties" by redefining certain terms increasing minimum contributions providing for modification of the manner in which contribution rates are determined and redetermined shortening the period necessary to obtain a reduced contribution rate providing for modification of the manner in which eligibility for compensation is determined increasing the amounts and duration of compensation payments removing certain limitations on the amount and duration of compensation and extending the penal and related provisions of the act.

BILL ON FIRST READING

Mr. CAPANO asked and obtained unanimous consent for House Bill No. 120 to be read for the first time.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the first reading and consideration of House Bill No. 120 entitled:

An Act amending the Act of December 5, 1936 (1937, P. L. 2897), entitled "An act establishing a system of unemployment compensation to be administred by the Department of Labor and Industry and its existing and newly created agencies with personnel (with certain exceptions) selected on a civil service basis; requiring employers to keep records and make reports, and certain employers to pay contributions based on payrolls to provide moneys for the payment of compensation to certain unemployed persons; providing procedure and administrative details for the determination, payment and collection of such contributions and the payment of such compensation providing for cooperation with the Federal Government and its agencies creating certain special funds in the custody of the State Treasurer and prescribing penalties" by redefining certain terms increasing minimum contributions providing for modification of the manner in which contribution rates are determined and redetermined shortening the period necessary to obtain a reduced contribution rate providing for modification of the manner in which eligibility for compensation is determined increasing the amounts and duration of compensation payments removing certain limitations on the amount and duration of compensation and extending the penal and related provisions of the act.

And said bill having been read at length the first time, Ordered, To be laid aside for second reading.

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

Legislative Journal.

Session 1955. 141st of the General Assembly.

Vol. 34. HARRISBURG, PA., TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 8, 1955. No. 10.

SENATE

TUESDAY, February 8, 1955

The Senate met at 11:00 o'clock, a. m., Eastern Standard Time.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Roy E. Furman) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. WILLIAM A. BAYLE, Rector of St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Kittanning, offered the following prayer:

O Lord, our Governor, Whose glory is in all the world, we commend this State to Thy merciful care, that being guided by Thy Providence, we may dwell secure in Thy peace. Grant to these persons, now assembled, and to all others in authority, wisdom and strength to know and to do Thy will. Fill them with the love of truth and righteousness, and make them ever mindful of their calling to serve Thy people in Thy fear, And, finally, may Thy saving health and grace dwell among them in all their strivings. In the name of our Lord and Savior, Jesus Christ, Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present, the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. MAHANY and Mr. SCHMIDT, further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

LEAVES OF ABSENCE

Mr. MAHANY asked and obtained leave of absence for Mr. VAN SANT, due to illness.

He also asked and obtained leave of absence for Mr. PROPERT, due to illness.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented communication in writing from His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth, which was read as follows:

GOVERNOR'S MESSAGE

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, February 8, 1955

To the Honorable, the Members of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

The ideal of our country, throughout its period of independence, has been equality of opportunity. The Declaration of Independence, written and adopted here in Pennsylvania, states that "all men are created equal" and that "they are endowed by their Creator with certain inalienable rights."

As imperfect human beings, we have not always been able to realize our ideal. It has been a long and almost ageless struggle to bring into our daily lives the concept which was put before us at our nation's founding. Sometimes that struggle has gone well for the cause of freedom and opportunity; sometimes there have been setbacks.

But, over the years, the net gain has been great.

In recent years, those gains have come at an accelerated pace and in mounting volume. Racial and religious intolerance are on the wane in our national and community life. More and more, we are learning to accept each other as human beings and fellow Americans; to judge each other only on the basis of ability, of decency, of our adherence to the codes of good conduct and good citizenship.

We cannot depend, however, purely upon the increasing level of public understanding and upon the principles taught by all of our great religious faiths, to insure equality of opportunity in every instance—powerful as those influences are. They are at work in every field of human conduct, to our great good, but we still must have laws to state public policy and provide penalties for wrongdoing.

To insure equality of opportunity in our State, the time has certainly come when we should enact appropriate legislation which will declare it to be the public policy of this Commonwealth that individual competence and not race religion or national origin shall be the prerequisite for employment in Pennsylvania.

The Legislature is thoroughly familiar with the type of legislation that has been accepted as a standard for such assurance of equal opportunity.

The platforms of both political parties have repeatedly called for enactment of such Fair Employment legislation.

It is now my hope, and I strongly recommend, that the 1955 session of the Legislature will be remembered as the session in which this promise of equal opportunity was kept. I would like to see this issue taken out of politics, and passed with the sponsorship of members of both parties.

An outline of such effective legislation for equal opportunity would include the statement of public policy; prohibit both employers and labor organizations from discriminating because of race, religion, or national origin; create a Fair Employment Practices Commission as an independent administrative board to administer the act; and endow that Commission with sufficient powers while controlling those powers with sufficient safeguards against abuse.

The legislation should recognize that there are some positions of employment that require particular nationality or religious qualifications, and make reasonable provision for their exclusion from the general terms of the Act.

Persuasion is, of course, the basic instrument in such a program to encourage equal opportunity; education is its foundation. But in rare instances, it must be recognized, the power of compulsion that lies in the State must be used. The law should so provide.

Such legislation has been adopted by municipal ordinance in Pittsburgh and Philadelphia, and, from all reports, has been generally accepted and has worked well. Many states have adopted it while we still debated and hesitated, including the neighboring State of New York.

Pennsylvania is the Commonwealth of William Penn, of the Declaration of Independence, of the Battle of Gettysburg. Surely, no American state has so many great associations with the cause of human freedom and of equal opportunity.

It is high time that we wrote into Pennsylvania law a new expression of the American ideal which our history so richly expresses.

GEORGE M. LEADER.

The PRESIDENT. The Communication from the Governor will be spread upon the Journal.

PERMISSION TO ADD ADDITIONAL SPONSORS

Mr. BLASS asked and obtained unanimous consent to add the following additional sponsors to Senate Bill No. 15, Senator Pechan and Senator Whalley.

REPORTS FROM COMMITTEES

Mr. SCOTT, from the Committee on Local Government, reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 34, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 11, 1889 (P. L. 188), entitled "A further supplement to an act, entitled 'An act to establish a board of wardens for the Port of Philadelphia, and for the regulation of pilots and pilotage, and for other purposes,' approved March twenty-ninth, one thousand eight hundred and three, and for regulating the rates of pilotage and number of pilots," further regulating the rates of pilotage.

An Act amending the act of July 5, 1947 (P. L. 1335), entitled "An act to provide for an inventory of existing hospitals; for a survey of the need for additional hospital facilities; and for the development and administration of a hospital construction program, which will in conjunction with existing facilities, afford hospitals adequate to serve all people of the State; and appropriating money; establishing methods of administration and control; providing for compliance with the requirements of the Federal Hospital Survey and Construction Act and regulations thereunder authorizing the acceptance and expenditure of Federal funds in accordance with such requirements; and placing additional duties upon the Department of Welfare," bringing the act within the scope of the federal Medical Facilities Survey and Construction Act of 1954; and making an appropriation.

He also, from the Committee on Elections, reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 5, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 25, 1937 (P. L. 814), entitled "An act to provide for the permanent personal registration of electors in cities of the second class as a condition of their right to vote at elections and primaries, and their enrollment as members of political parties as a further condition of their right to vote at primaries; prescribing certain procedure for the conduct of elections and primaries and the challenge and proof of qualifications of electors; and prescribing the powers and duties of citizens, parties, political bodies, registration commissions, commissioners, registrars, inspectors of registration and other appointees of registration commissions, county election boards, election officers, municipal officers, departments and bureaus, police officers, courts, judges, prothonotaries, sheriffs, county commissioners, peace officers, county treasurers, county controllers, registrars of vital statistics, certain public utility corporations, real estate brokers, rental agents, and boards of school directors; and imposing penalties," providing for the composition of the registration commission; imposing duties on the county commissioners; and ending the terms of the present commissioners.

He also, from the Committee on Insurance reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 13, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 17, 1921 (P. L. 682), entitled "An act relating to insurance; amending, revising, and consolidating the law providing for the incorporation of insurance companies, and the regulation, supervision, and protection of home and foreign insurance companies, Lloyds associations, reciprocal and interinsurance exchanges, and fire insurance rating bureaus, and the regulation and supervision of insurance carried by such companies, associations, and exchanges, including insurance carried by State Workmen's Insurance Fund; providing penalties; and repealing existing laws," prescribing prerequisites to the effectiveness of statements in applications for health and accident policies and for reinstatements and renewals of such policies.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Messrs. WATKINS and WATSON read in place and presented to the Chair, Senate Bill No. 90, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 24, 1939 (P. L. 872), entitled "An act to consolidate, amend and revise the penal laws of the Commonwealth," prohibiting the abandonment of refrigerators and iceboxes from which latches have not been removed.

Which was committed to the Committee on Judiciary General.

Messrs. SCHMIDT and SCOTT read in place and presented to the Chair, Senate Bill No. 91, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 1, 1945 (P. L. 1340), entitled "An act relating to the financial responsibility of operators and owners of motor vehicles; and to make uniform the law with reference thereto; requiring owners and operators in certain cases to furnish proof of financial responsibility; providing for the suspension of operator's licenses and motor vehicle registration certificates in certain cases; regulating insurance policies which may be accepted as proof of financial responsibility; imposing duties upon the Secretary of Revenue, the State Treasurer and prothonotaries; and prescribing penalties," providing that certain appeals may be taken to the court of common pleas of the county in which the aggrieved person resides.

Which was committed to the Committee on Highways.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. DiSILVESTRO asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. Mr. President, the bill I am about to present is a referendum for horse racing in Pennsylvania.

Mr. President, just a "yes" or "no" in this coming election would signify the approval of the people of Pennsylvania for a race track. I really do not know how to put this. Rarely do I rise to make any statement or take any position. I would not want this to sound like a threat, but God help those who use subterfuge methods or act in a fashion that is not in accordance with the wishes of the people of Pennsylvania.

Mr. President, in presenting this bill, I assure those people who may oppose it that this will be a crusade, because I am sick and tired of listening to people who speak and discuss the problem of racing when they tell us that in the State of New Jersey and in the States of Maryland, Ohio, West Virginia and all the surrounding territories, they have grown and we are still a backward State.

Mr. President, the State of New Jersey last year netted $21,871,000 in taxes and breakage from Garden State, Camden, Atlantic City, Monmouth and also Freehold, a harness track. About $12,000,000 of that tax money probably came from Philadelphians. Pennsylvania and Philadelphia would well profit from a pari-mutual track in the city.

Mr. President, we are now in a period of time when the atomic age has done so much toward the advancement of different things, and we should not be considered a backward State any longer. It is about time that it stopped. It is about time that those who do not like race tracks affix their approval or disapproval at the polls, and give the other people of Pennsylvania an opportunity who believe that Pennsylvania should have a source of revenue as other States have by reason of a race track.

Therefore, Mr. President,—and I say again—in making this statement, I shall keep my word that whoever they are and whoever it is who may try to block this measure, we will meet it head-on.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Messrs. DiSILVESTRO, WATSON, WATKINS and DENT read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 92, entitled:

An Act providing for a referendum to determine the will of the electorate in regard to horse racing with legal wagering within the State.

Which was committed to the Committee on Law and Order.

Messrs. DERK, STEVENSON, BLASS, HALUSKA, TOOLE, MALLERY, WADE, WOLFE, MAHANY, PECHAN, SCOTT PEELOR, YOSKO, CHAPMAN, FLACK, McMENAMIN and HAYS read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 93, entitled:

An Act to facilitate traffic in the central section of the Commonwealth by providing for the construction, operation and maintenance of a turnpike from a point on the western border of Pennsylvania to a point on the eastern border of Pennsylvania, at such points as the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission may decide are the most feasible and practicable for the further extension of the Pennsylvania Turnpike, from or near the City of Sharon in Mercer County to or near the Borough of Stroudsburg, in Monroe County; conferring powers and imposing duties on the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission; authorizing the issuance of turnpike revenue bonds of the Commonwealth payable solely from tolls to pay the cost of such turnpike and to issue notes or other evidences of indebtedness; providing that no debt of the Commonwealth shall be incurred in the exercise of any of the powers granted by this act; providing for the collection of tolls for the payment of such bonds, notes or other evidences of indebtedness and for the cost of maintenance, operation and repair of the turnpike; making such turnpike bonds, notes or other evidences of indebtedness exempt from taxation; constituting such bonds legal investments in certain instances; requiring suits against the commission to be brought in Dauphin County; prescribing conditions on which such turnpike shall become free; providing for grade separations, grade changes, relocations, restoration and vacation of public roads and State highways affected by the turnpike; providing for the purchasing or condemnation of land and procedure for determining damages in condemnation; granting certain powers and authority to municipal subdivisions and agencies of the Commonwealth to cooperate with the commission; and authorizing the issuance of turnpike revenue refunding bonds.

Which was committed to the Committee on Highways.

Mr. McCREESH read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 94, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 24, 1939 (P. L. 872), entitled "An act to consolidate, amend and revise the penal laws of the Commonwealth" prohibiting publication devoted to fictional deeds of crimes, bloodshed, inhumanity, lust or immorality which tend to corrupt morals or incite to crime or violent or depraved acts.

Which was committed to the Committee on Judiciary General.

Mr. MALLERY read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 95, entitled:

An Act repealing section 3, act of May 27, 1841 (P. L. 400), entitled "An act relating to the Election of County Treasurers, and for other purposes."

Which was committed to the Committee on Local Government.

Messrs. DENT, HOLLAND, LANE, HALUSKA, BANE, WEINER, SCHMIDT, YOSKO, MULLIN, DONOLOW and KOPRIVER, JR. read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 96, entitled:

An Act amending the Act of December 5, 1936 (1937, P. L. 2897), entitled "An act establishing a system of unemployment compensation to be administered by the Department of Labor and Industry and its existing and newly created agencies with personnel (with certain exceptions) selected on a civil service basis; requiring employers to keep records and make reports, and certain employers to pay contributions based on payrolls to provide moneys for the payment of compensation to certain unemployed persons; providing procedure and administrative details for the determination, payment and collection of such contributions and the payment of such compensation; providing for cooperation with the Federal Government and its agencies; creating certain special funds in the custody of the State Treasurer; and prescribing penalties," by redefining certain terms, increasing minimum contributions, providing for modification of the manner in which contribution rates are determined, and redetermined, shortening the period necessary to obtain a reduced contribution rate, providing for modification of the manner in which eligibility for compensation is determined, increasing the amounts and duration of compensation payments, removing certain limitations on the amount and duration of compensation, and extending the penal and related provisions of the act.

Which was committed to the Committee on Labor and Industry.

Mr. YOSKO read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 97, entitled:

An Act to amend section two thousand three hundred eighteen of the act approved the ninth day of April one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 177) entitled "An act providing for and reorganizing the executive and administrative work of the Commonwealth by the Executive Department thereof and the administrative departments boards commissions and officers thereof including the boards of trustees of State Normal Schools or Teachers Colleges abolishing creating reorganizing or authorizing the reorganization of certain administrative departments boards and commissions defining the powers and duties of the Governor and other executive and administrative officers and of the several administrative departments boards commissions and officers fixing the salaries of the Governor Lieutenant Governor and certain other executive and administrative officers providing for the appointment of certain administrative officers and of all deputies and other assistants and employes in certain departments boards and commissions and prescribing the manner in which the number and compensation of the deputies and all other assistants and employes of certain departments boards and commissions shall be determined," by limiting the powers of the Boards of Trustees of State Institutions within the Department of Welfare.

Which was committed to the Committee on State Government.

Messrs. LANE and BANE read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 98, entitled:

An Act requiring the construction of safety barriers on the medial strips separating the opposite traffic lanes of the Pennsylvania Turnpike and its extensions, and imposing duties on the Department of Highways and the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission.

Which was committed to the Committee on Highways.

Messrs. HALUSKA and SCHMIDT read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 99, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 24, 1919 (P. L. 579), entitled "An act to fix the salary and mileage of the members of the General Assembly, and to provide for the furnishing of such postage, stationery, and supplies, as may be necessary for the conduct of their offices, and repealing all acts or parts of acts inconsistent therewith," increasing the expense and clerical allowance of members of the General Assembly; and making an appropriation.

Which was committed to the Committee on State Government.

They also read in place and presented to the Chair, Senate Bill No. 100, entitled:

An Act amending the act of January 21, 1947 (P. L. 3), entitled "An act relating to officers and employes of the General Assembly; fixing the number, qualifications, compensation, mileage and duties of the officers and employes of the Senate and of the House of Representatives; providing for their election or appointment, term of office, or of service, removal, and manner of filling vacancies; and making appropriations to the Senate, House of Representatives and Legislative Reference Bureau," increasing compensation and period of service of Senate stenographers.

Which was committed to the Committee on State Government.

Messrs. YOSKO and DENT read in place and presented to the Chair, Senate Bill No. 101, entitled:

An Act to further amend the act, approved the third day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 1333), entitled "An act concerning elections, including general, municipal, special and primary elections, the nomination of candidates, primary and election expenses and election contests; creating and defining membership of county boards of elections; imposing duties upon the Secretary of the Commonwealth, courts, county boards of elections, county commissioners; imposing penalties for violation of the act, and codifying, revising and consolidating the laws relating thereto; and repealing certain acts and parts of acts relating to elections," by further regulating the date of the primary election, the duties of the Secretary of the Commonwealth, and nominations to fill certain vacancies.

Which was committed to the Committee on Elections.

REPORT FROM THE JOINT STATE GOVERNMENT COMMISSION

DEALING WITH "LIVESTOCK MARKETING IN PENNSYLVANIA"

Mr. MADIGAN, on behalf of the Joint State Government Commission, submitted the following report which was read by the Clerk as follows:

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA
JOINT STATE GOVERNMENT COMMISSION
OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY
P. O. BOX 61
ROOM 450—CAPITOL BUILDING
HARRISBURG

February 8, 1955.

To the Honorable, the Senate of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

On behalf of the Joint State Government Commission, I have the honor to transmit herewith A Report of the Joint State Government Commission, Session of 1955, dealing with Livestock Marketing in Pennsylvania.

Copies of this report for members of the Senate have been placed in their post office boxes.

Respectfully submitted,

(Signed) BAKER ROYER, Chairman

The PRESIDENT. The Report will be noted in the Journal.

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, for the last couple of weeks, I have noticed various newspaper accounts in which they accused the Republican side of this Senate of attempting to obstruct Governor Leader in his plan for reshuffling the various departments of State Government and stymying, as it were, House Bill No. 1. Now, all of you know that House Bill No. 1 did not reach the Senate until yesterday. Previous to that time, it was being considered by the House. So how we, in the Senate, we Republicans, would be obstructing the Governor in his attempt to get House Bill No. 1 through in the Senate, I do not know and cannot understand.

Mr. President, House Bill No. 1 reached the Senate, as of yesterday, and I had thought that I would urge Senator Diehm, the Chairman of the State Government Committee, to which the bill was referred, to have an early meeting, perhaps this week, and consider the bill. If it had any merit to it, then we should get the bill out of committee. If it needed amendments, then prepare amendments and have the bill reported out as amended.

Now, Mr. President, I find that there is no necessity to do that speedy work this week because a supplemental bill has been introduced in the House, at the insistence of the Governor, to do certain things to carry out the intentions, evidently, of House Bill No. 1; that is, to have a certain committee appointed to make recommendations to the Legislature on various specific plans.

Evidently, Mr. President, the Governor, contrary to my thinking and the thinking of a great many other people in Pennsylvania, and especially the newspaper editors, does not have any plan to submit to the Legislature. Therefore, he needs some kind of a committee or commission set up to prepare certain plans and recommendations. In other words, this would be somewhat on the order of the Chesterman Committee.

I do not know what various plans this committee would consider that were not considered by the Chesterman Committee. The Chesterman Committee studied for a long while and finally brought out various plans that they thought might save the Commonwealth some money. As you know, they did not come to back up their findings or give us any evidence of how they were going to save this money, but the bills, however, were presented at that time to carry out the recommendations of the Chesterman Committee and were sponsored by my good friend, Senator Dent, and myself. The thing was done according to law and the Constitution of Pennsylvania by the presentation of bills, and not according to some unconstitutional method. Then, we went over them. All of those bills, as you will remember, were referred to the Rules Committee, of which I was the Chairman. They were no sooner referred to the Rules Committee when they were reported out, and we voted on them in the Senate. Some of them passed; most of them were defeated. As a remember at the time, the whole thing was characterized by my good friend, Senator Dent, as a ghastly joke.

Mr. President, I do not know how this committee is going to come up with anything else. However, we do not have to decide that now. What I am trying to make crystal clear to all the Senators and all the newspapers, and especially the newspaper editors, is that there is no necessity right now for us to consider House Bill No. 1 until this supplemental bill gets over to us. It is only for that reason, I understand, that the State Government Committee is not considering House Bill No. 1 this week.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I can appreciate the position of the Majority. However, to clarify the situation so that there are no misunderstandings, it must be realized that in order to have any duties for a commission to perform, we must first enact legislation creating the reorganization plan, or, rather, set up the reorganization right under the law.

Mr. President, the Governor intended from the very beginning, as you will note from the contents of House Bill No. 1, that it follow very closely, almost word for word, the reorganization plan of the Federal Government, known as the Hoover Commission. In that plan, you will note, the first thing the Federal Government did was to pass a reorganization law. That is exactly what House Bill No. 1 does. They followed through after that, naming a commission made up of twelve members; four members named by the President pro tempore, four members named by the Speaker of the House and four members named by the President of the United States.

Now, Mr. President, you cannot name a commission until you have a job for them to do. That is why the reorganization commission followed about a week later, a week or so after the plan had passed the House. However, if the Majority wishes to wait until that legislation is introduced in the Senate, we shall be glad to submit the commission legislation Monday, or tomorrow, if we meet tomorrow, and then the committee can study both bills.

Mr. President, in order to further clarify the situation, I might state that the Governor would not be in a position— it would be presumptuous for the Governor of Pennsylvania to say that he, after such a short time of being the Governor, already has evolved a plan for the reorganization of the various boards and commissions and departments of the Commonwealth. It would be equally presumptuous on his part to assume that he could represent to this Senate again the so-called Chesterman Reports which were rejected by the Members of the General Assembly just a short space of time ago.

Now, Mr. President, I assume that this commission, which will be made up of legislators, with the various men whom the Governor will name who are learned in the matter of administrative reorganization, I presume that they will, and I assume that they will and I could vouch that they would take up the reports of the Chesterman Committee and see whether or not in these reports which have had so much detail work done prior to now, we may find that the detail work has already been performed for us by the Chesterman Committee. However, in so far as the actual recommendations, perhaps this committee, made up of trained and experienced legislators, working with the Governor's appointees, may come to different conclusions than the Chesterman Committee came to from the very same work sheets that they worked from. I mean, and I say this sincerely, that the Governor of Pennsylvania is not interested in a partisan approach to this problem. I have talked with him and I know that if ever there was a sincere effort on the part of a Chief Administrator of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to do a job for the people of this Commonwealth in so far as the reorganization of its governmental functions are concerned, that the present Governor of this State, George M. Leader, a former Member of this Senate, is genuinely and sincerely interested in trying to achieve this goal of an economic readjustment of the various offices.

We all know that over the years, through no fault of any partciular administration, we have added patch upon patch and patch upon patch and we have now before us a conglomerate form of government that is made up of various boards and commissions, many of which have duties that directly conflict with duties in other commissions and boards that have been named. If we can perform this single duty with representatives of both political parties on an equal basis from the halls of the General Assembly serving upon the committee, there is a chance that this Legislature would be able to take pride in its part in doing a job for the people of Pennsylvania in regard to the economic reconstruction and reorganization of our various boards, commissions and departments.

Mr. President, I do not believe that the Governor at any time intended—and I know that there has been no direct quote from the Governor of Pennsylvania, no quote, of condemnation of the procedure in the Senate in regard to any delays that may have been caused by a bill arriving in the Senate and a mere week passing without consideration. There has not been one word of criticism on the part of the Democratic Members of the Senate against the Republican Majority because of delay. In fact, I have had one conversation with the Chairman of that committee, a man who has grown old in the service of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and in the service of the peoples of this State, and he said to me, "We will definitely take the bill up," and he gave me a date and I was perfectly satisfied with the date. I am sure that my Democratic colleagues and the Governor of Pennsylvania, too, are satisfied with the date which has been set for consideration by that committee. What the committee does is entirely out of his hands, and entirely out of mine or anybody else's. The committee is made up of reasonable Members of this Senate and I am sure that when they act upon this legislation, they will realize the full import of the action they are taking.

I think that they can rest assured that there is not any hope on the part of the Democratic Governor of Pennsylvania, or the Democratic Minority in the Senate, or the Majority in the House of attempting to make political capital out of the reorganization plan any more than the Members of the Democratic Party, who are in control of the Federal Government, are hoping to make any political capital or accusing the Eisenhower Administration of making political capital. I would like to read this short notice that appeared on an Associated Press wire out of Washington, D. C., and I quote:

"The House yesterday passed a bill to extend for three years the President's powers to reorganize the government. This would continue the authority through the Eisenhower Administration and one year beyond."

Mr. President, I think this little article shows that we, of the Democratic Party, want the Republican Members to join with us in achieving a reorganization for the benefit of the people of Pennsylvania and not for the benefit of any political party.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I do not know too much above the operations of the Federal Government, but it has been my understanding that specific recommendations were made by the Hoover Commission. I recall that I took a course in Roman Law in college, and about the only thing I remember of that course is a maxim of the Roman Law, that in the known certainty of the law is the safety of all.

I admit, Mr. President, in the bill which has been introduced to reorganize the State government, that I just do not know what is intended by the Governor, but I want to state on my own account that I have always been interested in economy in our government.

I think everyone will admit, Mr. President, that there can be economies effected, and I would sincerely recommend that the Governor submit in bills, so that we may all know, so that it will be plain, what he proposes to do. I am inclined right now to state that I believe that if he should do so, and that if he should state that it is his opinion that dollars can be saved by Bill No. 1 and Bill No. 2, that he will have the wholehearted support of this Senate.

Mr. President, I believe it is terrifically important that we know what we are doing, but adhere to that principle of the law that in the known certainty of the law is the safety of all.

Mr. CHAPMAN. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, I think you will agree with me that the Hoxsey so-called cancer cure should have a hearing from the other side.

Mr. President, I want to make several statements about this cure, with no personal allusion to Senator Haluska. I wish to read into the Journal the decision of the United States Court of Appeals, which decision has been verified three times by the United States Supreme Court. I will just read in part, one paragraph. I quote:

"The representation that the Hoxsey liquid medicines are efficacious in the cure of cancer is likewise false and misleading."

Mr. President, I have witnessed these various exhibits before. I have been asked why these people had been cured, and there is nothing to it. I do not witness one instance where a biopsy, which is a scientific method of determining whether they really had cancer or not, was taken. My opinion is that none of these patients had cancer in the beginning.

I, therefore, Mr. President, present to the Legislature the decision of the Eastern Federal Court of Appeal, which has been substantiated three times by the United States Supreme Court.

The PRESIDENT. The court decision presented to us by Dr. Chapman will be spread upon the Journal.

"Before HUTCHESON, Chief Judge, and RUSSELL, and RIVES, Circuit Judges.

"Russell, Circuit Judge: Proceeding under the provisions of the Federal Food, Drug and Cosmetic Act,[1] and relying particularly upon its provisions defining labeling,[2] prohibiting introduction into interstate commerce of any drug that is misbranded,[3] and deeming a drug misbranded 'If its labeling is false or misleading in any particular',[4] the United States sought in the trial Court the injunctive relief provided by the Act[5] to prevent the Hoxsey Cancer Clinic, and Harry M. Hoxsey, from introducing or delivering for introduction into interstate commerce bottles of brownish-black, and pink, colored liquids intended for use in the treatment and cure of cancer in man. It is alleged that the drugs, which are distributed and dispatched to physicians, practitioners, and other persons, by defendants are misbranded, because their labeling specifically a booklet accompanying them, contains 'general and specific statements which represent and suggest that said drugs are efficacious in the treatment, mitigation and cure of cancer in man, which statements are false and misleading since said drugs are not efficacious in the treatment, mitigation and cure of cancer in man.' Two substantially similar booklets are involved, though it appears that one is no longer used.

"For the establishment of its claims of general false and misleading statements, the Government relies upon the import and effect of statements made in an address, captioned: "Theory and Application of the Hoxsey Method of Treating Cancer,' by 'J. B. Durkee, D. O., Medical Director of the Hoxsey Cancer Clinic, Dallas, Texas, before the Second Annual Convention of the National Medical Society October 17, 1947 held at Royal Palms Hotel, Los Angeles, Calif.', reprinted in the booklets, as well as other statements and representations of the booklets which represent that the Hoxsey medicines are effective in the cure, mitigation, or treatment of internal cancer.

"The claim of specific misrepresentations is predicated upon the contention that a division of the contents of the booklet, which includes the listing of individuals with their post office address and statement of the portion of the body on which the cancer appeared, reprint of proceedings and testimony of patients thereupon given, 'before and after' treatment photographs and comment thereon, and the invitation to write to the individuals listed 'requesting first hand testimony regarding our treatment' when read in conjunction with the statement '"we wish only to present the facts and records of results and benefits received by those who have taken our treatment" . . . leaves the clear representation that the persons named were cured of cancer by the Hoxsey drugs.' The truth is said to be that 'any of these specific representations are downright falsehoods.'

"The defense, in the trial Court by pleading and testimony, and renewed here by argument and brief, challenges each and all of the Government's contentions. The position of the defendants is that, as to the claim of general representations, the contents and statements of the booklets, considered as a whole, expressly deny that the medicines will cure all cases, but only that they cure some, do not cure some, and 'relieve some somewhat.' As to the specific charges of misbranding the defendants' argument is mainly that by use of the word 'patients' in reference to the individuals listed in the booklet there is removed any idea that such persons have been cured. However, it is further contended that the testimony does show that many of the listed individuals were successfully treated and, in some instances, cured. Underlying the entire argument is the fundamental contention that the medicines in question are efficacious in some instances in the cure and alleviation of cancer, and that they represent a 'revolutionary treatment,' which is, in many cases, successful. Running through the entire defense is the claim that the medicines and supportive treatments produce a higher percentage of more satisfactory results in the treatment of cancer than is secured by the other methods of treatment more generally employed of either x-ray, surgery, radium, or, in some instances, use of some of the by-products of atomic bomb production. These so-called orthodox methods are criticised as ineffective and in some cases positively harmful, whereas defendants contend their treatment does not have such harmful results and yet secures a higher percentage of cures.

"The issues thus arising are still present here and require for their solution determination of what representations, general or specific, the booklets may fairly and reasonably be determined to make in the circumstances to which they relate and to the persons to whom they were made, and whether, as so construed and found, the representations are false and misleading within the terms of the statute. Implicit in the latter, and actually controlling here, is whether the Government maintained either or both of its positions that the medicines in question were not efficacious in the cure of cancer in man, and that, in any event, assuming that its claim of specific representation had been established, it had proved such representation to be false.

"The trial Court made findings of fact and entered conclusions of law,[6] and, upon the ultimate ground that under the testimony as a whole the Government had failed to show the correctness of its charges, concluded that the injunctive relief sought should be denied.

"The Government, as appellant here, strenuously insists that the trial Court's findings and conclusions evidence misapprehension of the legal effect of the competent evidence, as well as failure to apply the controlling law. It is urged that the competent evidence in the case presents undisputed proof of the Government's specific charges of misbranding which entitled the Government to a decree in its favor; that the Court's findings were erroneously induced by consideration of, and reliance upon, incompetent testimony from laymen that they had cancer; and that they were cured; and that the controlling finding by the trial Court that the Hoxsey drugs are not falsely represented as cancer cures and that they do cure cancer are clearly erroneous, should be set aside, and the issuance of an injunction directed by this Court, Appellees relying upon the Court's finding that the treatment 'cures some, and some it does not cure, and some it relieves somewhat. That respondents do not guarantee to cure,' cite it as confirmation of the finding that the representations of the booklet are neither false nor misleading.

"Our consideration of the booklets, which concededly constitute the labeling referred to be the statute,[7] leaves us in no doubt that as concerns the nature and extent of general representation the content and statements of the booklet are intended to, and do, convey the claim that the Hoxsey medicines present a successful cure for cancer in only some cases, but the recitation of their virtues is so emphasized and reiterated as to induce in the mind of one thinking he suffer from cancer a belief that he had an excellent chance to be one of those cases in which the medicine would be successful. The language and entire contents are so hedged about with denials that the treatment is a 'cure-all,' or effective in all cases, that its true import is only that the medicines are effective in a substantial number of cases. For the purpose of this decision, and in determining the truth of such representations, we will accept the more restricted position, to which the Government is driven, that the precise extent of successful cures is immaterial since, it is contended, that the representation that any cure can be effected by use of the medicines is false and misleading. We think the claim of specific representation that the parties listed and given as references for testimonials is sustained to the extent claimed by the Government. It is difficult to imagine that one thinking himself inflicted with the dire disease of cancer and reading and considering the references to these listed patients, and the testimony there set forth, and which is prefaced as this is[8] and reiterated by the conclusion,[9] would reach any other conclusion than that the persons listed were cured of cancer by the Hoxsey drugs. It is common knowledge that such is the representation of 'testimonial letters as is the usual custom.' It is clear that the general representation is that at least the Hoxsey medicines will cure some cancer, and the specific representation is that it has cured the persons listed as patients, and who have testified as to cure, and to whom it is suggested letters be addressed to obtain testimonials to the efficacy of such medicines. The question of whether these representations are false and misleading remains.

"In approaching this question we are guided by some well recognized beliefs and experience so universally entertained and accepted by the practically unanimous aggregate of medical science as that contradiction thereof does not raise a substantial issue of fact. Thus, with practical unanimity, those informed and in position to know are of the firm belief that there is only one reliable and accurate means of determining whether what is thought to be cancer is, in truth and fact, actually cancer. This requires a biopsy, a miscropic examination of a piece of tissue removed from the infected and question diseased region. From this it follows that the opinion of a layman as to whether he has, or had, cancer, or a like opinion as to whether he has been cured and no longer bears the

" 'It is not necessary that mislabeling, or, misbrandings within the meaning of the Act shall actually be on the container, but they may accompany it, or reach the user in some other manner. There is some authority to the contrary, but I think the case of Kordel v. United States, 335 U. S. 345, and the case of United States v. Urbuteit, 335 U. S. 355, are controlling.

" 'The exemptions provided for in the Act with reference to physicians' prescriptions, and the placing of the contents on the bottle, or, container, are not applicable, nor can they be of any use to the respondents here, because the respondents' method in forwarding articles and pamphlets to the physicians in other states who were using the method and treatments were not so displayed. Nor can the plea of good faith, or, the charitable inclinations of the respondents save them from the rigors of the Act. Nor can the discontinuance of the practice of shipments to physicians in other states, save the respondents from the injunctive features of the Act, even though the Chancellor, speaking in equity, will not require that which is useless.

" 'Nevertheless, the facts disclosed by the testimony and found as above, as well as the failure of the government to successfully carry the burden and show a preponderance of the testimony, the correctness of its charges, merits, and must have, a refusal of the injunctive relief sought, and a dismissal of the bill, and such order and decree is, accordingly, announced.'

"[8] 'We are not going to use printed space for testimonial letters as is the usual custom, however, you will find a list of patients following, with cases no doubt paralleling your own. We are giving you their names and addresses. If you write, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope we feel you will receive a testimonial first-hand.'

"[9] 'Space does not permit us to give a complete list of all our patients, therefore, we have selected the above cases for the reason that they represent a cross section of the various types of patients treated at this institution.

'You will no doubt find in this list a condition similar to that with which you or some member of the family are afflicted. We would suggest that you correspond with some of these patients, enclosing a self-addressed envelope, requesting first-hand testimony regarding our treatment.'

disease, if, in fact, it ever actually existed, is entitled to little, if any, weight. It is further true that despite the vast and continuous research which has been conducted into the cause of, and possible cure for, cancer the aggregate of medical experience and qualified experts recognize in the treatment of internal cancer only the methods of surgery, x-ray, radium and some of the radioactive by-products of atomic bomb production. This is so even though the ghastly truth is that these methods frequently fail and are, in many cases, themselves unsatisfactory. But it is true, nevertheless, that with present enlightment they are our sole defense against the source of cancer. We think this statement evidences no acceptation of any particular school or segment of qualified expert medical opinion and belief, though it is not to say that persons activated by self-interest or ignorance may be found to express a contrary opinion. It is to say, however, that upon such subjects a Court should not be so blind and deaf as to fail to see, hear and understand the import and effect of such matters of general public knowledge and acceptance, especially where they are established by the overwhelming weight of disinterested testimony as appears in the record now before us.

"Two liquid medicines which are shown to have been distributed by the defendants in interstate commerce for use in treatment of cancer are involved in this action.[10] One is a black, or brownish-black mixture; the other a pink medicine. Their respective formulae are neither secret nor contested. The analysis of samples of the drugs showed that the proportion of ingredients of the black medicine varied, but contained potassium iodide and extracts, (omitting the scientific names), from prickly ash bark, buckthorn, red clover blossom, alfalfa, and cascara sagrada The pink medicine contained potassium iodide and lactate of pepsin These drugs are shipped in 16 ounce bottles, to patients in diluted form, and to osteopaths in concentrated form with direction to add enough water (in case of the black), or elixir of pepsin (in case of the pink), to make a gallon. Illustrative analyses of the dilution are: water, 62 per cent, potassium iodide, 26.4 per cent, plant extractives, 7.9 per cent, mineral matter other than potassium iodide, 6/10ths of 1 per cent, and licorice flavoring; another, water 53.2 per cent, alcohol, 5.1 per cent, sugars, 12/6 per cent, potassium iodide, 29½ per cent, and the presence of pepsin; another, water 94½ per cent, potassium iodide, 4½ per cent, plant extractives, 9/10ths of 1 per cent, and the presence of a licorice like flavoring; another, water, 76 per cent, alcohol, 7.2 per cent, sugars, 15 per cent, potassium iodide, 1.3 per cent and the presence of pepsin, and this was a 'slightly acid preparation.' The source of supply is the Hoxsey Cancer Clinic in Dallas, Texas. The defendant, Harry M. Hoxsey, is not a doctor, but a layman. It is his claim that the Hoxsey cancer drugs were originated by his grandfather about 1840 in Kentucky; were later used by his son, the defendant's father, and, after the defendant's father's death in 1919 the present Mr. Hoxsey carried on the treatment and preparation of the drugs at the clinic, which was in charge of a doctor. The present director is Dr. J. B. Durkee, a doctor of osteopathy. The clinic operates through osteopaths and the drugs may be obtained from the clinic in Dallas, or from osteopaths in other states who have obtained the medicines by shipments from the clinic. The clinic does not maintain hospital facilities and patients who go there for treatment take the medicines away with them for self-administration. Supplies are replenished by shipments of the medicines to them.

"Upon the trial the Government, after establishing the interstate shipments of drugs and booklets, and testimony as to the formulae and analyses of the drugs in question, introduced the testimony of highly qualified and experienced experts as to the pharmacological and pathological reaction and effect of the drugs in the Hoxsey medicines. Dr. David I. Macht, a physician specializing in pharmacological and experimental therapeutics, with impressive qualifications, who has done work on potassium iodide and emodin bearing drugs such as cascara-sagrada and buckthorn, testified that potassium iodide could cause untoward reactions in most people. The amount received from the black medicine, when taken as recommended, could cause damage in some people. There is no basis for therapeutic use of the drugs found in the medicines, or any combination of them in the treatment and experienced in his speciality, had conducted extensive research in cancer and in connection with his research had studied and experimented in the use of potassium in cancer in affiicted animals and also upon a group of 27 volunteer patients, all of whom were 'very far gone, inopertable and obviously incurable cases of cancer.' From these studies and experiments, he concluded that potassium increases the rate of growth in cancer and is not advisable in cancerous patients. It was his opinion, based upon such experiments, that the result of a patient with a malignant growth taking a daily dose as prescribed of the Hoxsey medicine would be to speed the growth of the cancer. Testimony was also presented of a controlled labortary experiment carried out at the Jackson Memorial Laboratories, Bar Harbor, Maine, an institution engaged in the fundamental research of the biology of cancer, to show the effects of both types of Hoxsey medicine in treating cancerous mice. The physicians and scientists participating in the test possessed superior qualifications and extensive experience in such matters. It is shown that the manner and method of such experiments was in accordance with the best known and accepted practice and was applicable to the treatment of cancer in humans to the extent that 'those agents which have been shown to produce beneficial effects against cancer in man, in general have been—they produce definite beneficial effects in some cancer on experimental animals.' The Hoxsey medication had no beneficial therapeutic effect on the cancer of the affiicted mice. It was testified by Dr. R. L. Clark, an expert of superior qualification and experience, that the recognized and only accurate method of diagnosing cancer is by a biopsy examination of the tissue, made by someone who has made a special study of the process. He stated that he knew of no medicine taken orally that would cure cancer, and he considers that there are two different methods of curing cancer known today, 'one of them is by removing the tumor by surgery, generally, and the other one is by using radiation therapy, which constitutes x-ray, radium, and more recently some of the products, by-products, of the atomic bomb production.' This witness was one of five directors and medical consultants at the Atomic Energy Plant at Oak Ridge, Tennessee.

"Against this background the Government developed its case by presenting testimony in the form of case histories of sixteen persons who had taken the Hoxsey medicine for treatment of internal cancer. Nine of these persons are among those listed in that part of the booklet which we have held to constitute specific representations of cure. We shall not undertake to lengthily detail the voluminous evidence. It followed the general pattern of showing physical examination, the making of the biopsy and pathological examination of the tissue, and dependent upon the facts in the particular case, that, where actual malignancy was present it was neither retarded nor cured by the use of the Hoxsey medicines; or there was in fact no malignancy; and that certain of the persons who had cancer were operated on for cancer, or died, while taking the Hoxsey treatment; that one patient with cancer declined surgery, used the Hoxsey medicine, but died of cancer; and one regressed while taking the medicine but improved with subsequent x-ray therapy. Each of these critical circumstances was shown by the testimony of examinations, diagnoses and result by medical doctors, pathologists, and scientific examination, all had and done in accordance with the generally accepted and approved methods and means of ascertaining and determining the facts in such instances. If such testimony be accepted as credible, it clearly establishes the Government's contention that the Hoxsey drugs in question are not efficacious in the treatment, mitigation and cure of cancer in man, contrary to the general representation of the booklet, and that the specific representation as to nine of those persons listed by name in the booklet are not true in that such persons were not cured of cancer by the use of such drugs.

[10] Throughout the booklets referred to, and in the testimony, there are references to external, or skin cancers also. The defendants, in addition to the liquid medicines for the tratment of internal cancer, also have an escharotic treatment for external, or skin, cancer. This consists of a corrosive or caustic substance the basic ingredient of which is arsenic. The Government makes no contention as to this medicine, or with reference to external cancer, and consequently this medicine and the question of its use and efficacy in the treatment and cure of external cancers, and, in fact, the entire subject of external cancers is not here involved.

"The defendants countered the case of the Government with testimony as to twenty-two cases of claimed cancer cure, as well as the testimony of three osteopaths, Dr. Durkee, the director of the clinic, Dr. Macauley, a general practitioner of Jefferson City, Missouri, and Dr. Downs of Denver, Colorado. Mr. Hoxsey did not testify. Eleven of the twenty-two cases concerned alleged cancer of the skin and the result of the use of the Hoxsey powder and salve. Some of these also took the internal medicine, though it is not shown that this had any effect upon the alleged cancer and the testimony is to the effect that the powders and salves were escharotics which destroyed the cancer tissue, as well as the normal tissue. In any event, the Government made no charge with reference to the powder or salve or to external or skin cancer, and contends here, correctly we think, that these eleven cases were irrelevant to the question in issue, which dealt solely with the efficacy of the black and pink drugs taken orally for the cure of internal cancer. In three of the remaining eleven cases of alleged cancer cure the only evidence that the patient actually had cancer when he went to the clinic was the testimony of the witness. Each of these was a patient at the clinic prior to the beginning of Dr. Durkee's employment there in 1946. Over the objection of the Government, they were permitted to testify that they had cancer. In the cases of four of the eight remaining alleged cancer cures the Government introduced medical testimony of doctor's who had treated and operated on the patients to show that the cancerous condition had been successfully treated before the patient went to the Hoxsey Clinic. In three of these cases the absence of malignancy was shown by pathological examination. After apparent cure, these patients went to the Hoxsey Clinic and took the liquid medicine. In one of the cases within fifteen days after the negative result of the biopsy examination had been ascertained, Dr. Durkee, without a biopsy, stated he found cancer. In the four remaining cases the patients were likewise permitted to testify that they had cancer, or had been told that they had cancer, but there is no evidence of biopsy, and any proof of the nature of the disease these patients suffered is dependent upon the diagnosis and testimony of Dr. Durkee. Under these circumstances, the Government contends that in no instance is there reliable scientifically acceptable evidence that the patient had a cancer when the Hoxsey medication was instituted. Dr. Macauley had practiced his profession since 1941 and had spent approximately a year at the Hoxsey Clinic. He admitted that he is not a cancer expert. He conceded that the only proper method of diagnosing a cancer is to make a biopsy and pathological examination of the tissue. Dr. Downs testified to the same effect. Dr. Durkee testified that he did not 'need a biopsy to make a diagnosis of cancer.' Substantially his entire experience and practice with cancer has been at the Hoxsey Clinic where during the past five or six years he has personally examined or treated five or six thousand patients. He personally examines all of the patients, seeing thirty-five to fifty a day, and spending between five and ten minutes with each on the average, though with some longer than others. Of this number, he estimates he has taken between three and four hundred biopsies. Not many were made of patients by other people at his request.

"The above restricted summaries are not stated in an attempt to review in detail a voluminous record, but to show the general nature of the case put forward by the plaintiff and the defendant and to point up the difference in the type of proof presented by the Government to establish the allegations of the complaint, and the type of proof relied upon by the defendant to cast doubt upon the Government's case as thus presented.

"Based upon the claim of supremacy of scientific testimony and pathological examination over the opinions of lay witnesses that they had cancer and were cured, or their hearsay testimony of what doctors had told them of their condition, and likewise over the testimony of Dr. Durkee, who, it is contended, was not only a vitally interested witness, but also without sufficient qualifications as an expert, the Government contends that as to the nine instances of specific misrepresentations its evidence is actually undisputed and requires a decree in its favor. It is also contended that it was prejudicial error for the trial Court to permit laymen to testify that they had, or were cured of, cancer, or as to what a physician had told them as to their condition. The third major contention of the Government is that the trial Court's findings that the Hoxsey drugs are not falsely represented as cancer cures and that they do cure cancer are clearly erroneous.

"We have already stated the effect we think proper to give to the general and specific representation set forth in the booklets, the labeling of the drugs. Our consideration of the record and the nature of the issue involved has led to the firm conclusion that the trial Court's findings of fact that the representations in the labeling were neither false nor misleading, and that the brownish-black and pink colored medicines were efficacious in the cure of cancer in man are clearly erroneous. Thus, even if it be assumed, arguendo, that there is some measure of conflict in the evidence relating to the falsity of the specific representations referred to above, still, it is clear that a finding that such representations are true is not supported by substantial evidence. It is equally clear that, without regard to any general rule of admissibility of the testimony of laymen as to the existence of disease or physical injury or as to the curative effect of drugs, [11] when the subject of investigation is the existence of cancer, the personal testimony of the lay sufferer is entitled to no weight, since the overwhelming preponderance of qualified opinion recognizes that not even the experts can assuredly diagnose this condition without the aid of biopsy and pathological examination. Hearsay testimony of what such a person has been told by a physician is entitled to no greater weight. Except for such testimony and the testimony of the three osteopaths, two of whom did not claim to be experts on the diagnosis and treatment of cancer, and the third of whom is a definitely interested witness who testified as to ability to diagnose contrary to all accepted scientific knowledge, the testimony on behalf of the Government in the full and complete establishment of its case of misbranding is not substantially disputed. We think this so-denominated conflicting evidence is wholly insufficient to cast such doubt upon the testimony adduced in behalf of the Government as to authorize the trial Court to find that the Government had failed to carry the burden of establishing the truth of the allegations of its complaint. To the contrary, we think that the evidence in this case, considered as a whole, should, and must, induce a conviction that the finding of the trial Court that the representations were neither false nor misleading is so 'against the great preponderance of the credible testimony that it does not reflect or represent the truth and right of the case.' [12] On the entire evidence we are 'left with the definite and firm conviction that a mistake has been committed.' United States v. Gypsum Co., 333 U. S. 364, 395. We recognize, as we must, that the cause, effect and cure of cancer are so obscure and indefinite that there obtains in the entire subject an area of the unknown. It is nevertheless the duty of a Court in making determination of questions of such great public moment as those which now confront us to give weighty consideration to the experience of the past and the accepted views and findings of science as held and confirmed by such experience and as likewise shown by the weight of the testimony to be applicable to the specific facts of this case. In this, as in other similar matters, that not all, or even little, is known about the subject does not require us to disregard that which is known and established. We do not have for consideration the merits even of any claimed newly discovered, or secret, drug or cure. The case involves the efficacy of only well known drugs. As a cure for cancer these have been weighed and found wanting.

"[11] Cf. United States v. 141 Bottles of Drug Products, S. D. Texas, not reported; affirmed in Hall v. United States 5 Cir., 267 Fed. 795; Federal Trade Commission v. Kay, 35 F. 2d, 160, 162.

"It was not necessary for the Government to prove that each and every representation in the booklet was false or misleading. The statute seeks to prevent labeling which is false or misleading in any particular. Proof that such representation in the case of at least nine of the persons represented as cured was false establishes the falsity of such representation in a most significant particular. Furthermore, as we have held, the overwhelming weight of the credible evidence requires a conclusion that (the representation that the Hoxsey liquid medicines are efficacious in the cure of cancer is likewise false and misleading). The evidence as a whole does not support the finding of the trial Court that 'some it cures, and some it does not cure, and some it relieves somewhat.'

"We do not attempt to set ourselves up as arbiters of what method of treatment the Hoxsey Clinic shall employ. We are not authorized by law to do so. It is our duty to adjudge the merits of the case in the light of the provisions and intent of the Federal Food, Drug and Cosmetic Act, supra, which close the channels of interstate commerce against drugs which are misbranded. There is no question in this case but that the drugs, with the accompanying labels, were distributed by the defendants in interstate commerce to patients, as well as to Dr. Downs. It is stipulated that one such shipment was made to a patient only a few days before the beginning of the trial. We find these shipments and the accompanying labels to come within the prohibition of the statute and the finding of the trial Court to the contrary to be clearly erroneous.

"The facts of the case require the issuance of an injunction, and the Court's failure to do so evidences an abuse of discretion. The judgment of the trial Court is reversed, and the cause remanded with direction that the trial Court order an injunction to issue as prayed.

"REVERSED, AND REMANDED, with direction.

"Clerk of the United States Court of "Appeals for the Fifth Circuit.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I would like to make a brief statement.

Mr. President, I appreciate the kind remarks made by the good doctor from Warren. Certainly he owes it to his great profession to defend them as weakly as he did.

I want to go on record, Mr. President, as stating, despite any remarks made by newspapers or by any person in this great land of ours, that, with the exception of the ten M. D.'s that I mentioned in my discourse yesterday afternoon, never has there been an investigation made by anybody, government, Damon Runyon Fund, A.M.A. or any group, of the Hoxsey Cancer Clinic. I will stake my future and my life on that statement.

Mr. President, as late as 1954, Dr. Hoxsey sent a letter to Dr. G. A. Granger, "Mr. Government" himself, M. D.—the Pure Food and Drug Administrator of this great Nation of ours, Washington, D. C. Permit me to read the letter that Dr. Hoxsey sent him. It is not long:

"Dear Dr. Granger:

"I wrote the letter to the Committee on Cancer Diagnosis and Therapy as you suggested. I trust by this time you have taken the matter up with them and I want to assure you that I am willing to cooperate in any way.

"Also, I want to call to your attention, that on Friday, March 5, 1954"—incidentally, less than one year ago—"at 2:30 p. m. Mr. Curry of The Food and Drug Administration, 1222 Post Office Building, Chicago, Illinois, called on Mrs. Suzanne Pieri of 1260 North Dearborn Street, Chicago, Illinois and during his conversation with her, and I quote from her letter, 'Before leaving, Mr. Curry said, "Hoxsey is liquidating." I said, "What do you mean, Dr. Hoxsey is liquidating," Then I added, "liquidating what " He looked at me, shrugged his shoulders and repeated, "he's liquidating." ' "

Here, Mr. President, is a governmental official calling upon an individual patient in Chicago.

The letter states further:

"This has upset this patient no end.

"Dr. Granger, as I explained to you when you were here, all of our medicine is sent under the Doctor's prescription and as you know, we are now appealing this case,"—this is the case Dr. Chapman spoke about, incidentally—"in which we are citing the 5th, 6th and 10th Articles of the Constitution. I feel and know that it is the Constitutional Right of any American citizen to select the doctor of their choice and I would like for you to ask Mr. Curry what he meant by advising this patient that 'Hoxsey was liquidating.'

"The fact that I am working on a plan to turn this institution into a non-profit corporation, does not mean that I am liquidating and the fact that we now have over 4,000 patients under treatment and observation, makes this a serious matter. I do not believe until I have had a fair and thorough investigation by some Government Agency, that the Constitutional Rights of these patients should be threatened or violated. I also have a number of letters and telephone calls from Philadelphia, Washington, D. C., and elsewhere that Inspectors are calling on the patients of Dr. Randall, Dr. Watt and Dr. Staffa.

"When you were here I cooperated with you 100 per cent and gave you everything you asked for and I will continue to do the same for you and Mr. Prillmayer and I do not see any reason why the sanctum of the homes of these patients are being entered and the patients being upset as well as their peace of mind.

"Doctor, I trust you will take this letter in the spirit in which it is written and that you and the Committee on Cancer Diagnosis and Therapy will go forward and make our cause a proper investigation along the lines we talked of while you were here in my office, as I received a letter from Isabel M. Wason, M. D. that your communication would receive the attention of that Committee.

"Yesterday, March 8th we had between 30 and 40 new patients from all over the United States. I think the time has come to have this matter settled for once and for all, one way or the other, and give the cancer sufferers throughout the world the truth just as it is, good or bad. This can only be done by a scientific investigation and the study of records of hundreds of patients who have been given up to die before coming to the Hoxsey Cancer Clinic who had had radium, x-ray, surgery, cobalt, isotopes, radioactivated gold and many other treatments in experimental stages.

"In closing, Dr. Granger, I want to say again that I am willing"—now get this, Mr. President—"to cooperate with the Federal Government, the Surgeon General, the National Cancer Institute, the American Cancer Society or any recognized scientific organization and let the facts of their findings be known. I am also sending a copy of this letter to Mr. Curry in Chicago.

"Yours very truly,
"Hoxsey Cancer Clinic
"Harry M. Hoxsey"

Now, Mr. President and gentlemen, with all the rebuttals you may make, the fact remains that they have yet to investigate the Hoxsey Cancer Clinic. I wonder just what they fear.

Mr. President, it does not mean that much to me for me to spill my blood. What does the Hoxsey Cancer Clinic mean to me? If John Jones came out tomorrow with a cure that I thought was better, believe me I would be for John Jones. However, down in my heart I know, and I believe, that this is the most advanced treatment in the entire universe.

I do not want to stand here and say, Mr. President, that Doctor Hoxsey will cure every patient of cancer. He is not the Lord Almighty, but scientific pathological proven records show that our medical science has given up on such cases as that little angel I had here yesterday. The record shows that medical science said she was dying with a sarcoma. That is the pathology on it, and not just my say so. It is an account. Mr. President, they then have the audacity to say, "Oh, sure, Hoxsey cured them, but they had no cancer."

I would like to refer back, Mr. President, to a neighbor again of my good friend Senator Mallery. This neighbor is a lady who lives less than three blocks away from him, by the name of Mrs. Feathers, who runs a store on Allegheny Street in Hollidaysburg, and anyone may check. In 1949, the Mercy Hospital diagnosed her case by doctors and pathologists in Altoona, and they said she had cancer of the left leg and it had to be removed within a week's time. Mr. Feathers did not believe the doctors, and so he took his wife to the Cleveland Clinic where they made the same diagnosis, that the cancer had to be removed.

This incident took place on August 11, 1949, and, again, before she would have her leg removed up to her hip, she took that last chance and went down to the Hoxsey Cancer Clinic. Today, she is operating a store of her own. She went back to the same doctor and the same hospital, Mr. President, and they said, "If Hoxsey cured you, we must have made a mistake. You did not have cancer. Mr. Feathers said to these doctors, "Would you have taken off my wife's left leg on that mistake?" The doctor replied, "Well, we are human and we make mistakes, because"—I say again—"if Hoxsey cured your wife, and she is cured, we can say she had no cancer." That was the case in Hollidaysburg.

Mr. President, I think the issue is so important—not to favor me. This is not for Republicans or Democrats, and what I told you yesterday came from the tip of my heart. I believe in what I said because I have seen people cured.

Mr. President, I am asking that somebody—I have taken the last resort of coming before this honorable body here and asking them to go down to the Hoxsey Cancer Clinic and read the pathologies. We are intelligent enough to read them. We could take somebody with us, newspaper reporters, doctors, and then come back and tell the American people what is going on. Really and truly, why should the A.M.A. say, "this fellow has nothing, let's put him out of business?" Why should we throw one individual out of business?" Why should anyone say, "We will go down there and put him out and close up his workshop?" I say they are afraid to go down. I challenge the American Medical Association, the American Cancer Society—I lay it on their doorsteps. Let them tell the American people that Hoxsey has it or he does not have it. They fear it, because they know they will lose millions while you and I suffer and die.

Again, Mr. President, I shall keep pressing, but I shall not talk about this issue on this floor only if some colleague makes a rebuttal, and certainly he has a right to. I am prepared to answer any qquestion any time without preparation. My whole life and my whole heart are in this. I close in saying that they have not made an investigation, a thorough investigation, because they fear the truth.

CONGRATULATIONS EXTENDED TO SENATOR EUSTACE H. BANE UPON BECOMING A GRANDFATHER

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, when I entered the Chamber this morning, I met my very distinguished colleague, Senator Bane, and he said to me, "Boy, oh, boy, did I have a tough night last night." I said to him. "Why, what happened?" He said, "Boy, did I sweat it out last night." Again, I said, "Why, what happened?" He said, "I am a grandfather, Deborah Bane Carney was born at 1:20 a. m. this morning and weighs 7 pounds and 20 ounces."

Mr. President, I want to for myself, and on behalf of my colleagues in the Senate, wish Deborah a long life, health and happiness, and I wish the mother of Deborah well and extend congratulations to Senator Bane on becoming a grandfather.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair received that same information from Senator Dent and Senator Bane, who is passing out good cigars. The Chair invites the Senator to the rostrum of his office after the Session.

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES

Mr. DENT. First, Mr. President, I want to say to the Senator from Fayette, Senator Bane, that I know what a terrible night he had for I have gone through it three times and it nearly killed me. However, I never was able to give cigars encased in glass tubes, and you will not either when the third one gets around.

Mr. President and Members of the Senate, to get back to a more serious note, you know the changing times disallow the constancy of any event. Therefore, as we move along up the ladder of civilization we sometimes have to make decisions which are not the type of decisions we like to make.

This Country, Mr. President, early in its beginnings, developed a foreign policy which was commonly known to all of the school children and to the orators of this Nation as the Monroe Doctrine. That doctrine was based upon a principle that this Nation would not, and could not, interfere in any activities outside of its borders that might, in any way, bring American troops to fight on foreign shores. By the same token, in reverse, this doctrine said that if any foreign nation ever interfered in any of the affairs of an American nation, that this Nation would go to the defense of that hemisphere.

Mr. President, as we moved along conditions changed. The big, wide ocean became nothing but a mere trickle of a stream down the mountainsides of time, and the airplanes, submarines and all the various modes of transportation have narrowed that stream down to where it is no longer a protective barrier. Many, many hours of debate are being consumed, and have been consumed, in the halls of the Congress of these United States as for and against the change of this great Monroe Doctrine, behind which we had hidden for so many generations.

Now, Mr. President, up until yesterday, this State of ours had no problem with the so-called argument or difference of opinion, may be say, between the Medical Association and the clinic known as the Hoxsey Clinic. Up until yesterday, it was a thing far away from the shores of Pennsylvania and we were smug in our complacency and only knew what we read in the newspapers. It was not a problem of the Senate of Pennsylvania, and it was not a problem of the people of Pennsylvania. That, Mr. President, was the day before yesterday. As of today, however, we find ourselves with a problem, and as I see the problem, it is one of serious note. It is one that demands the attention of this State Senate and it demands it quickly. I will tell you why I believe that.

Mr President, we were notified here on the Senate floor yesterday by a member of this body that on the 7th day of March, this year, there will be a clinic opened within the confines of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. The purpose of this clinic is to promote, as the sponsor says, the general health and welfare of the people of this great State and Nation.

Now, Mr President, we have heard this morning from the distinguished medical doctor in our midst, Doctor Chapman, a very learned man and one whom we all revere and respect, that this is not a cure, that this is not an assistance to those who are distressed by the agonies of the disease known as cancer. The Members of this Senate can no longer close their eyes to the situation that if we allow this hoax—as the words were placed in my mouth this morning by my distinguished colleague—that the medical profession says will be played upon the people of this Commonwealth, innocent persons who are in the last stages, as it were, of life's ebbing flow and find themselves faced with a decision to make, will hear that over here in a little town in Cambria County, known as Portage, there is a place that can cure them, and they will flock to this place and they will spend millions of dollars trying to get this so-called relief and cure. If they get this relief and get this cure, then we ought to help them get it. However, if it is a hoax, if it is a false thing, if it is going to prey upon the fragility of peoples in their last dire and distress of the dying days of their lives, then we ought to stop it before it gets started. We ought not to allow it to become a menace or a cancer itself upon the body politic of this State.

Mr. President, I do not know whether it is good and I do not know whether it is bad. But I do know this, that as a Member of this Senate I cannot sit idly by and watch something, if it is a hoax, being perpetrated upon the people of Pennsylvania without saying something about it. The time is now to do something about it. If it is good, we should announce that it is good. If it is bad, we must stop it, because once it is started, it will cause more trouble and create more trouble than any other single issue in the past generation in Pennsylvania. Believe me when I say that to you. We do not want Pennsylvania picked out as a guinea pig without the Members of this Senate, at least with their eyes open, allowing it to become a guinea pig.

Mr. President, I say to Senator Haluska and to Senator Chapman, I do not know which one of you is right. I have never, and I hope the Lord spares me the agony, had cancer in my family that I know of, and I do not want it, and neither do any of you, to strike your family. I can say as of this moment that on the basis of the testimony which we have here, I would be tempted, if I were told that I had it, to take the Hoxsey cure. I would be tempted because of the evidence that was produced here, and, yet, I would fearful of taking it because an eminent physician on the Senate floor, whom I respect and whose judgment I respect and admire, has said that it cannot do me any good and in all possibility would do me harm.

Mr. President, can we, as Members of this Senate, allow 10,000,000 souls in Pennsylvania to be tempted by this lure which will be placed in Portage, Pennsylvania? Can we allow the sick and desperate peoples of Pennsylvania to cause themselves further expense and further agony, if this thing is a hoax and if it is a fraud? Therefor, Mr. President, I call upon the Members of this Senate to immediately, under the leadership of the President pro tempore of the Senate, name a committee consisting of members of whatever side he thinks is right, which committee shall immediately make a preliminary investigation, to call in the Department of Health and the Department of Welfare, in order to find out whether this clinic should be allowed to be opened within our confines or whether it should be stopped.

I, for one, cannot honestly sit in this Senate and listen to two sincere men talk about a subject that is closer to the Members of this Senate and the people of Pennsylvania than any other subject on the agenda today. I do not think that we want to listen for the rest of this Session to the pros and cons on the question of Hoxsey, and in the many sessions which will come after this as to the pros and cons of the Hoxsey treatment without now, at the beginning, making a survey and a quick study to determine whether or not Dr. Hoxsey would even be allowed to open it and if he is allowed to open it shall it be opened under the supervision and under the guiding eye of the departments of Pennsylvania that have, within their duties, the prescribed duty of looking after the health and welfare of the peoples of this Comonwealth.

Mr. President, I, therefore, call upon the President pro tempore to take under advisement the proposition that we immediately name a committee to go into this matter and discover whether or not, to the best of our knowledge and from the best advice we can get, this institution ought to be allowed to operate or whether it ought not be allowed to open its doors.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. SCHMIDT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. SCHMIDT. Mr. President, the bill that I am about to introduce is of great importance to a few of the members of this body, not only of the Senate but of the House. It has only my sponsorship. I had desired to secure a sponsor from the Republican side of the Senate, but I do appreciate the fact that the contents of this bill is such that those on the other side, and even my colleagues on this side, might hesitate to join me in this bill.

Mr. President, this bill is of nonpolitical significance, and I might say that although it applies to certain Members of this Senate, there are no personalities involved. It is a firm conviction, on my part, that there is a situation which must be cured.

Mr. President, if you gentlemen will recall that in the 1951 Session of the House, the bill which I am about to introduce stated that it was incompatible for one to be a member of the Legislature and also occupy a position as an elective official of a county or city. That bill passed the House in the 1951 Session. It arrived in the Senate, and there it remained.

As I say, Mr President, I am firmly convinced that such offices are incompatible and should be so declared, and for that reason I now at this time am presenting this bill.

BILL INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Mr. SCHMIDT. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to introduce a bill at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. SCHMIDT read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 102 entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 15, 1874 (P. L. 186), entitled "An act declaring what offices are incompatible," making elective county and city offices and members of the legislature incompatible.

Which was committed to the Committee on Local Government.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. WOLFE. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make report from committee at this time.

The PRESIDENT, Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. Wolfe, from the Committee on Military Affairs and Aeronautics, reported as committed Senate Bill No. 83, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 13, 1925 (P. L. 644), entitled "An act relating to and regulating the solicitation of moneys and property for charitable, religious, benevolent, humane and patriotic purposes," exempting organizations composed of mothers of men or women who have died while in the Armed Services of the United States from the provisions of the act.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. MAHANY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I desire to read into the record a couple of letters; one from our new Secretary of Commerce Mr. Robin, and the other the answer to it from a publisher by the name of John McDowell. There is a certain amount of humor in this, and I think you folks will enjoy listening to it again.

Mr. President, this letter is addressed to The Gazette at Wilkinsburg, Pennsylvania:

"Dear Sir:

"Please accept this as your authority to cancel subscription of the Department of Commerce with your Newspaper effective 2-1-55.

"The subscription having been prepaid to 5-1-55 please forward your check for refund at your earliest convenience payable to the Department of Commerce.

"Cancellation of subscription has been found necessary for economy reasons.

"May I take this opportunity to thank you for your past fine services.

"Very truly yours

"John P. Robin
"Secretary'

Mr. President, the following is the answer to that letter and it was written by John McDowell:

"My Dear Secretary:

"Your cancellation of your subscription which is to expire 5-31-55 has been received and its contents noted.

"I appreciate the hell-of-a-mess John S. Fine left your boys and I am deeply sympathetic with both you and Governor Leader's efforts to tuck in the sheets wherever you are able but this letter presents a problem.

"This cancellation date, if it were carried out would mean that I would refund to the Commowealth of Pennsylvania the cost of thirteen weeks' Gazettes which would amount to sixty-five cents. Now, Mr. Secretary, I do not want any rumors circulating around Harrisburg that I ain't got sixty-five cents because I have it—I have it in my pants right now.

"But the problem is that this subscription was ordered by the late Governor Gifford Pinchot when you were still in grade school and despite the fact that I receive fifteen or twenty pounds of mail each week from the Commonwealth, in almost thirty years I have patiently opened thousands of letters from Harrisburg with absolutely no luck at all for about thirty years in so far as receiving a check for your subscription.

"That means you owe me enough money that if I sue you, which I won't, George would be totally unable to build that super highway from York to the New York border as I am taking his own word for the fact that John left George holding the bag.

"Now I insist that I am a Pennsylvania patriot and I am for Pennsylvania and I am going to leave the Gazette go down to Harrisburg for the benefit of you and George and Senator Haluska, (if he can read) on the theory that the way to run Wilkinsburg is the way to run Pennsylvania. Our boys here, John, are fantastic.

Why you take our schoolboard alone. Those fellows are so good that they will wind up this fiscal year with more loose dought laying in the bank and it has them about nuts trying to figure out a way to spend it. The fastest thought was a kind of a super-duper doughnut kettle about the size of Forbes Field so the kids won't even have to go home for lunch. Tell George that a doughnut is what they refer to as 'fastnuts' "—I imagine that is f-a-s-n-a-u-g-h-t-s—" in York.

"Whether you like it or not you are going to get the Gazette and I have plunked two bucks and a half in the till of my own money.

"Hope you appreciate it.

"Respectfully
"John McDowell

"P.S. Give my love to George and tell him that his license to lay eggs in York is not extendable to Harrisburg."

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. HALUSKA asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, of all the men in the Senate, I do not know why this gentleman picks on me when he says, "If he can read."

I only want to say this, Mr. President, that a gentleman will never insult me and others cannot.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. MAHANY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I would like to say to Senator Haluska that I would have preferred leaving that out, but I read it into the record as it was, as I had to. I am sure that we all appreciate your learned intelligence, and I want to compliment you on the fine presentation you made of your case yesterday. After listening to that, anyone who underrates you in any way whatsoever certainly does not know you very well.

SENATE RESOLUTIONS

CONDOLENCE OF SENATE EXTENDED TO FAMILY OF THE LATE FORMER SENATOR PATRICK J. HENNEY

Mr. KOPRIVER, JR. offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, February 8, 1955.

Dr. Patrick J. Henney, former State Senator and Allegheny County Coroner has suddenly passed away on his sixty-ninth birthday.

Dr. Henney was born in Carnegie, Pennsylvania. He was a graduate of the University of Louisville, and later attended the University of Pittsburgh Medical School, with post-graduate work in medicine at the University of Pennsylvania. Dr. Henney began practicing medicine in McKees Rocks in 1917 and faithfully served the sick and afflicted of that community until the day of his death.

Dr. P. J. Henney served with distinction in the Army Medical Corps in World War I. Soon after his return, he became active in McKees Rocks political circles, and was elected as burgess of that community in 1933. In 1936 the Doctor reached the height of his political career by being elected to the State Senate, and supported many worth-while projects in his capacity as a Senator. Dr. Henney was elected Allegheny County Coroner in 1938 and when the Supreme Court ruled that the offices of Senator and Coroner were incompatible, the Doctor chose the office of Coroner. While serving as Coroner, Dr. Henney established procedures which have since become the accepted practice throughout the country.

The Commonwealth has truly suffered a great loss in the fields of medicine and human relationship by the death of Dr. Patrick J. Henney; therefore be it RESOLVED, That the members of the Senate extend their deepest sympathy to the surviving members of Dr. Henney's family, and that the Secretary of the Senate transmit a copy of this resolution to Dr. Henney's widow, Mrs. Helen Connors Henney.

CONDOLENCE OF SENATE EXTENDED TO FAMILY OF THE LATE FORMER SENATOR WILLIAM DOUGLASS MANSFIELD

Mr. KOPRIVER, JR. offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, February 8, 1955.

William Douglass Mansfield, well-known McKeesport publisher, banker and former State Senator, died on October 6, 1952 at McKeesport Hospital.

Senator Mansfield was born on March 6, 1878, on a farm near McKeesport. He attended public school in Boston, Pennsylvania and later in Coulter, South Versailles Township. He entered business school at the McKeesport Military Academy in 1894 and a year later was graduated with first honors, thus winning a scholarship to the Douglas Business College in McKeesport, which he attended the next year.

Virtually from the time William D. Mansfield came as a farm boy to make his way in the city he took an active part in civic and business affairs. A partial statement of Senator Mansfield's many active and honorable achievements will recall the high qualities of his citizenship and the devotion of his services.

Senator Mansfield served thirty-four years as a public official, holding elective State, county and municipal positions and served by appointment on several public boards and commissions. He represented the 44th District in the State Senate for three consecutive terms from 1923 through 1935. He served as a county commissioner from 1932 through 1936. He was treasurer for the City of McKeesport for the years 1916 and 1917. He was alderman of McKeesport's Fourth Ward from 1902 to 1923, when he resigned to enter the State Senate.

Senator Mansfield was president and editor of the McKeesport Daily News and president of the First National Bank of McKeesport. His services with other public and semi-public institutions were manifold.

William D. Mansfield was a member of the First Methodist Church of McKeesport and regularly attended its services. He was affiliated with many civic, social and fraternal organizations and was one of the few men ever to hold simultaneous honorary memberships in both the Rotary and Kiwanis Clubs. He was a life member and second president of the McKeesport Caraan No. 4 of Syria Temple of the Shrine. He was chairman of the advisory committee to the Department of Journalism at Penn State University. He held memberships in the following other organizations: Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalistic fraternity; National Small Businessmen's Association; Pennsylvania Society of New York Youghiogheny Lodge 583, F. and A. M.; McKeesport Royal Arch Chapter 282; McKeesport Commandery 86; Syria Temple of Pittsburgh; Grandview Lodge 303; Knights of Pythias; Junior Order of United American Mechanics No. 109; McKeesport Lodge 136, B. P. O. E.; McKeesport Auto Club; Young Men's Christian Association; Banker's Club of Pittsburgh; Amen Corner of Pittsburgh; Youghiogheny Country Club; Department of Pennsylvania News Service of the American Legion;

Supreme Forest of the Tall Cedars of Lebanon and first member on sight of the organization in Allegheny County; honorary member of the Veteran Firemen's Association of Pittsburgh.

In recognition of William Douglass Mansfield's long and useful life as a public officer of great trust, as an energetic lodge man, as a loyal churchman and a devoted family man, and in recollection of our pleasant personal and official association with him as a Senator; therefore be it

RESOLVED, That the members of the Senate of Pennsylvania offer their sincere condolences to his family; and be it further

RESOLVED, That the Secretary of the Senate be instructed to forward a copy of this resolution to his son, William D. Mansfield, Jr., Daily News, McKeesport, Pennsylvania.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. LANE asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, as we read the headlines in the Philadelphia Inquirer this morning where it says that more warships were sent to Formosa as evacuation of the Tachen Islands is speeded up under guard of the guns of our 7th Fleet, I am thinking that, possibly, all public officials should be conscious of the fact that we are on the brink of a terrible war, and most of us will agree, too, that our foreign policy for a long, long time has been subject to considerable debate. I, for one, do not pretend to know the answers, but I do say this to you here today, that when the guns start to fire and when American blood is again spilled upon foreign soil, I just wonder how some of those recipients of American funds are going to react.

Mr. President, I am wondering in my mind about Franco of Spain, about Tito of Yugoslavia, about France, Italy and Great Britain itself, if you please. I am wondering if we are going to do the job ourselves with American money and American blood.

I believe, Mr. President, that maybe it is a little old-fashioned, but I feel that possibly the United States State Department should adopt a policy that I can explain with an old proverb that goes something like this: "Old shoes to wear, old wood to burn, old friends to trust." I think that if our State Department, and I do not pretend to know all the answers, would judge the activities in the past with what could happen in the future, they would be conscious of the fact that possibly they are doing an injustice to a little country overseas, a little country called Israel which is a true friend of democracy.

I feel that, possibly, Mr. President, we in this great United States of ours could depend upon Israel. But, how many more of those foreign countries are going to stand up and be counted and put their soldiers in the fields with our United States boys when we go out there to keep our promise of defending Formosa?

Therefore, Mr. President, I wish to present to the Chair the following resolution. I do not ask for its immediate adoption but I say, Mr. President, that although we are representatives here in the State we, too, have a great responsibility as public officials to try to advise and try to inform our National Government as to just how Pennsylvania is thinking.

SENATE RESOLUTION REFERRED TO COMMITTEE MEMORIALIZING CONGRESS TO PREVAIL UPON THE STATE DEPARTMENT TO ALTER ITS POLICY IN THE NEAR EAST

Mr. LANE offered the following resolution which was twice read and referred to the Committee on Constitutional Changes and Federal Relations:

In the Senate, February 8, 1955.

WHEREAS, Israel is a bastion of true Democracy and a true and faithful ally of all the freedom-loving peoples of the world in their fight against communism and totalitarianism; and

WHEREAS, The State Department of the United States Government seems to have instituted a new policy whereby the Government of the United States is now supplying armaments to the several Arab countries who apparently have maintained and still maintain a policy of neutralism in our Government's fight against communistic aggressors; and

WHEREAS, The armaments so supplied by the Government of the United States to the said Arab countries are very apt to be used by them in a renewal of aggression against the State of Israel; and

WHEREAS, The citizens of Pennsylvania view with disfavor any policy which supplies arms to the Arab countries and at the same time deprives the State of Israel of similar aid, thereby disturbing the balance of power and the peace of the Near East; therefore be it

RESOLVED, That the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania does hereby memorialize the Congress of the United States to prevail upon the State Department of our Government to discontinue or refrain from such dangerous policy which it appears to have initiated whereby the peace and tranquility of the Near East is endangered; and be it further

RESOLVED, That a copy of this resolution be forwarded to United States Senator James H. Duff; United States Senator Edward Martin; the Secretary of State, the Honorable John Foster Dulles; the Secretary of Defense, the Honorable Charles Wilson; and members of Congress from Pennsylvania.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE ON EXECUTIVE NOMINATIONS

Mr. WATSON. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make report from committee at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. WATSON, from the Committee on Executive Nominations, reported with a favorable recommendation the following nomination, made by His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth:

MEMBER OF SNYDER COUNTY BOARD OF ASSISTANCE

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, February 7, 1955

To the Honorable, the Senate of the
Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

In conformity with law, I have the honor hereby to nominate for the advice and consent of the Senate Mrs. Sara E. Bolig (Democrat), 7 West Pine Street, Selinsgrove, Snyder County, for appointment as a member of the Snyder County Board of Assistance, to serve until December 31, 1955, and until her successor is duly appointed and qualified, vice Dr. William J. Cott, Selinsgrove, resigned.

GEORGE M. LEADER

And said bill having been read at length the first time.
Ordered, To be laid aside for second reading.

Agreeably to order,
The Senate proceeded to the first reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 34, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 11, 1889 (P. L. 188), entitled "A further supplement to an act, entitled 'An act to establish a board of wardens for the Port of Philadelphia, and for the regulation of pilots and pilotage, and for other purposes,' approved March twenty-ninth, one thousand eight hundred and three, and for regulating the rates of pilotage and number of pilots," further regulating the rates of pilotage.

And said bill having been read at length the first time,
Ordered, To be laid aside for second reading.

Agreeably to order,
The Senate proceeded to the first reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 66, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 21, 1943 (P. L. 571), entitled as amended "An act relating to assessment for taxation in counties of the fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth classes; designating the subjects, property and persons subject to and exempt from taxation for county, borough, town, township, school, except in cities and county institution district purposes; and providing for and regulating the assessment and valuation thereof for such purposes; creating in each such county a board for the assessment and revision of taxes defining the powers and duties of such boards; providing for the acceptance of this act by cities; regulating the office of ward, borough, town, and township assessors; abolishing the office of assistant triennial assessor in townships of the first class; providing for the appointment of a chief assessor, assistant assessors and other employes; providing for their compensation payable by such counties; prescribing certain duties of and certain fees to be collected by the recorder of deeds and municipal officers who issue building permits; imposing duties on taxables making improvements on land and grantees of land; prescribing penalties; and eliminating the triennial assessment," further regulating notice of appeals from assessments.

And said bill having been read at length the first time.
Ordered, To be laid aside for second reading.

Agreeably to order,
The Senate proceeded to the first reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 67, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 25, 1947, (P. L. 1145), entitled as amended "An act empowering cities of the second class, cities of the second class A, cities of the third class, boroughs, towns, townships of the first class, townships of the second class, school districts of the second class, school districts of the third class and school districts of the fourth class to levy, assess, and collect or to provide for the levying, assessment and collection of certain additional taxes subject to maximum limitations for general revenue purposes; authorizing the establishment of bureaus and the appointment and compensation of officers and employes to assess and collect such taxes; and permitting penalties to be imposed and enforced; providing an appeal from the ordinance or resolution levying such taxes to the court of quarter sessions and to the Supreme Court, and Superior Court," exempting certain resolutions from advertising requirements.

And said bill having been read at length the first time.
Ordered, To be laid aside for second reading.

Agreeably to order,
The Senate proceeded to the first reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 68, entitled:

An Act to amend Section 1 of the act, approved the twenty-second day of April, one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 620) entitled "An act directing the recorder of deeds of each county of the Commonwealth to refuse for record all deeds or other transfers of real estate, or interest in real estate, unless a certificate is attached to said instruments giving the precise residence of the grantee or grantees named therein; and requiring a list thereof to be delivered to the proper board of revision of taxes, or other officials charged with the assessment of real estate," by requiring the certificate of the grantees to contain their complete post office address.

And said bill having been read at length the first time,
Ordered, To be laid aside for second reading.

Agreeably to order,

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

TUESDAY, February 8, 1955

The House met at 2:00 p. m.

The SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Reverend Harold J. Crouse, offered the following prayer:

Eternal God, Thine is the power and the glory; Thine is the beauty and splendor of the world. Yea, Thou art the one certainty amid all uncertainties. It is now to Thee we come in this moment of prayer. How terrible are Thy ways, and yet how wise; making men to know that only as nations are built in liberty and justice can they long endure in a world where Thou reignest.

God of our Fathers make us worthy of our glorious heritage. Let us not forget our past. We thank Thee for the inspiration that breathes in the memory of Abraham Lincoln and we pray that this spirit may be ours. Appoint us anew for the protection of the weak and the leadership of right. Cast out all pride and prejudice and make a highway where Thy people may walk together in liberty and freedom. Thus wilt Thou establish our nation and men and leaders of other days will see the work of their hands made strong. This all to the glory of God the Father world without end. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVAL POSTPONED

The SPEAKER. Without objection, approval of the Journal for Monday, February 7, will be postponed until the Journal is in print. The Chair hears none.

RESOLUTION INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Mr. STEPHENS. RESOLUTION No. 9.

In the House of Representatives, February 7, 1955.

The rates charged by utilities supplying gas and electricity have been increasing very rapidly in the past few years.

The increases in rates are causing great hardship to the citizenry of this Commonwealth; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission is directed to make a study of the increases in gas and eletcricity rates in the past four years. After completing its study it shall make a report as to the number and percentages of increases of rates of each utility company supplying gas and electricity and shall submit its report to the General Assembly on the first Monday in June, 1955.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

SENATE MESSAGE

TIME OF NEXT MEETING

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced presented an extract from the Journal of the Senate, which was read as follows:

In the Senate, February 7, 1955.

Resolved, (if the House of Representatives concur), That when the Senate adjourns this week, it reconvene on Monday, February 14, 1955, at four o'clock P. M., and when the House of Representatives adjourns this week, it reconvene on Monday, February 14, 1955, at four-thirty o'clock P. M.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for its concurrence.

On the question,

Will the House concur in the resolution of the Senate?

It was concurred in.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

PERMISSION TO ADD ADDITIONAL SPONSORS

Mr. STONER asked and obtained unanimous consent to add additional sponsors to a bill to be introduced by him.

Mr. MUSTO asked and obtained unanimous consent to add additional sponsors to a bill to be introduced by him.

Mr. PACCHIOLI asked and obtained unanimous consent to add additional sponsors to a bill to be introduced by him.

Mr. WILBUR H. HAMILTON asked and obtained unanimous consent to add additional sponsors to a bill to be introduced by him.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, as most of the members know from the newspapers and it has been announced by the Majority an FEPC bill will be dropped into the House today.

The majority party is going to caucus on other matters and I see no necessity at this time unless some of our Members so designate to hold a Republican caucus.

I would suggest if any members on our side of the House, the minority, desire to have their names added as co-sponsors of this FEPC bill, the majority has consented to permit some of our Members do so. If they will come down to see me during the recess, while the majority is in caucus, and give me their names, we will see to it that their names as co-sponsors are put on the FEPC bill.

PERMISSION TO ADD ADDITIONAL SPONSORS

Mr. WATERHOUSE asked and obtained unanimous consent to add additional sponsors to a bill to be introduced by him.

DEMOCRATIC CAUCUS

The SPEAKER. The Majority Leader requests a recess of one hour for the purpose of holding a Democratic Caucus.

Immediately upon the return of the Members from the Caucus the photographers will take a panoramic picture.

RECESS

The SPEAKER. The Chair now declares a recess of one hour and we hope it will not be more than one hour. The Chair hears no objection, and a recess is declared.

AFTER RECESS

The time of recess having expired, the House was called to order.

The SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) IN THE CHAIR.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Messrs. MAGEE and STRAUSSER.

PERMISSION TO ADD ADDITIONAL SPONSORS

Mr. HOCKER asked and obtained unanimous consent to add additional sponsors to bills to be introduced by him.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. HOCKER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, this package of bills is the Republican party's answer to the veteran groups in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

During our campaign we made certain pledges and had in our platform things that we were going to do on our side of the House for the veteran groups.

Thinking that we were going to be in the majority, we wind up in the minority, but we still think they are good bills, that they will help the veterans' groups. They are what we promised them. We ask for the wholehearted support of both sides of the House for these bills.

PERMISSION TO ADD ADDITIONAL SPONSORS

Mr. FLOYD asked and obtained unanimous consent to add additional sponsors to a bill to be introduced by him.

Mr. GELFAND asked and obtained unanimous consent to add additional sponsors to a bill to be introduced by him.

Mr. POLASKI asked and obtained unanimous consent to add additional sponsors to a bill to be introduced by him.

REPORT FROM JOINT STATE GOVERNMENT COMMISSION

LIVESTOCK MARKETING IN PENNSYLVANIA

Mr. BUCCHIN presented the following communication and report from the Joint State Government Commission.

The communication was read by the Clerk as follows:

February 8, 1955

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

On behalf of the Joint State Government Commission, I have the honor to transmit herewith A Report of the Joint State Government Commission, Session of 1955, dealing with Livestock Marketing in Pennsylvania.

Copies of this report for members of the House of Representatives have been placed in their post office boxes.

Respectfully submitted,

Baker Royer
Chairman

The SPEAKER. Copies of the report have been distributed to the Members.

COMMUNICATION FROM GOVERNOR

The SPEAKER laid before the House a communication from His Excellency the Governor, Honorable George M. Leader, which was read by the Clerk as follows:

February 8, 1955.

TO THE HONORABLE, THE MEMBERS OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF THE COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA:

The ideal of our country, throughout its period of independence, has been equality of opportunity. The Declaration of Independence, written and adopted here in Pennsylvania, states that "all men are created equal" and that "they are endowed by their Creator with certain inalienable rights."

As imperfect human beings, we have not always been able to realize our ideal. It has been a long and almost ageless struggle to bring into our daily lives the concept which was put before us at our nation's founding. Sometimes that struggle has gone well for the cause of freedom and opportunity; sometimes there have been setbacks.

But, over the years, the net gain has been great.

In recent years, those gains have come at an accelerated pace and in mounting volume. Racial and religious intolerance are on the wane in our national and community life. More and more, we are learning to accept each other as human beings and fellow Americans; to judge each other only on the basis of ability, of decency, of our adherence to the codes of good conduct and good citizenship.

We cannot depend, however, purely upon the increasing level of public understanding and upon the principles taught by all of our great religious faiths, to insure equality of opportunity in every instance—powerful as those influences are. They are at work in every field of human conduct, to our great good, but we still must have laws to state public policy and provide penalties for wrongdoing.

To insure equality of opportunity in our State, appropriate legislation which will declare it to the time has certainly come when we should enact be the public policy of this Commonwealth that individual competence, and not race, religion, or national origin, shall be the prerequisite for employment in Pennsylvania.

The Legislature is thoroughly familiar with the type of legislation that has been accepted as a standard for such assurance of equal opportunity.

The platforms of both political parties have repeatedly called for enactment of such Fair Employment legislation.

It is now my hope, and I strongly recommend, that the 1955 session of the Legislature will be remembered as the session in which this promise of equal opportunity was kept. I would like to see this issue taken out of politics, and passed with the sponsorship of members of both parties.

An outline of such effective legislation for equal opportunity would include the statement of public policy; prohibit both employers and labor organizations from discriminating because of race, religion, or national origin; create a Fair Employment Practices Commission as an independent administrative board to administer the act; and endow that Commission with sufficient powers while controlling those powers with sufficient safeguards against abuse.

The legislation should recognize that there are some positions of employment that require nationality or religious qualifications, and make reasonable provision for their exclusion from the general terms of the Act.

Persuasion is, of course, the basic instrument in such a program to encourage equal opportunity; education is its foundation. But in rare instances, it must be recognized, the power of compulsion that lies in the State must be used. The law should so provide.

Such legislation has been adopted by municipal ordinance in Pittsburgh and Philadelphia, and, from all reports, has been generally accepted and has worked well. Many states have adopted it while we still debated and hesitated, including the neighboring State of New York.

Pennsylvania is the Commonwealth of William Penn, of the Declaration of Independence, of the Battle of Gettysburg. Surely, no American state has so many great associations with the cause of human freedom and of equal opportunity.

It is high time that we wrote into Pennsylvania law a new expression of the American ideal which our history so richly expresses.

George M. Leader

The SPEAKER. The communication will be printed in the Legislative Journal.

The title was read and agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on second reading as amended?

Mr. KENT. Mr. Speaker, I am going to vote for House Bill No. 120, the unemployment compensation bill. There are some provisions in it which I think are necessary and required at this time. I am in agreement with them.

However, there are some additions, some new matters, in the bill which I cannot agree with, but I am going to swallow my objection to those features and vote for the bill.

However, I do want to take srious exception to statements of the Governor in his message to this House yesterday, when he stated that the Legislature had been in past years inprovident and in error in some of the amendments that were made to the Pennsylvania Unemployment Compensation law.

I know we have been faced with the problem every Session since I have been here in 1947 of trying to determine just what the level of the fund should be, what should be maintained. Unfortunately, ever since we have had the Unemployment Compensation law in Pennsylvania we have been handicapped by the fact that we have not had the experience upon which to base a good judgment as to what the level of that fund should be.

If you will refer to Exhibit A, which was attached to the Governor's statement, you will see that the fund through the years since 1946, at least, has been at what I call a high level, or a high reserve, so far as unemployment in Pennsylvania is concerned in those years.

In 1951 when the Legislature did see fit to give some relief to industry in Pennsylvania from the burden they have under the unemployment compensation law there was beter than $600 million in that fund. That was not the highest that it had reached. In 1948 it was as high as $635 million.

It seems inconsistent to me for His Excellency to accuse this Legislature, or the past administration of putting the fund in a position of danger at this time, because His Excellency sat in the Senate of Pennsylvania in 1951 and is recorded as having voted in favor of the unemployment compensation bill during that session. He was in the Senate also in 1953 and apparently did not see fit to offer any amendments to the provisions so far as contributions were concerned at that time. So I do not believe he was any more alarmed than any of the rest of us in 1953 when the fund was about $550 million.

Of course, it was a very bad experience we did have in 1954, which I do not believe is blamable on anybody. Nobody likes unemployment. I don't, and we certainly do not like it on this side of the House any more than the Democrats, or the present administration, likes unemployment.

However, if you will examine the bill and the new schedule of rates which are included in the administration's bill now, you will find that when the fund reaches $450 million that the contribution rates in many cases for many employers are actually less than they are under the present law which was adopted in 1951 and will bring in no more money than will be brought in under the present law when the fund reaches that point.

So it would seem to me, and I certainly feel, that the Governor has gone a long way in accusing the Republicans, at least, and I think even the Democrats in this House in 1951 and in 1953, for voting and passing that law.

However, the emergency that exists now does have to be taken care of, and for that reason I am going to vote for this bill.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. I would like to make a brief statement, unless the majority at this time would like to answer with a rebuttal.

The SPEAKER. Without objection, the gentleman will proceed.

Mr. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, if the Republican party had been in power, we in all probability at this time would have presented a similar bill with increased benefits for the working man and woman as this bill provides.

I say that for the reason that our platform in its labor plank carried this tatement,

> "We pledge increases in Workmen's Compensation and Unemployment Compensation benefits in line with the increases in the cost of living and the lengthening of the period of payment for unemployment compensation."

This bill, as far as the benefits, as far the lengthening of the service is consumed, practically would be a bill similar to what we, if we had been in power, would have introduced. And I want to bring that out and to put that part of our platform in as a matter of record.

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, I am glad of one thing, that in the future should this bill which we are going to act upon today, or rather tomorrow, be passed, there will be no opportunity for any hassel between the majority and the minority, because as I understand it, Mr. Smith thinks it is a pretty good bill too.

Getting back to the former question as to whether or not there were some correct things done in 1951, we need to look at the record to find out just what took place.

In 1951, in October of that year, we passed legislation which was retroactive in character, and as a result of that legislation $55 million was returned in the form of credits to employers who had already paid in that money. In the year of 1951 there were $127 million contributed by the employers to the fund. In the following year of 1952 the contributions went away down to $47.7 million, a terrific decline in contributions, $55 million of that decline, at least, was due to the legislation which passed a retroactive—or, rather, gave a retroactive credit, so that in 1952 employers were turning in credit slips to the fund rather than cash. I think that, perhaps, was unwise, and while we Democrats, perhaps, may have to take part of the blame, I insist that the movement was initiated by the then majority—the bill was prepared under the supervision of the then majority. And, of course, we had no opportunity to go back into the fund and have the assistance that was necessary to bring about the study and to fight it at that particular time.

I think that regardless of where the blame lie it was unwise. I think it should be a lesson for us in the future that in times of high employment we should allow this fund to accumulate sufficient funds so that when we have times of distress we will be able to use the fund for the purpose for which it was originally created, to help the workers and to help our economic conditions.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on second reading as amended.

It was agreed to.

Ordered, To be transcribed for third reading.

RESOLUTION NO. 7

Mr. POLASKI. Mr. Speaker, I call up House Resolution No. 7, Printer's No. 18.

The resolution was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, January 31, 1955.

Resolved that the House of Representatives hereby requests the Governor to make available to it within thirty (30) days a report covering all purchases made by agencies of the Commonwealth under his jurisdiction said report to cover the period from October two one thousand nine hundred and fifty-four to January eighteen one thousand nine hundred and fifty-five specifying the nature amount and cost of such purchases.

PERMISSION TO ADD ADDITIONAL SPONSORS

Mr. WALLACE asked and obtained unanimous consent to add additional sponsors to a resolution to be introduced by him.

RESOLUTION

LINCOLN'S BIRTHDAY

Mr. EILBERG, Mrs. ANDERSON, Mrs. MONROE, Mrs. REIBMAN, Mrs. PASHLEY, Miss LEIBY, Mrs. MUNLEY and Mrs. VARALLO offered a resolution which was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, February 8, 1955.

February 12, ninety years ago, was a day of gloom. Upon that day the entire nation mourned the loss of a man who will forever stand immortal in American History, Abraham Lincoln. Let us pause briefly and pay homage to the wonderous attributes of this great patriot.

Abraham Lincoln: A man who attained the pinnacle of success and yet never abandoned his humble spirit and freedom from arrogance: A man who so well proved the American tradition that a boy born into any station of life may overcome his surroundings and someday become President of the United States: A man who, by devoting his entire life to the well-being of his fellow men, has given us a rich heritage: A man who saved our country when it was torn assunder by civil strife, and held it together for the greatness it has attained today: A man who looked to God when he neded strength, and never found it wanting: A man who set the ideal example of what a man chosen as a spokesman of the people should be, an example which we would all do well to set as our model; therefore be it

Resolved, That we, as members of this House, shall strive to follow the course that he blazed; that we forget position, power and preference; that we cast aside envy, jealousy and pettiness, and that we emulate the courage, the rectitude, the tolerance, the honesty and the equity of Abraham Lincoln.

PERMISSION GRANTED COMMITTEE TO MEET DURING SESSION

Mr. LOPRESTI asked and obtained permission for the Committee on Elections and Apportionment to meet during the session of the House.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mrs. DONAHUE. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The lady will state it.

Mrs. DONAHUE. On Tuesday, February 1st, I was in the House, in fact, in my chair, and voted on Bills Nos. 31 and 32 "no." I am recorded as "not voting." On Bills Nos. 33, 34 and 35 I am recorded as voting "no." I voted "yes." On Bills Nos. 36, 37 and 38 I am recorded as "not voting." I also voted "no."

The SPEAKER. The Chair thanks the lady and her remarks will be noted upon the record.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. BELL. I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. BELL. Mr. Speaker, in the Legislative Journal of February 1st on page 230 on House Bill No. 32 I was recorded as not voting. I was present in the Chamber and I voted "nay."

Also, on page 234 of the same day of the Legislative Journal on House Bill No. 32 I was recorded as not voting. I was in the Chamber and voted "aye."

On page 236 of the Journal of the same day on House Bill No. 33, I was in the Chamber and voted "aye," but I was recorded as not voting.

On page 237 of the same Journal on House Bill No. 34 I was recorded as not voting. I was in the Chamber and voted "aye."

The SPEAKER. The remarks of the gentleman will be spread upon the record. The Chair commends the Member's diligence. He has read the Legislative Journal—a practice I commend to the other Members.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. BELL. I again rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. BELL. Mr. Speaker, to further correct the Legislative Journal, I have had some very expert advice, and I find there were two other bills where I was recorded as not present. I was present and I did note. These bills are Bills No. 34 on Page 237, where I voted "aye," and Bill No. 35 on page 238 where I was present and voted "aye." In both cases I was recorded as not voting, sir.

And here is another one—Bill on page 240 where I was registered as not voting. I was in the Chamber and voted "nay."

House Bill 37 page 242 the Journal registers me as not voting. I voted "nay." House Bill 38, page 342, I was registered as not voting. I voted "nay." I was on the floor at this time, sir.

The SPEAKER. The remarks of the gentleman will be noted upon the record.

REPORTS FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. DONALDSON from the Committee on Cities-Counties Second and Second Class A, reported as committed, House Bill No. 78, entitled:

An Act amending the act of March 27, 1929 (P. L. 84), entitled "An act to fix the fees to be charged by coroners in counties of the second class," increasing fees to be charged.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN from the Committee on Cities-Counties Second and Second Class A, reported as committed, House Bill No. 89, entitled:

An Act to further amend Section 15 of the act approved the twenty-first day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-nine (P. L. 626) entitled "An act providing for and regulating the assessment and valuation of all subjects of taxation in counties of the second class creating and prescribing the powers and duties of a Board of Property Assessment Appeals and Review imposing duties on certain county and city officers abolishing the board for the assessment and revision of taxes in such counties and prescribing penalties" by changing the provisions concerning service of notice to taxables upon change of assessments.

Mr. FLINT from the Committee on Elections and Apportionment, reported as committed, House Bill No. 185, entitled:

An Act to further amend the act, approved the third day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 1333), entitled "An act concerning elections, including general, municipal, special and primary elections, the nomination of candidates, primary and election expenses and election contests; creating and defining membership of county boards of elections; imposing duties upon the Secretary of the Commonwealth, courts, county boards of elections, county commissioners; imposing penalties for violation of the act, and codifying, revising and consolidating the laws relating thereto; and repealing certain acts and parts of acts relating to elections," by further regulating the date of the primary election, the duties of the Secretary of the Commonwealth, and nominations to fill certain vacancies.

BILLS ON FIRST READING

Mr. FLINT asked and obtained unanimous consent for House Bill No. 185 to be read for the first time.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the first reading and consideration of House Bill No. 185, entitled

An Act to further amend the act, approved the third day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 1333), entitled "An act concerning elections, including general, municipal, special and primary elections, the nomination of candidates, primary and election expenses and election contests; creating and defining membership of county boards of elections; imposing duties upon the Secretary of the Commonwealth, courts, county boards of elections, county commissioners; imposing penalties for violation of the act, and codifying, revising and consolidating the laws relating thereto; and repealing certain acts and parts of acts relating to elections," by further regulating the date of the primary election, the duties of the Secretary of the Commonwealth, and nominations to fill certain vacancies.

And said bill having been read at length the first time,

Ordered, To be laid aside for second reading.

PERMISSION TO ADD ADDITIONAL SPONSORS

Mr. READINGER asked and obtained unanimous consent to add additional sponsors to a bill to be introduced by him.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. LOPRESTI asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call the attention of the House to the fact that there will be a meeting of the Elections Committee on Tuesday of next week at ten o'clock a. m. in Room 329.

At that meeting the participants, or the contestants and their counsel, are invited to attend for the purpose of setting up the procedure for final determination of the election contests, that is, with reference to the Philadelphia County contest.

INTERROGATION

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask a question of the Chairman of the Elections Committee or the Speaker, whoever desires to answer it.

The SPEAKER. Will the Chairman of the Elections Committee permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. LOPRESTI. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I wonder if it might be advisable for the Chairman of the Committee to personally notify the counsel on both sides, of this meeting rather than do it by word of mouth as far as the individual Members here are concerned. I think it might be advantageous for the Committee itself to officially notify counsel on both sides. Does that meet with the approval of the Chairman?

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, it was the intention of the Chairman to notify them in writing immediately following the session.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. I thank the gentleman.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. A. PATRICK BRENNAN. Mr. Speaker, I move that this House do now adjourn until Wednesday, February 9, 1955 at 10:00 a. m.

The motion was agreed to, and (at 5:47 p. m.) the House adjourned.

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

Legislative Journal.

Session 1955. 141st of the General Assembly.

Vol. 34. HARRISBURG, PA., WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 9, 1955. No. 11.

SENATE

WEDNESDAY. February 9, 1955.

The Senate met at 10:00 o'clock, a. m., Eastern Standard Time.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Roy E. Furman) in the Chair.

PRAYER

In the absence of the Chaplain, the prayer was offered by the gentleman from Berks, Mr. RUTH.

Almighty God, our Heavenly Father, this beautiful morning we come to Thy presence with thanksgiving and praise for the many things which Thou hast given to us.

This morning we pray especially that Thou will give wisdom and understanding to the leaders of our Nations in these hours of crises, that they may be guided to shape the things of the world under Divine guidance and that peace and brotherhood may really be established.

We pray this morning for those of our Members who are sick and indisposed. We pray that Thou will speedily restore them again to health and strength, to their useful place here in our midst. Keep us all loyal and true in Thy service. Use us wherever Thou canst to build Thy Kingdom and to have Thy will done here on earth as it is in heaven. We ask it in the Master's Name, Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present, the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. MAHANY and Mr. SEYLER, further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

LEAVES OF ABSENCE

Mr. MAHANY asked and obtained leave of absence for Mr. VAN SANT, due to illness.

He also asked and obtained leave of absence for Mr. PROPERT, due to illness.

HOUSE MESSAGE

HOUSE CONCURS IN SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

TIME OF NEXT MEETING

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced, informed the Senate that the House has concurred in resolution from the Senate as follows:

In the Senate, February 7, 1955.

Resolved, (if the House of Representatives concur), that when the Senate adjourns this week, it reconvene on Monday, February 14, 1955, at four o'clock p. m., and when the House of Representatives adjourns this week, it reconvene on Monday, February 14, 1955, at four-thirty o'clock p. m.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Messrs. DENT and McMENAMIN read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 103, entitled:

An Act creating a temporary advisory commission to examine, report upon and recommend reorganizations of agencies and functions of the State government; prescribing its powers and duties; directing cooperation of governmental agencies; and authorizing the issuance of subpoenas.

Which was committed to the Committee on State Government.

Messrs. LANE and HOLLAND read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 104, entitled:

An Act encouraging the location of new and the expansion of existing industries in the Commonwealth, through the granting of State-aid to municipality authorities for the construction of industrial plants; placing certain limitations and restrictions on such loans; and making an appropriation.

Which was committed to the Committee on Corporations.

They also read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 105, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 1, 1929 (P. L. 905), entitled "An act for the protection of the public safety; regulating the use of highways, and the operation of vehicles, tractors, street cars, trackless trolley omnibuses, bicycles, pedestrians, and the riding of animals upon the highways of this Commonwealth; providing for the titling, including liens, encumbrances, and legal claims; registration of certain vehicles and licensing the operators thereof, upon payment of prescribed fees; prescribing and limiting the powers of local authorities to deal with the subject matter of this act; conferring powers and imposing duties upon the Department of Revenue, the Department of Highways, peace officers, mayors, burgesses, magistrates, aldermen, justices of the peace, the courts and the clerks thereof, owners of vehicles, and garage keepers; providing that records are admissible as evidence; imposing upon owners, counties, cities, boroughs, incorporated towns, townships, within the Commonwealth, liability for damages caused by the negligent operation of their motor vehicles; imposing penalties; imposing certain costs upon counties; providing for the disposition of fines, forfeitures, fees, and miscellaneous receipts; making an appropriation and providing for refunds," directing the issuance of special registration plates to war amputees and paralytics and exempting such persons from the payment of certain fees in connection with motor vehicles.

Which was committed to the Committee on Highways.

Mr. RUTH read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 106, entitled:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to section 25, article 5, of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, establishing a method for the selection of judges of the appellate courts and the courts of record of First and Fifth Judicial Districts and the adoption of the same method for other courts of record upon approval of the electors.

Which was committed to the Committee on Constitutional Changes and Federal Relations.

Mr. BARR read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 107, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the Department of Property and Supplies for the payment of certain moral claims; providing for the hearing, adjustment and payment of moral claims of persons injured by reason of falling down the main staircase of the Capitol Building as a result of negligence of the Commonwealth in maintaining the same.

Which was committed to the Committee on Appropriations.

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I have noticed again that certain newspaper accounts say that the Republicans over here are trying to obstruct certain bills of the Governor's and I, again, want to make it crystal clear to everyone that we do not intend to do that.

Mr. President, I want to say for the benefit of the press and the Members here that we are going to try to cooperate to the best of our ability with the Governor and with the Democratic Senators, in connection with any bill that is for the benefit of the Commonwealth.

Mr. President, so far there have been two bills that I have seen come over here which we might call administration bills that have passed the House. One is House Bill No. 1. So that nobody may be misled or fooled in connection with our stand on House Bill No. 1, we feel that the bill in its present form is unconstitutional. We feel that certainly if the newspaper editors would present this bill to their lawyers, they also would feel that in its present form it is unconstitutional because it violates, very definitely, Article III, Section 1, of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Our position is this, Mr. President, in connection with House Bill No. 1, that we will consider it in committee, and I understand it will be considered very shortly in our committee. If it can be put into a form where we think it will be constitutional, I have no doubt that the committee will act favorably upon it.

In connection with the tax package, Mr. President, we do not want it understood that we are holding that up for no good reason at all. We feel that the proper procedure, under the laws of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, is for the Governor to present a budget so that we will know how much money he figures he will need to run the Commonwealth for the next biennium. Then, when we see that, we will be in shape to act upon his tax program. Until that is done, we cannot very well act on any taxes until we know what kind of a budget this is.

For that reason, Mr. President, we feel that we should hold this tax package, with the exception of the gasoline tax bill which is not a general fund revenue raiser. Perhaps next week that can be brought out, and we can then show the Department of Highways about how much money they can expect in connection with the gasoline tax receipts.

Mr. President, I do not think that anyone, the Governor or any Democratic Senator, can accuse us of undue delay. In fact, yesterday, Senator Dent said that they were not. So, why some reporters say that we are obstructing the Governor and obstructing legislation is more than I can say. Certainly, that is not the feeling and not the thought of the Democratic Senators nor the Democratic Governor.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I might say that we are happy to see the Majority Leader reaffirming his position of being a non-obstructionist. However, Mr. President, in so far as the argument that the organization bill is unconstitutional, I would suggest that that matter had better be decided by the proper tribunal of government, the courts of this State. The Senate could very easily become an obstructionist body by taking a position similar to that which appears to have been taken by the Majority committee on the reorganization bill. That would be to broadly state that we are for this bill, but it is unconstitutional and, therefore, we will not consider it.

I believe, Mr. President, that the Majority Leader is sincere. However, it does not ring with conviction when he bluntly states that the Majority has taken the position that the bill is unconstitutional, when it may be that he should say that it is the opinion of the Republican Majority that it is unconstitutional. Speaking for the Democrats, I would just as bluntly state that the Democrats believe it to be constitutional.

Mr. President, we are not discussing the bill on its constitutionality nor are we discussing the bill, itself, at this moment. However, I do believe that consideration of the bill ought to depend entirely upon the merits of the bill itself and the intent of the legislation itself. I would recommend to the Majority Leader that the bill be considered from the viewpoint of what it does and what it does not do, and no other. It should not be considered on its ability to stand on its constitutionality. Secondly, I might suggest also to the Majority Leader that the so-called tax package is also the victim of the same type of thinking.

An analysis of the tax legislation that has been sent to the Senate by the House will clearly show that this legislation may be considered what we might call the permanent tax base of the Commonwealth, and the revenue measures upon which the good faith and credit of this Commonwealth stand. It is a good general who anticipates the battle lines and, therefore, deploys his troops in such a manner as to be able to meet any eventuality in tomorrow's battle. So it is at this time that we presented to the Senate, through the House, approximately 400 odd millions of dollars of so-called temporary taxes. If you will take those taxes and take the taxes that are already spread upon the statute books, you will find that we will have in our till, counting the Federal contributions and grants-in-aid, approximately 900 million dollars. This Senate will be in a much better position to discuss new and additional revenues if we already have in the cash box 900 odd millions of dollars with which to run the State's business.

Mr. President, there isn't anything that you can do to keep from passing this legislation that is now in the Committee on Finance, eventually. It is the base of your State's revenue. We do not want to get into a debate that may loggerhead this General Assembly into a long Session of a year or more duration, but a good general anticipates the enemy and the enemy's battle plan. We do not know what the attitude of the Republican Majority is going to be on new tax legislation. Therefore, in trying to maintain the stability of Pennsylvania's good faith and credit in the bond markets of the world and to give to the schools, to education, to the hospitals, to the persons on relief and to the various functions of government, we are endeavoring to guarantee that there is money in the till to carry on your functions and your departments for a period of approximately a year and a half, during which time if we do happen to get into a loggerhead deal, we will find that the functions of government will carry on in their normal courses.

Mr. President, I have just been reminded by Senator Barr of an incident that occurred here in 1951 because of the lack of generalship at that time. You will all recall that at a great cost to this Commonwealth, we passed the appropriation bills. However, we did not have the money in the till for the appropriation bills. We had to re-enact the same appropriation bill at the same Session of the Legislature.

Mr. President, as you will note, on today's Calendar we find Senate Bill No. 15, which carries an appropriation of approximately 150 odd thousands of dollars to meet the—I believe it is the Hall-Burton Act of the Federal Government, which matches funds for our survey of medical needs in Pennsylvania.

Mr. President, we cannot honestly pass this legislation until we have money against the account. For too long we have operated this State on an unsound basis. It is not any trick or political scheme or any deep thinking on the part of some planner that has given us the tax bills. As a matter of fact, I feel that I probably am more responsible than any other person for the plan to put into the Legislature these tax bills at this time, because over the years you develop a sense of what is right and what is wrong in government. I believe it is wrong to pass legislation making appropriations for specific purposes without having the money in the till.

Mr. President, we are spending now, today, on the Calendar money that should be provided for by legislation. If we pass this so-called temporary tax measure, we know how far we can go in appropriating for specific purposes in Pennsylvania. Therefore, I beseech the Majority Leader and the Members of the Majority to reconsider their thinking in the matter of the tax measures now in the Finance Committee. I assure you there is no political trickery in it. It is an honest effort to put this Senate and this Legislature on a pay-as-you-appropriate basis. I believe that we will be doing something which will establish a precedent for the future, and the General Assembly will not be faced each year with a situation of passing legislation calling for the expenditure of funds while holding until the last minute the legislation to create the funds. I earnestly beseech you to reconsider your action.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Westmoreland, Senator Dent.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Dent, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. DENT. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. MAHANY. Senator Dent, you say that the passage of these bills will put us on a pay-as-you-appropriate basis. Would any of these bills, if we pass them, bring in current revenue?

Mr. DENT. Yes.

Mr. MAHANY. Which ones would bring in current revenue?

Mr. DENT. The capital stock bill.

Mr. MAHANY. Is it not true that if we pass this bill, it will be retroactive from January 1, so that we can bring in this money?

Mr. DENT. Well, if it becomes retroactive, Mr. Leader, evidently it would become effective upon passage, would it not?

Mr. MAHANY. That is right.

Senator Dent, how much would that bill bring in? Do you know?

Mr. DENT. I think it would bring in around $42,000,000 or some such figure.

Mr. MAHANY. Is the capital stock bill the only one that would bring in current revenue at the present time?

Mr. DENT. As of today?

Mr. MAHANY. Yes.

Mr. DENT. Yes, that is the only one that I know will bring in current revenue.

Mr. MAHANY. Do you know of any instance when the Legislature has passed tax bills before they have seen the Governor's Budget?

Mr. DENT. No, I do not know of any instance, and that is why I have called upon you to reconsider your action because this is one of the bold, new moves that we are trying to make in establishing a new type of legislative government here. We are going to raise the money first, so that we will know how much to spend.

Mr. MAHANY. Do you remember Senator Holland's statement on the floor of this Senate during, I believe, the 1951 Session, when he said that he did not want to vote for any emergency taxes because he thought there was some Fat in the Governor's Budget or words to that effect? Do you remember that statement, Senator?

Mr. DENT. I certainly do, Mr. Mahany.

Mr. MAHANY. Would you now ask us to vote for taxes before we saw the budget, and before we know whether it has any fat in it or whether it is lean or indifferent?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, it all depends upon what you call fat. If we raise about $900,000,000, counting Federal grants-in-aid, with the present taxes that are on the books, plus the $400,000,000 if we pass all of these so-called temporary measures, we will still be approximately $350,000,000 under the current biennium spending.

Mr. President, if we came before you and said that if you will pass one bill for $400,000,000 and we will give you a budget later, you would then be in a position to repeat the words of Senator Holland because you would be buying, as it were, a pig in a poke. However, all that we are asking you to do is to pass legislation guaranteeing an amount of money which will carry the present government for a period of approximately sixteen months. There cannot be any fat there under any conditions.

Mr. President, now when the Governor proceeds to give us the Budget Message with the fiscal message attached, any moneys that will be spent over and above the present tax revenues of the Commonwealth will properly be a subject of debate, discussion and opinion at that time.

Mr. President, unless these taxes which are in the Committee on Finance are not the proper taxes, then they should be passed. If your opposition to them is based upon the nature of the tax itself, then you are properly standing upon sound legislative ground. However, if you admit that these taxes which have been on the books for approximately twenty years are going to be re-enacted, then you cannot possibly dodge the issue of obstructionism by quietly saying that we want to see the budget before we pass the taxes. These are not taxes for increased costs in government. These are revenues for the present costs of government, Mr. President, below the present cost, incidentally, of your government.

Therefore, Mr. President, if Senator Holland made the statement that he wanted to look at the horse's teeth before he guessed at its age, he was talking soundly, because you, too, will want to look at the budgetary requirements of Pennsylvania before you give this administration a blank check on revenues. However, this is not the revenue program to finance the Commonwealth for two years. This is the revenue plan to finance the government for the next sixteen or seventeen months. In order, therefore, to establish a base from which this Legislature can work, I recommend to the Majority to reconsider its position.

Mr. MAHANY. Senator, are these taxes, which you are asking us to vote for, not the ones that Senator Holland had in mind when he made this statement, and which, I believe, Senator Leader, who is now Governor, voted against even when they came up for a vote at a later time in the year, after he had seen the budget?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, you will remember that all of the taxes were tied into one bundle at that time, which included amongst them some brand new taxes. They were not the old, established taxes such as these. If you will remember, Mr. President, at the time that Senator Holland made his remark, we were asked to increase the revenue in Pennsylvania by approximately, if I am not mistaken, $35,000,000 worth, because it was late in the year, of taxes on the transfer of real estate which was not an old measure but a brand new one.

Mr. President, we are not asking you to consider the financing program of the Governor's. We do not know it yet and, I say this honestly, I have no knowledge of what the new anticipated taxes may be, nor do I have an exact picture of what the anticipated needs are. However, this is not that type of tax.

Mr. President, it does not matter whether you pass them or not, in a sense, except to establish good, sound government. Supposing this Legislature had to recess if we cannot get the fiscal problem of the Commonwealth in shape to present within the two weeks or so, and we have cleared all of the Calendars in the House and Senate on important legislation. Supposing it would be proper, and I say that it may be proper, for this Legislature to recess for a month, or six weeks, or two months or for whatever period it may be necessary in order to provide an answer to the fiscal problem. I do not believe that we should rush into the fiscal problem of this Commonwealth if we are not ready for it. I believe that it would pay to take time to get it ready and have it be proper and right when we present it to the General Assembly.

Mr. President, if we recess for a couple of months, what will be the reaction in all of these agencies I spoke about earlier, if we do not have the money in the till to carry on after June 1?

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. Dent, do you have any idea when the Governor is going to present his budget?

Mr. DENT. I would say that if I were preparing the budget, it would take at least four to six weeks for me to do it. The Governor may do it faster.

Mr. MAHANY. Now, about two weeks ago, I believe you said on a television program that we could figure on having it in about four or five weeks.

Mr. DENT. As far as what I said on the television program goes, the witnesses are here, and I believe I said at that time that it would be about six weeks.

Mr. MAHANY. Now do you want to revise that and say that it will probably be another four or five weeks?

Mr. DENT. I do not think that the question of how long I think it might be before the budget is ready has any bearing at all upon the subject, because my guess would only be the same as yous. I have no knowledge of when the budget will be presented.

Mr. MAHANY. Well, Senator Dent, can you find out from the Governor between now and next Monday as to when he might be in shape to give us his budget?

Mr. DENT. I will attempt to do that, yes.

Mr. President, may I now interrogate the gentleman from Crawford, Senator Mahany?

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Crawford, Mr. Mahany, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MAHANY. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. DENT. Would you then, Senator Mahany, ask the Chairman of the Finance Committee, who happens to be present, to allow me as a non-member of that committee the privilege of attending that committee meeting, so that I may make a plea for the bills as I understand them?

Mr. MAHANY. I certainly will, and I do not think that you would be thrown out of any committee meeting, Senator Dent, if you choose to attend one.

Mr. President, may I further interrogate the gentleman from Westmoreland, Senator Dent?

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Dent, permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. DENT. I will, Mr. President, but I might say that the gentleman on the other side must have gone to bed early last night.

Mr. MAHANY. I just have one question, Mr. President, that I would like to ask Senator Dent, in connection with this reorganization. As you know, the Governor, in his Inaugural Speech, said that we have been surveyed and re-surveyed and now it is time for action.

While you are over there finding out about when the Governor intends to present his message to us, would you also ask him if he has any plan of any kind whatsoever in mind to reshuffle or do anything in connection with the State government which will save this money he refers to?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I will take that matter up with the Governor next week.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I would like to direct one statement to the Majority Floor Leader which will not be taken in in this reorganization act, but, in my opinion, I think you fellows on the other side should give it some definite thought, because it will have to be covered by specific legislation inasmuch as under the reorganization bill you cannot change a department or change the name, only bureaus, etc.

I, Mr. President, for one, thing the Department of Mines is a misnomer in our State, and some of their work is done in the Department of Forests and Waters. I feel that the Department of Forests and Waters and the Department of Mines should be put into one department, the Department of Natural Resources.

In our State, as you know, we are very much in the gas business now. I think some legislation will be passed later in the Session, and the State will be back in the oil business. We are not going to keep the oil people from coming into Pennsylvania, because they have been kept out by an act which is on our books as of now.

There is one place where I think we can save a lot of money, and that is by transferring the duties of the Secretary of Mines to the Department of Forests and Waters and putting them all into one. I think that will save us a lot of money and give us a better hold on the things that are being done.

Mr. President, while I am on my feet I would like to say to Senator Mahany that he and I are not responsible for anything that anyone says in the House. However when I picked up the morning paper I read where your Floor Leader was on the Bowers Battery program last night, on Channel 71, WTPA, I think they call it, and he said that we were fumblers and that we just did not quite understand. Just tell the gentleman, if you happen to see him, that we have been here longer than he has and we know a little bit more about government. Because we are moving a little faster than they did, I do not think that is a reason for us to be criticized.

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, I do not want to prolong this debate, but I do want to make a few observations.

Mr. President, the distinguished Majority Leader has asked several times this morning when the Governor is going to present his budget. Frankly, I do not know at this time what work is being done on the budget. However, if I were the Governor, considering the fact that there has been a change in control of the State Government from one party to another, I would perhaps take longer than six weeks or two months to attempt to present a budget to this Legislature; that is if it were to be a true budget, based on the bare needs of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Mr. President, the gentlemen on the other side must realize that we just went through a campaign, and one of the issues in that campaign was the mess in Harrisburg and the hodgepodge in the State Government. I do not think there is any question that it exists. However, after all, Governor Leader assumed office on January 18. This is February 9 and I am sure the distinguished Majority Leader does not expect the new Governor, in this short space of time, to do all of the things that are necessary to clean up that mess and to ask his new Cabinet Members who just recently assumed office to prepare the kind of a budget that should be prepared for submission to this Legislature. You must give these Cabinet Members a chance to get their feet on the ground. You must give these Cabinet Members a chance to find out where economies can be effected. You must give these Cabinet Members a chance to join in the reorganization of the State Government so that the economies that we said were possible to effect, and others who made surveys of the State Government said were possible to effect, may be brought to light.

Mr. President, Governor Leader wants to reorganize the State Government in this legislation here that passed the House and is now before the Senate. The Majority Leader said that we cannot act on it, or will not act on it, because it is unconstitutional. I do not agree with that theory at all. I am assuming that the Governor of Pennsylvania, when the bill was drafted, submitted this legislation to the Attorney General and the Attorney General came to the conclusion that it was constitutional and, for that reason, submitted it to the Legislature for approval. The least the other side could do is to give the new Governor a chance to carry out his policies and give him a chance to carry out the provisions of the Democratic platform.

Mr. President, I, for one, am in agreement with what was said, that sufficient surveys were made around here and now it is time for action. We certainly cannot get that action in toto, at least, in a period of three weeks. That is something which is impossible.

Mr. President, in so far as the budget is concerned, I said during the campaign, and I say here, that I defy anyone in the Commonwealth, or outside the Commonwealth, on this side or on the other side, to present to this General Assembly or to the people of Pennsylvania a statement indicating the true financial condition of the Commonwealth as of January 18, when Governor Fine left office. Until such time as you know the true financial condition of the Commonwealth, I do not understand how you can prepare a budget that you can call an honest budget for the consideration of this Legislature. Governor Leader cannot prepare such a statement in a three week period. Frankly, if there is any attempt to present a budget here, without having a statement of the true financial condition of the Commonwealth, I will probably have something to say about that because I have griped about it here for the last three Sessions that I have had the privilege of serving here.

So, Mr. President, I say that the other side ought to be a little considerate and give the Governor the cooperation that he is asking for, because that is part of the mandate of the people.

As Senator Dent so ably said a short time ago, the other side must realize that we had an election last year and that in spite of a one million registered Republican majority, this State went Democratic by 280,000 votes. That in itself, I repeat, was a mandate upon Governor Leader and the Democratic Party to revise methods and practices and procedures in the State Government, and in the preparation of budgets which we are called upon to pass upon here in this Legislature.

Mr. President, I say that with proper cooperation from both sides, in due course we will get the budget that the other side is asking for and we will get it in true form, with the elimination of the fat that we complained about that existed in previous budgets.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I want to assure Senator Yosko that we are not being critical of the Governor or anybody relative to the preparation of the budget. I merely wanted to ask the question about when we might expect it, so that we may be guided here in what we are going to do between now and then.

Certainly, Mr. President, over the period of years it has been found that the legislative thing to do is to have a budget, and find out how much money is going to be needed by the administration and then go out and try to raise that money by a suitable tax program. We should not do the reverse of that, to put the cart before the horse, as it were, and raise tax money before we know how much money is going to be needed. That is the thing that we object to.

Mr. President, next Monday will be St. Valentine's Day, and I hope we will all be in a good mood and at that time Senator Dent is going to convey this message to us from the Governor on these questions that I have been asking.

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, I just want to say in answer to the distinguished Majority Leader that I do not think it would be wise for anyone to give a specific date when the budget will be presented unless someone can make that determination, and I do not think there is anyone who can do that right now. If that is going to depend on how long it is going to take to bring about a reorganization of the State Government to effect the economies that we promised the people we were going to effect, that, of course, will reflect on the budget in the last analysis. I see nothing wrong with the enactment of temporary taxes, such as have been presented to this Legislature. I see nothing wrong with approving those taxes until such time as we do know what the budget is going to be and what the bare needs of the Commonwealth will be, so that we can function properly between now and that time.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, did I understand Senator Yosko to say that we are not going to get the budget until such time as we go over the various plans that may be submitted to reshuffle the State Government?

Mr. President, if that is true, then we probably will not be able to look for the budget much before June or July because even if we passed House Bill No. 1 and we took the supplemenetal bill which provides for the setting up of this committee of twelve and then they met, I have no doubt that it would take several weeks before they would be able to come up with the plans, because other committees, for instance the Cherterman Committee took, I think, a year or so before it came up with all its recommendations. After that we would then have to wait for another thirty days because, under the provisions of House Bill No. 1, after the plan is submitted to us, we have a period of thirty days in which if we do not do anything, then at the end of that time the plan becomes effective.

Certainly, Mr. President, if that is Senator Yosko's thinking, then we surely are not going to look for a budget here much before May or June. All I asked for was to have the Governor tell us if he can about when we may expect to get this budget. I do not know whether Senator Yosko is now speaking for the Governor, but I would like to have some direct response from the Governor in reply to my question so that we may be guided in our thinking here in the Senate in relation to our future course.

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, I am not speaking for the Governor. I do want to say this, however, that if it is for the best interest of the taxpayers of this State and the people of this state to wait until June or July to submit a budget based on the bare needs of the Commonwealth, after all possible economies have been effected, then I say that is good government and good policy.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

WEDNESDAY, February 9, 1955

The House met at 10:00 a. m.

The SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Reverend Harold J. Crouse, offered the following prayer:

Blessed be Thou, most gracious God, that again Thou hast brought light out of darkness, and caused the morning to appear. Again Thou dost send us forth in health and vigour, to the duties and doings of another day. Go with us we beseech Thee, through all the sunlit hours, and so protect us from every evil way, so that when evening comes we need not hide our heads in shame.

Bless the members of this body as they think together in this Chamber, in committee rooms, and in their offices. Help them to stand up under the strains and the tensions of problems and decisions, of meetings and conferences, and the endless demands made upon them. Teach them to turn to Thee for the secret of power and strength.

Let Thy blessing rest upon all the employees of this House of Representatives as they diligently and faithfully serve and bear their due share of the burdens of good government. Grant, O Father, that all of us may go about this day's business with an ever-present remembrance of the great traditions wherein we stand, that, thereby, we may be kept from evil ways and inspired to high endeavor. So keep us till evening in the might of Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

The SPEAKER. The Chair requests the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Lovett, to preside throughout the session.

Mr. LOVETT IN THE CHAIR

JOURNAL APPROVAL POSTPONED

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Without objection the approval of the Journal of February 8th will be postponed until printed. The Chair hears no objection.

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

RESOLUTION No. 10

By Messrs. WALLACE, CURWOOD and MUSTO.

In the House of Representatives, February 7, 1955.

Lithuania became a free and independent Republic on January 16, 1918, by declaration of the Council of Lithuania.

Obliteration of the sovereign rights of the Lithuanian people and the suppression of that people by the inhuman practices of mass murder, exile and confinement in concentration camps by her communist rulers is a matter of great concern to free peoples now resisting communist tyranny; therefore be it

Resolved, That this House of Representatives hereby extends its sympathy to the Lithuanian nation in her hour of great duress, and to all American citizens of Lithuanian descent who are distressed by the sufferings of their friends and relatives in the country of their ancestors; and be it further

Resolved, That this House of Representatives extends its wishes to Lithuania for the ultimate liberation of that nation and for the reestablishment of the sovereign rights of that country which formerly was a sister democracy of the United States of America.

Referred to the Committee on Rules

By Messrs. DONALDSON, AGNEW, COOPER, RIGBY VAUGHAN, THOMAS, BOIES, KAMYK, GIBB, GOLDSTEIN, HAUDENSHIELD, WILT, JOHN J. MURRAY, SARRAF, JENKINS, EWING, FILO, LUTTY, MIHM, McLAUGHLIN, SCHUSTER, OLSEN, LEONARD, MATT S. ANDERSON, MORAN and WALSH RESOLUTION No. 11.

In the House of Representatives, February 8, 1955.

Albert Kennedy (Rosey) Rosewell, voice and conscience of the Pittsburgh Pirate baseball club, passed away on February 6th, a few days before he was to begin his twentieth season with the Pirates. He was 71 years of age.

Rosey was born in Alton, Illinois in 1884, and was raised in Tarentum, Pennsylvania. His first connection with the Pirates dated back to 1909, and since that time he well earned his title of "Pirate Fan number 1." Albert Rosewell's broadcasts of the Pittsburgh Pirate's games over the past two decades did much for the advancement not only of the Pirate club, but also the advancement of basball and sportsmanship in general.

Mr. Rosewell's energies, which he used unsparingly, were spread wide over other fields apart from baseball. He excelled as a master of ceremonies and after-dinner speaker, to which tasks he brought a natural good humor, nimble wit and exceptional talent as a popular poet.

By the death of "Rosey" Rowswell we have lost one of the great humanitarians of our day; therefore be it

Resolved, That the members of the House of Representatives extend their heartfelt condolences to the surviving members of Albert Rowswell's family, and that a copy of this resolution be transmitted to his widow, Mrs. Myrrel Hayden Rowswell.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

(b) In which his unemployment is due to voluntarily leaving work without good cause irrespective of whether or not such work is in "employment" as defined in this act Provided That no employe shall be deemed to be ineligible under this subsection where as a condition of continuing in employment such employe would be required to join or remain a member of a company union or to resign from or refrain from joining any bona fide labor organization or to accept wages hours or conditions of employment not desired by a majority of the employes in the establishment or the occupation or would be denied the right of collective bargaining under generally prevailing conditions and that in determining whether or not an employe has left his work voluntarily without good cause the department shall give consideration to the same factors insofar as they are applicable provided with respect to the determination of suitable work under section four (t) [martial filial and domestic circumstances and obligations shall not be deemed good cause within the meaning of this act] And provided further That the provisions of this subesction shall not apply in the event of a stoppage of work which exists because of a labor dispute within the meaning of subsection (d)

Section 6 The first paragraph and subsections (a) (d) (e) and the tables specified for the determination of rate and amount of benefits of section 404 of the act the first paragraph amended August twenty-four one thousand nine hundred fifty-three (P. L. 1397) subsection (a) amended May twenty-seven one thousand nine hundred forty-three (P. L. 717) subsection (d) amended August twenty-four one thousand nine hundred fifty-three (P. L. 1397) subsection (e) amended September twenty-nine one thousand nine hundred fifty-one (P. L. 1580) and said tables amended September twenty-nine one thousand nine hundred fifty-one (P. L. 1580) are amended and a new subsection (c) is added to read

Section 404 Rate and Amount of Compensation Compensation shall be paid to each eligible employe in accordance with the following provisions of this section except that compensation payable with respect to weeks ending in benefit years which begin prior to the [first day of October one thousand nine hundred fifty-one] first day of the second calendar month following enactment of this amendment shall be paid on the basis of the provisions of this section in effect at the beginning of such benefit years provided that the amendments to subsections (d) and (e) removing the limitations on the amount and duration of compensation shall take effect immediately

(a) The employe's weekly benefit rate shall be [that rate which appears in "Part B" and which is on the same horizontal line in "Part A" as the interval which includes his "highest quarterly wage"] computed as (1) one twenty-fifth of his "highest quarterly wage" in accordance with Part of the Table Specified for the Determination of Rate and Amount of Benefits or (2) fifty per centum (50%) of his full-time weekly wage whichever is greater or if his base year wages are insufficient to qualify him for compensation by either of these methods of his weekly benefit rate shall be determined as (3) that rate appearing in Part B of the table on the line on which in Part C appears the amount of qualifying wages which most nearly approximates but does not exceed his base year wages

C Any otherwise eligible employe shall be entitled during his benefit year to the amount appearing in Part D of the Table Specified for the Determination of Rate and Amount of Benefits on the line on which in Part B appears his weekly benefit rate provided he has sufficient qualifying wages in Part C and provided further that an employe whose weekly benefit rate has been determined under clause (3) of subsection (a) of this section shall be entitled to compensation only if his base year wages are at least thirty times the weekly benefit rate as computed under clause (1) of subscetion (a)

(d) Notwithstanding any other provisions of this section each eligible employe who is unemployed with respect to any week ending subsequent to the effective date of this act shall be paid with respect to such week compensation in an amount equal to his weekly benefit rate less that part of the remuneration if any paid or payable to him with respect to such week which is in excess of six dollars ($6.00) Such compensation if not multiple of one dollar ($1.00) shall be computed to the next higher multiple of one dollar ($1.00) [Provided That if at the end of any calendar quarter the balance in the Unemployment Trust Fund to the credit of Pennsylvana is less than one and one-half times the highest amount paid out for compensation less any refunds during any twelve consecutive months the maximum amount of compensation payable to any employe for a week of unemployment ending during the next calendar quarter shall not be in excess of twenty dollars ($20)]

(e) [Any otherwise eligible employe shall be entitled during his benefit year to an amount equal to his weekly benefit rate multiplied by the number which appears at the top of a column under "Part C" to be ascertained by locating on the same horizontal line on which his weekly benefit rate appears the maximum amount which does not exceed the total wages paid to him during his base year Provided That if at the end of any calendar quarter the balance in the Unemployment Trust Fund to the credit of Pennsylvania is less than one and one-half times the highest amount paid out for compensation less any refunds during any twelve consecutive months no employe shall be paid compensation with respect to weeks of unemployment ending during the next calendar quarter in an amount which together with any amounts previously paid with respect to the same benefit year would be in excess of twenty times the employe's weekly benefit rate or four hundred dollars ($400) whichever is the lesser]

Section 802 False Statements and Representations to Prevent or Reduce Compensation Any employer (whether or not liable for the payment of contributions under this act) or any officer or agent of such employer or any other person who makes a false statement or representation knowing it to be false or who knowingly fails to disclose a material fact to prevent or reduce the payment of compensation to any employe entitled thereto or to avoid becoming or remaining subject hereto or to avoid or reduce any contribution or other payment required from an employer under this act or who wilfully fails or refuses to make any such contribution or other payment or to furnish any reports required hereunder or who wilfully fails or refuses to produce or permit the inspection or copying of records as required hereunder shall upon conviction thereof in a summary proceeding be sentenced to pay a fine of not less than [twenty] fifty dollars nor more than [two] five hundred dollars and in default of the payment of such fine and costs shall be sentenced to imprisonment for not longer than thirty days and each such false statement or representation or failure to disclose a material fact and each day of such failure or refusal shall constitute a separate offense

Section 9 Subsection (b) of section 804 of the act amended August twenty-four one thousand nine hundred fifty-three (P. L. 1397) is amended to read

Section 804 Recovery and Recoupment of Compensation

(b) Any person who other than by reason of his fault has received with respect to a benefit year any sum as compensation under this act to which he was not entitled shall not be liable to repay such sum but shall be liable to have such sum deducted from any future compensation payable to him with respect to such benefit year or the three-year period immediately following such benefit year Provided That with respect to overpayments of one hundred dollars or more recoupment from such future compensation shall not exceed one-third of the maximum benefit amount to which such person is entitled during any such subsequent benefit year nor one-third of the weekly benefit amount to which such person may be entitled for any particular week In the absence of misrepresentation or non-disclosure of a material fact no recoupment shall be had if such overpayment is created by reason of (1) a subsequent reversal of a decision of eligibility under the provisions of section five hundred one (e) of this act or (2) a retroactive allocation of wages pursuant to an award of a labor relations board arbitrator or the like unless such award provides for the repayment of unemployment compensation benefits received during the period to which such wages are allocated or (3) the subsequent receipt of holiday pay vacation pay or the like of which the person had no knowledge or (4) a subsequent determination that the person's base year wages were not earned in employment as defined in this act No provision of this subsection shall be construed to prevent or prohibit the voluntary repayment of compensation by such person or the maintenance of records of overpayments by the department [In determining whether or not recoupment from future compensation would be inequitable or unconscionable the claimant's financial worth shall not be considered]

The claimant and other affected parties shall be notified in writing of the department's determination to deduct any sum from future compensation under this section and such determination shall be subject to appeal in the manner provided in this act for appeals from determinations of compensation

Section 10 This act shall take effect immediately

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WATERHOUSE. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask Mr. Lopresti a few questions about the bill. This is not intended to delay the due process of the House, but just merely to clarify a few things.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Lopresti, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. LOPRESTI. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. WATERHOUSE. Mr. Speaker, I would like to inquire of the gentleman if he has any idea as to what the total cost would be if we were to operate under the provisions of this bill for the first year.

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker for the first quarter of this year the present law remains in effect, and from the beginning of the second quarter on the new schedule will be effective, and the total raised under the two would amount to approximately to $140 million.

Mr. WATERHOUSE. Mr. Speaker, I understand that will be the amount of money that will be raised?

Mr. LOPRESTI. Yes, Mr. Speaker, it is an estimated amount of $140 million.

Mr. WATERHOUSE. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman have any idea as to what the expenditures would be during that period? What I am trying to establish is, what would happen to the fund?

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, I can give some idea. Of course, any estimate would be liable to be off either way because of the fact that for most of the year it depends upon the employment situation. If we were to have an upturn, a considerable upturn in employment, it would be a rather small outlay. If we have a further decrease in employment, of course, the outlay would increase. But judging from the outlay of 1954, the benefits paid out were approximately $260 million, and therefore, I believe it would be safe to assume that we cannot within one year raise the contribution rate sufficiently to cover the amount of benefits paid. The damage to the fund has been taking place over a period of a number of years and, of course, it cannot be repaired during one year. It would be almost impossible, without placing a terrific burden upon the employer, to bring the employer's contribution rate up to equal the amount of the employe's benefits. Therefore, it is estimated that for the present year the fund will operate at a loss, and what that amount will be I don't know. But I believe it would be safe to assume it would be somewhere between 200 and 260 million dollars paid out and $140 million taken in.

Mr. WATERHOUSE. Mr. Speaker, just one further question. Does the gentleman believe if we were to go to the maximum, which would be .027 for all employers, it would return sufficient money to carry this bill in the future? What I am trying to establish is, would we have to change the table, or would .027 if it were paid by all employers be sufficient to take care of the provisions of House Bill 120?

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, .027 would probably raise in the present year sufficient money to pay off the entire amount of benefits that would be collected by the employes during the year. However, if you operate under the present law the rates of contribution are based on quarters and we would have a very unsatisfactory situation when you are at the boderline or the peril point. In other words, I mean by that one-quarter you may have your fund balance exceeding the peril point and your rates go down, the following quarter your balance would be below the peril point and the rates would go up. Under our present law an employer would never know from one quarter to the next what his rate would be, and it would be a very difficult problem not only for the employer to figure out his cost, but also for the department to make these calculations on each quarter. In other words, when we get close to the peril point we would be over the top at one moment and under at the next moment, and it would make a very unsatisfactory situation.

Mr. WATERHOUSE. Mr. Speaker, what I am trying to establish is this, whether or not if all employers were to pay, if they were frozen at .027, not this quarter but for future quarters would the return be sufficient to maintain the fund if we were to operate under the provisions of House Bill 120? That is what I am trying to establish or would we have to have a new table which would say you might pay .04 or .05. What would it take to maintain the fund at a safe level? That is the thing I am trying to establish.

The reason for asking these questions is, I think if we are to maintain our stand with the upper house of the Legislature we certainly cannot send this bill over without having some of these things clarified. In other words, we would hate to have the Senate say, why those birds didn't even know whether it was going to be enough to pay it, or what it was going to take, or what they were going to get. That is the reason for these questions, it is not to delay or to confuse, and I do not want to take a lot of time doing it, but I just would like to have a little idea, that is all.

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, I do not quite follow the question, but I can say, using the present payroll, present total wage, that at .027 we would arrive at approximately $230 million in contributions. Now, I think I said last year we paid out $260 million. So at the rate that we were paying benefits last year, even .027 would not meet the expenditures.

Mr. WATERHOUSE. Mr. Speaker, that is what I am afraid of, and I was wondering just how long it would take us to deplete our funds to a point that we would not be able to pay or that we might have to have a new chart and go to a considerably higher reimbursement fraction, or whatever you want to call it—I call it tax. I guess I am getting my thinking mixed when I say reimbursement, but the fact remains that we are going to have to have some figures to say whether or not we are going to charge industry .027 or whether they are going to have to pay considerably more.

Of course, I understand it is a consent calendar. If it were not, then I would suggest that we get some figures from the research department and see whether the bill needs amending, maybe it needs changing the table, I do not know. I am sorry to have taken the time of the House, but I did want to ask these questions.

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, I would like to inform the gentleman from Erie, Mr. Waterhouse, that the figures have been taken into consideration by the so-called experts in the department, or in the bureau. This schedule has been worked out so that on an annual basis the employers' contributions will be upped or go down in accordance with the certain balance remaining in the fund. I do not know just off hand, I have not looked at the schedule in the bill, but there are three different tables, specific tables. There is a Table A, there is a table B, there is a table C, and then the law provides when you get beyond table C we have something similar to the peril point that we now know.

Table A starts with the rate of contribution at about .5 and goes to .027. Table A, of course, is in effect when we have a large balance, I think $450 million. When the fund has a balance of $450 million or more, than Table A is in effect, which starts the contribution rate at .5. Now when we get below, I think, $350 million Table B becomes effective. That is the table which we will work under this year. Table B carries a minimum contribution rate of one per cent.

When you get below a certain figure, Table C becomes effective and it raises the rate a little higher. I do not know without looking at the schedule just what it would come to, but instead of having a definite peril point, the present bill has a sort of escalator peril point clause, so that the contribution rate on an annual basis goes up or down according to the amount we have in the fund. This, of course, allows the employer some security for one year at least, he knows what his rate is going to be.

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, the estimates that are made as of the present moment, of course, are made on the basis of the unemployment of last year. We believe and we were hoping that that employment situation will get better rather than worse. And if it does get better over a period of a few years, the fund should be in good condition with a substantial balance and it is not unlikely that the contribution rate paid by the employer will go back down to a point beginning at .5.

Mr. WATERHOUSE. I thank the gentleman, Mr. Speaker. I was primarily interested in the employers' contribution.

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, under ordinary circumstances it would be unwise for me to get up, take the time of the House on a Wednesday morning when everybody is anxious to go home.

I do not rise this morning for the purpose of making any arguments to convince people to vote for House Bill 120, because I believe we have passed that point and we are quite satisfied that it will pass. But I do believe we should have a short explanation of the bill on some of the items which it contains and how the bill as a whole was arrived at.

I might say at the outstart House Bill No. 120 represents conclusions reached by a number of individuals and a number of groups of individuals. Participating in the preparation of House Bill 120 were members of the administration cabinet, members of the staff of the Unemployment Compensation Bureau, persons representing a large segment of the working people, such as the larger Unions and also the views of industry. In preparing the bill it was tried to see that industry would be given a rate which would not create havoc and at the same time it was tried to increase the benefits which the employe received when he became unemployed. I believe a happy medium has been arrived at in the way of contributions and payments. We have, of course, in this bill gone to the uniform thirty week payment which is a radical departure, I will say, from the present law which provided a table making benefits payable over a period of anywhere from thirteen weeks to twenty-six weeks.

We have adopted the uniform number of weeks which is thirty weeks per benefit year. This is in line with the thinking of the national administration. It has been recommended and suggested that this form of a uniform payment plan be used. And, of course, we believe that by extending those periods beyond the twenty-six weeks, four additional weeks, gives compensation to those persons who under the spirit of the act would probably need it the most.

Now there are not very many, strange as it may seem, people who up to this point have arrived at even the twenty-six week period. Most of them, I believe, are below fifteen weeks. In fact a great number, a large number are below fifteen weeks. It is believed at this time that not too many will take advantage of the thirty full weeks or will be required to take advantage of it.

But we think if there are this law should attempt to take care of it. In addition to that, people who think of unemployment compensation day in and day out feel they should receive approximately one-half of his weekly earning in the form of unemployment compensation. So, we have come up with an additional method of computing the employes' benefits. He has now two choices or two methods of computing it. He can compute it, of course, by using the table, his high quarter, taking a fraction of the high quarter and operating from there on until he arrives at his weekly benefit rate, and then multiply that by thirty and get the annual rate. Or the department will be able to figure out what the man's weekly wage was, what his actual weekly wage paid was when he was employed and then arrive at a figure of one-half of that weekly wage and he would be paid his benefits on that basis.

I have previously discussed the peril point, showing how the peril point is eliminated both for the benefits paid to the claimant and also for the employers' contribution. I do not think we need to go into that much further.

We have eliminated in this law a few of the gimmicks under which people who ordinarily would have been entitled to compensation were denied such. For example, the individual who is in the high wage bracket, under the law he pays or his employer pays only on the first $3,000 of his salary. It was possible under the old law that that $3,000 was earned in the first two quarters, and therefore the employers' contribution would come in in the first two quarters of the year, the base year. Then following that period he would run into a period of decreased earnings. His first and second quarter he would have high, the third and fourth quarter he would have no earnings reported whatever because he had already arrived at his $3,000. Then he goes into his fifth quarter and beyond that at decreased earnings and finally laid off. When it came time to compute his unemployment compensation benefits it was found that many times this individual did not have any standing in the law because the reported quarters took up all of his credits and he had nothing to fall back on.

Under this law we are permitting the department to spread the earnings of such an individual over the other quarters so that he will have credits not only in his first and second quarter but also in the third and fourth quarter. In so doing we have also placed a safeguard. He can be given credit only to the extent of his earnings during those additional quarters. But it will allow such an individual to collect unemployment compensation to which he was justly entitled because the deductions were being made from him—not from him—I will take that back, but by his employer to the maximum amount and therefore he is one individual who should be receiving that sort of a benefit.

We have changed the provision regarding pregnancy. That is rather a small factor. It has been handled in many various manners, all of which appear to be unsatisfactory. We are now attempting to change that and make it a question of administrative, or at least judicious opinion on the part of somebody to determine whether or not such a woman is able to work at any time or is available for work at any time during the pregnancy period. It is possible that during the eighth month or ninth month or the sixth month or the seventh month she may be able to work and it is possible that she will not be able to work. Those are things which I do not know and, of course, under the new bill will be left to someone to decide.

There are a number of other features in this bill but I want to mention only one more and then I want to sit down.

Under the present law an employe who is by fraud receiving money from the Unemployment Compensation Fund can be taken before a magistrate, can be arrested, fined and made to make restitution to the fund for the money that he received by fraud. This particular penalty, while it may appear severe, was insufficient to get proper enforcement of the Unemployment Compensation Act.

We are, therefore, putting a provision in the new bill which will allow the department to take another way of penalizing this individual rather than taking him into court. We allow that provision to remain. He still can be taken into court. He still can be charged with a crime. But in addition, we are giving the department the power to make, you might say, an amicable adjustment or take an easier way out.

The department can say to this individual—you have defrauded us. Therefore, you must return what you have received by your fraud and in addition thereto you will lose one week of unemployment compensation for each week you have defrauded us and you will get an additional two weeks penalty on top of that total. Now this penalty, while it does not appear to be very severe, will actually be more effective in the administration of the law than was the prior method, for the reason that the department in this particular case will be able to get an immediate penalty on that individual. And because it does not require going to court the department will enforce it in practically every instance. And we will find that there will probably be less likelihood of a chiseling employe under this new arrangement.

I could probably go on here for another hour and discuss this bill. Before I sit down I merely want to say that if there are any Members who have any questions which I can answer, or if there are other interrogations, I would be glad to answer them. Otherwise, this is all I am going to say.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

NOT VOTING—2

Metz,	Butler,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

The SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) in the Chair.

The SPEAKER. The Chair thanks the gentleman from Westmoreland for presiding.

FORMER MEMBER WELCOMED

The SPEAKER. We are honored this morning by having present in the Hall of the House a former distinguished member of the General Assembly, now a jurist. We hope Judge Homer Brown of Pittsburgh will greet us with a few words in his usual inimitable style.

Hon. HOMER S. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I have the inclination to go back to 1935, my first term in the House, but I see the House is rather light this morning. I walked in here and I wondered what was happening. They told me the House was in session. Well it sure has dwindled since yesterday, and maybe the Constitution has been changed.

I am very happy to have this opportunity to greet you. We are here on business, of course, and I regret that I cannot remain to speak to each and every one of you individually.

To me the greatest glory of my life was to have had the privilege of serving in the House of Representatives. After you get out and look back on the many friends you made and the many contacts you have enjoyed while you were here I am sure you will feel as I do, that you cannot get off a plane or a train or an automobile in Harrisburg, even before attending the business that brings you to Harrisburg, without coming and looking in on the House of Representatives.

Thank you, Mr. Speaker. May you all keep well, may you all have a lot of happiness in this term. I know you will because you will sit here a long time with nothing to do as I understand the situation on the other side of the House, so while you sit here enjoy yourselves. Thank you and good luck.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. SWARTZ. Mr. Speaker, I move that this House do now adjourn until Monday, February 14, 1955 at 4.30 p.m.

The motion was agreed to, and (at 10.50 a.m.) the House adjourned.

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

Legislative Journal.

Session 1955. 141st of the General Assembly.

Vol. 34. HARRISBURG, PA., MONDAY, FEBRUARY 14, 1955. No. 12.

SENATE

MONDAY, February 14, 1955.

The Senate met at 4:00 o'clock, p. m., Eastern Standard Time.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Roy E. Furman) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. CHARLES N. SHINDLER, Pastor of the First Lutheran Church, Windber, offered the following prayer:

O Thou Divine and Universal Light, Lord of life and light, all Thy works shall praise Thy Name in earth and sky and sea. We beseech Thee to pour into our hearts and lives a high and holy meaning. Touch our souls with infinite skill, that glorious aspirations may leap from every breast, that goodness and zeal may abound with gentleness and knowledge. Direct us to be Thy servants by lifting the bogs of human misery. Lay Thy hand upon us that the welfare of our Country may be held in the folds of every conscience, and lead us to carry our load of obligations to the altar of God. Help us to act nobly in all the intricate relations of life. Bless us with that spirit of brotherhood that breathes from the Heaven of our Saviour of men.

Preserve the Members of this Senate in the freshness of joy and hope and in the promise of life. Do Thou inspire the very soul of our Commonwealth to let a burst of radiance come through the dim open doors of a remembered happiness. Forbid that our usefulness should be disfigured or vitiated by indifference. O, God, spread the olive branch over the nations of the world, ere they grasp the red hand of war. We pray, our Father, that our temper may be kindly, just and considerate of all men. Arm us with the fruits of the spirit such as love, joy and peace. In the Saviour's Name, we pray it, Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present, the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. MAHANY and Mr. PECHAN, further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

LEAVES OF ABSENCE

Mr. PECHAN asked and obtained leave of absence for Mr. VAN SANT, due to illness.

He also asked and obtained leave of absence for Mr. PROPERT, due to illness.

STUDENTS FROM SOUTHAMPTON HIGH SCHOOL PRESENTED TO SENATE

Mr. WATSON. Mr. President, I have the honor to present to you and to the Senate the Senior Class, of thirty-nine pupils, from the Southampton High School, in Bucks County. They are here under the direction of Mrs. Thomas Rhoads. They are in the gallery.

The PRESIDENT. On behalf of the Members of the Senate, the Chair wishes to welcome the thirty-nine members of the Southampton High School and also their teacher, Mrs. Thomas Rhoads. We hope you will enjoy your stay, and that you will come back and visit with us again.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. YOSKO asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, the bill which I am about to present calls for a $10,000 appropriation to Reynold F. Powell, of Pen Argyl, Pennsylvania, which is in my Senatorial District. Mr. Powell is one of my constituents.

Mr. President, since I have been a Member of the Senate, I have on several occasions talked about conditions in our State mental institutions. Among other things, I pointed out the fact that some of the patients in these institutions were mistreated, some of them were beaten, and that some of them died from some of the beatings they received. As evidence of the mistreatment some of these patients received, at least on two occasions I brought the photographs of dead bodies and circulated them in this Chamber to indicate the bruises that were on the bodies resulting in death.

Mr. President, today I have with me Mr. Powell, who is in this Chamber. I am going to ask him to stand just a little bit later and show the Members of this Senate the condition of his hands, resulting from negligence and mistreatment while he was a patient in the Allentown State Hospital. Mr. Powell is a young man. He has his whole life before him. He is only thirty years of age. He was a talented musician ever since he was about four years of age. He has been an expert trumpet player and played on the radio when he was nine years of age. He is a piano technician, or was, and was engaged in the business of tuning, repairing and rebuilding pianos while he was not playing for and with some orchestra. He suffered a nervous breakdown in 1946 and went to the Allentown State Hospital. While he was there, he worked on a farm, an assignment that was given to him and to which, of course, there was no objection because it kept him busy and I think it was a part of the therapy.

Mr. President, Mr. Powell tells me that they hired an attendant there and on three consecutive evenings, when he came in from the farm, this attendant gave him a hard punch on the upper arm. The boy became scared and walked away from the institution and went home. They sent the police for him, to his home in Pen Argyl, and they brought him back to the institution about six o'clock in the evening. He told me that he was in good condition and I am sure that when he stands up you will conclude, as I have, that he is all right today. However, they had to give him some punishment because he walked away from the institution and went back to his home. He told me that at about six o'clock in the evening, when he was brought back to the hospital, they wrapped him up in bed sheets, poured water over him, put him to bed and kept him there for about three hours.

After that three hour treatment, or punishment, or whatever you want to call it, they took him out of bed and wrapped him in another set of bed sheets and they took him over to a tub and put his body in the tub up to his shoulders, where water continued to run and the temperature of the water was about ninety-four degrees. They kept him in that tub from nine o'clock in the evening until five in the morning. These bed sheets were wrapped too tightly on his body and all of a sudden he began to have pain in his arms and fingers. He said that he shouted and screamed and begged for them to take him out of the tub and to remove the bed sheets. He said that in answer, the chief attendant came up to him and said, "Powell, if you don't shut your"—pardon this expression, but this is what he told me—"If you dont shut your mouth, I will keep you in packs for another six hours."

Mr. President, a short time afterward he passed out; he fainted. He came to after they took him out of the tub, but that was not enough. In about fifteen minutes, they wrapped another set of bed sheets around him and put him back into that tub again from about 5:15 o'clock in the morning until ten o'clock in the morning. When they took him out of the tub, he was so weak he could not walk. Then, after the attendants took the blankets off, they noticed that Mr. Powell's hands were raw and his fingers began to swell. So they put him in a private room at the hospital and the only treatment they gave him was to put vasoline and gauze strips on his hands. In about two days, his hands began to break out and become raw. The attendants did not call a specialist. They did not give the boy the treatment to which he was entitled and just left him lay there. After he became crippled and it was too late to do anything, then they tried to do something. They sent Mr. Powell down to the Hahneman Hospital where he spent three months.

Mr. President, I want that boy to stand up here and raise his hands. I want you all to see the condition of his hands. That is the way he is, and I suppose that is the way he will remain.

(Mr. Reynold F. Powell arose.)

Mr. YOSKO Mr. President, there was a suit brought in the Lehigh County Courts and after the jury heard all of the evidence, a verdict was rendered in his favor in the amount of $10,000. An appeal was taken and the Superior Court set aside the verdict of the jury, on the ground that the doctors were not responsible for the negligence of the employees of the institution.

Mr. President, in spite of that, I do not think that this young man should go uncompensated for the pain and suffering and for the permanent injuries that he will carry with him perhaps for the rest of his days. I think it is only fair that this Legislature compensate him at least in the amount of the verdict of the jury, so that possibly he could take some of that money and seek surgical treatment or something in an effort to straighten out his fingers and thus make him a useful citizen.

Mr. President, if we do not indicate our sympathy for this boy, as I said before, he will become a charge not only on his parents but perhaps, in later years, upon the Commonwealth.

Mr. President, I ask that this Senate and I hope this Legislature, in sympathy for the damage done to this boy, will approve this bill and grant him the amount that was given him by a Lehigh County Jury after hearing all the evidence.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Which was committed to the Committee on Local Government.

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, the people of Pennsylvania have read with interest a proposal of the Democratic Party to investigate the conditions under which boxing is conducted in this Commonwealth. This investigation, they say, will require one year and is to be followed with specific legislation to cure any defects discovered.

Mr. President, I do not know whether or not boxing is being properly run in Pennsylvania. I do know that it can, at the most, affect the lives of only a few thousand people. Why then should it require a year's study?

I am amazed, Mr. President, as most of the people of Pennsylvania must be, when they realize that this proposal comes from the same source as the Democratic proposal to reorganize our State government. I am certain that the people of Pennsylvania are at a loss to understand why the same party that wants to devote a year to the study of boxing, with its effects upon a very small number of people, also wants to give the Legislature of Pennsylvania only thirty days in which to study Governor Leader's proposed plan to reorganize the State government. Inconsistency thy name is the Democratic Party.

It appears to me, Mr. President, that somewhere along the line the thinking of the present administration is completely cockeyed. By these two inconsistent proposals they say to the people of this Commonwealth that boxing is more important than their State government. A reorganization of the government of Pennsylvania will affect the lives of nearly eleven million people. This they propose to rush through the Legislature in a brief thirty days. To a mere study of the boxing game they propose to devote an entire year and then regulate it by specific legislation. They must believe that the people of Pennsylvania are stupid and have no regard for their own welfare.
